

SUES FOR ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt Files Papers Just Before Husband Sails for Europe.

MARRIED BUT SEVEN YEARS

Defendant Head of the Vanderbilt Family and Inherited $60,000,000 on the Death of His Father.

New York, April 1.—Within an hour after he had sailed for Europe to-day Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was made the defendant in a suit filed with the supreme court by his wife, Ellen French Vanderbilt.

The papers were filed in a safe and will be formally presented tomorrow morning.

It was learned late to-night from an official in the county courthouse, who saw the papers in the case, that Mrs. Vanderbilt's action is one for absolute divorce.

Chandler P. Anderson, Mr. Vanderbilt's personal counsel, who was seen to-night in regard to the suit, said: "You see, I am in no position to talk on the affairs of my client."

When Mr. Anderson was informed that it had been learned that the action was one for absolute divorce he said: "I cannot talk."

Mrs. Vanderbilt was Ellen French, daughter of the late Francis Ormond French, president of the Manhattan Trust company and director of many railroads.

Mr. Vanderbilt is the second son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, inherited something like $60,000,000. He has been regarded as the head of the family since the estrangement following the marriage of Cornelius, the eldest son, to Miss Grace Wilson.

Berlin, April 1.—The publication in a Munich journal, which is issued twice a month, of what it claims to be a copy of the letter which Emperor William sent to Lord Tweedmouth, first lord of the British admiralty, first created a sensation both in Germany and in England.

Mr. Vanderbilt while here recently has had apartments at the Plaza hotel. Neither Mr. Vanderbilt nor his wife would discuss the reports that gained circulation after her removal from Newport.

At Tuxedo to-night it was said that Mrs. Vanderbilt had left for New York and it was thought possible that she would go on to Newport.

HINES' ASSAILANT IS NOW LOCATED

Police Confident of Soon Landing the Man Who Shot Member of Police Force.

AN EX-STATE PRISON MAN

Local Department Satisfied That He Is Known—Has Never Been Arrested in This City.

That the man who shot Patrolman Dennis Hines in the thigh last Saturday night so that he will be confined for some time at the St. Raphael's hospital will soon be in the toils is the belief of the local police as expressed last night and this belief is founded not upon desire to have the man punished but upon definite knowledge. The police are confident that the man they suspect is the man who was guilty of the shooting and while it may be several days before he is landed in this city they feel very sure that he will ultimately be brought in.

Of course the man under suspicion is not in this city and the local police must await his capture by the authorities in other places, but from the information given in the night it looks as if the man, while perhaps not under arrest in any other place, was located and would probably soon be taken. It is stated that the man under suspicion is not a New Havener, and that he has never been arrested in this city, but is known to be a man with a bad record, and one who has served in state's prison. He has never been sent up for shooting, but has been convicted and has served time for burglaries.

The police hold him responsible for the burglary which was committed on Whitney avenue the same night that the shooting was done, and are hopeful of getting evidence enough to fasten that crime against him also when he is taken.

While the police are averse to giving out any things in regard to their wanted while they are still out of the net the confident air with which the case is mentioned leads to the belief that something very definite, which will soon lead to results, is known at headquarters.

PIECE WORK OR QUIT, SAYS ROAD

Union Official Announces This Was Answer, Through Mr. Higgins, at Yesterday's Conference.

FOREMAN IS ASSAULTED

Cobblestone Thrown Through Window of Office at the Cedar Street Shops This Assistant.

A committee representing the various organizations to which the machinists, boiler-makers, blacksmiths, etc., in the employ of the New Haven road belong, met with the officials of the road, Samuel Higgins and his subordinates, yesterday afternoon for a conference in regard to the piece work wage scale which the road announced some time ago it would put in force.

The various organizations held meetings last night in Trades Council hall, the hall at 129 Orange street, and in the Music Hall block and the decision in every case was the same—not to accept a piece work wage scale, and to strike next Monday if one is introduced.

As a last resort the labor organizations may appeal directly to President Meilen and representatives from the different bodies will meet to-day or tomorrow and decide about this. Whether this action is taken or not the men do not believe that Mr. Meilen will interfere.

The first indication of any violence occurred yesterday morning when some unknown person, whom the road believes to be one of the discharged workmen, a bolt which the union men indignantly deny, threw a cobblestone through the window of an office connected with the Cedar street shops. The stone was evidently aimed at the general foreman, Peter Zank, and Mr. Zank barely dodged it, the missile striking him and striking one of his assistants. It is said that the man who was hit was quite badly injured, but last night it was impossible to learn his name. He was not taken to any of the public hospitals.

Yesterday considerable machinery was taken from the local shops and taken to the saw-rooms, but it is not known what disposition of it is planned. Six engines were taken to the Readville shops for repairs.

Clemson, S. The faculty had previously notified the students that no April fool pranks would be tolerated.

STEVENS EXPLAINS HIS CANAL VIEWS

Thinks Project Necessitates Many Changes in Commercial and Marine Policies.

WITHOUT THEM FAILURE

Hints at Ship Subsidies—Discusses Conditions in Cuba and Sees a Big Future for the Island.

John F. Stevens has not changed his general opinions as to the future of the Panama Canal, in spite of reported interviews to the contrary which came to New Haven when he was down in Havana on his recent trip. In an interview last night he said he thought some radical changes in the commercial policies of this country must be made, if the canal is to become a financial and a commercial advantage to this country. He hinted at marine subsidies as a possible solution. Mr. Stevens said he did not leave the work because of any lack of sympathy in the project. He said he had never had any strained relations with present engineer-in-chief at the canal, General Goethals. Mr. Stevens was also very optimistic about the future of Cuba as a result of his trip; he had the highest praise for Governor Magoon. As for the inventory of the New Haven system which he is conducting he said it should be finished in about four months.

"I would not change anything that I would say in the Journal-Courier upon the canal before I went down to Cuba," said Mr. Stevens last night. "As far as I know I was quoted correctly but trouble began to brew as soon as the editors began to draw conclusions from what I said. In the first place, I did not say that I thought the canal would not be a success."

Mr. Stevens was asked to explain just what he did say. Many papers have been under the impression that just that was his attitude. The vice-president of the New Haven system and former chief engineer of the great Panama canal project settled down comfortably in a well-appointed, high-backed chair in the old Woolsey house at 259 Church street, where he is living, and began his explanations.

"If I remember correctly I said I did not believe the canal would be a success, that is a paying success and a benefit to us commercially. If this country persisted in its present tariff regulations, commercial policies and general apathy toward foreign trade."

"What do you mean by our commercial policies?" Mr. Stevens? he was asked.

"I mean our policy of making use of ships that sail under a foreign flag when we ship by water. The whole question is allied to this ship subsidy question that we hear so much about but about which so little is done. The Panama canal, in my opinion, will be of the greatest benefit in the ordinary course of events to that country that has the largest merchant marine. That country, as you are well aware, is not the United States."

"And what do you mean by our general apathy toward foreign trade?" asked the reporter. Mr. Stevens at a little smile. "How much trade are we developing," he asked, "with the west coast of South America, or with the east coast, for that matter? How do we get down to South America? We go first to London and then re-embark."

"And so it is," he continued, "that I say the canal will not be a success unless we make some radical changes in our commercial policy. Now I ask you, if I think the canal will pay, I believe I said before that it would have to get as much traffic through it as much in fees from that traffic as does the Suez canal at present, if expenses were to be met. I did not say that I thought the canal would not pay for itself. What I did say, and the Journal-Courier quoted me to that effect, I believe, was that this amount of money would be needed and that I did not quite see where it was coming from."

"The inference has been made that you favored our connections in the canal zone because you were not in sympathy with the canal project and did not think it would be an available one for the United States," said the reporter, handing him a few editorial

NO GOULD BREACH?

Former Countess Authorizes Statement Denying Disagreement.

INTERVIEW IS REPUDIATED

Mrs. Tyler Morse Says She Knows of No Engagement Between Mme. Gould and de Sagan.

New York, April 1.—Evidence was forthcoming to-night that efforts were being made to check a family breach occasioned by Mme. Anna Gould's reported determination to accept the hand of the Prince Helle de Sagan.

To-night Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould visited Mme. Gould in her apartments at the Hotel St. Regis, where she still is in bed, suffering from bronchitis. Other relatives, including Helen M. Gould and George J. Gould, evinced their concern by repeated telephone inquiries, which were promptly answered.

Mrs. Tyler Morse at whose apartments the prince and Mme. Gould met in New York, caused the issuance in the evening of a formal statement denying an interview attributed to her to-day. To this statement Mme. Gould gave her sanction. It was issued through Edwin A. Jones, attorney, as follows:

"Mrs. Morse has read an interview attributed to her that there was a disagreement in the Gould family concerning the Prince de Sagan, and that Mme. Gould came to the hotel St. Regis because thereof.

"Mrs. Morse had no such interview and made no such statement. From her own information such printed statements are wholly false. Mme. Gould was taken ill while calling on Mrs. Morse, and has since been unable to leave her room. Mrs. Morse knows of no existing engagement between Mme. Gould and the Prince de Sagan, and would not be the person to announce it if it were true.

"Mr. Jones further stated that he was authorized by Mme. Gould to say that she has had no disagreement with her family, and concurs in the statement made in behalf of Mrs. Morse."

The prince talked frankly of his affairs at the Waldorf-Astoria at night. "I suppose I am to be driven out of this city by all this publicity relative to my affairs," said he. "For that reason I may alter my plan of leaving on the Provencas on April 9 and depart next Tuesday on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse."

"It is planned, then, that Mme. Gould will return on the Provencas on April 9?" was asked.

"That is not for me to say," was the reply. "One thing is certain, however—Mme. Gould and I soon will be back in France, where we can be free. I there can meet her as the friend I always have sought to be. Our motives will not be misunderstood. I notice that Mrs. Morse has been quoted as saying that the engagement of Mme. Gould and myself will be announced upon our return to France. That is for time to tell."

DIAZ PROUD OF MERGER

Mexican President's Message Approves Railroad Combine.

Mexico City, April 1.—President Diaz to-day delivered his annual message to congress. The message declares that the republic was at peace with all the world, and on the eve of a prosperous period of material development. He spoke of the financial crisis which embarrassed the markets of the world in general and which affected Mexico during the last few months, as having passed. Mexico was entering on a broader field of activity in all lines.

He characterized the merger of the National and the Central Railroads as an accomplishment of which Mexico should be proud. Referring to the granting of a coal station to the United States at Magdalena Bay, the president said the government of the United States asked permission to station coal vessels, destined for the service of the American flotilla on the Pacific, in the waters of Magdalena Bay for five years.

H. H. Hughes of Springfield, Mo., offered to give $1,000 toward the expense of celebrating Jefferson's birthday if Mr. Bryan would speak at a rival dinner.

The large ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria was tentatively engaged by Mr. Bryan's friends, but the telegram to-night stopped all plans for a rival dinner.

SERVED 20 YEARS

Sergeant Gibson Last Night Observed Close of Second Decade.

APPOINTED IN APRIL, 1888

Night Desk Sergeant at Central Station Has Been on the Force a Long Time.

Sergeant Alexander Gibson, night desk sergeant at Central station, last evening celebrated the twentieth anniversary of his appointment to the New Haven police force. It was on April 1, back in the year of the blizzard, 1888, that the sergeant was made a regular member of the department and sent out on duty on the Westville boat which at that time was bounded on the east by Hobart street and so included part of the city proper.

After serving three years on that beat Officer Gibson was detailed to the Dixwell avenue station, with which at different times he has been connected for eleven of his twenty years of service.

For two years and seven months the sergeant was in the detective bureau, ranking as a sergeant. At that time the bureau came directly under the chief with the present chief acting in charge of detail and Sergeants Gibson and Denney on the staff.

It was April 14, 1897, that Officer Gibson was raised by the police commissioners to the rank of a sergeant. During all his twenty years the sergeant has been distinguished for his faithful and efficient service, both on street duty and in the office. Upon the retirement of Sergeant James Cook, a couple of years ago, Sergeant Gibson was permanently detailed as night desk sergeant at the Central station.

Sergeant Gibson has served on the force under four chiefs. His appointment came under Chief Hollman and Chief Smith, William and Cowles have in turn succeeded him. At the time of his first permanent appointment in 1888, the force consisted of 43 men. He has witnessed a great growth of the city during his period of service and especially of that section in which much of his duty was performed.

The sergeant is now entitled to add a fourth to the three gold stripes representing each five years of service.

Leard, of North First street, drank potassium cyanide while at work at the International Silver Co. Leard was a Canadian, aged 43, married and leaves a young son. He had been employed at the factory as burinisher for eighteen years. Domestic troubles, and dependency are given as the causes of his act.

At 6:15 this evening the body of Mrs. R. M. Colburn, was found hanging from a rope in the attic of her home at 5 Colony place. She was a widow, aged 55, and had been suffering from melancholia for the past three years. She leaves two children, Frank W., and Alice.

Fifteen Hundred Tons of Coal Sunk in Kennebec River.

Bath, Me., April 1.—The barge Ashland, from Philadelphia, loaded with 1,513 tons of coal for this city and owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal Co., went ashore on the rocks and sank to-day while being towed up the Kennebec river to this city. Captain A. A. Gould and crew were taken off safely. It is not yet known whether the barge can be saved. The barge was in tow of the tug Scutlin. Big holes were stove amidships and aft. It is supposed that the buoy at this point was misplaced by the recent run of heavy ice.

The barge was built at Noank, Conn. in 1898 and her gross tonnage is $38.

Envelopes of Gersham were delivered by Dr. Schillofsky of New York, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell and Henry A. Katze of Boston. BRYANISTS REBUFFED

Populists Refuse to Defer Nomination Until After Democratic Convention.

St. Louis, April 1.—If admirers of William J. Bryan among the delegates to the national convention of the people's party, which meets to-morrow to nominate national candidates, are no more successful to-morrow than they have been to-day in efforts to procure a postponement of the convention until after the democratic national convention, the state delegations of Nebraska, Minnesota and Michigan will bolt the convention, according to an announcement made to-night by the secretary of the Nebraska delegation.

The decision to take this action was reached at a caucus held to-night by the Nebraska delegates. E. A. Warrath, secretary of the Nebraska state committee, declared to-day that Nebraska would abide by the action of the convention, but a different spirit was shown at to-night's caucus. It was decided that Nebraska should ask for the adoption of a platform, the selection of a new national committee and adjournment until after the republican and democratic conventions are held. If these things are decided and the convention proceeds to make nominations, Nebraska, which is said to have the full support of Michigan and Minnesota, will walk out of the hall.

To-night's caucus marked the end of a day of earnest but unsuccessful effort on the part of supporters of Bryan to influence in his favor the actions of to-morrow's convention. The majority of the delegates rebuffed the Bryan supporters at every turn and refused to classify Bryan as anything except a democrat.

DID NOT CRITICISE HAY

Professor Elliott Says That Fur Seal Report Praises Secretary's Work.

Cleveland, April 1.—Prof. Henry W. Elliott, in a signed statement given to-day declares that, contrary to published reports, there was no criticism of the acts of the late Secretary of State John Hay, in his report on the seal question, which was recently printed by order of the United States senate and later withdrawn. Prof. Elliott in part says:

"I wish to say that there is nothing in the paper which even hints at disparagement of John Hay. Directly to the contrary, it recites the steps of sensible progress which he was making to a final, full and fair settlement of the fur seal question up to the hour he was stricken by death."

EMPEROR'S LETTER

and the French Congo. I close with the knowledge that between us two such misunderstandings as have happened to Lord Escher are impossible. It would be a good thing if, before he occupies himself with naval politics and before he attributes intentions which do not exist to others, he would bethink how he might possibly induce the drain pipes at Windsor to produce a normal ventilation.

"I am very well in spite of this wet weather. The empress remembers with pleasure the beautiful days at Windsor and often reminds me of the lovely colors of the woods near the Flemish farm on a day of successful pheasant shooting.

"I remain, etc."

In his reply Lord Tweedmouth thanks the emperor for his gratifying confidence and says that it is certainly true with him and with the great majority of his countrymen that a misunderstanding of his majesty's intentions is out of the question.

"The era of misunderstanding," says Lord Tweedmouth, "is closed. It is closed in consequence of the empress's letter left behind by the days of November."

He remarks jestingly that he has no occasion to feel ill towards "the governor of the drain pipes at Windsor, whose business it is to produce pure ventilation," for, he continues, "to his mishap I am indebted for your majesty's autographic letter."

Lord Tweedmouth concludes with expressions of deep respect.

SAY MUNEY WAS REAL

Haytien Claim Counterfeit Was for Use if Rebels Were Victorious.

New York, April 1.—Joseph M. Giordani and Henry Thomas, a former manager of the Hamilton Bank Note company, charged jointly with having counterfeited currency notes of the Haytien government, were again on trial to-day in the federal court.

Giordani's defense is that the notes are not counterfeit, but proper money designed for use in the new Haytien republic, which would have been established had General Firmin succeeded with the revolution.

A witness to-day was E. J. Donohue, custom house clerk, to whom Giordani is alleged to have given a declaration of the shipment, which included the Haytien notes and 27 thousand rifles marked "steel balls" and sixty barrels of cartridges labelled "women."

PROFOUND INTEREST

Manifested in Diplomatic Circles Over U. S. Consul's Anti-Russian Attitude.

Washington, April 1.—Profound interest was manifested to-day in diplomatic circles over the situation which has grown out of the refusal of Fred D. Fisher, the American consul at Harbin who, since taking office in January, 1907, has refused to recognize the Russian administration in Manchuria. Especially among the representatives of the European countries having commercial connections in Manchuria was the matter a question of paramount importance, and, it is understood, they have supplied their chancelleries with a complete statement of the case as it appears in the American press.

Secretary Root is awaiting certain information from China bearing on various aspects of the concessions given by that country for railroad extension and other purposes and having a bearing on the treaty of 1896, which figures in the present case, before making a reply to the representation of the Russian government.

When that date arrives it will be given prompt consideration and the attitude of this government regarding its position respecting foreign rights in Manchuria will again be stated.

BUFFALO BILL ILL

Wild West Leader Suffering from General Nervous Breakdown.

Chicago, April 1.—Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) is seriously ill at the Stratford hotel. Colonel Cody arrived to-day on his way from New York to his home in Cory, Wyo., and at once sought the services of a physician, who found that Col. Cody is suffering of a general nervous breakdown caused largely by a recent attack of the grip. If pneumonia does not develop, he may be able to resume his journey in about a week.

It was considered that under such conditions the republic would suffer no loss whatever by giving a service to a friendly nation, which obtains an advantage that on occasions may serve as useful. The opinion of the senate coincided with that of the executive and the permission was delivered on the terms stated.

LILLEY TO GO ON THE HOUSE FLOOR

Waterbury Man Declares Congressman Stated Last Saturday He Would Tell All He Knew.

EXPECTS ADVERSE VERDICT

Officers of the Electric Boat Company and Charles Ferry, of Bridgeport, Brass Company, Deny Charges.

Washington, April 1.—Franklin A. Taylor of Waterbury, Conn., today testified before the special house committee investigating the charges against the Electric Boat company that he has heard Representative George L. Lilley, the author of the charges, make the statement in the Waterbury club a week ago last Saturday, that it was quite likely he would get an adverse decision from the committee, and that in that event he would tell all he knew about the whole matter of submarine boats on the floor of the house.

 In addition to Mr. Taylor, the witnesses today were Ellihu B. Frost, vice-president of the Electric Boat company; Maurice Harrett, secretary-treasurer of the Electric Boat company; and Charles Ferry, of the Bridgeport Brass works. They all denied any knowledge of undue influences being used on members of congress to secure legislation favorable to the Electric Boat company, although Mr. Taylor and Mr. Ferry admitted that they had asked Mr. Lilley to vote for the appropriation, as they thought it would help their business should these boats be authorized. The investigation will be continued tomorrow.

Hearing in Detail.
 Franklin A. Taylor of Waterbury, vice-president of the Randolph Clowes company, manufacturers of brass and copper was the first witness called today by the special committee of the house that is investigating the charges against the Electric Boat company. He said he had told Representative Lilley to vote for submarine boats as there was a possibility of his company getting some business if the boats were ordered.
 "What was Mr. Lilley's reply?"
 "He would not commit himself one way or the other."
 The last conversation the witness had with Mr. Lilley was a week ago Saturday in Waterbury. Mr. Lilley, then, according to the witness, said he proposed to see that the Lake people had a fair chance.
 He was present in the Waterbury club a week ago Saturday, he said, while Mr. Lilley was talking with a number of gentlemen about the present investigation. According to Mr. Taylor, Mr. Lilley said it was quite likely that he would get an adverse decision and in that event he would go on the floor of the house and tell all he knew about the whole matter of submarine boats.
 Mr. Taylor said he never lost an opportunity to impress upon Mr. Lilley that he ought to vote for submarines and that he had shaken his fist at Mr. Lilley several times, but always in a jocular manner. He did not intimate to him that he had gone to him at the instigation of the Electric Boat company. The Electric Boat company, he said, had never promised him a contract if the desired legislation was secured.
 Mr. Taylor said he had stated to an Associated Press representative in Waterbury that he thought he had influenced Mr. Lilley to vote for submarine boats. He assumed this, he said, because when Mr. Lilley came to Waterbury, he said:
 "I voted yes, Franklin, with your face before me when I voted." This referred to the naval appropriation bill of 1906 and 1907.

The witness said he did not consider that he had done anything improper in asking Mr. Lilley to vote for submarines.
 Mr. Taylor said he had been requested by John P. Kellogg, one of the attorneys for the Electric Boat company in January, 1908, "to get busy with Mr. Lilley and again tell him about the possibilities of submarines."
 Ellihu B. Frost, vice-president of the Electric Boat company, followed Mr. Taylor. He said he had the general management of the business. John P. Kellogg, he said, was employed for the purpose of counteracting in Connecticut alleged misrepresentations that were being made in the state about the Electric Boat company.
 "Sort of an Ananias antidote," suggested Mr. Howard.
 "Yes," replied the witness.
 Mr. Frost said he had given no instructions to G. S. McNeil to employ newspapermen to prepare articles on submarine boats or to influence congress.
 Mr. Howard read to the witness a list of the members of the naval affairs committee of the house, asking him after each name if he knew the member and if he or any member of his firm had ever employed any attorney or agent in that member's district. With the exception of Mr. Lilley's district and that of Mr. Loud, of Michigan, the witness said that so far as he knew no attorney or agent was employed in any member's district.
 Mr. Frost denied that he had made contributions in behalf of his company to any campaign fund, republican or democratic, national or congressional. He said his company did not maintain a lobby in Washington, and declared that no undue influence in behalf of his company had been brought to bear by himself or any one on any member of congress, nor had any money been paid to influence the navy department.
 Mr. Frost denied all knowledge as to the amendment offered in the senate naval committee to the naval appropriation bill in 1907, which Mr. Lilley charged had been drawn by attorneys for the Electric Boat Co. with the intention of suppressing competition.
 Referring to the time President Roosevelt made a submerged trip in one of the submarine boats, Mr. Frost denied that the company had paid any newspaper men at that time and said that he did not know who was responsible for the publications concerning that event. The boat was commanded by Lieut. Nelson, U. S. N., and Mr. Frost testified that the company had purchased from Lieut. Nelson an invention which is used on the boats. The company paid him $1,500 for it. This was the only money paid any naval officer by him or his company. Mr. Frost said that no member of congress or naval official owned any stock in the company.
 Representative Kahn, of California, whose name was mentioned by Mr. Frost as the member of the house naval affairs committee when Attorney McNeil has had an interview, made a statement at the conclusion of Mr. Frost's testimony. He said that at Mr. McNeil's suggestion he introduced a bill providing for a number of submarines for the Pacific coast. He said that Mr. McNeil had not mentioned the name of the company he was connected with and he (Kahn) did not know what company it was.
 Maurice Barnett of New York, the secretary-treasurer of the Electric Boat company, said he had no knowledge of any money having been paid by the company for the purpose of subsidizing newspapers. He also denied that any money had been contributed by the company for the purpose of helping to elect or defeat any member of congress. He said the president, vice president and counsel of the company were authorized to spend money for the company, but had never drawn any money without signifying the purpose for which it was drawn.
 Mr. Lilley had prepared a list of questions to be asked Mr. Barnett regarding entries in the company's books, check stubs, etc. Mr. Littleton, attorney for the company, stated that in view of the expectation that these books, etc., would be asked for, the company had taken charge of them in order that there might not be any divided authority. President Rice is now in Washington, continued Mr. Littleton, Chairman Boutwell stated that a demand for them would be made later.
 Charles Ferry of Bridgeport, Conn., the metallurgical expert and salesman of the Bridgeport Brass company, said he had requested Mr. Lilley to vote for the bill providing for more submarine boats because his company might have a chance to sell some of its products should the boats be ordered.
 Mr. Lilley indicated, he said, that he would vote for the submarines because the secretary of the navy had asked for them. Mr. Ferry admitted that he also made an effort to influence Representative Hill in the interest of his company's business. Mr. Ferry said that he had been sent to Washington by his firm on receipt of advice from Mr. Kellogg of the Electric Boat Co. to the effect that there might be more submarine boats purchased by the government. Mr. Kellogg had introduced Mr. Ferry's name to Mr. Lilley. Mr. Ferry is the Bridgeport manufacturer to whom Mr. Lilley referred in his statement before the committee on rules when he told of the alleged attempt to influence him to vote for submarine legislation, as having told him that his company probably would receive a $200,000 order on which the profits would be about $20,000 if the submarines were authorized. Mr. Lilley in his statement before the committee, said he had told Mr. Ferry that he would prefer to pay him $2,000 himself rather than to vote more than $200,000 of the people's money for these boats. On the stand today Mr. Ferry substantially corroborated this statement, but said he was not aware of Mr. Lilley's support for the bill were made from a business standpoint only and that he knew of no attempt to unduly influence any member of congress for this legislation. At the conclusion of Mr. Ferry's testimony the committee adjourned.

ferred to the naval appropriation bill of 1906 and 1907.
 The witness said he did not consider that he had done anything improper in asking Mr. Lilley to vote for submarines.
 Mr. Taylor said he had been requested by John P. Kellogg, one of the attorneys for the Electric Boat company in January, 1908, "to get busy with Mr. Lilley and again tell him about the possibilities of submarines."
 Ellihu B. Frost, vice-president of the Electric Boat company, followed Mr. Taylor. He said he had the general management of the business. John P. Kellogg, he said, was employed for the purpose of counteracting in Connecticut alleged misrepresentations that were being made in the state about the Electric Boat company.
 "Sort of an Ananias antidote," suggested Mr. Howard.
 "Yes," replied the witness.
 Mr. Frost said he had given no instructions to G. S. McNeil to employ newspapermen to prepare articles on submarine boats or to influence congress.
 Mr. Howard read to the witness a list of the members of the naval affairs committee of the house, asking him after each name if he knew the member and if he or any member of his firm had ever employed any attorney or agent in that member's district. With the exception of Mr. Lilley's district and that of Mr. Loud, of Michigan, the witness said that so far as he knew no attorney or agent was employed in any member's district.
 Mr. Frost denied that he had made contributions in behalf of his company to any campaign fund, republican or democratic, national or congressional. He said his company did not maintain a lobby in Washington, and declared that no undue influence in behalf of his company had been brought to bear by himself or any one on any member of congress, nor had any money been paid to influence the navy department.
 Mr. Frost denied all knowledge as to the amendment offered in the senate naval committee to the naval appropriation bill in 1907, which Mr. Lilley charged had been drawn by attorneys for the Electric Boat Co. with the intention of suppressing competition.
 Referring to the time President Roosevelt made a submerged trip in one of the submarine boats, Mr. Frost denied that the company had paid any newspaper men at that time and said that he did not know who was responsible for the publications concerning that event. The boat was commanded by Lieut. Nelson, U. S. N., and Mr. Frost testified that the company had purchased from Lieut. Nelson an invention which is used on the boats. The company paid him $1,500 for it. This was the only money paid any naval officer by him or his company. Mr. Frost said that no member of congress or naval official owned any stock in the company.
 Representative Kahn, of California, whose name was mentioned by Mr. Frost as the member of the house naval affairs committee when Attorney McNeil has had an interview, made a statement at the conclusion of Mr. Frost's testimony. He said that at Mr. McNeil's suggestion he introduced a bill providing for a number of submarines for the Pacific coast. He said that Mr. McNeil had not mentioned the name of the company he was connected with and he (Kahn) did not know what company it was.
 Maurice Barnett of New York, the secretary-treasurer of the Electric Boat company, said he had no knowledge of any money having been paid by the company for the purpose of subsidizing newspapers. He also denied that any money had been contributed by the company for the purpose of helping to elect or defeat any member of congress. He said the president, vice president and counsel of the company were authorized to spend money for the company, but had never drawn any money without signifying the purpose for which it was drawn.
 Mr. Lilley had prepared a list of questions to be asked Mr. Barnett regarding entries in the company's books, check stubs, etc. Mr. Littleton, attorney for the company, stated that in view of the expectation that these books, etc., would be asked for, the company had taken charge of them in order that there might not be any divided authority. President Rice is now in Washington, continued Mr. Littleton, Chairman Boutwell stated that a demand for them would be made later.
 Charles Ferry of Bridgeport, Conn., the metallurgical expert and salesman of the Bridgeport Brass company, said he had requested Mr. Lilley to vote for the bill providing for more submarine boats because his company might have a chance to sell some of its products should the boats be ordered.
 Mr. Lilley indicated, he said, that he would vote for the submarines because the secretary of the navy had asked for them. Mr. Ferry admitted that he also made an effort to influence Representative Hill in the interest of his company's business. Mr. Ferry said that he had been sent to Washington by his firm on receipt of advice from Mr. Kellogg of the Electric Boat Co. to the effect that there might be more submarine boats purchased by the government. Mr. Kellogg had introduced Mr. Ferry's name to Mr. Lilley. Mr. Ferry is the Bridgeport manufacturer to whom Mr. Lilley referred in his statement before the committee on rules when he told of the alleged attempt to influence him to vote for submarine legislation, as having told him that his company probably would receive a $200,000 order on which the profits would be about $20,000 if the submarines were authorized. Mr. Lilley in his statement before the committee, said he had told Mr. Ferry that he would prefer to pay him $2,000 himself rather than to vote more than $200,000 of the people's money for these boats. On the stand today Mr. Ferry substantially corroborated this statement, but said he was not aware of Mr. Lilley's support for the bill were made from a business standpoint only and that he knew of no attempt to unduly influence any member of congress for this legislation. At the conclusion of Mr. Ferry's testimony the committee adjourned.

IS RHODES SCHOLAR
 Student in Graduate Department of Yale to Represent Kansas.
G. E. PUTNAM HIS NAME
 Is Fine Athlete and Holds Western Record in Hammer Throw—Plays Football.

When the American students who have been appointed to Rhodes scholarships at Oxford leave for England next fall two Yale men, instead of one, will be enrolled. Announcement was made some time ago of the selection of William B. Cushing, the Yale pitcher, as the representative from Connecticut. The representative from Kansas is now in the graduate department of Yale, George Ellsworth Putnam of Ottawa, Kansas, who is making a specialty of political science.
 Putnam is twenty years old, was graduated from the University of Kansas last June. He was at the U. of K. two years, and before that at Ottawa college for the same length of time. At the University of Kansas he played guard on the football eleven and was unanimously chosen as the All-Missouri guard by the football experts of that section of the country.

 In addition to his work on the varsity eleven Putnam was a member of the track team and holds the western record for the hammer throw at 115 feet, one inch. Since coming to Yale at the track one day he broke his record, but the record does not stand.
 When the time for taking the Rhodes exam came Putnam was advised by Professor A. M. Wilson of the U. of K., a Yale graduate, and by Chancellor Strong of Yale, to take the exam. He took the examinations here with Cushing and the other candidates, but registered from Kansas and not from Connecticut. A few days ago he received a formal letter from Chancellor Strong telling him that he had been chosen Rhodes scholar from Kansas and to forward his credentials at once.
 Putnam's father owns a ranch in the southern part of Kansas, and after he had graduated from the state university thought that he had been in school long enough. Putnam, however, decided that he would like to come to Yale and announced that he would come here and work his way through the graduate department. He received a scholarship here, and became night clerk at the Berne house on Meadow street in September. Since then he has become manager of the house.
 He will finish the year here and try to take a M. A. degree for which he is a candidate. In political science. When he came it was with the idea of staying three years and working for a Ph. D. degree. The Rhodes scholarship is for three years and provides an allowance of $1,500 annually.
 In the recent meet between Oxford and Cambridge, A. M. Stevens, Yale 1905, took the event of the hammer throw for Oxford with a distance of 123 feet. Putnam's record is six feet better and he hopes to improve that.

FOULWELL IS ILL.
 So Captain Foster Will Wrestle With Dutch Goebel Saturday.

Captain Fowell of the University of Pennsylvania football eleven, who was to have wrestled with Captain Foster of the Yale wrestling team at the university gymnasium, Saturday night, to decide finally which was the better of the intercollegiate champions of 1907 and 1908, has telegraphed his successor to the title, that he is ill and will be unable to come here.
 Because of the announcement of the match the wrestling association has decided to present a first class bill and Foster will wrestle with Dutch Goebel, the giant football guard of the Yale team. George Dole will wrestle Izzy Winters, the 125-pound champion. The Foster-Goebel match will be for the championship of the university.

MORE BRAND COMPLAINTS.
 Some Now Say His Treatment Harmful Them.
 While more complaints were received by the detective bureau yesterday in connection with the arrest of the man who has been practicing medicine in this city under the name of Dr. Brand, and who was arrested on Tuesday for practicing without a license from this State, nothing of much importance could be learned about the case last night as the police are not willing to say much about it until more evidence has been secured. At the present outlook, however, it was stated, it looks as if there would be much evidence against the man by the time his case comes up on April 13 and that there may be other charges developed against him. Among the complaints which were received yesterday were some by persons who claim to have been treated by Brand and who allege that his beneficial results proved harmful. The charges against him have not been changed, however, as yet, and he is held under bonds of $1,000 on the two counts made Tuesday.
 Among the complaints which have been made is one from a druggist who alleges that he received a prescription marked to contain 140 grains of a certain drug which he was only allowed to put into a medicine to the amount of eight to ten grains.
ELIOT TALKS TO BOYS.
 Brooklyn High School Pupils Hear That They Are Country's Hope.
 New York, April 1.—President Eliot of Harvard university addressed the pupils of the Brooklyn Boys' High school, this morning.
 Dr. Eliot said that the men turned out from such institutions represented the hope of the country. America believed in education more than anything else in the world, he added, and in the lifting of the individual, which was the making of a nation. It is not true, he declared, that in this country there was no privileged class, because the boys before him represented a privileged class, privileged opportunity which gave them an education to benefit them in after life. Such a privilege ought to be appreciated, but he regretted to say some failed to seize their opportunity.

GOV. McLEAN HOME
 Former Chief Executive of State Returns to Simsbury After Long Absence.
SPEAKS ABOUT POLITICS
 Says Republicans in West Are All for Taft, and That Democrats Favor Johnson.
 Former Governor George P. McLean has returned to his home in Simsbury after a visit of three months in California and yesterday in an interview with a Hartford Times reporter gave an interesting account of his travels. He was asked if he paid much attention to political conditions in California and replied that he went there for a rest and not for politics.
 Governor McLean did not say that it was necessary for him to go to the Pacific coast for politics. He made an incidental remark which showed that at the present time there was plenty of politics and of sufficient variety in Connecticut to suit all tastes.
 "Could you determine the presidential tendency of the people of California from what you heard and observed?"
 "Oh! the Republicans are all for Taft."
 "And the Democrats?"
 "Governor Johnson of Minnesota seems to be the favorite."
 "Have you heard much about Governor Johnson?"
 "Not very much, but what I heard was all in his favor. He seems to be a splendid type of a man," was Governor McLean's reply.

Special Pre-Easter Millinery
 $12.50 TO $50.00.
 So many charming and original creations constitute this showing that it's hard to know where to begin or end descriptions. All are exhibited for the first time and each an example of the high art of our expert staff of milliners. Many are exact reproductions of French models—all exhibit more than their quota of style, quality and originality. We describe just two:
FRENCH SAILOR, EXTREME SIZE.
 Paris and New York are everybody who is anybody in the world of fashion has one. Here's a beauty of marine blue and Jap braid, faced with cerise taffeta, drag of cerise mirage ribbon, and the crowning touch a blue and cerise combination of wings and a bird's head. It's a snappy model, and you ought to be the bright woman who sees it first.
BLACK MILAN WITH SILVER.
 A special dream of a hat with all the attributes that make for perfection. Black Milan forms the bottom crown and the brim, which droops at sides and has slight upward roll at front. The facing and trimming around crown are of rich silver lace, and a great chouch of malleine at the side is a finish for the final touch of beauty—a group of billowing, foamy, white ostrich tips.

Fritzi Scheff Coming.

Fritzi Scheff, who has been dubbed by New York critics and critics in general as "the incomparable Fritzi," will play at the Hyperion, Wednesday and Thursday, April 2-3. FINE DEGREE WORK.

Eagles' Team Gives One of the Best Exhibitions Ever Seen Here.

The drill of the Eagle degree team at Polli's theatre at the recent benefit concert was the finest exhibition of team drill work ever seen in this city. This team has been under the personal supervision of Sergeant William G. Doherty for the past three years.

Their dress is a fine white flannel naval officer's uniform.

On August 6, 1906, at Worcester, Mass., this team, in competition with eight others, won the championship of New England.

At the Jamestown Exposition, Sept. 7, 1907, in competition with twelve other teams they were awarded the second prize. The first prize went to the Kansas City team and the third to the team from Pawtucket, R. I.

They also form a cross in memory of departed members, at which time the martial music ceases and the orchestra plays "Nearer My God to Thee," adding much to its impressiveness.

While the evolutions themselves show excellent drill and special personal aptness on the part of each individual member of the team, from a military standpoint, every detail—the height of the feet from the floor, the swing of the arms, position of body and absolute attention—shows the most careful precision and excellence.

HOMESTEAD SKATING RINK.

A handsome prize will be given to the most graceful woman skater at the Homestead Skating Rink, this evening. There will be skating from 7 to 10, and dancing from 10 to 11:15. Music by the $5,000 orchestral organ.

IRRIGATION IN INDIA.

According to Consul General William H. Michael, at Calcutta, it is proposed by the British India government to link the five rivers—the Indus, Jelum, Chenab, Beas, Ravi and Sutlej—together in such manner as to equalize the flow of water when one river or more is in flood, and thus supply the whole canal system connected with these rivers.

By this arrangement the Punjab (the meaning of Punjab is "five rivers") will be given a water supply for irrigation sufficient at all times. The decision of the government of India to adopt the northern alignment for the Sind-Bombay connection railroad, partly on military grounds and partly owing to the objections raised by the Rao of Cutch to the southern alignment, puts an end, for the present at least, to co-operation between the irrigation department and the railway company.

When they had showed him these courtesies, they borrowed $10 of him, after which he went his way. But in the fullness of time he returned.

TORRINGTON BOY STALLED IN INDIANA BLIZZARD.

Clarence A. Hills, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Hills of Prescott street, Torrington, is the young man who was selected by the E. R. Thomas company of Detroit for their 3,000-

power runabout "Snow Bird," at South Bend, Ind., where he was stalled for a week, by the big blizzard which visited that section.

He writes to his parents that the snow was drifted ten feet deep, and nothing could be done but to wait for the roads to be broken out.

COMING TO POLI'S

Pauline, the Eminent French Hypnotist and Mind Reader, Next Week.

Pauline, the eminent French hypnotist and mind reader, will begin a special engagement at Poli's, next week. People become very much interested in his clever work during his visit here and will no doubt give him a rousing reception next Monday night.

Included in the evolutions is the formation by the team of the letters Y, E, A, the Eagles word of recognition; the letters L, T, J, E, (liberty, truth, justice and equality) the motto of the Eagles; and F. O. E.—Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Little Hip a Wonder.

Little Hip, the cute elephant that hands you a program in the grand foyer of Poli's week as you enter has been greeted by crowded houses all this week and no doubt when Saturday matinee comes and the folks from school can enjoy him he will have a real picnic. The Little Hip will have something for the children, Saturday, besides programs but he is keeping it to himself until the proper time arrives when announcement will be made.

Among the wild tribes to be found in the Philippines are the Bogobos, the most picturesque people in the tropics. They are unknown and all sorts of opinions have been expressed concerning them.

These that have taught among the Bogobos say that, given a song or a poem to learn, and they will study and dream over it for hours, but give the Bogobo a problem in mathematics, and he immediately becomes ill and wants to go home.

ORIGIN OF MOVING PICTURES.

The beginning of the moving picture was in this wise: Sir John Herschel after dinner in 1824 asked his friend Charles Babbage how he would show both sides of a shilling at once. Babbage replied by taking a shilling from his pocket and holding it to a mirror.

SUB-COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Ladies Aid Society of St. Raphael's Discussed Plans for Carnival. The meeting of the Ladies Aid society of St. Raphael's hospital held yesterday afternoon was a very enthusiastic one, and there was a large attendance. The committee reported progress in their arrangements for the big carnival to the extent that it would be held about the middle of May in one of the larger halls of the city.

THE WIZARD.

Some years ago an expedition from the University of Pennsylvania was sent to one of our Southern States for the purpose of observing a solar eclipse. The day before the event one of the professors said to an old darkey belonging to the household where the scientist was quartered: "Tom, if you will watch your chickens to-morrow morning you'll find that they'll all go to roost at 11 o'clock."

BIG DEMAND FOR SEATS.

"Land of Nod" Advance Sale Opens With a Rush.

There was an unusual demand for seats for "The Land of Nod" when the advance sale opened at the Hyperion theatre yesterday morning. A long line of men and women was in waiting when the window was opened at 9 o'clock, and throughout the day the calls for seats were incessant. It was one of the largest first day's sales of the season, and the result will undoubtedly be three immense audiences commencing to-morrow night, when the famous musical extravaganza will have its first presentation in this city.

Result of Experiment to Show Both Sides of a Coin at Once.

On one side of a disk was drawn a bird, on the other side an empty birdcage, when the card was revolving on a silk thread the bird appeared to be in the cage. This model showed the persistence of vision upon which all moving pictures depend for their effect. The eye retains the images of the objects seen for a fraction of a second after the object has been removed. This model was called the thaumatrope.

THE GENTLE ALLIGATOR.

I have seen a barefooted boy, when the alligator refused to respond to his call, made in the mud to his waist, explore with his toes till he felt the wiggle of the "gator" beneath them, then worry him to the surface grab him by the nose before he could open his jaws, and tow the creature ashore to be photographed. When an alligator that we were hunting crawled into his cave, I held a noosed rope over his mouth while the boy poked a stick through the mud until it hit the creature in his hiding place, and soon I had him snared, ready to be dragged out on the prairie and tied, to be kept till the camera man was ready for him.

THE GENTLE ALLIGATOR.

Next came the zoetrope, or wheel of life. A cylinder was perforated with a series of slots and within the cylinder was placed a band of drawings of dancing men. On the apparatus being slowly rotated the figures seen through the slots appeared to be in motion. The first systematic photograph taken at regular intervals of men and animals were made by Maybridge in 1877.—Chicago Tribune.

William Kent, Yale '87, Tells How He Saved a Redwood Forest.

DEEDED IT TO GOVERNMENT

Condemnation Proceedings on the Part of a Water Company Thus Avoided.

William Kent of Chicago, who is well known in this city both as a Yale man of the class of '87, that of Prof. Phelps, and for his marriage to Miss Bessie Thatcher, formerly of this city, has come into the limelight in California.

Mr. Kent, although strictly of Chicago and an Illinois man, is well known in California. He inherited from his father a large tract of land there on which grew one of the hand-somest existing groves of giant redwood that have been spared the woodman's axe.

He tells how he deeded the land to the national government as a national preserve or monument to be known as Muir Woods. As a national monument it is now inviolate as far as condemnatory proceedings go, and the place is saved for all time as a beauty spot for Californians to be proud of.

A New Way of Giving. In the course of a few weeks now public schools the country over will be celebrating Arbor day and, as a part of the ceremonies, planting pompously and foolishly, planting one very small tree.

"The Planter's Wife." In these days when dramatic art is conspicuous by its too frequent presentation at all classes of theatres, a very wholesome offering like Harry Lacy's war play of "The Planter's Wife" is really welcome.

"Your kind suggestion of a change of name is not one that I can accept. So many millions of better people have died forgotten that to stencil one's own name on a benefaction seems to carry with it an implication of mundane immortality, as being purchasable.

"Sincerely yours, 'THEODORE ROOSEVELT.' A Living National Monument. A scheme to cut away the last grove of giant redwoods within reach of a city population defeated by the far-sighted public spirit of a nature-loving citizen through the co-operation of the federal government and the use of a little-known statute—such in brief is the history of the establishment of the Muir woods as a national park.

Once Mount Tamalpais and the hold hills that flank it to north and south were covered with a luxuriant growth of timber. The Sequoia sempervirens, commonly known as the redwood, and the Douglas spruce, were the finest and most characteristic growths.

North Coast Water company had filed suit to have fifty acres of the upper part of the canon condemned as a reservoir site. The success of this suit would have brought about the destruction of some of the finest trees of the grove, and interfered greatly with the establishment of a public park.

In this emergency there was a hasty search of the laws, and the way was found. The "Act for the Preservation of American Antiquities" as the law is officially entitled, was approved June 8, 1906.

TRINITY DEFEATED

Yale Takes Game from Hartford Team by Score of 5 to 2.

TWO NINES USED BY ELIS

Double Play in Second Inning Feature of an Uninteresting Contest.

In an errorless and very uninteresting game yesterday afternoon at Yale field the Yale baseball team defeated the Trinity team by the score of 5 to 2. The players on the Yale team hit the Trinity pitcher, Wodis, in the first inning, scoring three runs, and the inability to hit him any more kept the scoring by Yale later down to 2. In the eighth inning when the score was 6 to 1, Captain Jones retired the whole regular team from the field except Williams and Bomar and sent on seven substitutes. Trinity was unable to score in the eighth, but Connors, started off the ninth with a clean single. Smith followed with another and sent Connors to second. Gilderleeve then sent a fly to Bomar at second. Captain Xanders then knocked the ball out into the field and brought in Connors. If Gilderleeve knocked a fly to left field, which Schlatley caught, ending the game.

Yale started the scoring in the first inning. Captain Jones, the first man up to the bat singled and stole second. Murphy sacrificed but to first. Wheaton knocked a grounder and was put out. Fels was hit and went to first. Clifford followed with a hit and Jones came in with Murphy only a few yards behind him. Fels went to third and came in before Williams knocked to Gilderleeve at short and was put out at first.

Connors, the first Trinity man up, knocked a grounder to short. Smith, next up sent an easy one to Van Vleck who tossed the ball to Coy, putting him out. Gilderleeve struck out and the side was retired. In the second inning Captain Xanders of Trinity scored after singling and stealing second. Gilderleeve went out on a fly. Carroll went to first and further scoring was prevented when Potter drove the ball to Williams who sent it to Bomar who in turn sent it to Coy putting Potter and Carroll out.

In the seventh inning Cushing, who succeeded Van Vleck in the box in the fourth, stole second and third and was brought home by Jones' hit. Bomar had struck out before Cushing came up and new Murphy and Wheaton sent flies to left and right field respectively, ending the scoring.

Rose went in to pitch for Yale the next inning and Philbin went in to catch. Taylor took coy's place on first. Peck went to short, and Schlatley, Mallory and Parker filled the field. Trinity's score ended the game. The summary:

New Haven High School Basketball Team Had Hard Fight.

SCHEDULE A LONG ONE

Saxe Holds Record for Goals in One Game—Frankel Has Greatest Total.

The New Haven High school should be proud of having had such a good representative team, as the High school basketball team. The quintet, the members of which had very little practice together, made a brilliant showing. After starting the season poorly both financially and in playing, the team took a course and came out ahead in both departments. Their schedule was a very long and hard one, having the hardest high school basketball teams in the state on it. The brace which the local boys took towards the latter part of the basketball season was certainly remarkable. Many of the other High school quintets were sadly surprised and disappointed when they found that they had been beaten by what they supposed to be a bunch. This was due to the good work of all the members on the team, who worked earnestly and diligently. Saxe and Frankel, the two crack forwards of the local high quintet, played great basketball. Their work aroused much comment, both from outside teams and spectators. Their shooting was accurate and effective. In one of the games played they both together scored 40 points out of 44 points made, and in another game, which was against the strong Waterbury five in many games they established a wonderful record. Besides being crack shots they also did fine passing and played a good blocking game.

Saxe, on the other hand played a good blocking game throughout the season. He was unable to play during the early part of the season, but made up for this during the time he did play. While he played with the team they only lost three games, which was partly due to his fine work.

The highest number of goals shot in one game is held by Saxe, who had a total of 12. He secured the next highest number also, which was 8. Frankel always proved a close second in netting goals. Frankel also shot many fouls.

Aliderman, who not only played a good shooting game, played also a star blocking game. It was very seldom that his mark got many goals. In fact he always got ahead of his man and would make many pretty shots. He would not play in many games, but when he did play he was very effective. He played against the toughest men on the opposing team, and never played anything but straight basketball.

Prater was another star guard. He was unable to play in many games also. He played in only one of the early games. However, when he did play it always could be noticed for his phenomenal shots always told.

The record for all state interscholastic quintet if it were to be one chosen. The standing of the different players follows:

Rabin was falling down the western slope. "Caramba," he muttered, wiping his brow, "this climbing the Pacific is tough work. For two cents I'd wait for one of these autos to give me a lift." However, he passed on and beat the leading machine—Philadelphia Ledger.

CHERRIES APRIL FOILED.

Pickwickers Play Unexpected Trick on Y. M. R. C. Bowling Leaders. The Pickwickers played a pretty April fool joke on the Cherries last night at the Y. M. R. C. alleys by winning two out of three games from the league leaders and rolling 399 in the third and final game. The race in the third game is a most exciting one. The scores: Pickwickers. A. BOWLING NOTES

New Haven's prospects for first place in the State Bowling league were somewhat bedimmed Tuesday night by Bridgeport. Hartford is again at the top. This team not tied with New Haven but floating freely without any real danger of contemporary. There are now but two weeks more of playing. Next week Tuesday night the local team will try their luck on the Meriden links. April 14 Riddell's binders will endeavor to cause some excitement. Bridgeport clashes with Waterbury next Tuesday night and although we do not desire to see Bridgeport within the danger line, we hope that they win the series. The Hartford aggregation, which at present leads the league, will play the amateurs next Tuesday night at New Britain. The withdrawal from the New Haven State league bowling team of one of the best, if not the best, bowlers in the state for a few weeks has crippled the local aggregation. The animosity shown towards this player, directly through sporting bias, and indirectly by former New Haven State league bowlers, has been the cause of the temporary withdrawal. The necessity for a championship bowling team in good bowlers, knocking will never bring championships, but it can destroy the chances for such. Immigration officials stopped the traveler at the dock and asked his business. "I am active in purchase of my agreement to marry Mosey Money Gold-top," said the stranger. "Sunny France for you, replied the chief inquirer. "Aliens under contract are barred. You'll find a nice detention pen at the left. Next!" Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ON GRIDIRON AGAIN

Captain Burch and Coach Biglow Give Candidates Some Points.

NEARLY ALL NEW MEN

Hobbs Assisting in the Work—Regulars Spending Time in Baseball.

Practice for the candidates for the Yale football eleven of next fall began at Yale field yesterday afternoon and 35 new men showed up for work. The practice consisted in punting and passing and starts and lasted only about an hour. The work was under the direction of Captain Burch and Head Coach Biglow, who was captain of last fall's championship eleven. The number of men who are on the baseball nine who also play football was the cause of not more men coming out for practice yesterday. Assistant Coach Tad Jones, who will develop a quarterback to take his place on the team, is captain of the baseball team and will be unable to give the football men any attention this spring. Wheaton, Murphy, Philbin and Coy, who have the positions in the backfield on the eleven, all play on the nine. Hobbs, who played during the last fall on the second eleven, because of his disqualification for varsity work on account of having played previously on Dartmouth, was out with Burch and Biglow yesterday and helped with the new men. He will, in all probability, be one of the regular tackles on the eleven next fall. A punting contest will take place the latter part of next week and will last two or three days. The entries in the contest who make the best distances, will receive cups as prizes.

FALSEY IS CAPTAIN.

Chosen by Harra to Lead N. H. H. S. Nine Against Yale Freshmen. Falsey, one of the outfielders of the New Haven high school nine, was appointed captain yesterday by Harra, who has been debarred from playing by the faculty. Falsey is a good player and showed excellent form throughout last season. He will lead the boys in Saturday's game against the Yale freshmen. Harra, although unable to play in games, has been out daily and has assisted in the practice. The candidates put in much practice at the Westville ground yesterday, being given fielding and batting practice. Coach Hackett took charge of the boys and kept them on the jump. He did some batting and coached them on systematic work. Mr. Boeher will also be out to coach the boys, and has stated that he intends to secure one of the college pitchers to come out to-day. Messenger, who captained last season's championship eleven at the local high, showed up for the first time yesterday for practice, and was tried out at second base. While a freshman at the school, he was captain of his class baseball team, which won the class championship. Tommers, last year's high school baseball captain, and Becker, who also played on last year's nine, were members of this team. Messenger is a heavy hitter and a good fielder and ought to make good. During yesterday's practice he was unable to do much good fielding, as he injured his wrist badly during the early part of the practice. His work with the stick, however, was good.

There are two small men out for the team, Sullivan, and Lapides. Sullivan is a good player, but will have to work hard to make good as many other good men are also out for the same position. Lapides, who is out for catcher, is the only man besides Blakelee out for that position. Lapides, who is barely five feet tall, has been doing great work. His good fielding and work at the bat is very noticeable. If he continues his good work he will prove to be a worthy understudy to Blakelee, the star catcher. Two teams were chosen yesterday. Tab was kept on the players, and those who showed up the best will probably be given a chance in the game Saturday. Mr. Harra umpired the game. As present indications show, it looks as if Hallecker will start the work on the slab for the high school in their game Saturday. Grodski, no doubt, will also be given a chance to show his ability. The high school boys will probably be up against Tommers in this game.

BURNS' NEW ROLE

MATCH WITH JOHNSON

May be Arranged by Manager, Who Sails for New York This Saturday.

London, April 1.—Tommy Burns, the champion heavyweight fighter, appeared in a new role to-night. He was a guest at the dinner of the Sphinx club and was down for a speech in a debate which had been arranged on "Publicity in Sport," which mainly turned to the ethics of Oxford's recent electoral row.

Unfortunately for Burns as was anticipated in the speaking between Lord Alverstone and Alwyn Pigott, two of London's best after dinner speakers. There was compensation in the fact, however, that Lord Alverstone, who was a great athlete in his younger days, went over to Burns and shaking him by the hand, said that he was pleased to meet a man who had played the game as cleanly as had Burns.

Neill, Burns' manager, sails for New York on the Luffitania, Saturday. He will try to arrange a match with Johnson and will cover Johnson's deposit of $2,500, with $2,500 additional. Burns says he is willing to allow the money to remain in the hands of the stakeholder for from nine to twelve months. In order to give promoters an opportunity of arranging the contest. He demands $20,000 as his share of the prize money, no matter the result of the battle, and would prefer a contest of forty-five rounds or to a finish, which would limit it to California or Nevada.

Arrangements are about completed for another contest in England, in which "Gunner" Mole probably will be pitted against Burns for a percentage of the gate receipts.

$50,000 HANDICAP DASH RACE

August 24 to be Feature of Grand Circuit Week at Readiville.

Boston, April 1.—A $50,000 handicap dash race on Aug. 24 in which the slowest horses will go a distance of 1-14 miles and be allowed fifty feet start for each second's difference in speed, no horse handicapped slower than up to the mile in 2:15, will be the feature of the grand circuit week at Readiville, this year.

The purse, which is offered by the New England Trotting Horse Breeders' association, is the largest ever projected for trotting horses in the country. The entrance fee will be $500 and the purse will be divided as follows: First, $30,000; second, $10,000; third, $5,000; fourth, $2,500; fifth, $1,500; sixth, $1,000.

The handicap and speed allowances will be announced on Aug. 15th, and the horses will be played according to the knowledge of their ability possessed by the handicappers on Aug. 8th.

MAY PURCHASE EMBASSIES

Impetus Given to Movement in Congress by Hill Incident.

Washington, April 1.—Bills providing for the acquisition of lands or buildings for the diplomatic and consular establishments of the United States were considered to-day by a sub-committee of the house committee on foreign affairs. While no decision was reached, the sentiment of the committee leaned towards a substantial appropriation to inaugurate the policy of ownership by the United States of embassy and legation buildings and residences in the chief capitals of the world.

Members of the committee point to the Hill-Tower incident as peculiarly in point. The salary of the American ambassador to Germany is $17,500. He is allowed $1,750 for embassy rent. It is understood that Ambassador Tower has been paying $20,000 a year rental for his dwelling house in Berlin, and has been expending more than $75,000 a year in hospitality. These calculations create an apparent deficit in the purse of the ambassador to Germany of $50,000 a year. Members of the committee suggest that some of the friends in Berlin of the United States had these figures in mind when the wisdom of sending Mr. Hill to Germany in Mr. Tower's stead, was questioned, the inference being that none but a man of subtle private means could make himself personally comfortable as the successor of the present ambassador.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE COLLAPSE

Bluefield, W. Va., April 1.—Three men were drowned to-day at Rock by the collapse of a suspension bridge spanning Bluestone river. The dead: J. W. Young, aged 18; Arthur Castle, 24; S. W. B. Saunders, 28. All the streams in this section are swollen by heavy rains. The victims were standing on the bridge with five other men and boys watching the rushing current when the bridge gave way, precipitating the entire eight into the river. Five were washed downstream to a point where the river had overflowed its banks and were lodged in trees and bushes, where they were rescued.

FATAL FIRE IN HESTER STREET

New York, April 1.—Several persons were injured and an infant was suffocated to death during a fire which broke out in a six-story tenement house early to-day on Hester street in the East Side. Twelve families living in the tenement fled to the street in panic and the firemen carried a man, woman and a baby from the roof. The baby was dead and the man and woman overcome by smoke. Several persons leaped from the windows of the tenement and were injured.

DIAMOND CHIPPINGS

Manager Jimmie Cooke of the Tuxedo baseball team received word from the manager of the Westville aggregation that they would give the Tuxedos a game Good Friday afternoon. Cooke has not had his men out practicing yet on account of the unmanageable weather, but he expects to get the candidates out next week. The players are practicing about a little every day and will be in fairly good condition when the men get together. The practice will be held in Westville.

Manager Charles Smart has signed another player for the Meriden state league team. The new man is George Walsh of Middletown, Conn., who has played independent ball for several seasons, and last year was with the Elmira, N. Y. team.

Yasner, Wallace, Pulsifer, Small, McClellan and Fallon makes a great sound of outfielders for Howard to choose from. In the eliminating trials any of those fellows who hits under 400 is apt to be dumped. In the championship games most of them will go over 500.

Manager O'Rourke has engaged a squad of thirty but it won't take him long to cut it down, as he has not quite enough for 25 men. He will not buy any more in these hard times.

In commenting upon the near-thing that Manager O'Rourke named Manager Clarke and that in Bill Luby, the Boston had a prize. He rates him as one of the cracks of the league.

Interesting Story on "The Caverns of Bermuda" in Tropical America.

HIS IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

Finds a Rare Animal Which is Mounted in Metropolitan Museum.

A Hyatt Verrill, son of Prof. A. E. Verrill of Yale university, and a former resident of this city is the writer of an interesting article on "The Caverns of Bermuda" in this month's issue of Tropical America.

Mr. Verrill is one of the best known of the younger American naturalists and has made extensive explorations through the western hemisphere.

The writer gives a geologic history of the Bermudas, and states that contrary to general belief this semi-tropical group of islands is not of coral formation at all, but of "drifted shore sand." There are strata of loose sand in between layers of hard rock, and in the course of ages water has washed out this sandy layer, the result being a network of caves. Mr. Verrill states that the islands are literally honey-combed with ocean caverns.

Another article in the same magazine, written by Seymour Dunbar, entitled "The Quest of the Loloedon," is the recital of Mr. Verrill's search for the most ancient type of animal life in the western hemisphere. He found the strange creature, known to science as the Loloedon paradoxus in San Domingo, after many weeks' search, and was able to capture three of them, although none of these animals survived long. Mr. Verrill preserved their bodies, and these specimens are now on exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Natural History in New York city. The only other museum in the world having a specimen, and it is a very poor one, being but a fragment collected perhaps a century ago, is the Imperial in Berlin.

clippings from papers of various sections of the country in which the matter was treated. Mr. Stevens read them for a minute or two, and then looked up. "To tell you the truth," he said, "I am tired of talking about this canal affair. The great trouble is that your words are so twisted about by different writers for the press that when they come back to you again you often do not recognize the thought as your own at all. I did not say that I left the canal work for any such reason."

"There seems little need of me discussing the subject at this late date," he said. "Suffice it to say that this was not the reason." Mr. Stevens then swiftly changed the subject. He said he had heard on some sides rumors of friction between General Goethals, the present engineer-in-chief at the canal and him. Such he said was far from being the case. He said he was in receipt of many letters from General Goethals each month, and that he sent many in return. He said he was on the best of terms with the general. Mr. Stevens was told of the kind words of praise that Prof. Lounsbury reported General Goethals as saying about him when he (the professor) was interviewed by this paper a fortnight ago. "There, you see," he said, "how it is. Rumors to the contrary are entirely erroneous."

As an example of the universal misunderstanding of conditions in the canal zone that obtain in the states, Mr. Stevens made mention of the healthful conditions there. He said the workmen, engineers and soldiers universally found the district a healthful one. Many of them have gone there in ill health soon to find all their ailments flow away. And still, he said, "you will hear stories of the awful fevers there and of the general unhealthfulness of the place." Mr. Stevens said he was still of the same opinion as when he was quoted before by this paper in reference to the probable date of the finishing of the work. This he sets for January, 1915 or earlier. He said he thought the work done by the French company before the Americans were on the spot was the best as far as it went. He took exceptions with some of the estimates which have been made on the ultimate cost of the canal. Some of these, he said, have run up as high as $500,000,000. He said he did not think the whole project should cost the government more than $250,000,000 in the end, including the amount paid over by this government to the French company for its property.

Cuba and the Cubans.

At this point Mr. Stevens remarked again that he was tired of talking about the canal question. "Ask me something about Cuba," he said, "and I will talk as long as you please on it." Mr. Stevens has within the week returned from Havana, where he was the guest of Governor Magoon at the palace there. Of the governor he said he had nothing but the best to say. "The government did not neglect when it selected Magoon to go down there," he said. "I believe he has done wonders with the country. Everything is peaceful and quiet there now." The so-called rebel party in the interior is a nonentity and the whole island is prospering commercially. Mr. Stevens was asked what the prospects were for the evacuation of the island by the Americans. He said he did not see anything to stand in the way of the Americans getting out at the time already appointed for so doing by President Roosevelt, which is February 9 of next year, which will be shortly before President Roosevelt's term of office expires. He said he saw nothing in the way of it. The people have advanced, he said, since the time of the government taking control of affairs down there perhaps better than could be expected for such

GAMBLE--DESMOND

Brilliant Annual Spring Opening and "First View" There Yesterday.

THE THINGS TO BE SEEN

Admiration Expressed at the Fine Display in Each and Every Department.

The annual spring opening at the stores of the Gamble-Desmond Co., which gave its "first view" yesterday, attracted a goodly and appreciative crowd of women, who were most enthusiastic in their praise of all the beautiful things which had been so painstakingly selected and arranged for their inspection. The millinery parlors were thronged all day, and no wonder; such hats could not fail to attract even the most particular and fastidious. The foundation straps used this season are Tuscan, Milan clip and hemp braids and the soft pretty Leghorns. These come in all the seasons popular colorings, and in the natural shade. The new cherry is the most prominent of the season's shades, but the blues from the navy to the Copenhagen are still holding their own, also the shades of brown and green.

Many beautiful Paris hats are among the ones shown here, but they are closely rivaled by those which come from the workrooms of the Gamble-Desmond Co. Some of the hats that were especially admired were a black and cherry combination, the high crown having a wide band of rich coral velvet and the only trimming a huge pompon of white ostrich feathers. Another is of white Irish lace—the brim bound with white satin, and at the left side a beautiful ostrich plume of white and a white egrette. A large sailor of net has a straw band finishing the brim, and is trimmed with shades of brown, and a huge bird of Paradise. There are some lovely flower hats too, the colorings being the most attractive imaginable.

From the millinery to the suit room, where the display is the most comprehensive shown even by this store, is the most natural transfer in the world, and the showing called forth constant exclamations of admiration. The tailored gowns in this department include all the newest and most popular modes of the season, while the showing of evening and dinner gowns beggars description. The daintiest of wash suits, and frocks, of linen, lawn and pique attract also. Then of the lace coats a word must be said, they are so fascinating in black and white they are equally lovely. A stunning collection of waists, lace, net and lawn, and some capes made in the fashion of the Roman toga call for attention. Two exceptionally pretty models of these capes are, a graceful grey chiffon broadcloth, embroidered in self color in the Greek key pattern, has the neck finished with web bands of satin, blue, grey and salmon; the other of white broadcloth with wide white braid for trimming, finished with a touch of blue of a pale shade, and large-budded buttons of white braid. There are numbers of others which are no end lovely.

The silks and dress goods in this stock are more varied in style and color than ever before, and the season of which operated the shutters of the store, seem almost impossible that they could all be found under one roof, but they are here all right. Quite as much can be said of the wash goods department. The bordered materials are amazingly individual, and the most complete line to be seen anywhere is here.

About the lace-words cannot do justice to the display. Particularly handsome are the new embroidered flannel, which come in all widths and are really among the most used of the spring trimmings for handsome waists and gowns. The lace department of this house is celebrated for its beautiful displays and it has outdone all former efforts.

The opening will continue to-day, and the exhibition is artistic positively in every sense and worth paying a special visit.

A large sailor of net has a straw band finishing the brim, and is trimmed with shades of brown, and a huge bird of Paradise. There are some lovely flower hats too, the colorings being the most attractive imaginable.

From the millinery to the suit room, where the display is the most comprehensive shown even by this store, is the most natural transfer in the world, and the showing called forth constant exclamations of admiration. The tailored gowns in this department include all the newest and most popular modes of the season, while the showing of evening and dinner gowns beggars description. The daintiest of wash suits, and frocks, of linen, lawn and pique attract also. Then of the lace coats a word must be said, they are so fascinating in black and white they are equally lovely. A stunning collection of waists, lace, net and lawn, and some capes made in the fashion of the Roman toga call for attention. Two exceptionally pretty models of these capes are, a graceful grey chiffon broadcloth, embroidered in self color in the Greek key pattern, has the neck finished with web bands of satin, blue, grey and salmon; the other of white broadcloth with wide white braid for trimming, finished with a touch of blue of a pale shade, and large-budded buttons of white braid. There are numbers of others which are no end lovely.

The silks and dress goods in this stock are more varied in style and color than ever before, and the season of which operated the shutters of the store, seem almost impossible that they could all be found under one roof, but they are here all right. Quite as much can be said of the wash goods department. The bordered materials are amazingly individual, and the most complete line to be seen anywhere is here.

About the lace-words cannot do justice to the display. Particularly handsome are the new embroidered flannel, which come in all widths and are really among the most used of the spring trimmings for handsome waists and gowns. The lace department of this house is celebrated for its beautiful displays and it has outdone all former efforts.

The opening will continue to-day, and the exhibition is artistic positively in every sense and worth paying a special visit.

AFTER THIEVES WITH KITES

Sky Camera Expert Uses Novel Method for Apprehension.

New York, April 1.—Cameras attached to a kite which was sent up several hundred feet, were used yesterday by Assistant City Collector W. A. Eddy of Bayonne to discover who stole several quarts of ice cream from the rear porch of his residence, 88 West Thirty-sixth street. The resultant picture shows two men seated beneath a tree a few hundred yards from the Eddy home and eating the stolen cream, but alas! the features are too small to furnish a clue to the thieves.

The ice cream was to have formed part of a luncheon which Mr. Eddy's daughter had provided to entertain some of her young friends. When this loss was discovered Mr. Eddy, who is a well-known kite flier, got out one of his big kites and attached three cameras of different sizes. He suspected some of the boys who had not been invited to his daughter's party to be the pilferers. When he had raised the kite to an altitude of several hundred feet he pulled a cord which operated the shutters of the cameras. Hastily developing the pictures, he made out the two men eating the cream and hurried to the spot but they were gone. He recovered the empty ice cream boxes, however.

HAT TRIMMERS WALK OUT.

South Norwalk, April 1.—The hat trimmers employed by the Craft and Knapp company refused to work to-day on account of objection to three new inspectresses who were appointed this week. A shop call was issued and meetings have been called for this afternoon and evening, when the women and girls will probably take some action on the matter.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION.

The formal announcement is made that the commission appointed by the general assembly to inquire into the advisability of establishing here in the State of Connecticut a public utilities commission similar to that existing in the State of New York will visit New Haven next Monday and give a public hearing at the rooms of the supreme court in the county building.

It goes without saying that a goodly attendance of representative men at the approaching hearing is essential to the movement. No open-minded committee of inquiry could be expected to itself take an interest in a movement which lacked the support of public opinion.

The public report of the trustees of the New Haven Young Men's Christian Association bears out the statements made in the editorial columns of The Morning Journal-Courier.

The trustees have mapped out the proper course to pursue and while it relies for its success upon the generosity and public spirit of the people of the city, it is not possible to see how any other plan, short of bankruptcy proceedings, could have been adopted.

We confidently expect to learn that the guarantee fund has been completed and that the pathway has been cleared for such a study of the usefulness of the association in the future as will insure its permanent existence.

Carnegie says that he cannot afford to smoke, but it is only fair to state that abstention from smoking didn't give quite all the foundation for the capitalization of the United States Steel Corporation.

nies. It is reasonably clear that a general assembly meeting only once in twenty-four months and then for six months being pressed by a thousand matters of conflicting interest cannot give the needed public assurance.

Of especial interest is the suggestion that the proposed commission would virtually establish government ownership, at least to the extent to which it would weaken corporate independence.

The streets of Athens are being paved with asphalt, and here's hoping that a good guarantee goes with it.

Gentlemen continue to cry peace, and meanwhile gentlemen continue to invent things which they softly say will help bring peace.

There has been a debate in the Russian Duma over the proposal to raise the Russian legation in Tokio to the rank of an embassy, and in the course of the debate the Russian minister for foreign affairs spoke many smooth words about Japan.

It is true, as stated, that the Tartar lady uses onion juice as perfume the phrase "catching a Tartar" has a stronger meaning than some have supposed.

As "the Aldrich bill or nothing" business goes on the meaning of it grows plainer and plainer. Mr. Elmer H. Youngman, the editor of the Bankers' Magazine, in a communication to the New York Evening Post, characterizes the bill as it ought to be characterized when he calls it a direct and serious menace to American prosperity.

He points out that in the past ten years the circulation of the national banks has increased from a total of about $200,000,000 to over $600,000,000. Now it is proposed by the Aldrich bill to provide for an addition of $500,000,000 more of this form of money to our circulation, at a single stroke.

It is to be hoped that something will happen to defeat the schemers in this important matter. The United States has had trouble enough for awhile. Why deliberately sow the seeds of more?

The post truly says that high-minded men constitute a State, and when some of them are also "trust-busters" they can make their State pretty well known.

Though Connecticut has already been pretty well promoted and occupies a place in the forward part of the procession she could benefit by a Promotion committee, especially by one which, like the California committee, pays its own expenses and only seeks to benefit its beloved State.

The fire department is being heard from aplenty. First comes Superintendent Grant of the telegraph system, pointing out the dire necessity of a fire-proof headquarters where the delicate instruments of the alarm apparatus could be stored without possibility of damage.

A stranger, reading these statements which have been made in short sequence to each other, might think New Haven's fire department is a rather antiquated affair. New Haveners know that is far from being the case. New Haveners are proud of their fire department and of its chief, an enviable record necessitates it.

But it must be remembered that these gentlemen are enthusiasts, as ambitious for the most perfect system of fire protection in the city of New Haven as even the fire insurance companies would have them be.

The situation now is very acute in that regard. Should not, then, all emphasis possible be laid upon it? Fortunately the department's fire fighting apparatus (including new engines and a new truck) and crews are not in such a deplorable state that they cannot be depended upon to do valiant and effective work any time an alarm is set in to them in a satisfactory manner.

A fire-proof headquarters, then should, by all means, be the war-cry. If the department has any surplus energy it should aim it toward that end. The chief says the headquarters would cost about $40,000 and Commissioner Keegelmeyer's estimate is $35,000.

One thing at a time and that done well is a very good rule, as many can tell.

Plans has not been of a grave magnitude. Indeed, it can truthfully be said that Connecticut's manufacturing enterprises are firmly established and for the most part are distinguished for stability in character and conservatism in management. Contemporary publications from neighboring and far distant States give evidence of a more pronounced depression in business and a greater degree of reduction in output of manufactured products in other localities than is shown here by information received from various sources within the borders of this Commonwealth.

The year 1907 was not distinguished for its freedom from industrial disturbances over recent years and the aggregate duration of disputes amounted to about one hundred thousand days, a figure somewhat higher than for the past few years, although well below the average of the period 1900-1907.

New York Chamber of Commerce Favors Lowering Measure. New York, April 1.—The question of approving or disapproving the measure pending in congress for currency reform including specifically the Aldrich bill and the Fowler bill, will come before the New York Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting to-morrow.

The currency committee of that organization will then present a report disapproving both of the two measures referred to, and calling for the appointment of a currency commission on the general lines proposed by the Lowering bill, which provides for the appointment of a commission of eighteen members, to be composed of six senators and six representatives to be appointed by the presiding officers of the two houses, and six other persons to be appointed by the president; this committee to investigate the banking and currency problem and submit to the President recommendations for reform, at a date not later than January 1, 1909.

Italian Bound for United States to Spend it Captured at the Dock. Cherbourg, April 1.—Detectives to-day arrested Alexandro Giannetti, an Italian railway official, while he was in the act of boarding the White Star line steamer Tenorio, which sailed to-day for New York. Giannetti is charged with the robbery of $93,000 by breaking in a glass window in the railroad station at Chlano, a town of Switzerland on the Italian frontier. Gold to the amount of about $30,000 was found in the man's valises and $14,000 in banknotes were discovered wrapped about his body. He was accompanied by a young Italian woman with whom it is alleged he was eloping to the United States, having abandoned his family in poverty in Switzerland.

Our Cigar Department.

To gentlemen who know the appearance and taste, the aroma and other characteristics of a good cigar, we need to say nothing more than to mention the brands we carry, and invite an inspection of our stock.

To those who may not be so well acquainted with those features which contribute to a perfect smoke, we want to say our CIGARS are selected by a connoisseur—one who is thoroughly experienced in the selection and use of fine tobacco and knows what should be stocked to suit the taste of individual smokers. To this, more than anything else, may be attributed the wonderful growth in our box trade, which is constantly increasing.

Another important feature in our cigar trade is the uniform and unvarying quality maintained in the goods we handle (all other goods included in this statement). Once educated, therefore, to the liking of any special brand, our customers can depend upon the quality and taste for all time.

New York, April 1.—A resolution in support of the Agnew anti-racing bill now pending in the legislature was passed to-day unanimously at the Methodist Episcopal conference in this city, after its introduction had criticized Cardinal Gibbons and a Protestant Episcopal bishop.

The news of this action, with the resolution, was telegraphed at once to Governor Hughes, to the president of the senate, and to Senator Agnew. The resolution, which was offered by the Rev. Thomas S. Bond, pastor of the thirty-fifth Street Methodist church, descended by the Rev. R. E. Wilcox of the Central church in Yonkers, was as follows: "The New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in annual conference assembled in New York city, and representing more than 400 churches and sixty thousand members, heartily endorse and earnestly urge the passage of the Agnew-Hart anti-gambling bills."

FISK BOYS FAVORED

Judge Seems to Think Property Was Left in Trust to Them.

Judge Roraback has asked for fuller briefs in the Fisk appeal from the commissioners. This is the second time that the judge has asked for this very thing since his recent session here.

"The evidence shows that the first tract of land described in said deed at the corner of Dearborn avenue and Elm street was bought and paid for by Eugene D. Fisk with his money, and the appellee's contention as to this part of the real estate is fully sustained by the evidence.

REFUGEES IN FEAR

Haytian Revolutionists in the French Legation Prepare for Attack.

RUMORS OF EXECUTIONS

Stories of Summary Action in Case of Political Prisoners Denied by Government.

Port au Prince, April 1.—The spirit of uncertainty and of unrest still prevails in Port au Prince. The recent abortive attempt at a second uprising here, in which General Larroue, chief of the cavalry, and several other army officers are alleged to have been implicated has given the government cause for making searches in all quarters of the city in the hope of finding others they suspect of being involved in the plot.

The French minister to Haiti, M. Carleton, has recently shown considerable alarm concerning the action the Haitian government may take against the refugees now assembled in the French legation. Some of the refugees themselves state that the minister has advised them to procure pistols to defend their lives.

The French minister, when asked today in regard to this statement, declined to deny or affirm it, but he did say that he had made a representation of the case to M. Morin, the minister of state, pointing out to him the French contention that the giving of sanctuary to the refugees was an absolutely legitimate proceeding.

There is here that the summary executions continue in nearby country districts. For a long time past the government has had a large number of accused political prisoners in hand, and it is reported that almost nightly some of these are taken from the prisons, transported to the country districts, not yet remote from the city, and shot. This the government vehemently denies.

The French cruiser D'Estrees has not returned here from the island of St. Thomas, to which she took the refugees from Gonaives. The German cruiser Bremen returned yesterday from Kingston, and the United States cruiser Des Moines and the gunboat Marlette are also here.

Police Likely to Have One in the Autumn.

There is a strong probability that the local police department will make some of the suggested changes in regard to the photographing of prisoners by the department men instead of by an outside photographer as is now done and also toward the installation of a system modeled on the Bertillon if indeed that is not established some time before the end of the present year. The agitation was raised some time ago for some such action but as no appropriation was on hand the matter could not be taken up at the time. If the money can be found however, it is quite likely that the photographic system at headquarters will be put in operation before many months have passed. The present heavy criminal docket of the superior court with its great number of arrests in this city has resulted in the taking of a great many photographs for the Rogue's Gallery as all who are bound over for trial are photographed and if convicted placed in the collection of pictures. This means a great expense and the photographer's bill will be a large one so that in the end probably money would be saved as well as a much more convenient system introduced.

If the new system to be used by the police is started here it is suggested that the fourth floor of the present police buildings which is known as the drill room would furnish an ideal quarter for the official photographer. The installation of the Bertillon system would also probably follow.

WAGE CONVENTION

New President of Mine Workers Asks Operators to Meet With Men.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—The first official act of President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, in assuming office to-day, was to send telegraphic invitations to the principal operators of the central competitive field, consisting of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, to attend a meeting in Indianapolis on April 5 with representatives of the miners to make an effort to agree upon a call for an interstate wage convention, and, if necessary, to decide upon a general resumption of mining operations in the field.

The telegrams were in the form of a question asking the operators whether they would be willing to attend such a meeting. President Lewis to-night said he had received a number of answers, the most of which were favorable to the move, but he had not yet received enough to determine the result. He is confident, however, that the meeting will result in a resumption of work, the rehabilitation of the interstate movement in this field, and, in consequence, the rehabilitation of the interstate movement in the southwest fields and the outlying districts.

D. K. E. CONVENTION

To be Held Here Next November in York Street House.

BANQUET TO FOLLOW

The Later to be at the Waldorf—"Rated" Sophomores Will be Under the Ban.

The local Yale chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, which is known as "The Phi," is to act as the host for the coming convention of the fraternity, which is to be held next fall in conjunction with the Trinity chapter at Hartford. The opening session of the convention will be called in the hall of "The Phi" on York street on Wednesday, November 11.

On the two following days the business session of the convention will be held in Hartford in the hall of the Trinity chapter. The convention will be concluded in New York, where a big banquet, which is promised to be the greatest college affair ever had, will be given in the big ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria. A strong Yale graduate committee of dekes has been appointed and will look out for the arrangements for the convention. The banquet is New York will be on the evening of the 13th. Every Yale deke man that can possibly attend is expected to be present.

Treating of the fraternity situation at present at Yale a circular sent out to all the members of the chapter says:

"It has been decided by the fraternities that, beginning with next fall, no member of the incoming sophomores class shall be looked out for, he is classed as a "rated" man, that is, has a stand below the average to enable him to keep up with his class.

"The weekly meetings of the chapter are held, as formerly, on Tuesday evenings, the members of the Junior class having a special meeting on Tuesday evenings, and the sophomores have the exclusive use of the hall for themselves on Friday evenings. In order to try to keep the members of the chapter in New Haven on Sunday as far as possible, the plan has been adopted of having tea on Sunday afternoon and providing a special supper for our members on Sunday evenings. Thus the hall is in almost constant use, and any graduate will be welcomed at the hall on nearly any evening in the week.

"The chapter now has not only the mortgage paid off entirely, but has no indebtedness of any kind, and is strong financially;

A WOMAN'S FARM

A Cheeringly Successful Experiment in Cattle Raising.

SECRET OF THE TRIUMPH

Forcing Beef and Dairying Make a Valuable Combination.

Raising cattle for the market in the East is not generally considered a profitable venture but Mrs. Kate F. Ramp declares that she has made a good living by it not only for herself and her three children but also for her invalid mother and her grandmother.

"The secret of my success is selling my cattle young. I never keep a cow intended for market after it is eighteen months old." Mrs. Ramp declared in telling her experience. "I couldn't afford it; my capital is so small that I must have quick returns."

"Do I mean veal when I speak of selling cattle at eighteen months? Oh, my, no. I never sold a calf for veal in my life. It would be rank extravagance from my point of view. The cattle I ship to market at from 14 to 18 months old are both matured and well fattened beef."

"My land is productive enough, but as I haven't very much the expense of shipping, if I depended on the usual farm products, would eat up all my profits. After my husband's death which left us all dependent on what could be made on this farm, I worked over the problem for some three months."

"One thing for which there is always a demand and which I know could be easily shipped if I could only raise it was beef cattle. So I decided that the solution of the problem lay in getting cows that could be forced to early maturity as beef and at the same time give a reasonable quantity of milk and butter."

"I didn't take me long to decide against the scrub cow of Virginia and the Jersey. One was all horns and the other all milk. After looking the different breeds over I decided to try the Hereford, and fortunately I hit the nail on the head."

"I invested in five young cows, registered stock, as a beginner. My success was sufficient with those five cows to warrant my increasing my herd to the limit of my acreage. By the sale of the cream and butter in the small town near which I live each cow more than pays its own expenses, so my beebes are clear profit."

"My methods are very simple and founded on the laws of nature. My cows are allowed to suckle their calves for the first four days. After the fourth day the calves are fed on fresh whole milk for from ten days to two weeks."

"At the end of two weeks warm skimmed milk should be substituted for whole milk. Care should be taken to have the milk always sweet and warm, at a temperature of from 95 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit, or digestive troubles will be the result. If the calf is large and healthy after it is a month old I increase its allowance of milk to as much as twelve quarts a day."

"To get the best results calves should have milk until they are six months old, but from the time the calf is two weeks old small quantities of grain should be added to its ration to take the place of the fat taken from the milk by the separator and to get the calf into the habit of eating other foods. For this purpose I prefer to use corn meal or Kaffir meal because of its cheapness and because for my use it has proved in every way satisfactory. Other cattle raisers tell me that oatmeal and linseed meal are equally good. As they are more expensive and not among the products of my farm I have never tried either of them."

"As I now manage all my calves come in October. This is because it has proved the best both for the calf and for my farming. When a calf is born in October the five or six months during which it must be fed on skimmed milk come at a season of the year when there is no pasturage. At the end of that time the grass is beginning to show itself and the calf can be turned out with a slight addition to its grain ration."

"During the second five months its food can be packed up in the pasture with the addition of an increasing quantity of grain. At the end of this time, the beginning of the third five months, the forcing period begins."

"During this fattening period it is necessary to force the cattle to eat to the limit of their capacity, as the older they grow the more expensive the process of putting on flesh becomes. When my calves reach this age in perfect health I feed them dry fodder or ensilage and grain without stint, and the day they attain the prime market condition they are shipped."

"This is wise not only because it

REVIVED

Old-Time Health, Eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had been sick for 19 years with dyspepsia and a lot of complications," wrote an Ark. woman.

"An operation was advised, change of climate was suggested, but no one seemed to know just what was the matter. I was in bed three days in a week and got so thin I weighed only 89 lbs. No food seemed to agree with me."

"I told my husband I was going to try some kind of predigested food so if I could keep from this feeling of constrained hunger."

"Grape-Nuts and cream was the food I got and nothing has seemed to satisfy me like it. I never feel hungry, but have a natural appetite. Have had no nervous spells since I began this food, and have taken no medicine."

"I have gained so much strength that I now do all my housework and feel well and strong. My weight has increased 8 lbs. in 8 weeks and I shall always eat Grape-Nuts as it is the pleasantest and 'working' medicine. 'There's a Reason.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. CATCHING FISH IN BASKETS.

Easy Method Which Obtained Years Ago Around the Bay of Fundy. The Bay of Fundy has always been a famous fishing ground, especially for salmon and shad. Fifty years ago the fish were so plentiful that a man could be used to catch them which seems odd nowadays when a fish has at least half a chance to escape the hook or the net. The tide rises high in the Bay of Fundy and its headwaters, and of this fact the fishermen of fifty years ago took full advantage. At high tide the water makes sizable rivers of tiny streams. Large schools of shad and other fish in those days came up the rivers with the tide. The method of catching them was simple in the extreme. At low tide a seine would be staked to the river bed and the top of the seine weighted to the bottom with leads. Then after the tide had risen the fishermen would pull up the seine so that it formed a barrier across the entire river bed. When the tide began to run out the fish would find their return to the sea and freedom barred effectively. The little fellows, of course, would poke their way through the seine, but the one worth catching would flap impatiently against the meshes. Soon the tide would be out completely, leaving only a foot or so of water in the river. Several thousand fish would be there for the taking. A pair of rubber boots and a basket would be sufficient equipment for the fishermen who waded out and gathered them in wholesale. The fish don't run up the rivers any more and the setting must be done in the bay itself. This is profitable, it is true, but a fish with half a head can avoid capture for a long time.

House Hears Attorney-General Denounced as Unfit to Hold Office. AGRICULTURAL BILL MOVES. Senate Authorizes Snake River Dam—Claims for Proceeds of Public Land Sale Heard.

ASSAILS BONAPARTE

Washington, April 1.—Debate on the agricultural appropriation bill in the house to-day was devoid of the charges and imputations which marked its consideration on Monday and Tuesday. More progress was made with the measure than on any previous day and the indications are that it will finally get through to-morrow. To-day's discussion dwelt on a proposition for an increased appropriation for the farmers' bulletins, which, however, was refused and the subject of inquiries into road buildings, etc., by the department, the trend of opinion being that such work should be encouraged.

ASSAILS BONAPARTE

The session was opened with a bitter attack on Attorney General Bonaparte by Mr. Clark of Florida, who denounced him as being no lawyer and unfit to hold his office. The occasion for the outburst was the reporting out of a committee of resolution by Mr. Clark calling for a statement of the expense connected with penance investigations and prosecutions. That the resolution was simply a further and unnecessary attack on the attorney general by Mr. Clark was the declaration of Mr. Caudill of Missouri who led the opposition. The resolution was tabled.

ASSAILS BONAPARTE

At 4:46 p. m. the house adjourned. In the senate the passage of a bill authorizing the construction of a dam across the Snake river in the state of Washington, and the consideration of a measure for adjudicating the claims of states against the government on account of the disposition of the proceeds of public lands occupied nearly the entire session of the senate to-day. The senate at 4:14 p. m. adjourned.

The two came up yesterday, took out a license and as they were anxious to have the knot tied at once, Mr. Rowe obliged. Smith gave his age as 24 and his bride acknowledged one year more.

PINCHOT MAKES REPLY.

Denies Misuse of Funds and Inciting Attacks on Public Men. Washington, April 1.—In answer to the allegation against him on the floor of the house by Messrs. Mondell of Wyoming; Smith, California, and others, Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry bureau, has addressed a letter to Mr. Pollard of Nebraska, a member of the committee on agriculture, in defense of himself. Mr. Pinchot denies that either the forest service or himself ever paid a cent to any newspaper or magazine to advertise the bureau's work; denies that either his bureau or himself ever instigated or procured attacks on public men and denies the misuse of public funds. "It is obvious," he says, "to anyone who will consider the matter for a moment that the character intelligence and news sense of Washington, and other correspondents, and of every editor and writer who has ever made use of our material, is the most effective barrier to any such scheme of work as the forest service has been charged with."

PINCHOT MAKES REPLY.

Mr. Pinchot closes his letter by defending his policy of sending forest officials to meetings of forestry bodies, in order to hear complaints if any, against the service or to give suggestions. WANTS SECRET SERVICE. New York Police Commissioner Asks for $100,000 Appropriation. New York, April 1.—As a result of last Saturday's disturbance in Union Square when one man was killed and several injured by a bomb Police Commissioner Bingham to-day renewed his request for funds for the establishment of a police secret service. The sum asked in a letter directed to the board of aldermen was $100,000. The commissioner said the money was needed to keep secret service men constantly at work watching anarchistic and socialist meetings.

STRINGENT MEAT INSPECTION. Washington, April 1.—New regulations governing meat inspection went into effect to-day. The department of agriculture has received several complaints regarding the clause which requires that all grease, tallow or other fats must be denatured and rendered unavailable for food purposes before shipment is made. One of the complainants alleges that the European dealers will refuse to receive grease and other fats that have been denatured and that the new regulation will discourage foreign trade in these products.

TO PROTECT LABOR.

Bill in House to Prevent Competition of Convict Labor. Washington, April 1.—Hearings were begun to-day before the house committee on labor on the Kimball bill "to permit the protection of labor and industries from the competition of convict labor and manufactures." Rep. Slayden of Texas argued in favor of the bill. It was vigorously opposed by Edward Boyle of Chicago, a penologist of note. It has been twice favorably reported from the committee on labor and once passed by the house. The bill provides that all goods, wares and merchandise manufactured wholly or in part by the convict labor in any prison or reformatory, when shipped into another state, shall become subject to the police regulations of that state. The question chiefly concerning the committee is the constitutional right of congress to prescribe the application of the police power within states.

INTERNAL WATERWAY. Survey Asked of Boston to Wilmington Route by Way of Sound. Washington, April 1.—Senator Simmons to-day introduced a joint resolution directing a survey of a continuous waterway by the route deemed most available from Boston to Wilmington, N. C., by way of Long Island sound, and the approaches to New York city, to Raritan bay, thence across New Jersey to the Delaware and through Delaware and Maryland to the Chesapeake Bay; thence through Virginia and North Carolina, by the sounds and Cape Fear river to Wilmington. This survey is to be for a waterway of a minimum depth of 16 feet. For these purposes $100,000 is appropriated by the resolution which was referred to the committee on commerce.

CLEARINGS FOR MARCH.

Statement Showing Improvement as Compared With February. In the statement issued by the secretary of the New Haven Clearing House association to-day an improvement is shown by the clearings during the month of March as compared with the preceding month, but a slight decrease scale. The sharp rally in U. S. Steel also relieved the market from the depressing effect of the recent signs of liquidation in that stock. A good effect was produced by the February earnings statement of the Pennsylvania system owing to the market progress shown in effecting retrenchment of operating costs.

REPORTED FROM THE FIGURES FOR MARCH, 1907.

The total for the month was $5,970,960.49, against $5,827,893.33 for February. In March, 1907, the clearings totalled $9,251,446.63.

REPORTED FROM THE FIGURES FOR MARCH, 1907.

The foregoing with the amount carried forward for the remaining days of the month brings the total to the sum stated above.

One hundred and fifty hotels in Kansas City use a style of cabinet on their desks in which a receptacle is provided for a raw potato, in which it is the custom of the clerk to stick the pen after it is used for any purpose. The potato serves as a cleaner for the pen, and also a handy place in which it may be kept. A fresh potato is supplied every morning. A guest at one of the hotels where this cabinet is used took the trouble to figure up how many potatoes were used for that purpose in Kansas City in one year. He not only surprised the clerk, but other guests who heard his comment. Counting two potatoes to each cabinet and 150 cabinets in the city, he found that 300 potatoes were used in one day. That didn't look so bad, but when he figured 300 potatoes a day for thirty days, or the average month, the figure came with three ciphers after it looked rather appalling. "Now, just figure up what it would be for a year," suggested another guest. "The man with the pencil figured. Nine thousand potatoes a month for twelve months would be 108,000 potatoes a year. In two years enough potatoes would have been used for this purpose in Kansas City to supply..."

A PRECOCIOUS BOY Wonderful Achievements of John Trumbull a Century Ago. PASSED YALE EXAMS AT 7 PUNY and Intellectual Youth Who Attained Ripe Age of Eighty-one Years. Few people in Connecticut realize that there once lived a boy in Waterbury who possessed the remarkable precociousness which enabled him to pass the Yale examination at the age of seven years. He didn't enter Yale until his 14th year, yet the record remains, and ought not to be lost sight of. The boy's name was John Trumbull, born in 1750, and died full of honor, scholastic and political, at the age of 81 years, in 1831. He was frail and tender as a youngster, and his remarkable intellect overbalanced his physical make-up. Nobody thought he "would grow up," and his mental achievement at an age when most boys nowadays are entering the district school, attracted the attention of scholar and distinguished men in his day. It was said of him at the time he passed the Yale examinations at the age of 7 years that he was so small and puny he could hardly lift the bulky volumes in which he passed his examinations. From all accounts he was a thorough-going intellectual wonder, and although he did not make the tremendous success of life that his "start off" indicated yet he left a record for early attainments that can be hardly excelled. Like most of the wonders of that day he was the son of a Congregational minister living in a section of Waterbury now known as Watertown, and the elder Trumbull was a trustee of Yale college. The old gentleman tutored his son as soon as he was able to learn his letters which must have been at about the age of 3 years for it is told that about the time most boys are preparing for the kindergarten course, young Trumbull had talked Greek and Latin. Before he was 6 years of age he had made serious inroads into both the Greek and Latin languages, and his father was so delighted with the youngster's precocity that he pushed him along with all the vigor of a strict old minister of those days. His progress was so rapid that he passed an examination at the age of 7 which was "sufficiently advanced to merit him admission to Yale college." This means, of course, that he had pretty accurate and comprehensive knowledge of both Latin and Greek, and a good dose of theology and moral philosophy thrown in. On account of his extreme youth and small stature, as well as subsequent ill health, young Trumbull didn't enter Yale until his 14th year. While at New Haven he demonstrated in every possible way his wonderful ability as a scholar and he won all the scholastic honors he went after. He outclassed all competitors for academic honors and it is recorded that his sound, vigorous, and dispassionate thought and a sturdy, earnestly disinterested attitude of far more advanced years. Trumbull was graduated from Yale in the class of 1767, but he didn't leave the college until 1770, as he remained three years longer and studied "polite literature." During this period he became well acquainted with the first president, Timothy Dwight, who was in a lower class, but had already attracted wide attention as a remarkable scholar, and which his life afterward proved him to be. In 1771 two tutors of the college resigned, and Dwight and Trumbull were chosen to take their places. They worked hard to raise the standard of learning in the college. Their new-fangled methods were not met with approval, it is said, by the college officials, but the innovation started by these two intellectual youths finally won out, and were successful. With Dwight, Trumbull produced many essays, which after the style of Addison and Steele in the Spectator and in 1772 appeared "The Progress of Dulness," which is said to be the most finished of Trumbull's poems. While tutoring in Yale, young Trumbull studied law as a side issue, and in 1773 resigned his tutorship, and was admitted to the bar of Connecticut. He didn't start in to practice at that time but took a stage for Boston and went into the office of sturdy old John Adams, then the leading lawyer of that city and one of the principals in the big political revolution that was fast reaching a culminating point. His spare time in Adams' office was spent in "mixing into" the questions that were presenting themselves in the great impending struggle between the Colonies and Great Britain. He published in 1774 an "Essay on the Times," and returned soon afterwards to New Haven where he commenced his practice of the law under the most promising conditions. Trumbull remained in New Haven for five years during which time he took a prominent part in the political activities of the day, and it was at home that he wrote the first portion of the poem "McFingal," which was printed in Philadelphia, at a time when congress was in session, and which was republished in different parts of this country and in Europe. The poem, which was in the Hudibrastic vein, and pronounced to be the best imitation of Butler's famous satire, was not finished until 1782, when it was issued in three cantos at Hartford. Trumbull had resided in Hartford in 1781, and spent most of the remainder of his life in that city. This political poem is well worth reading to-day, and all agree that it is one of the most cleverly executed political satires written. Although the cantos are long, one rarely ever starts the poem without following it to the end, and it never becomes tedious. Soon after Trumbull's settlement in Hartford a social club was established of which Trumbull, Joel Barlow, Dr. Lemuel Hopkins and Colonel David Humphreys were members. They were

WILL MARRY PRINCE

Mme. Gould Follows de Sagan to Paris This Month for Wedding.

BREAKS WITH FAMILY

Lawyers Retained by Former Countess to Prevent Losing of Inheritance.

New York, April 1.—Defying her family and friends, that she will see for her share of the Gould millions if necessary, Mme. Anna Gould with her three children will follow Prince de Sagan to France—by sail on La Provence on April 9—and will become his bride early in June in Paris.

The statement regarding the departure of the former countess and of the prince was made today and de Sagan himself, after a visit to the Hotel St. Regis, where the divorced wife of his cousin and bitter rival is ill with bronchitis and cold, contracted on Monday.

The date and place of the wedding was made known by a friend of both Mme. Gould and the prince, who is aware of their plans.

What was looked upon by some as evidence of the break between Mme. Gould and her brother, George J. Gould, was the signing of an order today by Judge Lacombe in the United States circuit court authorizing Mr. Gould and Helen Gould, as receivers for Mme. Anna Gould, to turn over to Mr. Gould enough of the recent issue of Missouri Pacific 4 per cent. gold bonds belonging to the former countess to reimburse him $50,000 which he paid last fall to Edmund Kelly, the attorney who represented the countess in her divorce action against Count Boni de Castellane.

The order of the court was made in the suit brought in 1901 by Eugene Flahot and other Parisian merchants to recover for purchases made by the countess and countess. An arrangement was made at the time whereby the executors of Jay Gould's estate were to pay $400,000 of the $600,000 income of the countess to the creditors annually. The debt is not yet fully paid.

The court also allowed today $2,000 to former Judge John F. Dillon for his services in the suit.

"While I intend to sail on April 9," said de Sagan, "maybe I shall go sooner. Mme. Gould will sail just as soon as she is able to be up. She cannot live in this country. The climate does not agree with her. She is now suffering with a heavy cold and bronchitis, with a lesion in the left lung.

"No, indeed, she will not go back to Paris on the ship with me. I want to deny emphatically the report that we have already been married. That is false. I cannot speak for the future."

"What do you think of George Gould putting detectives on your track in France?" he was asked.

"George Gould can do what he pleases. I have lived my own life in a glass house. I have never been in jail. I have never stolen from anybody. I have never murdered anybody, and I am not a vagabond. I have lived the life of a normal man of the world, that is all. I am not afraid of George Gould or his detectives.

"This talk of Mme. Gould losing her inheritance is not true. The will cannot be broken.

"I will let you know when I sail. Maybe I shall go before the 9th."

"Do you now admit that you are an avowed suitor for the hand of Mme. Gould?" he was asked.

"I do," returned the prince. "An engagement? Well, you are surely able to decide that question for yourself."

"Will the marriage take place here?"

"Oh, certainly not."

"Soon after your arrival on the other side?" he was asked.

A shrug of the shoulders and a gesture answered this. The affirmative intimation could not be mistaken.

"But what of the contention that should Mme. Gould marry contrary to the wishes of a majority of the executors of her father's estate she would suffer a loss of approximately $7,500,000 of her estimated share of $15,000,000 of that fortune?"

"The codicil to that effect in the will would not hold under the law," returned the prince. "She has been married before. The former marriage abrogates that provision, even if there were no other points on which its legality could be successfully challenged."

"Has Mme. Gould received legal advice to that effect?"

"She has. That is the opinion of lawyers of authority who have studied the problem."

"Has she engaged personal counsel?"

"Yes; she has retained the firm of Couderc Brothers. She is not relying on Mr. Kelley, who procured her divorce."

Mrs. Tyler Morse, with whom Mme. Anna Gould is staying at the St. Regis hotel, said today:

"I am authorized to say for Mme. Gould that there will be no formal announcement of her engagement made in this city. The engagement will be publicly made in France, according to certain formalities that must be observed there, as Mme. Gould is a citizen of France. Mme. Gould should arrive in Paris before the end of the month if her health permits, as she intends to sail directly after Easter. I cannot say how soon Mme. Gould will give her answer to the prince, but it will not be made publicly known in this country."

GRASS FIRE CALLS ENGINES.

Despite the rains that have descended with more than agreeable copiousness on the regions hereabout grass in a lot on Cedar Hill avenue was dry enough yesterday afternoon to catch fire and thereby bring a fire call. It came from box 88 shortly after 3 o'clock. There was no damage done, however, as the lawn was soon soaked.

FEW NEW TAGS TAKEN.

There was not much of a run on the new dog tags in the town clerk's office yesterday, the first day of the issuance of the new triangular tags. About a dozen were the limit for the day. The dog owners have until May 1 to obtain the new licenses and tags.

Through A Shop Window

Belts for little girls and boys in calf-skin and patent leather come in red, tan, blue, pink and black. They are an attractive finish for the popular linen suits.

Charming little pin-cushions are made of small flowers of ribbon which are painted and put on round pieces of silk covered cardboard.

Most useful are clothes bags open at the bottom as well as at the top. Instead of turning the bag inside out the bottom is unbuttoned.

Especially for the traveler are little wicker-covered bottles of cologne. With this protection the glass is almost absolutely indestructible.

The new embroidered swisses are exquisite whether they cost a little or are very expensive. The plain dot never loses favor, but there are charming designs of plain, fine lines at rather wide intervals, with waving floral bands of tiny flowers in between.

The Howe and Stetson company will have a sale of curtains, starting today the values in which have not been seen before in this city. There is a great variety in the neck-wear of the moment and even with the lingerie artist without which so many women feel that life is impossible, collars and ties are now required to give the desired finish around the neck. The turn down embroidered collar is all prevailing and is worn with all kinds of waists. There is endless variety in these collars; some are of the finest sheers in linen lawn, with most exquisite embroidery, and edged with narrow valenciennes lace, and where the edges meet in front there is a tie or stiff bow, the daintiest thing imaginable.

JURY GOES HOME

Kodner Case Ends, But Jury is Not to be Locked Up Till Morning.

JUDGE IS CONSIDERATE

Bronson Case Continues, With No End in Sight—Other Court News.

Judge Roraback has the reputation of being one of the most considerate judges on the Connecticut superior court bench. Again when he was here recently he showed the same tendency both in his dealings with counsel and with the witnesses. During the proceedings of the Kodner trial before Judge Wheeler yesterday that judge showed he had some of the same pleasing qualities. It seems that on the night before, Tuesday, the jury in the case had been dismissed so late in the afternoon that many of them missed their trains to their rural homes and some at least were as late as 10 o'clock in reaching their homes.

The Kodner case, which taken out of the hands of counsel shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at which time Attorney Fitzgerald finished the closing argument for the plaintiff. The judge at once proceeded with his charge to the jury which was a very fair one. In it he laid some emphasis upon a claim made by the defendant Consolidated Railroad company that more stress should be given any positive evidence of witnesses that had sworn they did hear the motorman of the railroad strike the plaintiff's girl with his bell than on any negative evidence that the bell was not heard.

The jury went out at about 4:45. They had only been out of the court room for about ten minutes when Judge Wheeler called them in again and said he had heard how they had lost their trains the night before and for that reason he was going to excuse them from further deliberation in the case till 9:30 this morning when they will be locked up to consider their verdict.

The suit of Harry Kodner against the Consolidated Railway Co. for $5,000 damages for injuries received. Kodner was driving north on Meadow street, on May 6th, last, when his team was struck by a car which came up behind it and he was thrown out and hurt.

Terrault Case Next.

As soon as this case is finished the case of Frank Terrault vs. the Consolidated Railway Co. and the Smalley Co. will come up for trial before Judge Wheeler and jury.

The action is to recover damages for injuries received by the plaintiff who on last Labor Day was standing in the running board of a car bound for Meadow street from Church when it collided with a Smalley Co's truck, crushing the plaintiff's foot. Fitzgerald and Walsh are the counsel for the plaintiff and L. N. Bydenburgh for the Smalley Co.

Bronson Case Again.

The Bronson case against the New Haven County National Bank and against the Mechanics National Bank was continued before Judge Shumway yesterday. The court room was again filled with bank ledgers. The end of the case is not yet in sight. One of the counsel said yesterday that he thought $15,000 would be the amount in question in the case. The facts of the suit have been a number of times in this paper.

Yesterday Laurence K. Driscoll was on the stand. He went over the old accounts of the Wheeler company and testified as to his findings. N. W. White, formerly secretary of the company was also on the stand. Most of the day was spent in examining receipts and checkings of 1888 in the many accounts and mousetraps ledger books. The usual swarm of expressmen were on hand at 5 o'clock to cart the books away for safe keeping over night. Senator Judson was again present in legal capacity.

Hallen Society Sued.

The suit of Michael Barletta against the San Antonio society was on trial before Judge Wolfe and a jury in the court of common pleas yesterday. It is an action to recover $150 damages.

Originally the claim against the society was held by Mrs. Annie Mongello, whose husband, Francesco, was a member of the society. She assigned the claim to Barletta.

Francesco Mongello was expelled from the society for non-payment of dues. The plaintiff claims that he was sick at the time and should have been paid sick benefits and that the society also owes insurance on Mongello's death.

The case was not ended.

Candy Men in Trouble.

As a result of repeated complaints of the operations of a group of candy peddlers who hang around the High school buildings at recess every day and do a thriving business, Corinne Panchell, John Dimech, Lessor Lashoff and George Olinianeseum, four of these candy peddlers were arrested by Detectives Healy and Ledwith and were before the city court yesterday. They were all remanded until April 2, in the custody of the probation officer.

"Short Changer" Held.

Charles Stratton arrested for short changing Joseph M. Jacobs, a College street druggist, was given a continuance until 1:30 in the police court yesterday. Stratton's alleged game is one that has been worked on several local business men recently. It consists of presenting a bill of large denomination for change and then confusing the stockholder in the count.

"De." Brand's Case Friday.

Dr. Brand was held for trial on Friday by Judge Matthews in the police court yesterday. He was unable to raise the bond of $1,000 which was named at the time of his arrest and spent the night in the lockup. With the continuance yesterday his counsel Attorney D. S. Rivkin, argued for a reduction of the bail from $1,000 to $500, but the court refused to make a change and Brand was taken to jail. He has but little hope of obtaining a bondsman as he has been here but a few weeks.

His arrest was the result of an investigation by County Health Officer Hoadley, following complaint to the state medical board by several local physicians.

WORK HIM FOR $100.

Two Unknown Italians Get Easy Money from Fellow Countryman.

That Michael Gartano of a Factory street was the victim of a confidence game to the extent of $100, was reported to the police yesterday. Gartano met two unknown Italians, one of whom displayed a roll in which he said was $2,000 which he had collected from the trolley as damages for his brother's death. Then he proposed to Gartano that if the latter had $100 they should put in $100 each and work together. Gartano took his $100 from the bank and gave it to the stranger who put it in the roll which he had shown him. The stranger turned his back for a moment after fumbling with his shirt and about half Michael had a bundle of about $200 proper size up in a handkerchief.

Shortly afterwards the pair left Michael standing on a street corner calm in the supposition that he was holding the stakes amounting to $2100, while they went into a nearby store to buy some cigarettes before continuing the journey down to Pepee's.

Michael hasn't seen them since. When he woke up and undid the bundle he found it was just a roll of old paper. Then he ran to police headquarters and talked it over with Capt. Dunn, whose men are looking for Michael's two friends.

WOMAN STICKS TO STORY.

Though hovering between life and death at Grace hospital Miss Elizabeth Miller, the young colored woman brought there from Ansonia last week with a bullet wound through her side, still sticks to her story that the shooting was accidental, though the coroner and surgeons declare it impossible.

Coroner Mix had made several visits to her at the hospital in a vain effort to gain a more likely story and he again questioned her late this afternoon.

PIANO FELL ON HIS LEG.

Patrick Shay of 49 Wooster street, who is employed at Freight House B, at the Water street yards, suffered a painful injury yesterday when a piano fell upon his leg. Shay is resting comfortably and the physician, Dr. Whittemore, states that no bones are broken, but the limb is in bad shape from being crushed and bruised.

It was while doing his usual work in handling heavy freight that Mr. Shay was injured. He was taken to the doctor's office in a hack owned by George Earl and later went home.
