

WRECK DUE TO A ROTTEN TIE, PERHAPS

Report That Spikes Were Pulled From Worm-Eaten Sleeper Stirs the Coroner's Vigilance.

WRECKAGE BEING WATCHED

Engineer and Conductors Under Arrest—Victim's Mother Out of Her Mind—Dr. Whittemore Tells of Casualties.

Greenwich, July 16.—One woman was killed, two may die from shock or injuries and nearly a dozen persons were seriously hurt when the White Mountain express, on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was wrecked 100 feet west of the station here at 9:20 o'clock this morning. Spreading rails caused the train to leave the tracks while it was crossing a bridge over Steamboat road, and five of the passenger coaches, including four Pullmans, were hurled into a ditch, where they collapsed like paper boxes.

That less than 15 of the 150 passengers were killed or injured seems little short of miraculous, as the train was going 50 miles an hour. The most tragic incident of the wreck was the death of Miss Margaret Armstrong of Wayne, Pa., who was seated beside her brother in one of the Pullman coaches when the train left the tracks. Miss Armstrong sprang from her seat and leaped out of a window just as the car toppled over, and she was ground to death as her mother looked on. Mrs. Armstrong fainted from the shock, and when she recovered consciousness in the hospital she was out of her mind. The doctors administered opiates to quiet her. They say her condition is serious and that she may die, although she was not injured in the wreck. The other woman who may die is Mrs. A. W. Drake of No. 17 East Eighth street, New York city who was crushed in one of the cars.

An immediate investigation as to the cause of the wreck is to be made. The coroner has had the engineer, W. J. Kimball of New York, and conductor E. May of Hartford, of the train, placed under arrest and he is having the work of removing the wreckage watched. This action was taken because of a report that reached the coroner that a rotten tie on the bridge caused the accident. There is evidence, it is alleged, that the tie was in such a worm-eaten condition that the spikes holding the rails were pulled out.

The White Mountain express left New York at 8:40 o'clock this morning. It was made up of two baggage cars, a mail coach, five Pullmans and two day coaches, and was drawn by two heavy electric motors. Exceptionally high speed is maintained by this train, as it makes but a few stops. The express is not scheduled to stop at Greenwich and it swept by the station going nearly a mile a minute. A few seconds later a grinding noise was heard as the rails spread and the wheels went bumping over the ties. The train was broken by the accident and the baggage cars, mail car and two day coaches were carried along the road bed for 100 feet before they stopped. Four Pullmans went into the ditch and the third one, in which Miss Armstrong and her mother were, turned over on its side. It was in this car that nearly all of the other injured passengers were riding.

A wrecking crew had to jack the Pullman up before the body of Miss Armstrong could be removed. A single glider on the bridge appears to have been all that kept the other cars from turning over. The noise of the wreck, followed by the cries of the injured and frightened passengers, was plainly heard in the town, and in a few minutes several hundred persons had gathered at the scene of the wreck and aided in caring for the wounded. The fire engines were called, as it was feared the cars would catch fire, and ambulances were summoned from all of the hospitals. Great surprise was expressed when it was found that less than a dozen persons had been injured. The coroner and officials of the railroad were quickly on the spot and separate investigations were begun. The coroner said that he would have nothing to say as to the cause of the wreck until he has concluded his investigations, and the railroad officials would not discuss the accident. The road was blocked for hours, and all trains on that division were delayed.

JUDGE PALMIERI IN TOWN

Judge Palmieri, the famous New York Italian lawyer, came up to New Haven yesterday to consider with Attorney Jacob P. Goodhart the advisability of taking an appeal in the case of Salvatore Conti, the Italian who was found guilty of murder in the second degree last week, and sentenced to life imprisonment. Judge Palmieri was brought here by several prominent New Haven Italians, who had become interested in the case, and as a result an appeal to the supreme court will probably be taken.

NO TRACE OF STOLEN YACHTS.

No trace has yet been found either by the police or by the City Point Yacht club of the two yachts which were stolen from their moorings off the clubhouse Wednesday night. It is supposed that the harbor thieves have put out to sea with their stolen property.

NO RATE RAISE YET

Presidents of Eight Lines Meet in New York, But Postpone Decision.

MUCH OPPOSITION SHOWN

Pennsylvania, Lackawanna, Reading and Lehigh Valley Fighting Advance

New York, July 16.—A conference of railroad presidents extended through long morning and afternoon sessions today at the offices of the Trunk Line association here on the subject of the proposed raising of freight rates. Considerable divergence of opinion appeared in the discussion as to the policy of raising the scheduled rates at the present time, owing to the dullness of trade and the opposition that has been already displayed on the part of the shippers to the proposed increase. On the one hand, it was argued, the necessities of the railroads are urgent, and while strict economies are being practiced in working expenses, the reduction of wages on a large scale has not been resorted to. On the other hand, the effect of raising the rates beyond any marked improvement in general freight traffic has set in may be to retard the flow of rising business that is expected with the fall. This consideration appeals more strongly to the eastern lines than to the western, which can rely on the usual shipments of fruit and grain.

The discussion brought out very clearly the fact that a great difference

MASTER PLUMBERS ELECT

Next Convention's Location Left to Executive Committee.

Boston, July 16.—The election of officers at the Master Plumbers' association here today resulted as follows: President, W. H. Halsey, Milwaukee, Wis.; vice-president, Walter D. Nolan, Washington, D. C.; secretary, Philip H. Murphy, Milwaukee, Wis.; treasurer, William McConeh, Philadelphia.

There was a strong effort made to have the next convention held at Seattle, Wash., but so much opposition developed that the matter was left to the decision of the executive committee.

A reception was given to the retiring national officers at the Hotel Somerset to-night.

WATERBURY MEN

OPPOSE LILLEY

If He Is Nominated Many Brass City Republicans Will Vote for Democratic Candidate.

LETTER ON THE SUBJECT

Unfitness for the Office Pointed Out—His Blunder and Failure in the Submarine Boat Affair.

Waterbury, July 16.

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier: It is much to be questioned whether you yourself appreciate the importance of the contest you are waging against the nomination for governor of Congressman-at-large George L. Lilley. I know whereof I speak when I say that in the event of his nomination there are many republicans in Waterbury, who will not only not vote for him, but will further express their opposition to him and his methods by voting for the democratic candidate. While it would appear to our local pride to have a candidate for the governorship hail from Waterbury, we have a feeling of state pride as well that cannot be put aside. Things have come to a pretty pass when a republican state convention can no longer be regarded as a deliberative assembly, and where the high office of governor is to be auctioned off to the man who is unable to display the personal qualifications sought for in its incumbent. If Mr. Lilley, by reason of education, or statesmanlike qualifications, were especially fitted for the office, or if he had rendered the state some service worthy of particular consideration, thereby commending him to the people, I should not have any objection to his nomination.

BONI SUES FOR CHILDREN

Also Wants Mme. Gould to Pay $60,000 Annually for Their Support.

Paris, July 16.—Count Boni de Castellane today formally filed suit for such revision of the decree of divorce obtained against him by his wife, who was Miss Anna Gould, of New York, as will give him the custody of his three children. The hearing has been set for July 27. Since the divorce Madame Gould has married Prince Helje de Sagan, Count Boni's cousin. The principal ground set forth by Count Boni is that the past record of Prince de Sagan makes him unworthy to be in close relationship to his children, but the conduct of the princess in traveling with the prince prior to the marriage of the pair also is invoked. If allowed to remain with the Sagens, the summons declares, the children would be brought up to dislike their father. As a corollary the count asks the court to order the mother of the children to contribute $20,000 annually toward the maintenance of each child.

DIES OF STARVATION

Father of Six-Year-Old New Britain Lad Held on Serious Charge.

New Britain, July 16.—Owing to the peculiar circumstances surrounding the death tonight of Ernest Hallstead, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hallstead of 38 Franklin street, Medical Examiner T. G. Wright's attention was called to the case. He made an examination into this evening and pronounced death as due to neglect and starvation. It is alleged that the father refused to allow the boy's mother to give the child nourishment and there were marks on the boy showing that he had been ill-treated.

Committee of Associated Civic Societies Takes Up Vital Matter as Affecting City Health.

SLACK IN COLLECTIONS

Statement That Present Contracts Should Be Cancelled or Else Wholesale Fines Imposed.

The facilities in the city for the collection of garbage, which are none too good ever, have been the cause of considerable inconvenience to many householders during the long hot spell just past. Collections have been generally infrequent and entirely inadequate. A tendency seems to be growing that sterner steps should be taken by the proper authorities to bring about a change.

Those who have believed the recent cleaning-up campaign, instituted by some of the hardest workers of the Associated Civic Societies, ended with the disappearance of the "Clean Sweep" button from the lapsels of the boys on the streets, have been far from right. Inquiry reveals that the committee has been very busy all these weeks. Not only has it obtained cleaner back-yards all over the city, but it has made considerable headway toward securing better conditions in the open lots, many of which heretofore have been used as common dumping-places for citizens everywhere.

Now the committee is vitally interested in the aldermanic investigation into the best ways and means to do away with the city's garbage after it

TRIES CHLOROFORM METHOD

Despondent Employee at Winchester's Almost Succeeds in Desperate Suicide Attempt.

Despondent because the financial depression had curtailed his income so that he could not make enough money to support his family as he had been accustomed to, Thomas Beadworth, forty-one years of age, an employe at Winchester's attempted to commit suicide at the factory yesterday afternoon by drinking two ounces of chloroform. He nearly succeeded and for a long time was in a very critical state. He was hurried at once to the New Haven hospital, where it was stated last night that he had recovered consciousness, and would almost undoubtedly recover. When Beadworth first arrived at the hospital he was so far gone that it seemed almost a certainty that he had succeeded in his attempt but strenuous work on the part of the doctors finally brought him back to consciousness, and while he was still a very sick man late last night he had come out of the worst effects of the poison.

Beadworth is employed by the Winchester company as a fireman. He had returned to work yesterday afternoon and took the poison shortly after work had been resumed for the afternoon. There was considerable excitement when the act was learned of, but no time was lost in summoning an ambulance. Beadworth lives at 477 Orchard street. He is married and has a large family.

TAXIMETER CABS HERE

Proposition Being Discussed, But Is Still Very Vague.

A proposition has been discussed among several prominent business and professional men in the city regarding the advisability of organizing a company here for the operation of a taximeter cab system along the line of the cabs which are now in use so freely in New York city. One of the men who is taking an interest in the matter is Judge A. Heaton Robertson. When interviewed in regard to the matter last night he stated that such a project had been vaguely talked of but that there had been no definite action taken and that the formation of a company was still a matter of the somewhat distant future. The men who are interested are making a canvass of the situation here to determine whether or not the idea would be a paying one if carried out.

MILLIONS FOR DEFENSE

New York Police Department Asks $16,393,539 for 1909.

New York, July 16.—In his police budget for 1909, which he sent to the board of estimate, and appropriation today, Commissioner Bingham asks for $16,393,539, an increase of $2,043,239 over the department allowance of last year. He explains the larger sum by saying that he wants to appoint 800 more patrolmen, make four new captains, and build two new police stations in Brooklyn. He also wants to create three new branch detective bureaus in that borough. Furthermore, the commissioner would like to spend $100,000 for a civilian clerical force, instead of having office work done by patrolmen.

Norton Street Residents Differ Regarding Beauty of Street.

ALL DUE TO EXTENSION

Occupy More Than an Hour of Public Hearing—Aldermen Do Not Decide Issue.

One of the longest committee sessions of the summer was that which the aldermanic committee on streets held last night on three petitions which had been referred to it at the last meeting of the board. The main matter that came up for consideration and the one which took up most of the time was the remonstrance made by the residents of a part of Norton street against the narrowing of the street between Whalley avenue and Goffe street. About everyone in the vicinity and others along the street who were interested showed up last night and held the attention of the committee for over an hour. The remonstrance was based on the belief of the residents of this block of the street that the actual street was to be narrowed because the new extension which is being cut through will not be so wide as the present street from curb to curb, and they are under the impression that the curbs in their section of the street will be changed to agree with the extension although it appears that has not yet been ordered by the city.

Quite a numerous gathering of Norton street people spoke against the

DARING HOLD-UP

IN CROWN STREET

Edward H. Backus, of Wallingford, Robbed of $170 and Left Lying on Steps of Arnold Building.

FIREMEN TO THE RESCUE

Police on Trail of Companions Who Dragged Man Along by No. 12's Fire House and, Leaving Him Injured, Ran Away.

One of the most daring holdups which has occurred in New Haven in recent years took place on Crown street, near No. 12's engine house, about 10 o'clock, Wednesday. The police are working on the case, and while they will not report what progress has been made it is understood that they know the two young men who were with the victim ten minutes previous to his being left on the doorsteps of the Arnold building, and that they will be asked to explain their connections with the case.

The victim of the hold-up was Edward H. Backus of Wallingford, according to his statement to the police yesterday morning, and he was robbed of $170. He could not remember when the money was taken, nor who he was with at the time. He admitted that he had been drinking, but said that he had taken no more than on any day, so that there must have been something powerful put in the glasses.

It was about 10 o'clock when the few people there were on Crown street at the time noticed two men dragging a third, apparently unconscious along the street. As it is not an unusual sight those who saw the men, especially those in No. 12's fire house, thought that two friends were escorting home someone who was under the weather.

A few minutes later a boy came running up to the fire house and said that there was a man lying unconscious and hurt on the steps of the Arnold building. Some of the firemen ran over to the house and brought him across the street while the police wagon was sent for. He was unconscious and any efforts made by the firemen or police failed to revive him. One side of his face looked as if it had been struck an awful blow, and the eye was closed.

When he came to his senses yesterday morning he could not remember distinctly whether he had been hit or whether he had injured himself when he fell down. His clothes looked as if he had been in a tussle, but otherwise than on the face he was unharmed. His eyes was the blackest ever seen at police headquarters and the rest of his face was badly bruised.

Backus said that he had come to the city and that he had taken one or two drinks. He said that he was never a heavy drinker and did not depart from his regular custom the evening before. When he came to the city he had the roll of bills, but they had been taken from him. He gave the description of various men he had seen near him in the evening, but could not remember going along Crown street.

From the firemen and from others who saw Backus dragged or assisted along the street the police have procured a good description of the men. When they dumped Backus on the steps of the Arnold building they walked rapidly up State street and disappeared. The police are looking for them.

Backus went back to Wallingford yesterday, but it will be sometime before he recovers his natural looks. He also suffered a bad shock from his fall on the steps, but permanent injuries are not anticipated.

FOR NATIONAL GATHERING

Convention Will Be Held in Indianapolis This Year—State President Walsh a Delegate.

The state association of journeymen plumbers, plumbers' helpers, steamfitters, gasfitters and helpers has just closed a two-days' convention which was held in Trades council hall. A number of resolutions pertaining to the good of the trade were discussed and adopted. State President Walsh of Derby was elected a delegate to the national convention at Indianapolis, Ind., on September 21. The report of the secretary and treasurer showed that the association was in a good financial condition, and also that four new local unions had been added to the association throughout the state and were in a prosperous condition. The most important business of the convention was the election and installation of officers for a term of one year. The following officers were elected: President—E. A. Mooney. Vice-president—Edward F. Fitzgerald. Recording secretary—W. F. Blake. Financial secretary—G. P. Farren. Treasurer—T. P. O'Meara. Inside guard—A. C. Kippe.

Business agent—J. P. Tierney. After the election of officers National President Alpine of Chicago and General Organizer Kennedy of Worcester conducted the installation exercises.

STRONG AFTER GARBAGE MEN

has been collected and with the present inadequate means of collecting the garbage now. About the former matter the committee will be heard from later. For the present they are content to enter their fire against the garbage collectors.

George B. Scranton, who is heading the work, is of the opinion that the present garbage contracts should be cancelled or else wholesale fines should be imposed upon the contractors to make them do what their contracts call for. Very few places about the city have their garbage collected once every other week-day, which is the regulation period prescribed for the summer time by the contracts. More often it is once in a week or two. Complaints to the board of health in the past have, it is said, resulted in no betterment, or, if any, in but a temporary betterment. The fact that the contractors would lose money heavily, did they live up to the strict letter of their contracts, does not materially enter into the case, as Mr. Scranton explains. These men have seen fit to make contracts with the city. If the latter are not to their advantage, they have only themselves now to blame and it certainly favors favoritism when the board of health persists in allowing them to do their work in a slovenly manner.

Mr. Scranton was seen yesterday by a Journal-Courier reporter, to whom he explained at length his views on the question and the work of his committee. Mr. Scranton said the following of the situation:

Statement by Mr. Scranton. "We have recently given considerable attention to the collection of garbage in this city on account of complaints we had received of the inefficiency of the system as now carried out. These complaints came to us in many instances when we were endeavoring to urge people to install garbage cans, in accordance with the city ordinance. We now have about 100 written, signed complaints, from parties who claim that the collection is very inadequate. Nearly all of the complaints state that they have made a verbal report of the conditions to the board of health. It is probably not generally known that the complaints of this character when sent to the board of health must be written and signed, otherwise the contractors cannot be fined according to the contract with the city.

"We are informed indirectly that an average of from 15 to 20 verbal and written complaints are received by the board of health daily, and this is from a population of about 130,000. I had access to the books in a city where garbage is collected from 1,600,000, and the justifiable complaints had not averaged one a day for six months prior to the time I made my investigation. In that city a hurry up wagon was sent immediately on receipt of a complaint, the trouble remedied, and the contractor fined if it was his fault. I have heard that any similar system was in vogue in this city, and the reports we have received would indicate that very little attention was paid to complaints, certainly not to those made verbally.

"Upon investigation we found that the wagons used for the collection of garbage were in most cases in a wretched condition as to their entire equipment. In some instances the men in charge of the wagons could not, or would not, speak English. Frequently garbage was found on the floors of the wagons, and the barrels were filled to overflowing. Lids on the barrels were not fastened down, but were resting on the garbage several inches above the top of the barrel. From this a very obnoxious odor arose. It would not seem necessary that we should make further comment along these lines, as anyone can see these conditions himself if he will inquire a little throughout his neighborhood and watch almost any wagon now used for collection.

"The contract with the city requires that collection shall be made during the summer months on each alternate week day, and that the garbage shall be removed in water tight casks, or barrels, of uniform size and appearance and so constructed that they shall be always securely and tightly closed when in transit. The covers of said barrels shall be constructed and fitted to the approval of the board of health. The barrels and wagons in which the garbage is removed shall be uniformly painted at least twice a year, be kept clean, and conspicuously labeled City Garbage Service.

"If the department in charge of this service considered that the contract is now being fulfilled, they certainly place a more liberal construction on it than I do. The contractors are now being in case they should violate their contract. It is, therefore, in my opinion, the duty of the department in charge to compel the contractors to live up to their agreement, or to have their bond called, the contract cancelled, and arrangements made with someone who can and will give this city adequate service."

If those who have complained of this matter repeatedly to the board of health without avail will write to this paper, stating their grievance, the facts may be set before the public and the board in the right light, and, if a change is necessary, it may be forthcoming.

WATERBURY MEN OPPOSE LILLEY

menting himself to popular favor, much of his wonderful seal in seeking the office could well be overlooked; but we fall to discover a convincing reason to warrant his vaunting ambition, aside from the agreement, iron-bound and copper-fastened, solemnly entered into between him and other leaders in the party a year or more ago.

People in Waterbury are not openly expressing themselves in his matter, for if the bosses are all powerful, and if Mr. Lilley's nomination is a foregone conclusion, what is the use of opposing a man openly with whom you live in the same community when that man is the governor of the state? We were not surprised at the result of the submarine boat investigation, we only remarked among ourselves: "It was just like George to do it but this time his bluff has been called." His successful entrance with the political arena was accomplished through a little play, when, as the older citizens recall he accused the old town officials of wasting public money, offering in a series of letters to the newspapers to do the work of the town upon its highways for a sum that was obviously too small by half. The people seemed to like that sort of thing, however, and the board of selectmen were apparently too stunned to reply or else for other reasons they preferred to let it go. About this time Mr. Lilley became a candidate for the legislature and once in the race his untiring zeal and startling liberality won the day for him. Every representative of every newspaper in the state, who came within his reach, became the studied object of his hospitality. Nearly all the representatives in the general assembly convened, singly and in droves, were gladly welcomed to all they could eat and drink, the host there was and plenty of it. Members of the convention that nominated him; officials of high and low degree; all were received and royally entertained at his camp at Lake Quassapanig. About this time the office of congressman-at-large was to be filled for the first time and where was the man quite so available as Mr. Lilley? Was there another man in all the state so popular among the leaders of his party as he?

Everyone knows who has read the report of the submarine boat investigation committee that he never had a leg to stand upon and that except for specific charges of a personal character made before the committee on cruises, which were afterwards withdrawn, as was about every other charge before the hearing was over, no committee would have been appointed and the state of Connecticut would have been spared the embarrassment of Mr. Lilley's confession under oath, that his charges against his fellow members of congress were based largely upon rumor. In view of this testimony, how it can possibly help the case of Mr. Lilley to assume that the methods of the boat company were of a corrupting character, but that unfortunately he was unable to prove it, we cannot possibly see, or how the case can be affected by the fact that the committee finding that Mr. Lilley was not only not helping them in their work but actually opposing them, and so treated him somewhat brusquely. While the foregoing would appear to be inspired by a feeling of personal animosity toward Mr. Lilley nevertheless it is not true. For reasons only partly stated we are opposed to his nomination for the office honorably and worthily held by Hawley, Jewell, Hubbard, English, Harrison, Ingersoll, Walter and others. We believe that the people everywhere would prefer the continuance in office for another term of the present incumbent, Governor R. S. Woodruff, that he may be enabled to carry to completion the work which during his present term he has so successfully inaugurated. Nor in the absence of the man we find either in the person or career of Mr. Lilley any satisfactory reason why Mr. Lake should be retired in his favor. Party organization to a limited extent is indeed necessary, but to insist that a small but dominant faction shall have the power to sell and barter the highest office in the state to the highest bidder a year or more in advance, in direct op-

NONE BADLY HURT

Dr. Whittemore Says There Were None With Bones Broken.

Called out by the hurry call of the New Haven road for which he is physician, Dr. Frank H. Whittemore went down to the wreck of the White Mountain express at Greenwich yesterday in the special coach which was attached to the wrecking train. He was the only physician taken on the call although his son accompanied him on the trip. After his return last night he expressed great pleasure at the remarkable escape from injury which the majority of the passengers on the train had.

Dr. Whittemore said he considered it little short of miraculous that there were so few injuries sustained by the passengers. Outside of the one young woman who was killed he said there were only about three or four others injured at all and not one of these had a bone broken and not one was unable to care for himself. No one was taken to a hospital and the doctor found upon his arrival that his services were not really needed.

He found the eight cars of the train all off the track with the two last cars completely turned over. It was in one of these that the young woman was killed. But the doctor considered it one of the most wonderful things he has ever heard of that while the train was well filled and going at a very high rate of speed no one was seriously hurt when under the circumstances many killed would seem inevitable. Regarding the cause of the wreck he said he was unable to tell and did not believe that anyone would know until the investigation had been held and the engineer had told his story of the case. He declared emphatically that the statement which was credited to one of the passengers on the train that the bridge was rotten and out of condition was not true at all and if the man had investigated it he declared he would have seen that such was not the case. He examined the bridge and found that it was in good condition except where the derailing of the train had broken some of the woodwork, but the truss work was in perfect condition.

Dr. Whittemore also spoke of the remarkable fact that while this road carries such an enormous number of passengers and in the great passenger road on which that traffic is greater than the freight this is the first passenger that has been killed by the road in seven years which is a truly remarkable record.

TRAINS ON TIME NOW.

Last evening the trains from New York returned to their regular schedule and were none of them delayed more than an hour by the wreck of the White Mountain express at Greenwich yesterday morning. The railroad expects that the trains this morning will be all on time. Persons who were near the scene of the wreck say that it is a wonder that not more were injured. Men who were on the express, but who did not take the remodeled train, say that when the crash came they thought everyone would be killed, and that had it not been for the commendable coolness of the women in the train, more would have been injured.

"Do you ever lose in the stock market?" "I never have yet." "Gee, you've got luck!" "Not so much luck as sense; I don't play."

FOUND BUT ONE CURE FOR ECZEMA

Many Different Remedies and Even Hospital Failed—Suffered 3 Years with Severe Itching, Scuffy Skin—Could Hardly Stop Scratching.

THANKFUL FOR PERFECT RESULTS OF CUTICURA

"About three years ago I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scuffy skin on my ankles and feet. I could hardly keep from scratching. In a few days large red patches appeared and after that pimples formed. I went to the hospital, and the doctors pronounced it a very bad case of eczema. I went to the hospital two months and obtained a very little relief, so I tried many different remedies for at least ten months, but none seemed to cure me. They would relieve me for a week or two, then my skin would be full of pimples, the same as ever. Lately I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I am very thankful I did, for, after using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, I was completely cured. I hope that any one suffering as I did will try the Cuticura Remedies. Miss Teckla Peck, 1422 Fifth St., Highlandtown Md., Jan. 14, 1908."

The matter of reduction of wages was not discussed by the conference. Until this meeting, the Pennsylvania's officers had said openly that they were for an increase in freight rates. They have now gone over to the side of those roads opposing the raise. These roads, which are not in accord with the policy of E. H. At the close of the conference, a statement was given out by Mr. McClain, the secretary of the association, as follows: "The question of an advance in freight rates was discussed at length, and reports from the committee having in charge the checking of rates were considered, but it was found that this work had not progressed to such a point as to make definite action practicable at this time." SOUTHLINGTON.

(Special Journal-Courier News Service.) Southington, July 16.—The town is to bring suit against Edward Churchill in order to force him to support his mother who is now an inmate of the town farm. Early last fall on complaint of neighbors, Agent Thrall of the humane society came to Southington and visited the Churchill home on Queen street. He found the woman in a deplorable condition from lack of food and care. She was not able to move and was found lying on a hard bunk with little or no clothing. Her back was a pitiable sight, full of bed sores. At the time Mr. Thrall threatened to bring suit and finally prevailed on Edward Churchill to remove the woman to the town farm and has been there ever since. The suit is brought under section 2499 of the general statutes and is returnable before the superior court in September.

John Wynn was in the local police court this morning charged with drunkenness and breach of peace. He made things lively on Center street last night and when told to keep quiet by Officer Dutton became very saucy and kept up his loud talking and swearing. He was heard before Judge Welch in the local police court this morning and pleaded guilty. However, he put up a strong plea saying that he had not been in the local court in eight years and he said that he would lose his job if he had to go to jail. He was allowed to go with the costs of prosecution and his case was continued for two weeks in order to give him time to pay it.

There is talk of a benefit game of baseball being played here. The benefit this time is to be for the directors and not for the players. Buckley, the catcher made this proposal to the players and as a whole they seem to be agreeable to it. This year the gate receipts have fallen off pretty well and the management is endeavoring to get good crowds by giving a very good article of baseball. The two games on July 4th helped out wonderfully and put the team on its feet. Without a doubt a benefit game would be very well patronized.

FEAR LILLEY WILL BE PUSHED IN

People Think If His Nomination Goes Through He Will Be Dragged Into Office. PUBLIC BEING AROUSED

William H. Douglass Tells of Growing Feeling in Favor of Governor Woodruff's Renomination This Fall.

The demand for the renomination of Governor Woodruff for another term is becoming more and more pronounced each day all over the state...

No one class of people demands the renomination of Governor Woodruff, but the desire comes from every class and business, except perhaps that of the professional politicians...

Many express doubt, even republicans, that Mr. Lilley can be elected. They say that though the normal republican majority in Connecticut a year of a national campaign is large...

William H. Douglass, president of the Mechanics bank, and a member of the firm of Dillon & Douglass, travels considerably throughout the state...

"I find as I travel throughout the state a growing concern among all classes of people that Lilley be nominated and elected governor. The people do not want him, but they are afraid that the republicans will nominate him and that he will be elected because of the strength of the national republican ticket."

"I am in favor of Governor Woodruff for another term in order that he may finish up the good work he commenced with the last legislature, and because I believe that the people of the state are thoroughly in favor of him."

"If Mr. Lilley should get the nomination it would be because the people do not have a chance to make the nominations. For if they did the nominee for governor would be Mr. Woodruff."

"There is a growing inclination to let the so-called leaders know who the choice of the people is, and if the leaders are not bound down by promises made months ago, they will put up Mr. Woodruff for another term. Mr. Woodruff can probably defeat any democrat in the state."

"The public conscience of the state is thoroughly aroused and Governor Woodruff would give an administration along clean and honest business lines that would not disappoint any people interested in the welfare of the state."

FAIR HAVEN NEWS

Opinion That Estimated Cost of Abolishing Grand Avenue Railroad Crossing Is Too Extravagant. "I think the estimate of the city fathers for the expense of abolishing that Grand avenue railroad crossing at Railroad avenue, viz., $500,000, is altogether too extravagant," said a well-known man last evening. "In my opinion that bridge and the assessments for damages, can be put through for from $150,000 to $200,000. That it will be a great benefit to Fair Haven, goes without saying. Besides the greater safety to life, which is the prime consideration, just see the delay that it will save. Take the one item of street car travel. All who ride through Grand avenue know how the cars are delayed by the stop that is made to see if cars can cross and the greater delay when a long freight train is making them the crossing. Now take all the people who are thus delayed in a year and the loss is a greater proposition than you would believe. Then just see how many teams are delayed and how many foot passengers. It would seem to me, that this crossing would have been the first that the city would have eliminated. To my mind, it is far more important than the bridging of the crossing at Chapel street and Railroad avenue. It will be a good thing for Fair Haven when this bridge is built and let us hope that the city will be able to get through the improvement next year at the latest."

Old Method of Paying for Deposits of Gold Bullion Revived. Washington, July 16.—Secretary Cortelyou has revoked the instructions issued to United States mints and assay offices on May 25, directing that, after June 10, payments for deposits of gold bullion should only be made in coin or bars, or by check on the local sub-treasury or depository bank. This order was issued with a view to relieving the large accumulations of bullion in western mints and assay offices, but the secretary finds that in practice the new order produced unsatisfactory results, and therefore the old method of paying for bullion deposits in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, or San Francisco exchange, as well as in coin or bars, has been re-established.

THE LABOR VOTE.

The presence of Samuel Gompers, the president of the national federation of labor at Chicago with other associates and later at Denver has caused people to wonder what their authority was to speak in the name of organized labor. They were manifestly at Chicago to get what they could and to then move on to Denver to get more, in each instance plainly intimating to the party leaders in control that organized labor throughout the country would support the party addressed, if the demands of their representatives on the spot were complied with.

In yesterday's issue of The Journal-Courier was printed an interview with labor leaders, who denied that Mr. Gompers and his associates acted or could possibly act with the assent of the members of the organization. They were distinct and definite in their statements that the man does not live who can deliver the labor vote of the country to any one. Said one of them: "The fact is that on people think about the same way as other people do. Because a man is a member of the union for trade benefits, he does not hand over his right to judge political questions to any one who happens to be at the head, especially when as in this case it is so manifest that the federation chiefs are seeking political power." Said another: "While I believe that Gompers is trying to do his best for the interests of organized labor, I don't propose to let any man take away my freedom at the ballot box. No one can speak for all labor men. Our vote is independent and the consensus of labor opinion is the same."

These assertions seem very true, and impress an unprejudiced person as representing accurately the views of the average member of organized labor. Men are enlisted in the army of unionized labor for self protection in their trades and occupations. No religious or political or scientific benefits are promised. Their interest is more practical and has to do with the scale of wages to be paid, the length of a day's labor, more liberal conditions of employment and with legislation effecting factory organization. No one of these things is political in origin or in achievement. So far as wages are concerned it is a matter of negotiation between employer and employed. It does not touch the responsibility of a political party. The same is true of other conditions of employment. The enactment of laws for the better protection of factory employes and mine workers is not a political responsibility and is not the concern of any single party; it is a proposition in morals and the public health. Even the question of injunctions is improperly included among the assets of a political party; it is a question for sober-minded and impartial students of social and economic conditions to determine.

It is because these things are so that we have regarded the threatened entrance of organized labor into politics, through the activity of the chiefs, as of exceedingly doubtful wisdom. It is now generally recognized that there is a definite work cut out for organized labor to perform, and large corporations in particular have in many instances come to recognize its mutual usefulness, but at the same time organized labor can continue to get out of its work all that is desirable only upon the exercise of the greatest care in not crossing that thin line, which separates its necessities from its humanities. Its necessities have to do with conditions of employment. Its humanities have to do with the right of each man to act as he chooses within the law in matters concerning his religion and his politics. The real reason why neither Mr. Gompers nor any other labor leader will ever deliver the labor vote to the political party of his choice is because such an undertaking interferes arbitrarily with the humanities of organized labor. The political history of Connecticut within the past twelve years definitely proves this.

What about the plan for flushing the streets? Some summer and the pressing need of it will have passed.

COUNT TOLSTOI THUNDERS.

What literary work Count Leo Tolstoy might have accomplished, had he lived his long and busy life in a land of peace and quiet, will ever be a matter for controversy. Living amid the well-cultivated fields of England, perhaps on the banks of Shakespeare's own Avon, he might have written that which would have rivalled the works of the Great Bard himself; or, living on this side of the great waters, here in our own New England, perhaps, he might have given American literature that full start forward that it has needed these many years. Yet, on the other hand, it is the necessity that makes the man, in great part, whether it be to stop a runaway or to save a nation from addition, as the cards now in the New Haven trolley express it. Very likely it has been the turbulent times in the Czar's kingdom that have been the very inspiration for the impassioned writings of the great Russian author. Without them, he might never have arisen above the too-common mediocrity of Russian aristocracy.

In view of the recent friendliness of this country and Russia, so often expressed in the press of both lands of late, the bitter condemnation by Count Tolstoy of the inhuman deeds of the Russian officials in their endeavors to restore peace and order, is of particular interest here. Whatever else may be said, or thought, of Tolstoy, he has never been justly suspected of insincerity. His long life of service to his fellows would at once refute any such insinuation. The evident unselfish purpose of his every writing disproves it. His has been a life work of service, first, to his fellow countrymen, and, second, to all humanity. When he says he writes of what has been done, either that there may be no more of it or else that the well-sounded noose may tighten around his own neck for what he has said so he may no longer witness it, the whole civilized world must believe that he means it.

But Count Tolstoy will not pay the death-penalty, as would nearly any Russian, for his bitter denunciation of the Russian officials from the Czar down, all of whom he unqualifiedly calls "accomplices in murder." No one realized more than the Czar of all the Russians what a whirlwind of protest and complications would follow in the wake of the count's ordered execution, not only from his countrymen, but from all the civilized world. Probably the count realizes this, too, for he is no blind thinker. Regretting from his very heart "this terrible embitterment of man against his fellow man," the count addresses himself to the officials. "Consider," he says, "who you are and cease to do what you are doing. Cease, not for your own sake, not for the sake of your own personality, not for the sake of men, not that you may cease to be blamed, but for your soul's sake and for the God who lives within you!"

These are strong words, but not too strong. He is necessarily a prophet of disaster, but a warning savior. He realizes that there have been crimes of violence and bomb-throwings, but he realizes, too, that the government method of summarily dealing with offenses great and small has been such as tends only to spread a general depravity among all classes.

FREIGHT RATES.

The frank avowal the other day of the operating officials of the New York Central Railroad company that so far as that company is concerned it is confronted with conditions, which relate closely to the general prosperity of the communities it serves is attracting the attention it deserves. To continue the prevailing rate of wages, to leave unchanged the prevailing freight rates and in other ways ignore policies of management, which were adopted when prosperity ruled, means the delay of need improvements in the physical makeup of the railroads—the withdrawal of an immense sum of money from circulation and in consequence increased depression.

It will be recalled that these same officials realized the tremendous and disastrous consequences, which might and probably would follow an attempted reduction in the rate of wages paid and put it aside as impossible of achievement. To ignore other policies of management, upon the blind theory that "the Lord will provide," would be to invite business chaos for all concerned. This left for practical consideration an increase in the freight rates as the least offensive and harmful of all conceivable acts of protection. President Lucius Tuttle of the Boston and Maine now thoughtfully raises his voice in behalf of increased freight rates as the only temporary escape from worse business conditions. He agrees with the officials of the New York Central, and presumably with the officials of other roads, that an enforced reduction in the rate of wages would be disastrous and make matters worse. He also agrees that other attempts to reduce the cost of service by interfering with general policies of improvement and betterment would be harmful. "I believe," he says, "there will be less general suffering by a reasonable increase of rates than by a reduction of wages."

These are suggestions which must appeal to the business men of the country and provoke their careful consideration, not as a permanent relief by any means, but as a practical means of not only staying off additional distress but of assisting in the revival of business confidence. There is of course a suggestion of novelty in the counsel to make it more expensive to move the products of the mills and factories to the market when the market is feeble, and, under an older understanding of things, in need of lower prices, but so are the conditions which provoke the counsel novel. The labor end of the problem is well entrenched and doubtless feels that since in the past it has been the first to suffer from business depression and the last to recover, it should now be the last to suffer. This in fact has been the position of the New Haven railroad, which reduced the salaries of all officers above a certain grade, beginning with the president. It is likely in fact that in approaching a problem of the character now confronting the business interests of the country novel points of view have been made necessary.

It would appear to be in order for the business men of the state of Connecticut to get together and consider the advice given by the railroad officials in the present commercial crisis. If they will assent to the general proposition and will confer with the managers of the New Haven railroad to that effect, it is altogether probable that substantial good will come from it. As Governor Cleveland well said upon an historic occasion: "It is a condition and not a theory which confronts us."

GARBAGE COLLECTIONS.

At no time of the year is an efficient collection of garbage of such importance as now. Yet from all sides come the most urgent of complaints of the service rendered by the various contractors. Few householders will be found to endorse the present methods. The complaints that are known to be pouring into the office of the board of health are more each day than they should be in a month and that there are not more of them is due to the very fact that they seem to be given such little attention that to complain longer were useless. Selecting names and addresses at random, the workers of the Associated Civic societies have sent out inquiries but to learn that, in nine cases out of ten, the present garbage collections are of the worst type. So infrequently do the wagons come around that for days, and often for a fortnight or more, the death-breeding refuse remains in the vicinity of the dwellings of the city, often with children playing nearby. The association has indirectly come in for considerable abuse because of its recent clean-up campaign, when it brought police pressure to bear wherever necessary, to get householders to provide proper garbage-cans. Now those who have bought the cans, feel incensed against the association because they think it ought to see to it that proper collections are had.

There seems to be little doubt as to where to lay the responsibility. It is ultimately with the board of health, not with its clerks or inspectors, for they are not given the power to act. If the two principle contractors do not do just what they have agreed to do and what they are bonded to do, let their bonds be called and new contracts be made. The fact that there may be no profit in the undertaking for the contractors, if it is really true, is not material. That was their look-out when they contracted.

New Haven is far behind the times in garbage collections. Even the arbitrary machinery of the board of health's office works against a proper system. As it is now, it is prescribed that all complaints must be made in writing to the board. "Phone or verbal complaints are not deemed worthy of consideration. As the board only meets once in two weeks, it often happens that an urgent complaint may have to wait that long before it can possibly be considered and longer still, if it happens that the board has more than the usual amount of business to attend to at the next subsequent meeting. How unfavorable New Haven compares with such a system as Philadelphia boasts, where a "hurry-up" wagon is dispatched to the locality of a phone complaint the moment it is received. The New Haven ordinance provides that collections shall be made every other week-day during the summer. Where is that done? They provide that every collection cart shall be freshly painted twice each year and be clean at all times. Where is such a cart?

If complainants to the board do not obtain the needed relief, let them write this paper and perhaps the limelight of publicity will do much good. The whole matter only emphasized the long-standing contention of The Journal-Courier that New Haven needs a municipally-owned garbage collection department and needs it badly.

CLEVELAND NATIONAL FOREST.

It was a particularly thoughtful act of President Roosevelt in ordering the name of the old San Jacinto National Forest changed to the Cleveland National Forest. There has never been a wider spread interest in this country than to-day for the establishment of an adequate and far-flung system of forest reservations. The honor paid to the memory of the great statesman who has just died is the greater because of that.

Then, too, little as it may be known by the public generally, it was President Cleveland who was, in great part, responsible for the present popular realization of our forestry needs. As President Roosevelt said in his letter to Mrs. Cleveland, "The creation of the San Jacinto and other forest reserves, with a total area of 25,686,329 acres, was one of the results of his foresight in this direction. Throughout his life he took great interest in conserving the natural resources of the nation; and I particularly regretted his inability to attend the meeting of the governors in May, because that meeting was in part the fruit of seed he has sown years before."

The name "San Jacinto" may breathe more of the spirit of the old Spanish west, but the name "Cleveland" is one that is destined to mean more and more to the country as time goes on. The forest reserves of this country are bound to grow in number, area and importance. To give them the native local names has its advantages, but to name them after those who have been most active in establishing a system of forest conservation, seems far more fitting and nothing could be more appropriate than that the first reserve thus to be named should be the Cleveland National Forest.

What with the phenomenal development of the noiseless rifle and of the balloon and airship as a means of carrying on war, the day seems not far distant when war will be so terrible a thing that it will annihilate itself. It will be an unthinkable, undesirable, impossible thing. Particularly is this so in view of a new artillery invention, exhibited in New York, with which, in some mysterious manner, the power is transmitted from an ordinary motor shooting at the rate of thirty-thousand shots a minute is promised.

The present wholesale relay race from New York to Chicago is the result of the inspiration of genius. Over 2,000 Y. M. C. A. boys are taking part in the 1,000-mile run, each carrying the message of New York's mayor to Chicago's mayor half a mile on the average. Not only should it mean physical good to the young men but it should do much to weld the various Christian association branches together. A similar race from New York to Boston should prove even more practical.

The Massachusetts delegation to the prohibition convention marched into the convention hall with a standard surmounted by a water wagon and bearing a water bucket as a pendant. They sang "The Old Oaken Bucket." The wonder is that the "prohibits" selected a city so far inland as Columbus to meet in. Needless to say, they are dangerously near Milwaukee and St. Louis.

Mrs. Longworth attended the republican and democratic conventions, but the prohibition politicians will not invite her to their meetings because Delegate Carrie Nation says she smokes cigarettes. Never mind, the independence league will soon gather and "Wille" Hearst would sight much good copy, did she attend it and sit smoking in the gallery.

Reports from Greenwich have it that a new pest has made its appearance and is fast stripping the chestnut trees of their foliage. The elms and the chestnuts may disappear from the face of the earth but it is certain that no pest will ever be created to make havoc with the sunac.

We said no new member of the Ananias club has yet put in an appearance this year. We forgot Holson.

If talking can bring prosperity, Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation ought to be able to bring it.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

Who is War President? (Springfield Republican.) Should Mr. Taft or Mr. Bryan be preferred as a war president? If war is to be considered probable within the next few years, Mr. Bryan's immense superiority to his rival may be taken for granted in the field of war administration. By all means, let us have in the White House the late governor general of the Philippine islands and the war hero in President Roosevelt's cabinet. With probable or possible war as an issue, there could be no hesitation on the part of the country. As a war president Mr. Bryan becomes all the more unthinkable.

The President's Fitting Action. (Springfield Republican.) It is a gracious and fitting thing when President Roosevelt has done in giving to the San Jacinto national forest in southern California the name of Cleveland. In connection with this act in his letter to Mrs. Cleveland, the president recognizes the great service which Mr. Cleveland rendered the country in the matter of forest reservation. Western people always felt that Mr. Cleveland was too much of an easterner, but in the creation of forest reserves, with a total area of nearly 26,000,000 acres, this democratic president rendered a great service to the west.

The Presidency. (Hartford Courant.) When Mr. Bryan says that he did in his Collier's article that the American presidency is the highest position in the world, every Roman Catholic in the world is bound to file a dissenting opinion. The papacy is a much older institution than the presidency—older by many centuries. It claims for itself a greater than earthly authority; its application extends into all lands and over more than 200,000,000 millions of people. It has a more august and venerable history than any other office in the world. It is the president's task, and even that asserted, will not compare with the precedence in Great Britain or Germany.

The Natural Political Battleground.

(Providence Journal.) The Middle West is a natural battleground for 1908, with the chances in favor of the republicans, but not overwhelmingly so. And the significant fact is that if Mr. Bryan's hopes for that section of the country should be fulfilled he might be elected president without the aid of New York.

In these circumstances it is interesting to inquire how great a basis there is for his reported cheerfulness. Is he likely to carry the Middle West? No; but if there should be extensive labor troubles between now and the third of November, or the crops should prove to be far below present expectations, Mr. Taft might not have the walkover that some of his admirers predict.

Mr. Taft Did It.

(New York World.) A great victory has been won for honest elections, but it is fortunate that the president of the United States did not play a more conspicuous part therein. Mr. Roosevelt, it is true, urged in his message of 1906 the measure prohibiting corportation contributions, but the bill had already passed the United States senate. He did nothing at the recent session of congress to promote the publicly bill, which passed the house and might have passed the senate had the president taken a decided stand. He accepted the Chicago platform without a publicity plank—indeed, was gratified—another thing, this issue as he outlined the income tax issue. It was left to Mr. Taft to pull the republican party out of the hole.

The Democratic Platform.

(New York Tribune.) Such a platform is not unflatteringly described as "the most undemocratic propaganda ever submitted in a national election," and the adoption of it by Mr. Bryan's convention is held to be ample ground for bolting the party ticket. Many thousands did bolt the ticket in 1896 and again in 1900 because of the vagaries, repugnant to real democracy, which were adopted at Mr. Bryan's dictation. The case is just as strong to-day. He has no new strategy which appeals to the popular suffrage, but the same old champion of free silver, government ownership of railroads, initiative and referendum. There can be no doubt that these views of Mr. Leake, set forth frankly and emphatically, will appeal strongly to thousands of New Jersey democrats, and will be adopted and acted upon by many of them.

Bunker Hunting.

(I play golf just as I would take medicine.—William H. Taft.) "I'll take my medicine like a man." "Quoth he, as the turf he baffed; 'Till the golfing ground." "There can be as well as I can." "As sure as my name's Bill Taft." "My putter I use to put off pounds." "My driver to drive off girls; And I make the rounds Of the golfing grounds." "While I'm hunting for all I'm worth." "The physical exercise I take Is a tonic indeed for me; Each point that I make Is a pound I shake—" "Oh, I've got it down to a tee." "But Senator Chauncey M. Depew Is keeping his eye on Bill, And gives as his view Ere the campaign's through, Taft is bound to be bigger still." —New York World.

SAVINGS AND DOINGS.

The actual cost of the Suez canal was $129,750,000. In the general synod of the Lutheran church 121 congregations have increased the salaries of their pastors this year. Seven of the sons and daughters of the Merstham (England) centenarian, Mrs. Maynard, married seven brothers and sisters named King. Guanajuato holds the world's record as a silver producer, having yielded $1,000,000,000 Mexican in the last three and a half centuries. One hundred and three men were killed and about 200 badly injured by the explosion aboard the French battleship Jena, March 12, 1907. Boats engaged in mackerel fishing off Milford, England, have landed as many as 30,000 fish, and a hundred fish have been sold for a shilling. More than 100,000 railway employes in England are working at a wage of less than $5 a week. Only about eleven per cent get more than $7.50 a week. Two new electrical journals appeared recently about the same time bearing the same name. One comes from New York and the other from Chicago.

According to Mitchell's Newspaper Press Directory there are now published in the United Kingdom alone no fewer than 2,353 newspapers. One of the noted figures of the Lambeth conference this summer in London will be Bishop Olafsson, of western equatorial Africa, the one black bishop in the Anglican church.

In the eleven counties of southeast Missouri containing swamp or overflowed lands, thirty-one drainage ditches or canals have been constructed, with a total length of about 450 miles. These ditches have reclaimed 255,000 acres of land.

Georgina Ashton, a singer who was fined at the Burylstone (London) police court for being intoxicated and incapable, declared that she had been singing at a house in the West End, and that she was overpowered by the scent of the flowers with which the room was filled.

The bishop of London presided at the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Queen's college, London, and mentioned incidentally that on the first two days of every week he received shoals of letters about the use of prayer. He devoted every Wednesday to answering them.

(Special to the Journal-Courier.)

Bridgeport, July 16.—New Haven took a decided brace here to-day and handily took the locals into camp by a score of 7-2. The visitors won simply because they hit Jerry Nops when men were on bases, something they have failed to do for a long succession of games. Just what happened cannot be stated, but a little incident took place prior to the contest that may have had some effect on the club. As the train, which carried the club, was passing over the trestle near the railroad station, George Simmons, the big second baseman, upon seeing a peculiarly beautiful type of the eternal feminine hot-footed out to the platform to get another gaze at the fair one. Just as he stepped out a gentle zephyr was wafted up on the west wind and caught his handsome panama in its arms. Away sailed zephyr and sky-lark while superstitious George, quickly forgetting the object of his gaze, followed the course of his lost disappearing hat. Down it went and landed in the water which flows in from the sound. That seemed to settle the baseball game then and there and his teammates gathered around him offering advice as to how to find the bonnet. Of a sudden, as by a miracle about fifty urchins appeared to greet the team with customary epithets. Simmons gathered them about him and offered one large dollar to the youth who would recover and deliver at the ball park his hat. To make a long story short Ephraim Washington Lee Jackson, son of Africa, was the lucky chap and when his hat appeared everyone took a brace. Simmons grinned all over and Kid Sherwood had a local friend on the result. After this episode there was nothing to it. Clyde Waters had a day's vacation and Jerry Connell went behind the timber, while Steve O'Rourke of Holy Cross fame, went to the short field and Havel took Connell's place in right. This new man O'Rourke handled himself most favorably, accepting four difficult chances out of five. At the bat he was hard to pitch to and the veteran Nops passed him twice while he secured a neat sacrifice and really was at bat but once. Phil Corcoran was invincible when hits were needed while Nops was not, and there you are. The visitors opened on Nops at the get-away. Connell was passed and went a base further on a neat sacrifice by Pleiss. Zacher sent a long fly to Cassidy, but Sherwood singled, scoring Connell. This hit was followed by a crack for three bases by Eddie Havel, which allowed Sherwood to tally. Simmons fanned. Three more came in the fifth when S. O'Rourke was given a free ticket, was advanced to third when J. O'Rourke booted Corcoran's sacrifice but to Nops. Connell got a timely swat and S. O'Rourke cantered home while Bert Whitstie, who went after Connell's hit threw to Swick to head off Corcoran. The ball got past the local third baseman and Corcoran came in and Connell halted on the dizzy corner. Pleiss went out, but Blondy Zacher worked the squeeze play to perfection. Connell scoring after which Sherwood was retired.

In the eighth the visitors added two more to their total of runs. After Pleiss had been called out on strikes Zacher singled and scored on Sherwood's stinger to the left field fence for two sacks. Havel tied out to Beaumont. Simmons hit to Hill, who booted and Sherwood sprinted across the rubber. Simmons was thrown out a moment later, attempting to steal. The locals scored their first run in the fifth after Ladd had been disposed of. Hill got a three-bagger which ought to have been a homer and scored on Phalen's out. Simmons to Lachance. The other tally came in the eighth. Swick opened with a two-base hit. Nops got an infield hit to S. O'Rourke who made a nice attempt to retire him. J. O'Rourke lined to left where Pleiss made a characteristic difficult fly look easy. Cassidy, after hitting a foul which Connell and Lachance got crossed on, singled and Swick scored. The next two men were easy money. In the sixth they were retired by a double by Simmons and Lachance. Here Cassidy failed to slow up between first and second to allow J. O'Rourke to score and deprived O'Rourke's club of a run. The regular "ump" failed to appear and Terry Rogers officiated to the satisfaction of both teams. Hats off to New Haven!

THE ELMS OF THE ELM CITY.

(Bridgeport Standard.) New Haven is known the country over as "The Elm City" and its noble trees have been a source of pride and to its appreciative citizens, while keeping up its reputation as one of the old towns which still preserves amid the changes of modern commercial development and progress the elements of its original beauty as the great university town of the state. It is almost unthinkable that the splendid great trees which have made its streets and squares so attractive should be destroyed by insect enemies for the want of proper attention and the expenditure of a proper amount of money. Yet if we can trust the local papers, and we have no doubt that they do not tell the worst, just that thing is happening. Bridgeport with its utilitarian spirit that cannot appreciate beauty, and care little or nothing for it, cut down its trees right and left and pays little regard to those remaining, until they come in the way of some "improvement," and their destruction is called for. In the interest of new tenement houses. But that is Bridgeport, and no one seems to care at all. Here in New Haven and other older towns, with reputations to maintain, it is different, but even with them there is need of an occasional vigorous awakening.

As Through A Shop Window

Creme de chine is the latest material in coat popularity.

The present proper style sleeve is close, but not tight. It molds the arm without binding it.

Pompadour ribbon applied as skirt borders are waist decorations make a delightful trimming for a dress.

The satin coat is an excellent example of the present craze of associating a cloth or velveteen skirt with a wrap of satin.

The small sleeve when not carried to an extreme is always becoming. It is one of the few fashion manifestations which the stout woman may gaze on.

One of the best examples of the typical small sleeve is used by the tailor. It is full length, of course, close fitting, and with no perceptible fullness at the armhole.

The miss of twelve years will look charmingly dressed if she has an evening frock of men's velveteen, with a lace yoke and sleeves and silk hand trimming. A dress of lousine trimmed with quilling of silk is pretty, also, with a lace yoke at the front and back.

By the way, I want to mention some tailored-finish bows of soft ribbon, which I saw at Crawford-Plummer's store, intended for wear with the popular Dutch collars. They are stunning.

Gold is very much seen in soft gowns, of black-not the cheap, bright gold, but the dull, almost rusty color. It is also employed in millinery to a very great extent. With gold flowers, gold cords, gold lace, the latest thing to put about the neck of a lingerie waist is a piece of gold braid an inch wide depending in front, finished with tassels or loops.

The smart princess lingerie frock has an embroidered front panel, square fitted bodice of embroidery and shah effect overleaves of dress material held in tucks and trimmed with val-lace. Three bands of insertion, each at least four inches wide, band the skirt around the entire breadth to the front panel. The ornamental yoke and sleeves are of dress material, trimmed with Valenciennes in narrow bands.

Charming St. Gall embroideries are shown this season in all sorts of attractive colorings and designs. Some of them are flowers embroidered in white cotton on sheer pink or blue batiste and other designs are flowers outlined in black. Then, too, there are beautiful ruffings with hemstitched edges and made with designs, and still other fairylike robes embroidered in color.

Priscilla AMERICA'S MEN WIN

devoting its attention to the events within the stadium however is not accepting this interpretation. James E. Sullivan, president of the Amateur Athletic Union and United States Commissioner to the Olympic games, said to the Associated Press tonight:

"We came here, as we went to Paris and Athens, with a field team and are making a fight in the field events, carrying nothing for the other sports. We asked that the championship trophy be put up for the field sports separately, but the request was not acceded to. So we will simply take the score in the field events, counting first five points, second three points and third one point, and figure out the American score on this basis."

Under the American system, the score as it stands tonight is as follows:

America—Throwing the hammer 8; team race 3, discus 3, putting the shot 6, 1500 metre race 5; total 21.

United Kingdom—Team race 3, putting the shot 3, 1500 metre race 4, 3-500 metre walk 8; total 20.

Sweden 5, Greece 3, Canada 1, Australia 1, Norway 1.

Commissioner Sullivan has received a reply to the letter which he sent to Lord Derby, chairman of the council of the British Olympic association, protesting against certain of the rules governing the contests and referring to other matters in connection with the games.

In his reply Lord Derby opens with an apology to the Americans for the failure to use a single American flag in the decoration of the stadium on the opening day, the omission to do which he says, has since been remedied. He then takes up the complaints of the Americans regarding the conduct of the sports. The question of the pole vault was referred to the amateur athletic association which decided not to allow the Americans to dig a hole for the pole, but acceded to the request to have pits filled with sand for landing on.

With regard to the question of heat drawings Lord Derby pointed out in his letter that the drawings had already been made in the various heats and could not be altered although this had not been asked for. The athletic association, he said, had invited the American committee to have a man in the arena during the progress of the events in which America was interested and Mr. Halpin, the American manager, had been appointed to this post.

After reading Lord Derby's letter Commissioner Sullivan replied:

Manufacturers of Four Associations See Improvement. Chicago, July 16.—Optimistic addresses dealing with present business prospects were delivered at meetings of four large manufacturing industries held here yesterday. The glass manufacturers of the west, the Malleshon Iron Manufacturers' association, the Implement Manufacturers' association, and the Western Coal Operators' association were the organizations represented. Present and future conditions of business were considered and plans for future trade discussed at all the meetings, which concluded with expressions of satisfaction at prospects and a belief that conditions would improve during the autumn.
