A GREAT SUCCESS

"The Warrens of Virginia" a Strong and Delightful Play.

It could not have been expected, even by the most skeptical, that "The Warrens of Virginia" would not succeed last evening. Its past record, the fact that it was staged and presented by David Belasco, and the fact also that the company included among its numbers Frank Keenan and Charlotte Walker were proof enough that such would be the case. Yet it is safe to say that even the most optimistic did not fully realize the delicious treat that the Hyperion had in store for them.

Like many another Belasco production, "The Warrens of Virginia," was an appeal straight to the heart. As was only to be expected with this peer among American producers, the atmosphere of the play was never lost sight of at any turn. If one had any imagination at all, it was not at all difficult to believe oneself living in the war times of '65 in Virginia, with was the typical southerner in accent and thought and appearance.

The story of the play, as revealed before the footlights is fascinating. The action begins in April '65. General Warren is brought home sick to his home by permission of his long-time friend but bitter enemy, General Griffin of the "Yank" army. Lieutenant Burton, of the latter's army, a part taken by C. D. Waldron, has had a long acquaintance with General Warren's daughter, Agatha, an acquaintance which has ripened into love with him. General Griffin, his superior, learns that he is to go to the Warren home that evening. His great ambition is to cut off the confederates' relief supply train which is coming and he orders the lieutenant to go to the Warren homestead with false dispatches on his person that they may be found on him and may be thus thought to be authentic, dispatches which will lead the confederates into an ambush and bring disaster upon them.

It is a leathesome duty for Lieutenant Burton to undertake but he must obey. His meeting with Agatha at the Warren home leads to a renewal of their old-time love, and, although she does everything to protect him the dispatches are found, and General Warren acts in accordance with them, thinking them authentic. The result, of course, is disaster. Agatha sees herself betrayed, her affections bartered, the "Yanks" and the rebels close at hand in the wilderness, starving or not as their fate might be. As far as the mechanical part of the production it was perfect from the first rise of the curtain which disclosed a break in the Virginia woods where a sure-footed stage brook rippled down toward the footlights, to the old-fashioned doll that the two young Warren children had and the twang of the negroes' banes in the last act, which was "after the war."

MISS CHARLOTTE WALKER.

In Belasco's "The Warrens of Virginia," at the Hyperion.

Miss Charlotte Walker is by no means a new comer to New Haven. In "The Warrens of Virginia" she took the part of Agatha Warren, as lovable a daughter as ever was and, above all, as true a southern woman as ever breathed. Miss Walker's southern accent was delicious to listen to. Her manner was at all times of the most pleasing order. In the tense situations she was always found equal to the demands made upon her.

Mr. Frank Keenan appeared as the father, General Warren, a most difficult role. One could not but sympathize with the loyal confederate leader who, though wasting away and weak from lack of nourishment, gave of his best for his beloved south. He as she thinks, by the "Yank" and her scorn for him is more than she can fully utter. To make a long story short, Burton is saved from being court-martialed at dawn the next morning by the surrender of Lee which was forced as a result of the culminating circumstances.

The last scene takes place in the Warren rose garden five years later. If any criticism can be fairly made of the production as given last evening it would be that a wait of twenty minutes at 11 o'clock at night was aggravating. Burton returns and in the end the old confederate general weakens toward him and with his old-time hospitable spirit invites him to "come often." Whether the match is culminated in the end is left to the imagination but DeMille, the author, leaves little room for doubt but that it is. The production will be repeated in New Haven tonight and tomorrow night and tomorrow matinee. "The Warrens of Virginia" will only be produced in New England at New Haven and Providence with the exception, of course, of Boston.

AT POLI'S.

There was not a seat to be had for the performance at Poli's when the curtain went up for the first act yesterday afternoon and the same condition prevailed at the evening show.

Bert Coote and company presenting "A Lamb on Wall Street" is the headliner, and the sketch is the best thing of the kind seen here this season. No end funny it kept the audience in roars of laughter from beginning to end.

Dan Burke and girls in a singing and dancing specialty have a very fine number, the scenic and electric effects adding much to the splendid acting. There is an exceptionally novel little stunt by the girls, the removal of their shoes and stockings during one of their songs that simply brought down the house.

The three Leightons in a "one night stand in minstrelsy" are all good dancers and introduce some funny talk and good songs.

Rosina Caspelli's midget dogs, the smallest ever seen on the stage amused as much as anything on the bill and they were wonderful. They come onto the stage in a tiny automobile run by one little doggie, and they go right to work with a will, as if they liked it and some of their tricks on the handle bars, wheels and in the hanging swing are almost too amazing to believe.

Lew Wells introduces good save-phone eccentricities and monologues. Fiddler and Shelton, two colored boys, sing, play and give good impersonations. Sansone and Della in a series of clever balancing acts were applauded to the echo. Last, the photograph with the laughable series "Peck's Bad News" had its share of appreciation. Looks now like a full house twice a day all week so it wouldn't be a bad idea to inquire about seats if you intend to go to some special performance.

IN THE LAND OF MAKE BELIEVE

Nat Goodwin for Bryan.

Nat C. Goodwin, in between the times of the suit for divorce he is bringing against his wife, Maxine Elliot, on the grounds of desertion, is out at Reno associating with his gold mines and the character of Cameo Kirby, the principal character of the new play he is to appear in this coming season, and which has been written for him by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, the authors of "The Man From Home." The play goes by the same name as the character Goodwin is to assume, and those who are familiar with the MR. Insist that the erstwhile comedian will have the greatest chance he has had in many, many years. The character is that of a Mississippi river gambler of the year 1885, and the four scenes are laid in New Orleans and on a plantation some twenty miles out from the city. If success crowns his efforts, Mr. Goodwin will have no need to delve for pay dirt in the Reno hills, but can sit back in his dressing room and watch the dollars roll in, faster than he can count them. He said the other day that he intended to vote for Bryan, and gave as his reason that he wanted to see good times roll around once more. He asserts with becoming gravity that he voted for Bryan in 1896 and good times were the result; he voted for Bryan in 1900 and good times followed at once. He did not vote for him in 1904 and as a consequence there was a financial panic last year. This time he intends to have no error creep in. He will vote for Bryan.

The Devil and the Women.

After five weeks there are greater crowds at the Belasco box office even than those of the memorable first week when George Arliss gave his wonderful "Devil" to the American stage. Last week the management was obliged to add Wednesday afternoon performances. These were announced in the advertisements as follows: "The Devil would have about him woman."—Shakespeare. Matinee today (Wednesday).

Fritz Scheff and Lulu Glaser.

Two popular players now in this country will engage next spring in a friendly rivalry for the favor of the German public—Lulu Glaser and Fritz Scheff. Several months ago Mr. Dillingham, manager of Miss Scheff, made known that he had arranged for her appearance in the principal cities of the German empire at the close of the present theatrical season, and now the Schuberts announce that because of Miss Glaser's success in "Mile. Mischieff" they will send her to that land early in the spring. She will begin her engagement a few weeks ahead of Miss Scheff, and her managers are looking forward to a pretty battle when the latter arrives.

Miss Scheff is not unknown in Germany. She was born in Vienna, but speaks several languages, including German. Miss Glaser puts forward a special claim for the attention of Germany.

Miss Van Stoddard's New Play.

"Algeria" will terminate its engagement at the Broadway theater in that city on Saturday night, October 10th. Victor Herbert's delightful musical score has attracted music lovers in unusually large numbers to the Broadway during the run of "Algeria" and the fame of Victor Herbert as one of America's most popular composers has been enhanced in no small measure by the instant popularity of the "Algeria" acts in New York. Beginning on Sunday night October 18, Victor Herbert will inaugurate his fall series of Sunday night concerts at the Broadway with his popular orchestra.

The attraction at the Broadway beginning on Monday evening, October 12 will be Grace Van Stoddard in a new comic opera entitled "The Golden Buttery." Harry B. Smith has furnished the libretto and Reginald De Koven has composed the score. The new opera is in three acts with scenes laid in and around Buda-Pesth.

Because William A. Brady attacked the theatrical syndicate in a newspaper interview (Abraham Erlanger called Mr. Brady a liar. He used this epithet while angry and excited. After he had cooled off and regained his composure he repeated it.

Thomas Dixon, Jr. assisted by Channing Pollock, dramatized, "The Trailor," which has had its initial production at Norfolk, Va. Like "The Clansman," it glorifies the Ku Klux, but it is said to be less violent.

Henrietta Croswan's tour has been brought to an abrupt conclusion. Miss Croswan's temperament is said to have become so pronounced that business managers and members of the cast could not be retained.

William Gillette has met failure. His comedy, "Ticoy," in which a new-comer to the stellar ranks named Mary Ryan was the principal actress, has come to grief in Chicago.

Why did any manager think that a play so vitally American as "Paid in Full" would succeed in London? Doris Keane is to appear with Arnold Daly in "His Wife's Family."

Truck Changes Allowed.
 The three petitions for the change of their tracks which were asked for by the Connecticut company so as to make ten foot centers in Chapel street between the railroad cut and East street, the section over which there has been so much discussion on account of the court injunction on the widening of the street, in Church street and in Grand avenue were all passed. When the first one came up and the motion was made to adopt the majority report in favor of the petition Alderman Russell moved that the minority report of Alderman Miller against the company be adopted instead. This he presented as an amendment but Alderman Miller arose and explained that on account of what he had learned in regard to the situation he did not feel like insisting on his minority report and this somewhat deadened the effect of the amendment. Alderman Mully strongly urged the need of the widening between the tracks and its value to the city explaining that there would be room enough for traffic on either side of the tracks just the same. Alderman Russell demanded a yeas and nays vote on his amendment and the minority report was defeated by a vote of 11 to 4 as follows:

Yeas—Leonard, Jacobs, Belden and Russell.
 Nays—Burke, Miller, Jansen, Berman, Chandler, Mully, Cunningham, Vanaccora, Collins, Healy and Marlow.

On the adoption of the majority report there was no division. Alderman Russell called for the yeas and nays, but Alderman Miller called for a show that there was a fifth of the members who wanted it and they failed to appear. The petition was then allowed. The other two petitions were allowed with little trouble although several of the aldermen took occasion to explain their beliefs in the matter before the vote was taken.

Kelly Exonerated.
 The report of the investigating committee which examined into the reasons why the extension of St. John street was made with a hand part way across the bridge and the reason why the city had not been notified that a retaining wall would be needed in the extension of Humphrey street was adopted last night. The report completely cleared City Engineer Kelly of responsibility in the matter, it stating that "from the evidence submitted" the committee "can lay the blame to no individual or department and they therefore recommend that the petitioner be given leave to withdraw."

Plainfield—The vote was: License, 384; no-license, 411; margin for no-license, 27; last year the vote was: license, 327; no-license, 350.

New Fairfield—The margin for no-license was 15; last year the town did not vote, but remained no-license as before.

Another New Ordinance.
 The new ordinance restricting the sale of illuminating fluids which have as their chief ingredients benzine from sale, storage or manufacture unless licensed by the fire marshal was also passed last night. The limit which can be used without a license is one pint. On that point blinged much of the debate at previous hearings. There was no discussion on the matter last night.

The joint committee on streets and railroads and bridges to which was referred the resolution on the authority for the setting back of the curb lines in Chapel street, between East and Olive, had its report, accepted formally last night. This report finds that the director acted in good faith and recommended that the work cease until proper authority has been given by the board of aldermen.

Orders were passed for the top dressing of Hamilton street, between Chapel street and the city dock, and Brown street, between Wooster and Water streets.

Fight on Unanimous Consent.
 Unanimous consent came in for a lengthy debate last night on a ruling by President Allen that debate should not take place on the virtues of a measure when unanimous consent had been asked, for its consideration and before such consent had been granted. It was finally decided that it could be debated, the chair insisting however that it could only be asked for in the form of a formal motion.

The voting machine report, which came up for second reading again in virtually the same form as some time ago when after being passed by the board it was voted by the committee that night referred back to the committee again instead of being passed, and it will likely remain in a state of repose for some time to come. The action taken had been expected.

A petition of Anthony Carroll, referring to the request he made for compensation from the board of education for his services as inspector on one of the local schools, was tabled indefinitely.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was decided to hold the next meeting on Monday night, at which time a report from the committee of the whole will probably be heard for the first time on the estimates. They must be adopted by October 20.

CURE FOLLOWED YEAR OF AGONY

Intense Itching Eczema Drove Him Nearly to Despair—Chief Surgeon of a London Hospital Called It Worst Case He Had Ever Seen—Got Little or No Relief Until

"About four years ago, in London, I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scurfy skin on my ankles and feet. The same, for a few days, was the case with my arms and scalp. I could hardly keep from scratching which I need hardly say, made it worse. Then large red patches appeared, with inflammation and soreness. After ten days, thousands of small red pimples formed. On becoming dry, these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to the hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so and was an out-patient for a month or more. The chief surgeon said, 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. On coming to this country I heard so many accounts of cures by Cuticura Remedies that I resolved, as a last resource, to give them a trial. This was after suffering agonies for twelve months, and right glad am I that I did so, for I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment. I continued its use, combined with a liberal use of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Resolvent Pills and am more than thankful to say that after using three sets of the Remedies, I was completely cured. I can only add that should any one be suffering as I did, I hope that they will do as I did, and I am sure of the results. Henry Sears, 2022 Cross St., Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8 and 10, 1907."

LOCAL OPTION VOTE

New Haven's Neighbors Vote on Question of Licensing Liquor Sale.

TOWNS EVENLY DIVIDED. Milford Wants License Again—East Haven and Branford Are Against It.

Votes on local option on the liquor license question yesterday on towns near New Haven showed about an even break for license and no license. Two towns did not vote on the question remaining as they are now.

In East Haven the vote was for no license by a majority of 41. In Orange, which stands for license, there was no vote yesterday. Woodbridge, already a no license town, did not vote on the question and so it will remain dry.

All office holders during the past year in East Haven were re-elected for another term. The votes stood straight ticket, 179 republicans, 45 democratic. The electmen elected were: John Tyler, Edmund B. Woodward and Eugene S. Thompson. The first two are republicans and the latter democrat.

Clavin C. Kirkham was re-elected collector of taxes. Wallace P. Color and Daniel McVey were re-elected registrars of voters.

In Hamden the Woodbridge element won the election. The republican ticket defeated the democrat. There was a third party known as the citizens' ticket. Only in one or two names did they differ from the democrat.

The vote on the license question was 404 for and 134 against, a majority of 270. The ticket elected and the votes for each man is: Selectmen, Edward B. Sanford, first selectman, 375; Lyman H. Bassett, second selectman, 386; auditor, Frank A. Warner, 381; assessors, William A. Davis, 471; Lester B. Warner, 562; tax collector, Walter B. Kenyon, 476; registrars of voters, first district, John W. Sanford, jr., 559; second district, Olin B. Warner, 618; board of relief, William H. Hindinger, 498; Edward H. Young, 415; constables, Dennis J. Dickerman, 377; Edward Sturcks, 425; August Schoeter, 236; school committee, Samuel A. Flecht, 385; Charles F. Clark, 227, to serve one year; Edwin C. Atwater, 486; tree warden, Patrick Johnstone, 516.

In Woodbridge the republicans carried all the town offices and the following ticket was named: Selectman—Rollin C. Newton, jr.; Stanley L. Dickerman, jr.; James W. Rice, jr. Registrars—Leroy Beecher, jr.; Frank E. Northrop, jr.; Town school committee—Frank J. Baldwin, jr.; Jacob Bettselgel, jr.; Henry E. Baldwin, jr.

LONGWORTH SAYS HE DIDN'T SAY IT

Son-in-Law Denies He Proposed Return of Roosevelt After Eight Years of Taft.

EXPLAINS CIRCUMSTANCES

People Took Up Cry of "Roosevelt," Although He Had No Particular Candidate in Mind.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—Representative Nicholas Longworth, who was in Cincinnati to-day, on his way east, where he will continue his speaking tour, denounced as a campaign lie, the widely printed story that in a speech at Rock Island, Ill., he proposed that after Judge Taft had served two terms as president, President Roosevelt should again be a candidate for the presidency.

"The facts of the case are: At a meeting at Rock Island, Ill., I was introduced by the chairman of the meeting as a son of Ohio, and, since Ohio seemed to be determined to break the record as a mother of presidents, he said in a casual vein that I probably would be a candidate some time in the future."

"I replied in a similar vein, I said that I was not there as a candidate for any office. I was there to speak of the present and to advocate the election of Judge Taft for president, not in the future, but now. I said I believed confidently that Judge Taft would be elected president, and that his administration would be so wise and beneficial to the people that they would demand that he would serve them another term. After that," said Ohio Longworth, "I did not say that I would go to some other state—perhaps New York—to nominate the next president."

"I had no particular candidate in mind, New York coming first into my mind because of the presence of Mr. Sherman on the platform."

"At that point many people shouted 'Roosevelt!' and the audience cheered his name loudly."

"I am not surprised that some democratic newspapers should have taken this up, because the democratic party is most anxious to distract the people's attention from the issues of to-day and talk about other things remote from the political front."

"The story that I commented upon my alleged prediction, and said it would be approved by the president, is absolutely false. I have never even thought of, much less mentioned, the incident until now."

DROP TEN EYCK CHARGE

Maintains His Innocence, But Father Pays $1,500 Settlement.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 5.—It was announced today that the proceedings against James H. Ten Eyck, jr., who was arrested last week at Syracuse, N. Y., on a charge of larceny on complaint of the Salem police, have been discontinued. Young Ten Eyck was charged with the larceny of $1,500 from Stephen S. Geuss, son of John E. H. Geuss, of this city, after the two had participated in a pool game in this city on August 11 last. Today, according to the police, Ten Eyck's lawyers came to Boston and paid $1,500 to Geuss's father and also made payment to the city and county officials for all the expenses of the proceedings against Ten Eyck. As a result, the charge was dropped. It is understood that young Ten Eyck maintains his innocence, but that his father decided to pay the money in order to have the matter settled speedily.

Matthew E. O'Brien, the nominee for governor of the prohibition party, who has been constantly on the stump for a month holding rallies in the larger towns, said that he thought the incomplete returns showed that the party had held its own, and if the size of the vote was taken into consideration the temperance workers had reason to feel encouraged.

He said that the liquor men made their fight in towns that changed over last year while the prohibitionists knowing how hard it is to hold a town the first year after it turns over but only fought to hold these towns but made a great effort to capture other towns for the moral effect. He said that he failed to see wherein the liquor men had any encouragement in the returns as they came in to-night.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Bohn Sentenced for Fraud—Fighters Fined—Auto Speeding Costs $10.

HANLON PROVES ALIBI

Cutter Building Sale in Probate Court—Mrs. Hemingway Suing for a Separation.

Peter J. Bohn, son of the local contractor, was sent to jail for six months in city court yesterday morning by Judge Mathewson. Bohn was charged with defrauding the John E. Bassett company and the Chatfield Paper company of goods amounting to over $100. It was charged that Bohn went to Bassett's store and stated that he was building a house in Woodmont. He got some nails on the misrepresentation that he would get a mortgage loan on the house as soon as it was completed. It is charged that he received paper to use for roofing from the Chatfield Paper company on the same misrepresentation. Bohn used his father's name, saying that he ordered the material. Later it was found that Bohn senior knew nothing of the transaction and the younger Bohn was placed under arrest. Bohn pleaded guilty to two charges and was sentenced to serve three months on each charge in the county jail.

Fighters Fined.

Charles W. Ehrler, Thomas McNamara, Thomas Cosgrove, William Breslin, and John Larkin were brought before the court for a fight they had on Saturday night at Temple and George streets. Breslin was fined $5 and costs, Larkin $10 and costs and the rest let go. The two men fined were badly battered.

Auto Speed Costs $10.

Ten dollars and costs was tacked up to Joseph Bourgeois, chauffeur for a man in Hartford, for speed. He was arrested at Yale field on Saturday.

Liquor Case Continued.

The case of Moritz Lelbovitz was continued until October 8. He was arrested for not having a Connecticut liquor license at his restaurant at 165 Oak street. He had a United States license, however.

Hanlon Proves Alibi.

George Hanlon of 120 Dwight street was freed by the court from his charges of burglary and trespass. He proved an alibi and physical impossibility to free him from the suspicion of having entered his cousin's house at 5 Garden street.

Suits for Slender.

Two separate suits for $1,000 were returned in common pleas. They are Minnie Stutzke vs Nellie Forsyth and Nellie Forsyth vs Albertina Abi. All four women are employed at Winchester's.

Double Slander Suit.

Charles A. Murray entered papers for a suit of $500 for slander against Nathan Motley in common pleas. A second suit against the same man by Murray is for alienation of Mrs. Yvonne Murray's affections. This suit is for $1,000.

Small City Court Cases.

In the city court yesterday morning Peter Toole said he went out to get his laundry Sunday morning. The cops claimed he got boozed instead of laundry and Judge Mathewson gave him 30 days in jail.

Mary Campbell had judgment suspended in her case as she said she drank hard cider and not booze. William Sheridan got 180 days in jail on the charge of being a common drunkard.

As a result of a fight in which James P. McCormack, Patrick J. Healy and Catherine Keefe figured, a continuance was given in the case of McCormack and Keefe, as Healy is at Springfield with a broken collar bone. The cases will come up October 12.

Frank DeMarino was fined $5 on the charge of running a gaming house and the players, James De Lucia, Joseph Espora, Harry Spargio and Giro Amora were fined $1 each. The place pinched was 210 Wallace street.

Probate Court Matters.

An application was made by E. C. Beecher, administrator of the estate of James A. Davis, for authority to carry out an agreement made with William and Henry Schoenberger, previous to his death. Under this agreement Davis was to loan to the Schoenbergers the sum of $19,000 in case they purchased the Cutter property in this city. The application states that in consequence of Davis' death, the agreement was not carried out and the petition is that the administrator may be given power to carry out the agreement.

Another somewhat similar petition was received in regard to the estate of Adeline B. Whiting. It is held that Adeline B. Whiting agreed to sell one acre of land in the territory between Binks street and Farnham street, but died before the sale was consummated. The application is that the agreement may now be carried out by the administrator. There will be hearings held on both of these petitions.

The will of Joseph Hoch of this city was admitted to probate and Mrs. Hoch was made administratrix. The appraisers filed an appraisal on the estate of Oliver D. Bangs, which amounts to $2,644.74.

Sues for Separation.

Daniel E. Conahan was appointed referee Saturday by Supreme Court Justice Gerard in New York, to take testimony in a suit begun by Mrs. Minnie P. B. Hemingway for a separation from her husband, Louis M. Hemingway.

The latter in his answer to the suit asserts that at the time he married Mrs. Hemingway she had another husband living, from whom she was not lawfully divorced. He, therefore, asks the court to annul the marriage.

Recently, Mrs. Hemingway received an allowance of $50 a week alimony and $200 counsel fees from Justice Pound, pending the determination of the action.

Mrs. Hemingway says her husband owns 200 acres of land at Littlefield,

LOCATING THE TROUBLE.

The embarrassing effect of the nomination by the republican machine of Congressman Lilley of Waterbury for governor is to be seen in every conceivable direction. We wish now to look at it from the point of view of the obligation of each citizen to attend the party caucus and there make his complaint against machine domination felt, as contrasted with the preference of many citizens to avoid the caucus and later exercise an independence more in keeping with their idea of moral right and wrong.

In an admirable speech placing Congressman Sperry in nomination for another term in the federal house of representatives, State Senator Butterworth said: "You and I know that there is misgovernment, corruption, machines and bosses, and that the complaint against them is now loud and vehement. But as long as our citizens do not do what this form of government requires for success, so long will there be unnecessary evil. So long as the many of our citizens fail to exercise their influence by an intelligent vote and voice at primaries, caucuses and elections, so long will complaint continue," etc. Said Governor Woodruff in his certificate of character to Congressman Lilley: "It is at the caucus that the party work begins, and the man who fails to go to the caucus is not doing his duty. Unfortunately the class of men who fail to take sufficient interest to go to the caucus is numerous, and that class is apt to complain loud and long if the nomination is made that would not have been favored by them in a caucus." Colonel Ulman previously had declared: "When the machine is with you it is called an organization; when it is against you it is called a machine."

These statements are interesting at the present time, because if they are to be logically enforced in principle there should be a rush to the polls of citizens with Lilley tickets in their hands. This does not mean that we fail to understand what Governor Woodruff and Senator Butterworth mean when they lay such stress upon the political caucus, and attendance upon it. What we fear, in their partisan enthusiasm, they misunderstood is that it is impossible to induce all of the citizens to attend preliminary political meetings, just as it is impossible to induce all of the citizens to attend public meetings after nominations are made, or subscribe to the party funds. It would perhaps be a better thing if the citizens to whom they refer did take their political obligations more seriously and be more numerous at party caucuses, but since they apparently do not think so, we fail to see wherein their refusal to co-operate gives the more active politicians the moral right to make an improper nomination, or to enter a plea for party regularity afterwards.

There is, on the other hand, something of a confession in the statements from which we have quoted, that since the absence of the many to whom they allude from the caucuses accounts for the low character of nominations frequently made, and certainly made in this particular case, the unprejudiced man should look among the absentees for the better class of citizenship after all. But the fact is that the many referred to object to the enrollment law of Connecticut, which was conceived in machine cunning, because it asks them to enroll themselves as one kind of partisan before election, when circumstances may compel them to be another kind of partisan after the nomination. They shrink from the traditional party rule that attendance upon a caucus carries with it the obligation to accept the decision of the caucus. Their attendance this year would probably not have changed the original program decided upon a year and a half ago, so carefully were the plans made in advance, and as a result they would now be expected to support Lilley. Not caring to run that risk it is conceivable that many desired to run their heads into a noose.

But all argument aside. It is the duty of the party organization to always make the best possible nomination knowing that the average man, if you please, has no natural appetite for political exercise beyond casting his vote. It is not the business of the machine to do what it did this year regardless of the feelings of the electorate, nominate an unfit man for office of governor, and then hide its act behind a theoretical principle that once a republican always a republican, everything else to the contrary notwithstanding. A party organization would not have done that. A party machine did. Now the good name of Connecticut and the welfare of the commonwealth are more to be desired than party victory in that particular connection.

BISHOP TIERNY.

All Connecticut Christians, of whatever creed, suffered a shock and an irreparable loss yesterday afternoon in the sudden death of the beloved Right Rev. Michael Tierney, D. D., bishop of the diocese of Hartford. He was a faithful minister of the word, a prince among friends, and a truly catholic man in every sense. For fourteen years Bishop Tierney had faithfully and earnestly headed his diocese and during that period he had won for himself the love of all who knew him, no matter what their church.

No better testimonial could be had than that Sunday morning, when it was learned that the bishop was seriously ill, a score of Protestant ministers in Hartford took special occasion to make mention of the fact from their pulpits and to express their heartfelt hope for his immediate recovery. Said the broad-minded and well known pastor of the Asylum Hill Congregational church, Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, at that time: "There are certainly few things deserving to be held of more importance by the Christian community at large than the character of the man who is the official head and chief pastor of our Roman Catholic people. It has been, I am confident, the subject of general congratulation and thankfulness amongst us all, that such a one as Michael Tierney was in that place. There was every reason why it should be. If it be so that in the ordering of divine Providence his work in it is now ending, great, indeed, is the loss, and great and lasting the grief caused by it."

Bishop Tierney's work for his diocese cannot be over-estimated. He was of that rare stamp of laborer in God's vineyard whose greatest achievements were made without ostentation and were little likely to come to light. He was, above all, a friend of those who were suffering, whether mentally or physically. Daily he made a visit to St. Francis' hospital when he was in Hartford, there dropping a word of cheer at every torture-racked cot. Hartford's bereavement comes at an especially inopportune time this week, in view of the monster preparations made for the bridge celebration. Yet it would certainly have been Bishop Tierney's last wish that the pleasures of home should be lessened because of him. He will be long remembered and long beloved by the many who have known him. He goes to a large reward.

ANOTHER VENEZUELA FIASCO.

As a result of the diplomatic mix-up growing out of the De Reus affair, every foreign diplomat who has had his troubles in the past with the wily and arrogant Castro, the detestable president of Venezuela, has been enjoying in anticipation, like a sweet morsel under his tongue, the pleasing prospect of witnessing the deep humiliation of the latter at the hands of the Dutch government. Time and again has the similarity of the Sultan of Turkey and Castro been pointed out during the last few months. There have been many to make mention of the Turkish ruler's recent downfall and to prophesy that the head of the Venezuelan government, whom they take great pleasure in calling The Sick Man of South America, would soon meet similar reversals, and that the affair with the Dutch would only prove the beginning of his downfall.

But, for all present appearances, Castro seems likely to escape again, just as he has scores of times in the past, with a whole hide. As somebody has put it: "Instead of Castro apologizing to the Dutch, the Dutch are apologizing to Castro. The government of Queen Wilhelmina has made answer to Castro's note in which he explained why it was that he sent passports to the Dutch minister, M. De Reus. It admits that the much-discussed note of the latter was of a highly offensive character from the Venezuelan standpoint, so offensive, indeed, that the home government would most certainly have taken active steps toward recalling him as its minister, had it known of its existence. By admitting this much, the Dutch government has virtually exploded its case. It is now very unlikely that any passage of arms will take place."

To be sure the Netherlands government insists that Castro was not strictly conforming to international usages in peremptorily sending the Dutch minister his passports and thus virtually halting him out of the country upon a moment's notice, but that is not cause enough to go to war. While avowing his perfectly willingness to fight the Dutch, Castro can now be depended upon to delay in sending his replies till such a time as the matter has been relegated into ancient history, when much of its sting will have been lost and when it will seem a far less pertinent matter to The Hague. This result is to be regretted in more ways than one, for Castro is a bad boy and he sorely needs forceful punishment. The Dutch were opportunely situated to administer it.

JAPAN PREPARES.

All Japan is on the qui vive. The American fleet is coming. Prince Okuma and Lieutenant Hobson to the contrary, every son of the Flowery Kingdom has resolve in his heart of hearts to make the visit of the fleet a memorable one. The splendor and enthusiasm of the welcome and entertainment will be without stint. As the reports put it: "The Japanese authorities have taken delight in thinking up new ways of extending hospitality." The effort will be to far outdo all other ports which have had the pleasure of entertaining the Americans. If that is done, the American jockies will about own Japan from the emperor down to the dancing girls in the famous tea houses.

Three special boat landings for the use of the fleet are building at Yokohama harbor. The officers will be entertained in elaborate suits of rooms in the best hotels. There will be special train service to and from Tokyo. Any member of the fleet in uniform will be able to ride on the street cars and railroad trains free. There will be excursions, theatricals, receptions, banquets, athletic games, and quantities of souvenirs free. If the Americans do not leave Japan with sorely impaired digestive apparatus, it will not be the fault of the little countrymen there. But out of the indignation, the fun and the frolics it may be prophesied that a new relationship between the two countries will take birth to eternally hush the talkers of jingoism. The Japs are our friends and they mean to show it during the week beginning, October 17th.

NAVY DISCIPLINE.

Every American is prouder to-day of the navy of his land than ever he was before the powerful American battleships set sail from Hampton Roads last December. The countless tests which the fleet has fairly met and successfully overcome during its long and eventful trip around the continent to the south of us and then on toward the west, really comprise as bright and as prized a page in the history of the American navy as any past achievement. That fact will be realized the more as the voyage draws toward a close. From every port at which the fleet drops anchor come pleasing reports of the good work of the men who sail under the Stars and Stripes.

Two instances are at hand of the excellent discipline to be found in the navy, reported from Manila. One came in connection with the furious typhoon which raged over Manila harbor Sunday afternoon and evening. At that time the wind reached the fearful velocity of 100 miles an hour, a phenomena of nature not at all to be lightly reckoned with, especially by monstrous and unswerving battleships. Trees were blown down by the scores, houses were unroofed, and it was quite impossible to make one's way about the city. All communication with the shore was cut off. Yet in spite of these conditions, the elements were combated with every success and without the slightest loss on the part of the big fleet, some of the ships being forced to take to sea to avoid dragging anchors. It was a matter of credit to all concerned from Admiral Sperry down.

The other incident which has conspicuously shown the hearty and wholesome discipline of the fleet came in connection with the court martial which have been ordered for two of the minor officers who are charged with drunkenness. That one of these men is the son of Admiral Evans should conclusively prove that there is no wimpy-milking or undue influence within the navy's ranks. It is not at all surprising that there should have been some little trouble due to over-drinking in the fleet when the continual round of banquets and receptions which they have attended at every port is taken into consideration. But navy discipline must be kept up with the few offenders, no matter what their station or antecedents.

WHAT'S WANTED NOW.

A New York newspaper printed in its issue on Sunday a long review of the life and career of George Leavens Lilley, the Republican machine candidate for governor of Connecticut. The writer takes us from the milking stool up through the various gradations of political progress until his hero is landed in the congress of the United States. It is a soul stirring story and clearly shows the opportunities given young men in this life who adopt as their kindergarten the three legged milking stool and then keep on milking the rest of their lives. With other great statesmen it was splitting logs and working the canal boat, but these are no better means of a human uplift than a milking stool. We doubt if they are in the same class for it is one thing to split an inanimate log or man a canal boat, and an entirely different thing to interest a cow in the process of milking.

Mr. Lilley deserves praise for the manner in which he eluded the restraints of the barn yard and came upon a national stage of activity. But if he and his friends will pardon us what the voters of the state of Connecticut want in particular to know about Mr. Lilley is not how to milk a cow, drive horses or indulge in any of the other phases of animal activity, but why it was that he continued to deal in inaccurate statement when under oath before the Washington committee of investigation? That is yet to be explained.

They want to know, too, what the real story of the forged letters in which over his signature called into question the honor of honorable members of congress? The record of the inquiring committee is most unsatisfactory in that connection.

Assuming that the letters were forged and that he did not sign them, upon what theory does he retain in his employ the man whom he charges with having used his name without his knowledge or consent? There again the testimony of the inquiring committee falls to give satisfaction.

Finally the voters want to know if it is true, as Mr. Sherman, the Republican candidate for vice-president says it is true, that Mr. Lilley offered to trade and barter with him if submarine competition could be revived? Mr. Sherman testified clearly upon that subject.

We yield the triumph over the milking stool. Now let's learn something about important events since the milking stool was discarded. Time is escaping.

Was it significant that the Yale Bryn club should have chosen the football field to be the scene of its first baraque? Many a political controversy could be settled in a far more decisive manner at such a place than by the usual methods. Should it come to such a change this year, we'd bet on a football team of William H. Taft's rather than one of William J. Bryan's any day.

Those who from time to time find cause to complain at the service of the Connecticut company with its local trolley lines are as a rule not those who are apt to notice the expense and inconvenience that corporation is now going to in the West Chapel and other districts to weld the tracks together and thus make riding in the cars far more pleasant.

The Hartford bridge will be one-third "open" by mid-night this evening. By the way, when is New Haven to have a celebration over the dedication of a new depot?

OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

In a Submarine. (Danville, Va., Rec.) Congressman Lilley will doubtless make his first submarine voyage as commander in a submarine.

Now, You Stop! (Boston Globe.) Harvard's 16 to 9 against Maine, though won by old-fashioned football, was much more likely to make the Crimson adherents cheer up than Yale's 6 to 1 against Syracuse—with a win on a poke—is to please the Blues.

Never Was Expected. (Hartford Courant.) The plan to import Representative Broussard, the Louisiana Democrat, to attack Mr. Lilley, which, it was said a number of disaffected republicans had arranged, is now through. Mr. Broussard says he isn't coming, and ought to know.

Investing With Responsibility. (Boston Transcript.) Candidate Lilley's home paper, the Waterbury American, says the only mistake he "has suffered from in politics" has been those of impulsiveness, but that he is a tractable man, and his statement of policies gives evidence of broad and correct views. It evidently believes in investing him with responsibility to steady him.

Admiral of State. (Milwaukee News.) The cabinet is in session. Roosevelt—He's a lay. Taft—Yes, he is an undisciplined boy. Bryan—That's a shame and a disgrace. Meyer—Say it's a shame and a disgrace. Wilson—Accuse him of the drought. Bonaparte—Be sure and denounce spoilsmonterring. Taft—Don't forget to call him a rascal. Wright—Show no quarter. McCall—Has he did honest say? Bryan—Say he's a scab.

Another Amantos Club Member.

We are glad that there are trophies in connection with our great state. Apparently the Taft element of the party was opposed to Lilley, for one member of the legislature, presenting the resolutions was George S. Palmer, who is said to be a Yale man and a warm friend of Mr. Taft. Little, comparatively, has been heard from the renouncers since the convention went ahead and nominated Lilley in the face of their protest. It would be interesting to know what course they propose to pursue. They will have either to stand by their resolutions, or run away from them. If Lilley is what they said he was he is not fit to be governor. If he is fit to be governor, as they will confess him to be by voting for him—he is not what they said he was. Here is a chance to add considerably to the Amantos club.

Sir Hiram's Lesson.

Sir Hiram Maxim has finished the lesson he has been giving his friend Lord Rossmore, the amateur gambler, with a system designed to beat Monty Carlo. At one time the gambler was some fifteen miles in the air, but according to the terms of the agreement he was to be a true sport and play until one of the other had all of the known in computers with which they started. So the banker got it. It is to be hoped that not only Lord Rossmore, but a good many of his fellow amateur gamblers will profit by the lesson. The incredible system that will beat the bank and with its percentage does not exist. In proof, look at Monte Carlo, built and maintained as it is, the number of players who hoped to break the bank. Gambling is an degrading vice as such that you might as well give up. It appeals to all the worst there is in us, to avarice, laziness, desire for unwholesome excitement. And then when it has ruined us in character it throws us aside as worthless even for its own purposes.

THE HILL OF DREAMS.

My grief for the days by an' done, When I was a young girl straight as a tall. Coming alone at set a sun 'Til the high hill-roads from Cushman. I thought the miles no hardship then, Nor the long road weary to my feet— For the thrushes sang in the cool deep of the glen 'Til the evening air was cool an' sweet.

My head with many a thought was through, An' many a dream as I never told: My heart would lift at a wee bird's song, Or at seem' a White-bush crowned with gold.

An' always I'd look back at the day, Or the turn of the road shut out the sight, Of the long waves curlin' into the bay, An' breakin' in foam where the sands is white.

I was married young on a decent man, As many would call a prudent choice, But he never could hear how the river ran: Singin' a song in a changin' voice, Nor thought to see on the bay's blue water. A silt with yellow sails unfurled, Hearin' away a king's young daughter Over the brim of the heavin' world.

The hills seem weary now to my feet, The miles be's many, and dream's be's few. The evening air's not so sweet, The birds don't sing as they used to do, An' I'm that tired at the top of the hill.

That I haven't the heart to turn at all, To watch the curlin' breakers fill, The wee road bay at Cushman, I'll be round by at Cushman. —New Ireland Review.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Suspicious Man.

To the Editor Journal-Courier: The suspicious man disbelieves that honor or virtue is to be found in man or woman. He is who starts scandalous stories because to him they seem likely to be true. He follows the advice of Robert Burns: "But when ye feel your honour grip, Let that aye be your border." He follows this precept because his "honour" never "grips" him. He does not disregard the sentiment, for it is non-existent for him, and one cannot disregard a feeling which he cannot perceive. As Shakespeare has shown in Iago and Edmund in Lear, such a man may be the prince of good fellows, superficially attractive and always in the best of condition, for no conscientious scruples worry him, no nerves interfere with his equanimity or his digestion.

As we all do, such a man judges others by himself. A man in public place he thinks is a grafter, for he knows what he would do in his position. Now a certain amount of suspicion of strangers is undoubtedly justifiable and is the result of experience of the world. But congenital and universal suspicion is worse than blind trust in one's fellow-men, for society depends on mutual confidence, on taking it for granted that the probability is that your neighbor is at the bottom honest and fair, and not believing that his prime object is to cheat and steal in secret, or considering a man fairly honorable till he is proved otherwise. This fundamental trust is quite compatible with the knowledge that men are weak and should be surrounded with checks and not subjected to undue temptation, especially in office. It is a mental attitude, very different from assuming that all men are liars, and it may be united with caution and prudence in dealing with strangers, or in confiding in friends before "their adoption is tried."

Mr. Lilley seems to be one of the fundamentally suspicious men. He took it for granted that his colleagues in the house were prima-facie grafters: How much evidence he had for this no one knows. To justify himself he should now bring forward some incontestable ground for his suspicion, something besides words if he has it. He was not allowed to examine the books of the Submarine Boat company, for there is a rule of law that applies to politicians as to everybody else, that a man is supposed to be innocent till he is proved guilty, that a prosecutor must establish a prima-facie case before he is allowed to search the private records of the defendant for evidence. His case rested on the assumption that sales to the government are presumably tainted with fraud. Such an assumption cannot be admitted in a trial before a congressional committee. You cannot safely probe for a thief till you have shown something on the surface, and hidden corruption always shows on the surface.

But how can a consistent man vote for both Mr. Lilley, who says that Mr. Sherman helped rascals conceal their fraud, and Mr. Sherman, who says that Mr. Lilley brought a reckless, malignant and unfounded charge against his colleagues and failed to make good? Both horns of the dilemma are pretty sharp. REPUBLICAN.

Hartford, Oct. 5, 1908.

A Deserved Remark.

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier: "One by one as his friends came out for Lilley an esteemed New Haven editor crosses them off his list. It is getting to be almost boring."

The above clipping from some newspaper deserves the remark Mr. Taft is said to have made when told that Mr. Taft said $100 a day was enough for the laboring man. "The man that made the remark is a liar, and the person who believes it is a fool!" P.

SHUT THAT DOOR

TRETTRE'S always a door some-where around your house or office that seems to stand open in cold weather out of pure cussedness, and lets the chilly weather blow on your back. It couldn't do it if it had a Blount or Norton Door Check.

Then your door would always close—and more gently than if closed by hand. There would be no slamming, no broken glass, no cracked walls.

I thought it might interest you to know of the test to which a pair of your glasses fitted with the Harvey & Lewis Guard was subjected the other day. While canoeing on the Passaic river, the water was upset, and compelled to dive to keep from being caught in the canoe when it went over. I had my eye glasses on at the time, and after diving and swimming down the river for a considerable distance found them still on my nose as though nothing had happened. This certainly speaks well for the Harvey & Lewis Guard. With personal regards, I am, Very truly yours, E. MCKINNEY HUNT.

$744,000 CUT IS DISCLOSED IN ESTIMATES

Anything else the past summer, the board of finance discovered a temporary solution, with a more thorough one in view for the near future. The solution, so far as it affects the estimates this year, is an increase of $2,000 in the amount given to the board of health to secure collection with. The sum of $13,000 has been set aside, this time to be used for this purpose, with which it is hoped a more satisfactory service can be maintained by the board of health.

Salaries Hold Down. The salary increases which were asked for very generally by departments received a strong setback when the financiers got busy.

Berillon System Allowed. Aside from the pay roll increase in the police department that branch of the city government got one important thing it asked for, namely the Berillon system.

Estimates Complete. The estimates in full as presented to the board of aldermen last night follow.

At the present time the assessors report the grand list of property in Wards 1-15 inclusive, as $19,434,462. Pursuant to Section 110 of the charter, the board has levied for school purposes a tax of 5-1-2 mills upon all the property within the city school district. It has laid a tax exclusive of said school tax of 9-1-2 mills upon the polls and ratable estates within the limits of Wards 1-15 inclusive, (Section 44), and a tax of 2-3-4 mills upon the polls and ratable estates within the limits of Wards 16-18 inclusive, (Section 215). The total tax laid upon the property bearing the full city tax is 14-3-4 mills.

Unique Elegance In The Matter of Dress Trimmings

YOU must know, by now, of course, that for street wear and heavier gowns, soutache braid effects are on top. Soutache braid is worked beautifully into taffeta bands, for example.

We never saw soutache braid so variously expressed. Dangly things—fringe, and tassels, and pendants will show themselves prominently on dressy frocks, and such varied and various kinds as are here!

From Paris and London and home artists are Appliqués and Braids and Net Bands and scores of other Dress Trimmings designs that there seems to be no names for at all—they're simply fascinating. There's more beauty of texture and color loveliness crowded into this space we give to Dress Trimmings than would seem possible. Come and see for yourself.

MANY SPECIAL TRAINS.

New Haven Road to Send Seventeen Extras up to Hartford. The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad will run seventeen special trains into Hartford during the celebration in honor of the city's new million dollar bridge. This special service in addition to the regular trains will enable thousands of persons to join the residents of Hartford in the festivities of this gala occasion. Bountiful hospitality will be dispensed by Hartford folks and visitors are assured that the journey will be made well worth while. Very low fares have been made by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad for this event. Special trains will leave New Haven this morning and to-morrow at 9:30 a. m. and on October 8 at 9:30 and 9:05 a. m. Returning will leave Hartford 9:45 p. m. Tuesday and Wednesday, and at 10:45 and 11 p. m. on Thursday. The continued and growing prosperity of the Argentine republic and her neighbors is inducing several European countries to expand their trade in that direction. Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Austria and Russia are all planning new steamship lines to South America.

There was a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the funeral of Dr. Henry J. Stevens, held at his late residence, 39 Grand avenue. Dr. Stevens had resided here over fifty-five years and had been a member of the Grand Avenue Congregational church for half a century and many from that church, as well as other friends, attended the funeral services which were conducted by Rev. Dr. Smith. Dr. Smith in his remarks, referred to Dr. Stevens as one of the staunch citizens of the town who had resided here so long and to his long connection with the church. There were a number of fine floral offerings resting upon the casket. The bearers were Deacon Walter S. Bishop, E. M. Woodward, Chas. Clark and E. H. Crawford. Interment was in Fair Haven cemetery. The funeral of Mrs. Frances E. Bradley, widow of Leman E. Bradley, the services to be attended at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Hayward, 32 Avon street, this afternoon at 2:30, Rev. E. C. Tuiler will officiate and interment will be in Fair Haven cemetery. Two of the local lodges will meet this evening. Adelphi lodge, E. and A. M., will meet at Masonic hall and the arrangements will be completed for the trip to Hartford on Thursday. The Columbia castle, K. G. E., will meet at the hall of Polar Star lodge. Several local stores owned by Hebrews were closed yesterday, which was the Day of Atonement in the Hebrew church.

The nomination of Major Lucernio Ludington for the Fourteenth ward by the Republicans for senator, recalls the fact that this ward has had but very few senators. A resident in referring to the matter last evening remembered only one from the ward who ever became senator and that was the late Judge Charles S. Bray, who was a member of the senate just thirty years ago. He was sent from the old Sixth district of which East Haven was a part. The Fourteenth ward was then in the town of East Haven. Judge Bray was also chairman of one of the important committees.

Many New Buildings Being Completed—Fair Haveners Going to Hartford's Celebration.

There is considerable building just now in completing contracts on which the work was begun some time ago. John Lowe, the builder, has three houses in Grafton street, between Anawater and Rowe streets, in process of construction and one is nearly completed; one is ready for shingling and for the third, the foundations are being prepared. There are two-family houses, of fourteen-rooms each and with improvements. They will cost about $2,500 each. Charles W. Lowe, another Fair Haven building contractor, has a new house in Pine street, nearly completed, and not long since, he completed four good houses in Whalley avenue, near Westville. John Lowe when asked what was the outlook in building for another season, said he could hardly tell yet; it would depend on the general business, but not very much would be done in planning for building until after the November election. He said that building materials were high and money was dear, conditions which had material effect on building operations.

The New Haven Baptist association will hold its annual meeting in the Main street church, Meriden, to-morrow and Thursday. The Grand Avenue Baptist church will be represented by Rev. and Mrs. Charles G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Hineckley, Mrs. George Hallford, Mrs. Frederick Willis, Mrs. John W. Phillips and Mrs. H. P. Converse.

Fair Haven is to be well represented this week at the big bridge celebration in Hartford. For to-day, there will be a delegation from East Rock council, Fraternal Benefit League and East Rock lodge, A. O. U. W. Both of these orders will have floats in the procession provided by the grand lodge. On Thursday, Masonic day, Adelphi lodge of Fair Haven, will send a delegation estimated at about 100. They will parade in the Masonic division and participate in the laying of the cornerstone. The delegation will start at Masonic hall in Church street and march to Union station with the other Masons. Persistence council, Daughters of Liberty, will also send a delegation, to take part in the celebration. Besides the delegations from the fraternal orders, there will be a large number of Fair Haven people going to Hartford during the days of the celebration.

A delegation from the Eleventh and Twelfth wards Civic association, descended on city hall yesterday morning and started the ball rolling in regard to the grading and curbing of the crossing of streets, between Pine and Lombard street, where the old Shore Line road formerly ran. Several of these crossings are below grade and some are above grade and as the route was abandoned 14 years ago, the citizens in the Twelfth ward think it is fully time the work was done. The matter came up at a meeting of the Civic association on Sunday, as told in this paper. The committee succeeded in getting the matter before the board of aldermen.

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty. In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden. It is to these faithful women that LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellisworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say: "I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it? Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

GAMES TO-DAY.

Detroit at Chicago, Cleveland at St. Louis, New York at Boston, Philadelphia at Washington.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Chicago today advanced to within striking distance of the American league pennant by defeating Detroit, 6 to 1, in the second game of the crucial series, while Cleveland, the other contender for the flag, lost the first game of a double header to St. Louis in the latter city.

Pitchers Walsh and Summers appeared for the opposing teams, with Sullivan and Schmidt behind the bat. Walsh pitched a remarkable game and had the Detroit team at his mercy throughout the contest, whereas Summers, who worked hard, was hit opportunistly and retired from the game in the sixth inning, giving way to Mullin, who batted for him, and then finished the one-sided contest.

Chicago began scoring in the second inning. Davis opened with a single over short, and Parent doubled to left. Isbell sent a single to left and scored Davis, but McIntyre's fine throw to Schmidt caught Parent at the plate.

Sullivan followed with a single to right and Tannehill did likewise but was caught at second when he tried to stretch it into a double. Walsh finished the inning by going out.

The Chicago team continued scoring in the fourth, Davis was hit by a pitched ball and went to second when Parent singled to left. Sullivan sent a hot grounder into center, which went between Crawford's legs, and Parent and Davis scored while Sullivan went to third. Tannehill tried to Schmidt and Sullivan scored when Walsh sent a long fly to McIntyre. Hahn fled to Crawford and the side was retired.

The local team added another run in the next inning. Jones hit a homer over Schaefer's head and went to second on Isbell's sacrifice and scored on Davis single to center. Detroit made one in the sixth. Downs singled to left center, Mullin batted for Summers and fanned. McIntyre singled to right and was forced at second by Bush, while Downs came home with the tone run. Crawford made the third out.

Mullin went in to pitch for Detroit in the sixth and retired Chicago without a hit, but in the next inning Hahn opened with a single to left and Jones fanned. Doolery fanned and Hahn stole second. Doolery singled to center and Hahn scored. David finished the inning by going out.

A genuine Indian summer day greeted the players and spectators today and the "fans" turned out by thousands. The crowd was somewhat smaller than that of the preceding day, but every available seat in the stands and bleachers was taken an hour before the contest began. The gates were opened at 12:30 p. m. and the crowd, which had been patiently waiting for several hours outside began to rush through the gates. An hour before play began the crowd was so large in the stands that the police took positions about the field and the people were seated along the first and third base lines, and at the outskirts of the field.

Ground rules were established, making a hit into the crowd good for two bases, but there was no occasion for this. It is probable that White will oppose Donovan in the game tomorrow.

NAPS LOSE PENNANT.

Bradley's and Manager Lajoie's Errors Give First Contest to Browns.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—Cleveland was eliminated from the American league pennant race, to-day by losing the first game of a double header with St. Louis. The score was 3 to 1. An error by Lajoie, followed by an error by Bradley in the sixth paved the way for the two runs which eventually won today's first game.

In the sixth, Hoffman, the first man up, batted to Lajoie and the second baseman threw to the grandstand, Hoffman going to second. Criss doubled to left but Hinckman was slow in fielding. A perfect relay, Hinckman to Perring to Bradley, caught Criss at third, but Bradley failed to put the ball on the runner. Williams followed with a single to left which scored Criss.

In the first inning St. Louis scored once on Hartzell's single, a stolen base and a single by Hoffman. Cleveland tied in the fifth on Stovall's double, Criss' error which let him go to third, and Liebhardt's single over second.

Dineen, the St. Louis pitcher, was in excellent form and allowed but four hits.

With Foster pitching, Cleveland took the second game, 5 to 3. Cleveland bunched hits off Howell at will. The scores: (First Game.)

A Bank Account is a great incentive to a person of pride to try harder to push business. A man who could take no pride in seeing his bank balance grow could take no pride in anything under the sun.

The young man without a bank account assumes that his personality is his chief asset, but when opportunities come he is not ready to meet them BECAUSE he lacks just a FEW hundred dollars which would mean the starting point of his success.

WALL STREET NOTES

Hill Stocks Bring Market Out of Early Morning Demoralization.

WEAKNESS TOWARD END

London's Heavy Selling Based on Balkan Situation—Tuff's Election Predicted.

Prices at the opening were for all the active stocks 3-4 to 1-2 points below Saturday's final level. Extreme weakness lasted for ten minutes. Canadian Pacific losing 2 points in this interval, Baltimore and Ohio and Union and Northern Pacific 1 1/2, 2 1/2, 2 1/2, Southern Pacific 1 1/2. After these declines heavy buying orders brought about a sharp advance which carried Union Pacific 3 1/4 points above the early low level, Great Northern referred 3 1/4, Northern Pacific 4 1/4, Reading 2 3/4, and other stocks 1, 2 and 3 points. This market became very quiet after these advances, and continued dull until 2 o'clock. Then renewed selling pressure carried prices off, but it was not until a quarter of 4 before the close, when dispatches regarding the European situation became more disturbing than that the market became really weak.

Strangely enough it was the Hill stocks that brought the market out of its demoralized state. There shares have been more inclined to start liquidation in the general list than to check B. The violent advance in Northern Pacific and Great Northern did not mean that there had suddenly developed heavy investment buying, but did signify that weak accounts had been sold out and that sentiment in favor of the stocks had undergone a decided change for the better, based, for one thing, on the large September earnings and the expected good showing by the company in its preliminary report for the past fiscal year to be made this week. Our reports of a cash dividend were received. Directors meet today.

Union Pacific at 168 1/2, was within 1-2 of the top prices, after the stock sold excellent on September 14. Allowing for the 2 1/2 per cent. dividend that came off this week, the mean 157 1/4. In other words, since the break of 18 points to 149 1/2, on the election scare, this stock had recovered 7 1/4 of its loss.

The August report of the Hooking Valley, with gross earnings of $165,514 and net $124,104, to the best showing made by that road since August, 1907, when the gross was $165,735 and the net $125,754.

London sold about 75,000 shares here in the first half hour, and was responsible for much of our weakness. The offerings were quite general, though in largest volume in Steel common, Erie and the Harriman Pacific stocks. The London selling was part of the foreign demonstration on the news of Bulgaria's declaration of independence from Turkey, which seriously upset the European markets before our own opening. The "Balkan question" and the Balkan States are tender points in European diplomacy and high finance, and this Bulgarian episode touches both. Anxiety over the matter in financial circles converged, not on what the Sultan will do, because nobody believes he can do anything by himself, but on what action the "Young Turk party" will in control of things at Constantinople, will be disposed to take. Assertion of the right to personal liberty may not be held by them to include the privilege of somebody else to dismember the empire.

Political discussion on Wall street appeared to be leaning more strongly towards predictions of Tuff's election—pardon, no doubt, because of last week's market. The question more widely mooted was whether or not that event will cause the immediate boom in trade and prices which the more hopeful have prophesied as a result of it. This is a hard matter to judge, because so much depends on the part played by sentiment. Bryan's defeat in 1906 caused only temporary improvement in either business or finance; the boom did not come until the next autumn. His defeat in November, 1900, had a very different sequel, every one knows what followed. Yet so well-attested a Wall street prophet as James R. Keene declared in an interview, just before the vote of 1906, "Prices will decline, even if McKinley is elected; they will only decline further if Bryan is elected."

Some strong bullish talk is being heard on Baltimore and Ohio and Chicago and Alton. Harriman interests were said to be expecting a sharp advance in the former, and they are also believed in some quarters to be not altogether dissociated from the expected upward movement in the latter.
