Dry Goods Bulletin.

Issued by J. N. ADAM & CO.

VOL. XLVIII.

366 and 368 Chapel Street

It is with satisfaction that we often hear our "Dry Goods Bulletin" referred to as a trustworthy source of information. Our aim has always been to make it such, carefully avoiding exaggerated or misleading state-ments, saying in its columns only what we could set up to in the store, and at the same time keeping our customers well informed about everything new and fashionable, and duly "posted" in the bargains we are able from time to time to offer.

Black Silks are " our specialty." In the Housekeeping Goods Department our stock is complete. A special lot of the very finest quality of Marseilles Quilts imported offered at half price. Linen Sheeting in various widths and grades, bought previous to the recent advance. Table Linen, Napkins, Towels, Dispers, &c., in full and regular assortment at low prices. Fine Blankets specially cheap. Those coming for our Winter trade will be higher than those we now offer.

Ginghams we are showing attracted considerable attention, and sold well last week. We advise ladies to come and see them soon before the assortment is broken. They are superior to anything of the kind hitherto produced.

We have opened a fine line of Torchon Laces, the prices of which will be found The entire balance of our stock of Lawns, Lattice Cloths and Dress Cambrics we have again marked down. We would probably get better prices next summer for them, but we don't believe in carrying over anything of this kind, so we make them cheap snough now to force the sale. Having almost closed out our extensive stock of Summer Prints, we have put in a new line. The styles are very choice, the colors fast, and the quality of cloth the very best. We shall maintain our high standard ce and our low rates of profit. Navy Blue Flannels are in great demand, and we have them in single and dou-ble width, plain and twilled, at various pri-We have also a line of Suiting Flannels

Gentlemen's Furnishings are sup-plied in our store at prices so moderate that our business in this department is steadily increasing. Our "Unrivaled" White Shirt gives universal satisfaction. We beg to thank those customers who have kindly waited for a size we got sold out of. We have got on a few to fill orders, and are pushing the balan rapidly through the works.

We offer a very elegant variety of Silk Handkerchiefs for Neckwear, and we mention the fact that what we sell are really worth wearing. There has been a great deal of trash in the market, which has but the trade somewhat, but such a quality as we offer will prove satisfactory every time.

This week we direct attention to our dis-play of Towels. The principal feature in it will be the extraordinary value we shall give in a twenty-five cent Fringed Damask Towel. There is nothing to compare with it The new and handsome styles of Dress at the price anywhere. Besides this great at the price anywhere. Besides this great bargain we shall give unsurpassed value in bleached and uubleached Damask, Huckabefore the assortment is broken. They are uperior to anything of the kind hitherto

> We are keeping a watchful eye on every department and wherever we think it necessary we unhesitatingly make further and still further reductions. Among the articles so treated we mention Lisle Thread Gloves, our prices on which will now be found to be out of all proportion to the value of the goods. The last eport of the English Comptroller in Bankptey shows that the bankrupt law is not orking well, the most notable point being the large and steady increase in the number of debtors who avail themselves of the liquidation clauses. Thus in 1870 there were 5,651 cases; during the flush years that folowed the number increased till it reached ,574 in the prosperous year 1873, and the ame increase went on during the hard times hat followed until last year there were 1,976 cases recorded. There have never ocen so many of the better compositionse., those exceeding 7s. 6d. in the pound, or 374 cents on the dollar-as there were in the first year of the act, before debtors found out that they could compound on easier terms. Though in 1877 the business received a check by a decision preventing the registration of resolutions in favor of such compositions when they were manifestly in the interest of debtors, there are at present twice as many compositions between 25 and 37# per cent. as there were in 1870; nearly thrice as many between 121 and 25 per cent.; more than six times as many between 5 and 124, and nearly fourteen times as many under 5 per cent., or a shilling in the pound. What the Democratic party will not do in order to gain voters has not yet been discovered. The Democratic leaders in New York city are now trying to organize the Italian voters for Hancock because the Republican Governor of New York refused to pardon Peter Balbo, the Italian who brutally mur-

Wade Hampton and his friends are taking great pains to recall his speech to the effect that the Democrats are now contending fo the principles of Robert E. Lee and Stone wall Jackson, and the rest of the Virginia rebel leaders. In spite of all that is now being done to suppress and deny this portion of his speech, word comes from Republicans who heard it' that it was correctly reported as first printed. The Charleston News first began the work of discrediting the correct his speech at the demand of those in his par-

It is very much to be hoped that the returns may justify this Democratic forecasting of the result, but the Democratic managers outside of Virginia have not yet given up the hope of uniting the two wings of the Democracy upon the Presidential ques-

An audacious bond robbery was committed in Paris a few days ago. Three of the employes of the Societe Generale de Credit Industriel et Commerciel having been ordered to take 6,000 of these obligations, each of a nominal value of 500 francs, to the stamp office to be exchanged for new scrip, placed them in a hand-barrow and took them to the office, keeping a strict watch over their trust while on the way. In order not to run the slightest risk of losing any one of the twelve bundles into which the 6,000 bonds had been divided, one of the employes posted himself at the counter on which they were to be placed; the second kept guard over the barrow, and the third carried the bundles of bonds from the barrow into the office and placed them on the counter. In fact, every precaution was taken to assure the safety of the property, and all would have gone well to luck and take their chances of ever getting had it not been for the impatience of the employe standing at the counter, who, wishing Rockaway do well enough to amuse children: to accelerate the work, left the bonds on the but for solid comfort, electric and calcium counter for a minute unprotected, and went lights, the best music and everything that to meet the employe who was bringing the bundles one by one from the barrow. Aboud midway between Sharon and Lake-ville, on Town hill, is an old stone house, famous because it was the dwelling place of General Montgomery's family at the time he was killed at the battle of Quebec. It is sixty feet square, three stories high and has thirteen mormous fire-places. Among the visitors at Sharon is the Jerome family of New York. Young Jerome, who got into such an uncomfortable scrape in New York this summer has spent considerable time here, apparently enjoying himself as though nothing had oc-curred of which he ought to be ashamed. Eight of us drove one day to the famous falls at Bash-Bish, which is fifteen miles from Lakeville, and on the line between Massa-chusetts and New York. A hotel has just been built at the foot of the falls, and a good many people have already gone there to stay till fall. At South Egremont, Mass., 18 miles from Lakeville, where I spent two days, there are a large number of visitors from New York and Boston. At the Mt. This and similar articles paved the way for what Hampton has now done, but this corrected version only places him in the position of having sent out a garbled version of his speech at the demand of those in his par-

Previous to coming here I spent about two weeks at Lakeville and Sharon. Conn. At the former place the beautiful Wononscoponol lake is the chief attraction. It is three miles in circumference, surrounded by hills, and the water is so clear that in places where it is thirty feet deep the smooth, sandy bottom can be distinctly seen. A small steam boat takes visitors around the lake every bility to do us harm. Such malignity I never saw equalled. Brown, Bolton 🛢 Co.

Since the first faint whisper of their coming awoke the sensibilities of the public generally, those who were to profit by their presence in the way of making more economical purchases, as well as those who would be compelled to meet them on the field of competition.

Gossip never found a grander subject to feed upon. Mystery after mystery was solved and prophetic speculation on the issue was rife. What was to come? Not that but what has come! Nothing short of a perfect revolution has taken place for the general benefit of the people for the good of all. No sooner were the leases of their stores perfected than the rents of every prominent business structure on Chapel street went up. Labor in king. It boldly demanded its long-earned reward and received it. Salaries were advanced, and the housekeeper, the mechanic, artisan or otherwise could purchase from

had long denied them. The scale of extreme ly low prices inaugurated by us at our oper ng compelled iron wills to bow to the inevi table. Our prices were never approached when value and quality of our goods were fairly and justly compared. To-day no house on this continent can offer greater bargain goods than we can. We lead where others shrink and dare not follow. This week w offer still greater bargains than ever. Silk further reduced. Ladies' Suits still further reduced. Satins further reduced. Dres Goods at unheard-of low prices. Startling astounding bargains in Linens, Flannels Towels, Toweling, Brown and Bleached Cot tons, Table Damasks, Dice Table Linens Napkins, Doylies, Quilts, Counterpanes, Camprics, Lawns, Linen Lawns, Gentlemen Furnishings. At the Surgeon General's orders;
Order No. 6:

II. All persons between 18 and 45 years of age desiring exemption from military duty and commutation tax by reason of mental or physical disability must report to one of the Post Surgeons for examination, and if found exempt will be furnished with a certificate of exemption, to be filed by them with the Selectmen of the town where they are liable to enrollment. Those who were exempted by Post Surgeons in 1878 and 1879 and the disability classed as permanent will not be required to be examined again unless ordered by the Surgeon General. The dates for examinations are as follows; July 14, 21 and 28, August 4, II. 18 and 25, from 2 to 9 p. m. Persons not filling their certificates of exemption with the Selectmen before the first day of September will be debarred from exemption for the year.

Dr. W. R. Bartlett, the Post Surgeon for New Haven, (Office No. 157 Church street,) will examine those claiming exemption ANY DAY DURING THE PRESENT MONTH between the hours of $ to 10 a. m., 2 to 3 and 7 to 9 p. m., free of charge, and the examination must be made before September 1, 1880.

None could speak affirmatively, but again and again it was echoed that it was the only course which the exigencies of the situation would permit. It was authoritatively announced that the plan of the con-

the Republican party would be given a Water loo next November. He was followed by General D. N. Couc Norwalk, who was introduced by Mr. Bowers as a gentleman who was unfortunate enough to have been educated at West Point. The General's speech was short and full of spice. He referred to Hancock as his old comrade with whom he had been on the march and in the battle. He was sure Hancock was a man who could be trusted.

Hancock was a man who could be trusted.

Hancock was a man who could be trusted. He was not only a glorious soldier but a great Arthur W. Bacon, of Middletown, was the foe they had to fight was as unscrupulous as it was dishonest, and accused Garfield of being a participator in that greatest of all steals, the presidential steal. When James Gallagher was introduced as the man who needed no introduction, he was given three rousing cheers. He commenced as follows: "Neighbors and friends: I had hoped that the 'old war horse' might have remained in the stable blanketed until son time in September. For the 'old war horse' caught cold at Cincinnati when called out of bed at 2 o'clock to address a meeting over five thousand people in favor of the nomination of General Winfield Scott Hanwar horse' might remain in his stable at Morris Cove, but I am in the field." At this point the fire alarm bells rang and the crowd stampeded in such numbers that the stand asked his hearers to resent the insult offered to their leader. Brandegee was characterized by the speaker as a cowardly poltroon, who had attacked the foremost General in the country. Nineteen years ago, when the Leg-islature of Connecticut appropriated one mil-lion dollars to equip and arm the soldiers, Brandegee made a speech in favor of the appropriation. It was expected to see him go down and swallow the South. But did he do it? [A voice from the crowd, "Not much."] No, he staid at home. After such an exhibition is he the man to assail Hancock and say that the Democratic party are traitors to the Union and to the flag? Mr. Gallagher waxed eloletter to General Sherman. He then paid his respects to the returning board of Louisiana and tried to get up enthusiasm on the Deliver and the state of the state bard, in which he expressed his regret that he could not be present. The Governor in his letter paid a glowing tribute to General in it. He called upon the soldiers to "choose this day whom they would serve," and march on to victory under the Hancock banner.

The Visiting Knights-Over Two Mus dred Thousand Strangers in Chicago-Parading Under a Blazing Sun-An Imposing Procession-A Grand Ball in the Evening-Elaborate Festivities. CHICAGO, Aug. 17.-The citizens wer musually early on the streets to-day, decked in holiday array. All Cook county had migrated within the city limits, and thousands from north, south, east and west kept pour ing in all night. The morning broke clear and warm. Before seven o'clock the streets were alive with sight-seers. The largest number made their way to Wabash avenue where it was thought the best view of the grand procession of to-day could be secured. The various commanderies assembled for dres parade at 7:45, and from that hour until nin ere was a continuous movement of knightly odies to the stations assigned to them in the column. This consisted of twenty divisions, each divided into three grand divisions. The following New England commanderies were in the procession: Mount Horeb, of Concord, N. H.; Milford, No. 11, of Milford, Mass.; Calvary, No. 12, of Providence, R. I.; Beausant, No. 7, of Brattlebore, Vt. Washington, No. 1, of Hartford, Conn. All along the route the decorations were complete, and were very elaborate and almost ontinuous for miles. The profesion and va riety of the banners, flags, stars, crosses, crowns, shields, festoons and evergreens were endless, and the army of Masonic mottoes mearthed for the occasion was bewildering unearthed for the occasion was bewildering to the unitutored civilian. Hardly a house along the line of march but was graced with some sort of a temperary grand stand, so that the procession moved through a continuous amphitheatre. The miles of temporary seats along the route, at fifty cents a "sit," were all filled. Gaze where they would, from the second to the standard of the second to the standard of the second the standard of the standard basement to roof, thousands of flags, ban-ners, mottoes and festoons greeted them, and it needed not the frequent repetition of the word "welcome" to assure them that Chicago had received them gladly and would entertain them royally.

The great parade ended somewhat abrupt ly. The work of forming such a monster procession was more arduous than anticipa-ted, requiring most of the forencon. This ted, requiring most of the forencon. This was very exhausting to the men with their heavy uniforms and equipments, and when at noon the weather turned suddenly quite warm they began to wilt and to drop out of line. This continued for some time, and finally whole commanderies dropped out and parade was virtually off. Several cases of sunstroke among those in the procession are reported, but none of a serious nature. imated that between twenty thousand It is estimated that between twenty thousand and thirty thousand persons were in line. There were probably half a million people on the streets to view the parade, and half of this number went home disappointed. The thousands who had positions on the avenue opposite the camp were well repaid, as they saw the whole procession, including the Most Eminent Master Hardbut in his carriage. cession, including the Most Eminent Master Hurlbut in his carriage drawn by six black and seven white horses. A fortnight ago, while the father and son were standing in the field, Mr. Embree noticed the sheep running, and, on looking toward the foot of the mountain, he saw an enormous bear crouching and slowly creeping toward his horses, which were feeding on the hill-side. He immediately sent his son for a gun and an axe. By the time the latter returned the bear was within 20 feet of the horses, and evidently about to spring upon the unsus pecting animals. Mr. Embree was about 60 NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—About 11 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the Empire that he was observed, sat up, and, as soon as Oil works in Tenth street, fronting on the Mr. Embree fired, sprang forward, rolled over East river at Long Island City. The fire was caused by a workman in the packing shop the bloody track left and the sound of the the bloody track left and the sound of the dog up the steep and difficult mountain side, it being almost impossible to get through the wind-falls and growth in some places. The final struggle was fearful. bear had the young man underneath him, and in an attempt to crush his head between his enormous jaws, for the want of the low-er tusks he was only able to tear the flesh from his forehead down over his eyes, and, holding the skin of his forehead and eyebrow in his front teeth, shook the young man vio-lently. At this moment the old man caught sight of the axe, and, taking it in his left hand, began to strike at the bear's head, the axe often coming close to his son's face in the deadly struggle, and after having given the brute 10 blows with the axe from his one hand, the bear released his hold from the son's face and fell, from a blow between his son's face and fell, from a blow between his eye and ear, dead, upon the bleeding body of the young man, who, during the last struggle held a firm grip of the bear's tongue.

The father, with one finger bitten off and his right arm crushed, had to help his wounded son home, the latter having both knees fearfully mangled, and his face bitten and torn. The writer visited the sufferers on Sabbath evening, and found them under the treatment of Dr. McDonald, doing very well indeed, though they will not be able to work this spring on their farm. The father is an old bear-hunter, but he never saw so large a bear before. From his hind feet to the top of his head was 8 feet, so that when he stood up he was quite out of their reach. His skin weighed 50 pounds, and his foot was 5 inches across the heel and 8 inches long. Never did father and son show more pluck in defending each other from a fearful death. At the first shot the ball passed through the bear's liver, lungs, and within two inches of his heart, carrying away part of the shoulder-blade on its way. The Indians say the bear must have been about 12 years old.

Mr. Embree instantly loaded again, but when the monster sprang upon him the cap failed to explode. He used the gun over the bruke's head, the second blow leaving only the barrel in his hand, and that appeared to produce no more effect than a riding whip in the hands of a child. At this point in the conflict the bear pushed hard upon his foe, when a log behind Mr. Embree tripped him, and he fell backward with the monster upon him. The bear was about taking Mr. Embree's head or face in his mouth, when the latter thrust his right hand into the bear's mouth and caught his tongue, but unfortunately his arm coming out across the animal's mouth, the monster shut it upon the arm, and crushed both bones; in the man's own

Other Hou. State Board of Health:
Gentlemen.—Enclosed please find the rules for the

We think the law is wholly unnecessary and that he science of color-blindness (if indeed it may be is railroad employes.

The tuition and trial of railroad employes in a practical way the officers of railroads, during a long period of time before they are promoted to responsible tations, are of themselves a sufficient guarantee of afety to the traveling public; especially when the in ercest, the responsibility, the property and outfit callroad corporations, all combine to have none by competent persons employed.

realiread corporations, all combine to have none but competent persons employed.

The law is also crude in its provisions, uncertain as to some of its enactments, and might, with propriety, be suspended in its operations till the next session of the General Assembly, so as to be made by amendment more practical and just, instead of being used, as it must necessarily be as it now stands, only for the purpose of gathering statistics for the development of a supposed science still in embryo, by subjecting a meritorious class of workingmen to be experimented upon. Nevertheless, we do not ask for such suspension of the law, but desire that it shall be executed in a manner just to the employes and safe to the public; and both of these ends may be secured by making all examinations practical, in the manner provided by the rules submitted.

In order to expedite the work and to provide a way of sifting out the deficient ones the third rule is introduced, providing for a preliminary examination.

We subport schadule A appended to the substantion.

We submit schedule A, appenuous to the tests that containing reasonable suggestions as to the tests that might be used, and the circumstances under which they may be applied; but we do not ask the said schedule "A" shall be adopted as a rule. I shall send a dupticate of this letter, said rules and schedule "A" both to the secretary and to Mr. Burr, so that they may the more surely be received by the one in the ab-

What was the motive of this prohibition does not appear. It was, however, a further example of that strange love of mystery which the highest military authorities in India have shown throughout the campaign, and they can hardly complain if the public begin to attribute it to their desire to conceal their own blundering. However this may be, it was well known by the time that the force reached Girishk, on the Heimund, if not, indeed, before it left Candahar, that the whole of the Wali's contingent were thoroughly untrustworthy, having been corrupted by a regiment which had been quartered for ten years in Taylor.

It is strange that this fact being known, so weak a brigade was permitted to proceed seventy miles from its supports against a force which started from Herat with a strength of 8,000 men and 36 guns, and which was probably largely increased by the tribal levies joining on the march. The general impression here is that General Haines is greatly to blame for this imprudence, and many expressions of regret are heard that there was not on the spot a soldier like Sir Donald Stewart to point out the Sir Donald Stewart to point out the Sir Donald Stewart to point out the spot a soldier salness of this proceeding. son W. Ewing was arraigned on a charge of theft of a loaf of bread from Ferry's bakery and an assault on Jacob Autz, a baker, on August 10. Ewing did not have counsel, but managed his own case. The evidence did not differ materially from statements of the affair heretofore made. Ewing made a feeble defense, and after his statement Judge Pardee said that the evidence was sufficient to show that Ewing took the loaf of bread without paying for it. The only question was, did he intend to steal it. "I think I shall have to find Mr. Ewing guilty of this theft of a loaf of bread; I don't see any other way. I find him guilty and fine him five dollars and costs."

While sentence was being passed Ewing was seated at the table in front of the judge's and an assault on Jacob Autz, a baker, on alled allies. I say treachery of its allies, because there can be little doubt that Wali's cause there can be
