Mr. Stockton has given so many proofs of his powers to interest and amuse young people that a new book from his pen will not fail of a hearty welcome.

"A Jolly Fellowship" is the story of the adventures of two school-boys, who make a vacation trip to Florida. They form a fast friendship with a young girl of their own age, who is traveling there with her parents, and the league which they make is the "jolly fellowship." They have a good many adventures, get into all sorts of scrapes, and have a good time generally. Some of their experiences are very funny, and so are many of the characters they fall in with.

The pictures, by Mr. Kelly, have unusual merit and are exactly in keeping with the text they illustrate. The above and many other New Books

Political Education. This society proposes to secure the general reading of works on political and economic subjects. It consists of a permanent executive committee of twen ty-five members, which will propose the works to be read and pass upon the pam phlets the society is to publish and distribute and two classes of members-"co-operating, who contribute to its expenses $5 annually and "active," who pledge themselves to read the books recommended by the society and pay an annual fee of fifty cents. A singular feature of the organization is that it is not to have a president, and will thus avoid the risk of having its aims confounded with the idiosyncrasies of any individual chosen for its head. Among the members of the executive committee are Prof. W. G. Sumner of Yale College; Hon. David A. Wells, of Norwich, Conn. ; Charles Francis Adams, jr., of Bos ton, Mass.; Geo. S. Coe, Horace White, Geo Haven Putnam, R. R. Bowker, E. M. Shep ard and R. L. Dugdale, of New York city Franklin Mac Veagh and M. L. Scudder, jr. of Chicago, Ill.; Gen. Bradley T. Johnson,

New Orleans, La.; Geo. Mason, of Galveston, Texas; and Peter Hamilton, of Mobile, The work of the society will be guided by the following declaration of principles: The nation, parties and public men must keep good faith. The right of each citizen to his free voice and vote must be upheld. Officeholders must not control the suffrage. The office should seek the man, and not the man the office. Public service, in business positions, should depend solely on fitness and good behavior. The crimes of bribery and corruption must be reientlessly punished. Local issues should be independent of party. Coins made unlimited legal tender must be of full value as metal in the markets of the world. Sound currency must have a metal basis, and all paper money must have a metal basis, and all paper money must be convertible on demand. Labor has a right to the highest wages it can earn, unhindered by public or private tyranny. Trade has the right to the private tyranny. Trade has the right to the freest scope, unfettered by taxes, except for government expenses. Corporations must be restricted from abuse of privilege. Neither the public money nor the people's land must be used to subsidize private enterprise. A public opinion, wholesome and active, unhampered by machine control, is the true safeguard of possible restrictions. Fraction of the property of the pr

Telegraph wires are not as offensive in London as they are in the large cities in this country, but some peculiar accidents which have lately happened there have stirred the people up to demand that the wires be placed under ground. One of the wires near Blackfriars' Bridge fell, caught an omnibus passenger by the neck, dragged him from his seat and killed him. Another falling wire in Oxford street nearly took off a cabman's head. Aside from such serious consequences, reasons why the wires should be buried in cities are plenty enough.

Postmaster-General Maynard has taken commendable step in regard to rum-selling establishments which will, if he is sustained drive a large number away from the vicinity of the public buildings and grounds in Washington. The law of the District concerning the licensing of rum shops is: "With every application for license there must be present ed the written permission of a majority of the owners of real estate and a majority of the residents keeping house on the side of the square where it is desired to locate such business, and on the side of the square opposite the same; and, if a corner house, with an opening on two streets, h shall have signers on both streets." A LAY OF MODERN ROME.

Hancoccius Superbus
Stood at the western gate,
And marveled that his legions
Tarried abroad so late;
"The third watch scarce was ended
When they left the walls of Rome;
Why linger thus my legions?
Tis time they were at home."
Then spake the angur Danaus,
For wisdom far remowned—
In all Etraria's colleges
Was no such augur found—
"Hark! hear'st thou in the distance
That lond resounding bray?
Amulius Barnummius
Is surely on the way!"

And while he spake, Barnummius
Came spurring to his side,
And, as he stopped, his good mule dropped
Beneath him, gasped, and died.
"Our host," he cried, "is scattered
Like leaves before the wind;
Here come the broken columns.
With the foemen close behind!
Old Billius Englicius
Early forsook the fight,
And fied within his castle
To hoop his barrels tight;

And fied within his castle
To hoop his barrels tight;

Were the last to leave the field;
Mullinius saved his amphora,
Randallius lost his shield!"
Then spake the augur Pansus,

The signal service is a special service and its duties require special study, as do the duties of the engineer or ordinance corps. The subject of practical meteorology is one requiring years of intelligent study, and a proper application of its principles to the local weather conditions of the United States can only be acquired bp long experi ence. This knowledge to-day is only pos-sessed by the officers of the signal corps. Whether she is justly entitled to the appellation of great is doubtful. This remains to be proved. Of her versatility, of course, nothing can at present be said, and in Englishmen of the Renaissance, Edmund this, as her admirers assert, lie her chiefest claims to consideration. In Advienne she is remarkably effective, but she did not touch greatness last night. She was at no time so transformed by the fire of passion or the power of genius as to defy critical judgment. She awakened the liveliest admiration by the perfection of her method, her complete mastery of her art, and her brilliant intel-ligence, but she did not send the blood whirling tumultuously through the veins, until reason is the slave of emotion. It was always possible to trace the means by which the end was reached, and this is equivalent to saying that her efforts were the result of the perfection of mechanism rather than of inspiration. She never, for instance, reached the heights of passion to which Clara Morris is wont to attain, but she gave that famous actress an invaluable lesson, if she would profit by it touching the true sig-nificance and use of dramatic style and finish. If her performance exhibited occasional signs of labor it was never careless, never abrupt, never inharmonious, never coarse. It was moreover, notably free from all exaggera-tion, all undue striving after self-asser-tion and from all effort to improperly subordinate minor parts. The elecution of Mile. Bernhardt is of the highest order, and her voice is rich in tone and wide in range. In every variety of modulation it is completely under control, and the crispness and fluency of its utterance are delightful. have continued through subsequent compilations or revisions of the statutes of the State this law, the opinion adds, in all its provisons shows that the State intended to make the records more complete and to have them result in accurate tabulations for statistical nformation. In the opinion it is further set forth that in 1856 and 1866 there was further egislation casting new duties upon the regisrars requiring the annual report to be made to the State Librarian instead of the Secretary of State. In 1878 the report was to be made to the State Board of Health, and from 1866 o the present time various enactments have been made, all tending to enlarge the field of tatistics and make them more complete, and onuecting with this bureau, i. e. the State Board of Health, the sanitary condition of the people of the State. These facts are summed up, and the nature of the interests the foundation of the well being of the State, following which it is affirmed that all House door." these provisions clearly demonstrate that each register, for the time being, has full control over the whole answer, and that he may add to, deduct from or otherwise conduct the entire record; that all the commands in the statute relate to the past as well was en route for Bridgeport, where he lectured last evening on "Egypt's Land, or Land of to time. It also sets forth that the town has paid bills of previous registrars for recording births that happened before their term of of-fice began, and also for ascertaining and re-cording births which took place prior to their entering upon office. Eurther, it was set forth that the work of Dr. Doherty was done with the cognizance of the Selectmen and of the State Board of Health, and that the charges made are in accordance with the stat-utory fees, this fact the opposing counsel not disputing. A summing up is as follows:

I. That the town of New Haven is deeply concerned in having a complete record of births, marriages and deaths, and that the Selectmen have full authority by virtue of its power to superintend all concerns of the its power to superintend all concerns of the town, to pay all bills for perfecting and revising said records.

II. That the phraseology of all the laws upon the subject, down to and including the present law, clearly contemplates that towns may revise and perfect their records of births, narriages and deaths, and pay the expense

III. That the town, by paying such bills as Dr. Doherty now renders, has practically adopted the construction contended for. IV. That the practice of municipal corporations accords with our views in this matter V. That the work done by Dr. Doherty was done with the knowledge and consent o the Selectmen, and the town is under an in olied promise to pay the bill rendered.

You can print almost anything on it, but the wise and close buyer is not deceived by claptrap of this sort. They know that Frank talks reason only, discourses sound logic, and therefore they read his advertisement with care, and go and buy his goods.

For the last 4 years Frank has made it a point to purchase all his goods for cash, and you can hardly have an idea what an enormous advantage this gives him over any of his competitors; in fact, he buys from 15 to 25 per cent. cheaper than most anybody else. Besides, he occupies his own store in Frank's Building and has no rent to pay, while his neighbors are saddled with store rents all the way from $1,500, to $8,000. Frank can afford to sell cheap.

until the sixth day no sail was seen. On the fifth day Leary became delirious from drinking salt water, and was in an utterly exhausted condition. McDonald, however, retained his senses throughout the exposure and horror of the situation, which were beyond description. On the sixth day two more sails were seen, but both were standing in an opposite direction and both bearing away from the apparently doomed men. On the seventh day they were seen by the bark Landro, Captain Goudalih, who bore down and took them on board and cared for them. Both men were in a helpless, semi-conscious state when picked up. They were taken into Boston and cared for by the British Consul. McDonald and Leary are from New York. No others of the crew are known to be saved. Yesterday morning the case of John H Brady, charged with illegal voting in the Seventh ward, was heard before United forfeited his political rights. The defense raised the point that the conviction was before the man became of age, and hence rights that he had not yet obtained could not be affected. After arguments by Assistant District Attorney Hart for the government, and C. T. Driscoll for the accused, Commissioner Platt stated that as the question was raised whether a person convicted of theft when a minor could be disfranchised, it would be well for the defense to show the it would be well for the defense to show the age of the accused. Brady was then sworn and gave his age as twenty-one on July 26, 1880, and his birth place as New Haven. Attorney Hart appreciated the point raised by the defense, which he said was a strong one and also one he had carefully considered. He had, he frankly admitted, grave doubts about the matter so far as the case of a minor was concerned. Commissioner Platt thought perhaps it would be better under the circumstances to continue the case. Mr. Hart raised stances to continue the case. Mr. Hart raised no objection and said that it was plainly evident that Brady, under the circumstances, was entitled to every consideration from the court, whether he was guilty or not. He also disclaimed any desire to deal severely with the accused. The case was then continued for one week and Brady allowed to depart on
