All who need any counsel or treatment are invited to call. The Doctor has the gift to describe every pain and secret disease at sight, and with his vegetable below the second of diseases in a short time. The Doctor has had thirty years' experience as a healer and physician, as thousands can testify to the many satonishing cures he has performed. He makes speedy and rapid cures in nearly every case he undertakes. All curable cases must yield to his mode of treatment. The success of the Doctor astonishes the most distinguished physicians. He cures when all other treatments fail, and the patient is restored to perfect health. The Doctor was born with natural healing and curative power. His magnetic passes give power and strength to the diseased organs, and with the immense numbers that flock to his rooms, scarcely one goes away who does not receive benefit. His prices for treatment and medicine are so reasonable that rich and poor alike can be restored to health. FOR SALE.

EDITED AND PUBLISHED BY CARRINGTON & CO.,

Monday Morning, Jan. 17, 1881.

Not long ago we called attention to decions rendered by the Massachusetts Supreme Court, the New York Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of the United States, which appeared to settle that railroad companies on whose lines drawing room and leeping cars belonging to other companies re used are responsible for damages received by passengers in such cars, and that any ntract which a railroad company may have ade with Pullman or Wagner to co-operate in the service is a private matter with which the passenger has no concern.

passengers on the Fitchburg, railroad com-plained that, having paid for seats in a Wag-ner car through to Boston, they were obliged to leave the car at Fitchburg it having been ordered West, and ride in an ordinary car to their destination. The commissioners rule that the Fitchburg Railroad Company adver-tised sleeping cars running through to Boston without extra charge, and although the counsel for the railroad company doubted whether the board had any jurisdiction to were not done by the company, but by a for-eign corporation not a railroad company. the ners reply that the board has 'general supervision of railroads" in the State, and is bound to learn "the manner in which they are operated with reference to the security and accommodation of the public." And when any change in the mode of operating seems expedient to promote their urity, convenience or accommodation, it is the duty of the commissioners to inform the corporation thereof. "Such jurisdiction," say the commissioners, "cannot be evaded by transferring the operation of the road, or any part thereof, to a foreign corporation. No corporation operating a road has either the right or the power to part with the control of the rolling stock used thereon so that the public cannot be secured in its just rights. Nor should any railroad company deprive itself of power to fulfill the promises made by its advertisements. The managers of the Fitchburg railroad declare that the parties in charge of the train is bound to obey any order of its kind that we know of. It is full, accuwhich the conductor of a Wagner car may choose to give as to the disposition of that thing about New Haven can find much entercar. If this were so, the board would feel bound to censure the contract, which abdica- have no special interest in the city can read ted the just and necessary powers of a cor it with profit and interest, for it deals with poration operating a Massachusetts railroad, and gave up the authority necessary to protect the public. But no such contract appears to have been made. The managers of the Fitchburg railroad have mistaken their obligations to the sleeping car company, and the board is confident that, upon reflection, they will agree with us on this point. The contract which the companies were performing ought not to have been broken merely because its performance would have made it impossible to keep another contract. The company has no right to commit a wrong in order to save itself from loss, or to save other.

Important matters and its style is pleasing.

As the author says, the fullness of the records ords, both of the town and of the colony of New Haven, makes it possible to present the first planters as, in large measure, the narrators of their own history. Wisely preferring that they should speak for themselves, when the dying and destitute immigrants literally crawled on hands and knees over the Sierra trying to reach the settlements, one of these men drove all his cattle up to the mountains, butchered them, and fed the starving. He had his Mexicans pack all the mules with flour, which at that time cost almost its weight in gold, and push on night and allowed every person to appear in his own peculiar and usually reckless orthography.

We can perhaps give no clearer or more order to save itself from loss, or to save others from loss, or to save others from inconvenience. If the case were that of one seat engaged and occupied in a regularly advertised express train from point to point, no ailroad man would think of turning out the single occupant and sending the car to another point, because sixty men wished to go here and could not go without this car. from their Native Land to New Eng-The vested rights of the one would not be set land: The Voyage of the Hector; side to accommodate the many. s no such thing as ozone or malaria. Professor Remsen should come to New Haven, where there is great lack of the former and an abundance of the latter.

Boston has just built the largest school uilding in the world for the bigh and Latin schools. It cost nearly a million dollars, and there is not a cloak or coat room in the whole building. This is charged upon the city council, and the committee of that body charge it back on Mr. Philbrick, late super-graph company which will work for the terests of the dear public. Very likely here will be another, but that the public will get much good out of it remains to be seen. The other companies which the Western Union has absorbed were all started in a very benevolent spirit.

One of the needs of fallen and unmarried nan is a place where he can have that stitch in time which saves nine taken, buttons sewed on, stockings darned, and rents in his parments repaired. This need has been perceived by the Young Women's Christian Associstion of Boston, which has opened what it calls a repairing department. The work is to be done under careful supervision, and young women are to be taught the art of skillful epairing, which is a very important part of man's education. The idea is a good ne. We believe that right here in New Haven if some woman who finds difficulty in making a living would open in some central place "a repairing department" and do the work well, promptly and at moderate rates she would make it pay.

The Missouri Court of Appeals, in the case of Cole vs. Cole, rules that: "In an action for divorce, the fact that the plaintiff resided in this State for twelve months next sided in this State for twelve months next preceding the commencement of the action, unless the offence or injury complained of was committed in this State, or while one or which to vow dat he will do better, won't be People's Sarvant,

The Brooklyn Union-Argus calls atention to the fact that as yet the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which has already driven children from the Academy stage for dancing, has not made a move to stop an exhibition which is always "demoralizing" when it is participated in by children who are paid for their service. The Union-Argus also says: "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children will not move in this matter. In a recent address in Brooklyn Bishop Tuttle of Utah made some vigorous and in teresting remarks. He said that the Episcopal Church was making itself felt in Salt Lake City. He was sorry to say that the leaders of the Mormons were Americans. Two thousand converts to Mormonism arrived at Salt Lake City every year from Europe. They came mostly from England, Scotland and Wales and Sweden and Denmark. About two hundred Mormon missionaries were sent out from year to year from Salt Lake City. They had two hundred bishops, and next to the Jesuits their organization was the most complete. It was thought that after the death of Brigham Young Mormonism would decay, but it had not shown any signs of decay. They had a perpetual emigration fund and through this fund converts in Europe were brought over. The first thing these converts did after getting to Salt Lake City was to repay the money advanced to them to come over the sea. The fund was consequently always kept up. With the two hundred missionaries abroad and the two hundred missionaries abroad and the prophet the Episcopal Church could only make itself weakly felt. But it was doing good work. It was educating seven hundred children and two or three hundred of these came out of Mor. organization was the most complete. It was or three hundred of these came out of Mormon homes. It was all the time making quiet inroads on the Mormon ranks, and they were all the time doing what they could to wipe this stain off the American escutcheon.

From the Missouri Republican.]

It was in the early day when the cultured and experienced statesmen thought it incumbent to guide the backwoods president. Senator Sumner called one day to furnish his share of the advice. He talled long, learnedly and, as usual, rather dictatorially. Lincoln heard him through, smiling occasionally, but making no remark. But when the stream of senatorial eloquence finally stopped he said, to the utter amazement of his distinguished guest: "Stand up, Sumner and let us measure backs." Sumner stood up with all the reluctance of offended dignity, and the two backs were brought in contact. "Ah," said Lincoln, when the measuring was ended, "my back is a good deal longer. The in terview, as might be supposed, was speedily terminated; and as the door closed upon the tall form Lincoln remarked, as if soliloquizing to a friend present: "Sumner's a smart man, a mighty smart man. What an education he's got. I wish I had such a one. Sumner ought to be a king of Prussia; the place would just suit him.

This was about the year 1832-1833. My acquaintance was through a brother five years older than myself, who sketched from ensture, a rare accomplishment in those days. He taught me in his sketching tours to derive joy from nature, as shown in the beautiful unsurpassed scenery, the woods, the waters, and the picturesque hills and mountains that lie in and around my native town of New Haven.

My brother's tastes led him to cultivate Mr. Jocelyn, and he took me to his studio, in the marble block on Chapel street, where I learned to look upon the painter with fond and admiring eyes.

Mr. Jocelyn was then the handsomest mar I had ever seen, and of his especial type (the blonde) I now think the handsome His figure was rather short, but in perfect symmetry, with a finely-shaped, well-poised head and well-chiseled features, mild blue eyes and a complexion like a peach. In a few with a stranger standing by him. In a new moments I recognized in the former Mr. Jocelyn, whom I had not seen in many years. He was much changed. Still something of the old look was there, the peculiar expression that makes each look different from his felself on "the human face divine." "How do you do, Mr. Jocelyn?" I said. He thereupon looked up with a puzzled air, gazed for a moment, and then rejoined, "I do not remember you, sir." This rather pleased me, for I like sometimes to be forgotten, and so, without gratifying his curiosity, I thus went on: "Mr. J., I remember you as a young man more than forty years ago. You were very handsome then, lithe, graceful figure, with a brilliant complexion and mild blue eyes. One incident I especially remember. When in London I purchased some apples of an old crone of a woman at a street corner I had not money enough to pay her into a copper; but without a word I dropped all I had into her hand. She counted the apples and counted the coppers, and then on looking up into my face, she broke into a smile, ing up into my face, she broke into a smile, as she exclaimed, "Take them young man, take them because you are so handsome!" This tribute to youthful manly beauty we thought at the time one of the prettiest things we ever heard. And we were glad to hear it fresh from the lips of our venerable friend. Gentlemen's and Children's! IMPROVED FILTE

The following extract is from Path. Bit. Jones Bolton, Mann.:

"The importance of having the suier we take into our system thoroughly pure cannot be overestimated. We believe it to be true that all epidemics, and a large analority of sporadic diseases, may be traced to impure water as their origin. The individual who refuses to avail himself of the means of obtaining ours water when placed within his reach has no one oblame but himself. The Stevens Filter removes every particle of vegetable, earthly or other impurit making the most turbid water as clear as crysta and the most stagnant, vegetable-impregnated as pure as the rain from heaven."

We have the exclusive agency for these Filters, and ask the attention of our cusmers to the best Filter made.

uspend the rules will be in order in the House of Representatives after the morning our. Consequently the further consideration of the funding bill will have to be postponed until Tuesday, unless the members shall agree to waive the right to move to suspend the rules, which is not very likely. It s not thought that it will take longer than one day more to dispose of the funding bill, for all the sections have been disposed of exept the fifth, for which Mr. Carlisle offered During the last few days P. S. Cranz, D. Mahis substitute on Saturday. This substitute his substitute on Saturday. This substitute loney and G. Whitman, of the Erie railway, is intended in part to take the place of the have been bantering each other into various umendment offered by Mr. Sanford and deeds of daring. Yesterday afternoon the adopted a few days ago. It is held that if Mr. Sanford's proposition should be incornigh foothardy. It was no less than to place orated in the law finally, it will almost drain the Treasury of coin. When the bill is reported to the House it is not at all unlikely log lies in the centre of the rapids, and has that the action of the Committee of the been there for the last four years. During Whole will be reversed in many particulars; that time no one has ever been within reachin fact, there are those who believe that the bill will be defeated entirely. There can be brilliant idea of placing a large sign on the no vote by yeas and nays in the House Com- log advertising the railroad in whose employ mittee of the Whole, but the roll will most they are. About two o'clock they set out on suredly be called on the bill and all the the ice. After much effort, they reached nents in the House. The Republicans their destination. Here a sign four feet by will vote almost solidly against the bill, and twelve feet was securely spiked to the log advising readers to "Go East via Eric emocrats who do not believe that a three Railway." While the men were bus per cent bond can be floated. The Green-backers will also all vote against the bill on the ground that no funding bill is necessary. They gave notice all through the debate that they would vote for the lowest rate and then vote against the whole thing, so, although the bill has been nearly completed, it still has pretty hard road to travel before it can Committee on the Whole was very nearly completed yesterday. There is very little doubt entertained that when the bill comes completed yesterday. There is very little doubt entertained that when the bill comes up again on Tuesday the Carlisle amendment requiring national banks to substitute 3 per cent. bonds for the fives and sixes now held by them as security for circulation, and compelling the government repositories to use the 3 per cents, as security for deposits will be adopted. Then an amendment abolishing the tax upon the national bank circulation, and compelling the government repositories to use the 3 per cents, as security for deposits will be adopted. Compelling the government requiring national banks to substitute 3 per cent, bonds for the floating but the sign, they started on t the tax upon the national bank circulation, capital and deposits will be offered. The greater part of Tuesday will be occupied in Committee of the Whole. The changes which will be made in the bill in the House while while be made in the bill in the House will be chiefly formal ones. It is now generally believed that the Senste will amend the House bill. Day by day the conviction grows stronger that if 3 per cent. bonds are to be floated the time in which it is to mature must be extended for a considerable longer period than ten years. If a short time bond is crre-ated it is believed that the rate of interest ished. The Democrats are very earnest in plished. The Democrats are very earnest in favor of 3 per cent. and the majority for that rate in the Committee of the Whole was so large that it will be difficult to secure the adoption of a higher rate. In extending the time of the bonds there is a great opportunity for agreement between the two Houses.

The special committee of the House upon he interoceanic canal held a meeting yesteray to consider the bill which provides for incorporation of the Maritime Canal combadly shattered. Two street lamps were ex-tinguished by the concussion and a man who was passing at the time was thrown down. The damage to the McCreery building is $10,000. Their stock was slightly damaged. The loss on other buildings will amount to $1,000. The cause of the explosion at pres-ent is surrounded in mystery, both the engi-neer and firsymap being about the incorporation of the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua. Mr. S. S. Phelps, representing that company, appeared before the committee and made a statement in support of the proposition. He questioned the accuracy of the report made by Mr. Nimmo, chief of the bureau of statistics of the Treasury department, some months ago as to the tonnage that would probably pass through an interoceanic canal, and showed the errors made by Mr. Nimmo in his calculations, and that the tonnage would at least be 3,500,000 tons. Assuming that 3,000,000 tons would pass through the canal annually, that traffic would produce, with a toll of $2.50 a ton, $7,500,000 a year, or a net gain of $6,000,000, equivalent to six per cent on $100,000,000. Mr. Phelps was engaged in responding to members of the committee on various points of the bill when the hour of adjournment came, and the committee

The speaker then referred to the terms Sheol, Hades, Gehenna and other terms used in the Bible in connection with the word hell.

He said there were numerous mistranslation in the Bible and there was not a Biblica cattle, chained to their stalls. When he reached the barnyard the heat was so great he could hardly approach the stables. He says ha did all he could to open the doors, but the fire had gained such rapid headway that he was too late. Through the window he could see the poor brutes being roasted alive. The loss is one of the saddest blows to the owners of stock ever received in this State, as many of the animals were very valuable. ment to show that "Sheol" and hell were synonymous terms and that hell literally meant the grave. Continuing he said: We leave from the scriptures that it is not necessary to go into the future world to find the lowest hell. In many places hell signifies the state of the dead. If Sheol signifies a place of endless misery, then the good old Jacob certainly expected to go there.

In closing the speaker said that are con-sidering the twenty-three declarations in the Old Testament, he would on next Sunday evening further consider the subject of Sheol. He said he had made these quotations to show that none of these referred to future state. When he reached the New Testament he would take up the passages in order as re-ferred to by Rev. Dr. Stifler and answer him in detail. He believed the day had gone by when any considerable portion of the com-munity could be led to believe in an endless hell. He said that if any intelligent Yankee should be sent to hell he would go to work and dig down through the bottom and set to work to transfer brimstone to make lucifer work to transfer brimstone to make lucifer matches. He urged his audience to consider the passages that he had quoted and preserve their souls in peace until they met again. Found Dead in a Barn.

Superior Court-Civil Side-Judge Culver

BENJAMIN NOYES' PROTEST. In the matter of the New Haven Life In Mr. Noyes appeared in court and availed himself of the first opportunity to be heard before the Superior Court (Judge Culver presiding) since the beginning of these insurance suits. After thanking the court he stated that he had a communication to make, and, being permitted, he read in substance the following

The undersigned, formerly president of the American National Life and Trust company, and one of the defendants in this suit, repectfully protests to this honorable court gainst said proceedings for the following

1st. That said company had parted with all s assets as a consideration for the reinsuring nd assuming of all its liabilities by another company two years or thereabouts before said suit was brought, as would have been shown to said court when said suit was prought if the undersigned had not been kidaspped and detained in another State. 2d. That said reinsurances and transfer were made on the 22d day of December, 1875, and were communicated to the Secretary of State of the State of Connecticut, as the statute law required, as follows : statute law required, as follows:

To the Honorable the Secretary of State:

Notice is hereby given under the provisions of the Statute Laws, that the American National Life and Trust company has consolidated with the National Capital Insurance company, of Washington, D. C., and that said consolidation involved the transfer of all the assets to, and the assuming of all liabilities by, said National Capital Insurance company, on the 22d day of December, 1875.

Dated at New Haven, Dec. 25th, 1875.

B. Norres,

B. Noves,
President Nat'l Life and Trust Co. That the subsequent president of said ompany and the secretary reported, in lieu of a formal statement, to the Insurance Commissioner the following:

REPORT FOR DECEMBER 31, 1875. No new risks taken during the last year; that in the month of December all the running pelicies were re-insured by the National Capital Insurance company, of Washington, leaving assets in the hands of this company amounting to $40,933.12 to liquidate its remaining liabilities. The liabilities are for claims, not yet all allowed, $48,885.34.

B. F. LYON, Secretary, JOHN B. ROMERTSON, President.

That said Commissioner of Insurance in-corporated the aforesaid report in his report to the Legislature for the year 1875, on page 180, and stated also on the same page that it was simultaneously announced in Washington and New Haven that said transfor had been made, and upon page 181 of his said annual report, he informed the Leg-islature that the Washington company, were then engaged in exchanging their policies for the policies of the American Mutual, the the policies of the American Mutual, the American National Life and Trust and the National Life Insurance Co. of New York, and Legislature accepted of said commissioner's report, and ordered it to be printed for the information of all men.

That thereafter said American National Life and Trust company disappeared from the insurance companies of this state, and has never since reappeared, and said Insurance Commissioner ceased at the close of the year 1875 to exercise, or to claim to exercise, any supervision over its affairs. the year 1875 to exercise, or to claim to ex-ercise, any supervision over its affairs.

3rd. That the respective policy holders in succession, as their premiums became due, ratified said transaction and transfer, by ceasing to pay said New Haven Company and paying their premiums to said Washington company, and receiving renewal receipts or new policies therefor.

That said ratifications were continuedly repeated as often as said premiums became due, for a period of two years, and all losses during said period which occurred after the 22d day of Deer receiver can bring to a settlement the combined attairs of the companies they now undertake to represent, and enormous waste of money is going on—to the advantage only of himself and associates.

That the appointment of any receiver was a mistake—for want of proper information to said court—that said companies had been handed down to and were one company, and that said New Haven companies had thereby gone out of existence.

cone out of existence. That under present proceedings policy holders are not likely to receive anything—and that said proceedings and expenses have thus far been barren of benefits to policy holders and will accomplish 5th. That the Insurance Commissioner of this State also made a mistake in joining ac-tion with one Anna Renaldo, of New York, as a judgment creditor when the policy held by said Renaldo was an insurance by the Nation al Life Insurance company of New York, which said company has still $140,000 or thereabouts in cash in the State of New York, and said claim should be demanded of that fund, and not of the policy holders' funds of either of said New Haven companies.

That if the American Mutual Life Insu-That if the American Mutual Life Insurance company was in fact turned over and into the American National Life and Trust company, then said old company passed out of existence, and had neither assets nor liabilities to be administered upon, and is incapable of being administered upon.

That if the subsequent contract of reinsurance and transfer of the National Life Insurance company of New York, to the American National Life and Trust company of New Haven, made under the sanction and approval of the Supreme Court of New York, and subsequently ratified by the policy holders of said company was valid; then said New Haven company was valid; then said New York company, including the $140,000 in cash which, though ordered by said Supreme Court, to be transferred to said New Haven company, has never been done.

That if the subsequent contract and transfer or consolidation of the said New Baven fer or consolidation of the said New Baven company with the National Capitol Life Insurance company of Washington, as made by and between said two companies, and thereafter ratified by the policy holders, is, or was, a valid contract, then all of the combined assets and liabilities of the aforesaid three companies became the assets and liabilities of said Washington company, which assets and income were sufficient for a full maintenance. But if said contracts and payments are not, or were not, valid, then the Superior Court of New York made the first mistake and not said New Haven companies, and thereby each or were not, valid, then the Superior Court of New York made the first mistake and not said New Haven companies and thereby each of said companies would be required to be set back as they were before and to surrender moneys already paid out, and be entitled to the return of policies exchanged in good faith, and would not be liable for losses which had intervened, all of which are impossibilities and cannot be done.

6th. That so far as the directors of said New Haven and said Washington company are concerned, they are all gentlemen of the highest respectability and would gladly cooperate with the courts to marshal under one jurisdiction and company, as they believe in law now is done, all of the combined assets of the several companies and all of their liabilities, to the end that all of the policy holders may be protected in their rights, ninety per cent. of whom are residents of other States.

7th. That the undersigned prays this Honorable Court to enquire into the matters herein complained of and protested against, and if found to be true to issue such orders and decrees as chall put an end to the scandalous suits and allegations now going on and prevent the waste of policy holders' assets and maintain the honor and dignity of the State.

BENTAMIN NOYES,

Attorney for Himself.

The court received the protest, and the taking of the Noyes testimony was proceeded with, as has already been briefly reported. A Romance of British High Life.

[From the Torono (Ontario) Globe.] ger. He told his love, said he was traveling integrated in the state of the state o apsed he received a large budget of letters, and told his wife that he must at once return to England, and must go alone. He took his departure, and the gossips had another glorious opportunity to make a confiding woman wretched. To all but herself it was a dear case of descriptor. The wife heavy

HEALTH IS WEALTH: woman wretched. To all but herself it was a clear case of desertion. The wife became a mother, and for two years lived on in silence and hope. By the end of that time a letter was received by the Stratford beauty from her husband directing her to go at once to New York with her child, taking nothing with her but the clothes she wore, and embark in a ship for home in England. On her arrival in New York she found a vessel splendidly furnished with every convenience and luxury for her comfort, and two servants ready to obey every wish that she might express. The ship duly arrived in England, and the Stratford girl became mistress of a mansion, and, as the wife of a baronet, was saluted by the aristocracy as Endy Gamuel Stirling. On the death of her husband, many years ago, the Stratford boy succeeded to the title and wealth of his father; and in the last edition of "Peerage and Baronetage" he is spoken of as the issue of "Miss Folsom, of Stratford, North America."

Beware of Alcoholic Bitters. Thousands have been ruined for life b Thousands have been ruined for life by drinking popular nostrums, the principal ingredients of which was alcohol. Such "bitters" are deceptive in their effects; they cause intoxication and temporary relief, while they foster the drunkard's appetite. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" does not heat and inflame the blood; it cools and purifies it. Better than this, even, it has cured many a raving appetite for drink. It will do you good, not evil, all the days of your life. All druggists sell it. Dr. David Kennedy, Proprietor, Rondout, N. Y. jal4 12td&w 4thp
