JOHN B. CARRINGTON.

Friday Morning, July 1, 1881. BAD SHEPHERD COWLEY'S CASE. A committee of the Protestant Episcopal een investigating the case of the Rev. Edward Cowley, better known as "Shepherd" Cowley. Cowley is the man who, after a of an alleged charitable organization in New York city known as "the Shepherd's Fold," vas convicted by a jury of cruelty to one of the inmates, little Louis Victor, and served a term in the penitentiary. Throughout his trial and term of imprisonment Cowley re-Protestant Episcopal Church in good and regular standing, and to the committee appointed by Bishop Potter was given the duty

f ascertaining, after Cowley's release whether or not there was anything in his conduct which would justify his arraign-ment before an ecclesiastical tribunal of that branch of the church of which he was one of the officers. This committee has, it seems, decided that there is no ground for any Rev. Dr. J. H. Rylance of St. Mark's church, New York city, was one of the committee, and he is reported as saying: "There were only two points which could be made to cover the Rev. Mr. Cowley's case. One line of inquiry was whether he had commit ted immoral acts, and the other was whether he had been guilty of criminal acts. The question was whether his case should be presented to the Bishop, as calling for an eccle siastical trial. The committee came to the conclusion that on neither of these points did the evidence call for a trial. The committee did, however, blame the Rev. Mr. Cowley for not taking prompt and energetic action in the case of little Louis Victor. When the boy fell sick the Rev. Mr. Cowley should, the committee say, have taken him to a physician. But they do not censure him for wilful neglect." Dr. Rylance is also reported as saying that the Bishop has nothing to stand on in ordering a trial, and that "all fair-minded men can but admit that the public were over hasty in wholesale condemnation of the Rev. Mr. Cowley when he wa tried in a secular court." But, as the New York Times points out, "the public did not try, condemn and sentence Cowley. The proceedings in his case were strictly judicial. The legal evidence was overwhelming. Cowand Steam Laundry. ley had the benefit of accomplished counsel, and he received the moral support of those clerical associates who have more recently acquitted him of having committed any immoral or criminal acts in his management of the so-called Shepherd's Fold. A rather notable student finished his cours at the Yale Law School this week, graduating third in his class. This was the Hon. Peter Doyle, ex-Secretary of State of Wisconsin. Mr. Doyle is now forty-five years old, and has been a successful lawyer and politician in Wisconsin. Being conscious of some defects in his legal education he boldly and wisely determined to remedy them at an age when most men would not feel like "going to school." He has worked hard while here, and will doubtless find his reward for it in the future. He has been popular with students and professors, and one, at least, of Recent cable dispatches have mentioned the complete success of the preliminary borings for a tunnel under the English Channel, indicating that the work might be completed within five years. A fuller report of the proceedings at the recent meeting of the Southeastern Railway Company, in London, shows that a gallery seven feet in diameter has already been driven from the shaft near Abbots' Cliff for half a mile toward France, and an agreement has been made to push forward a similar headway under the sea for a mile a similar headway under the sea for a mile on each side of the Channel. At the present rate of progress this will probably be done within the next six months, and then it is expected that the further nine miles on each side will be undertaken at once. The bill recently introduced in the New York Legislature for the protection of skunks was not a joke. The rural legislator who introduced the bill said that a large grub had recently made its appearance and was ruining the hop vines. The skunk was the natural enemy of the grub. They came out of their holes at night and went into the hop hurch, appointed by Bishop Potter, have fields, where they ate the grubs by the millions. The hop growers estimated every skunk at the value of fifty dollars, and were naturally desirous that they should be prolong course of suspicious conduct at the head tected. Therefore it was asked by the bill that there should be a penalty of fifty dollars for every skunk killed or every pelt exposed for sale. It would naturally be supposed that the skunks would be able to protect themselves, and that so far from being hunted they would be carefully avoided. Catholic Graduates of Yale. The annual meeting at our university ha come and gone. We as an alumnus were struck with the presence and remarks of the gentleman who represented the class of '61, the Rev. Mr. Frisbie, S. J., of New York the Rev. Mr. Frisbie, S. J., of New York city. To us it seemed a step towards the much-to-be desired unification of the efforts of Protestant and Catholic scientists against modern infidelity. In this materialistic age the appearance of a Jesuit at Yale, his almamater, has, among scientific men at least, an evident significance; surely with one acquainted with the teaching of its eminent

Chemistry and Physics and Anthropology, Chemistry and Physics and Anthropology, as such, are the same for all, whether expounded by Huxley or Mivart, Darwin or De Quatrofages, but the philosophy of these teachers is vastly different. We have in the past of Yale Silliman and Olmsted; at present Dana, Wright, Silliman, Sanford and White, men eminent in the natural and physical sciences, but who, unlike Tyndall and Huxley in England and Helmington. holtz and Haeckel in Germany, did not and do not cross the boundary line and sever the physical from the metaphysical; who held and do hold that thought is not me lecular action; that it can never be studied with the microscope and balance; but that in man there is an Ego —an entity apart from matter that thinks and feels and acts. The appearance of Father Frisbie was notable, as he is a member of an order at all times the most learned in the Catholic Church, and which alone, if we ex-Catholic Church, and which alone, if we except a few laymen like Hall of Albany and O'Leary of New York, in conjunction with the professors of this and a few other Protestant universities, can save this country from the curse of materialism and its legitimate consequences—the denial of a personal God, of all moral obligations and the overthrowal of all civil order. When the young medical or scientific student, after reading the works of Haeckel and of others less noted, begins to speak of plastidulic souls and conscious-molecules, it is time for the metaphysicians, both Protestant and Catholic, to arise and speak in unison. Here's Tom Jones. He's a member of Congress and chairman of the committee. He tells his messenger or his clerk to have "that desk" sent to his house; he has so much writing to do at night that he must have it. Do you think that desk gets back to the capitol when that man leaves Congress? Not much. Then Dick Roe is a chief clerk somewhere. A handsome droplight worth $20 or $30, perhaps, is in his office. He says to his messenger: "Henry, take that drop-light to my house. I have got to use it for a week or two, and then you can fetch it back." Does it ever get back though? Hardly. Then a Congressman may have in his committee room a $100 clock. At the close of the session he orders the At the close of the session he orders the clock sent to his house, "for fear somebody may steal it during the recess." Does that clock ever tick in that committee room again? Not a tick. Another way. Jack Doe is the head of a department. He commands unlimited servants, called messengers. He tells a handsome colored man to go to his house and stay for a day or two, until he can find a servant. Do you suprose that officer ever really finds a suitable man? Never. There is a cabinet maker in nearly every department. How easy it is for the cabinet member to tell the cabinet maker that he wants a certain thing made. "Won't you please do it (I can't find anybody else who can suit me), and keep the account, and I will pay for the lumber, for your time, etc."

'Well, he and my wife are talking over the fence about half the time and throwing kisses at each other the other half. I don't care to raise a row over this thing, but I'd kinder like to stop 'em from runnin' away."

"Well, you must take your own way to frustrate it, unless you go to the police justice. Be careful, however. Anger or jealousy may get you into trouble."

"Oh, I'll be careful," was the calm assurance, as the citizen went his way, to be heard of no more until yesterday evening. Then he called a passing patrolman into his house to ask further advice.

"You see, they had it all planned to elope," he explained.

"But I got 'em."
"How?" "How?"

He took the lamp and led the way to the woodshed. The neighbor, dressed in his Sunday suit, was tied up in one corner, and the recreant wife occupied an empty drygoods box in the right at " c'clock " said the goods box in the other.

"Got 'em last night at 9 o'clock," said the husband, "and I've put in the whole day telling 'em what I think of such business. Guess I'd better let 'em off now, hadn't I?"

The officer thought so, and the neighbor was released, led to the door, and the hus-

"Well, didn't I git 'em?" chuckled the husband, in proud delight. "I may look like a spring chicken, but I'm no fool, and don't you forget it!" The Zulu King in Prison.

'De oude molen," or the old mill, which is at present the prison of the ex-king of the Zulus, is a two-storied farm house, some four miles from Cape Town. The mill has disappeared, but the house is in good repair, well built and with large airy rooms. It would be hard to find a finer view. In the matter of scenery and accommodation, the carties of scenery and accommodation the captive has little to complain of. Visitors to Citi-wayo must be furnished with an order from the office of the secretary for foreign affairs is stretch in the unforcemen bod across the class of the alumni—himself a scientist of the such ing of scenery and accommodation the capture of the alumni—himself a scientist of the salitite to complain of, visitors to Citi-wayo must be furnished with an order from man and Dana unitie with Frisbie against the common enemy infidelity; old feuds are forgotten, the living present being all important; all graduates of old Yale, all believes and in his revelation to man; in Christ; and the office of the screak as a kind of zoological specimen. Among the scientist of the supermatural, were salive to these tends of the supermatural, were salive to the salive to these tends of the supermatural, were salive to the supermatural, were salive to the supermatural, were sal Citiwayo to the life.

Conversation is carried on through the medium of an interpreter. Citiwayo remarks that he is too old "to learn English;" but adds, "My son shall do so." He liked the young princes much; "they were fine boys, and he could see that they were of royal blood. He liked 'de onde molen;" but what the good of liking anything, he was dead ters read out to him daily; and on learning the death of General Colley, distated entirely from his own idea a letter of condolence to the governor of the colony. Before leaving "de oude molen" the visitor will be introal director of the municipal police, formed a guard around him to protect him from cl. ri. cal importunities. This guard was relieved at intervals agreed on by the disciples. Littre unexpectedly recovered, and when he fell ill again, sisters of charity were called in to attend and positivists were kept out. One of the nuns was a woman of talent, education and very sweet manners. Littre conceived for her an affectionate veneration, and felt when she left the house as if the sunshine went along with her. He was naturally disposed to venerate women. The few whom he had in his long life associated with were of pure life and elevated sentiment, and his mother, of whom he constantly spoke in his latter days, was one of the heroines in the siege of Lyons in the revolution. It was remarked that after the sisters of charity won his affectionate gratitude and esteem, his articles in the Positicist Review became more and more conservative and indulgent toward the Catholic party. Another influence was also at work. It was that of the learned the Abbe Huvelin, of St. Augustine's. This juriest has improved on hymeself the mission of knob-kerrie?" inquired one young visitor, a tall fellow of some six foot three. "Well," said Citiwayo, "if I can't do that I can do nothing;" and picking up a stick, in a few rapid passes he disarmed his inquiring friend; then, with a hearty grasp of the hand, burst into a shout of laughter. Literature, the great consolation of more civirature, the great consolation of more civi-lized captives, is literally a sealed book to Citiwayo. He cannot compose philosophic reflections, like the illustrious prisoner of Ham; nor write his memoirs and reflection ttam; nor write his memoirs and reflections, like his greater uncle; nor can he even, like his own bitterest opponents, solace an enforced leisure by writing justificatory articles for the Nineteenth Century. There is no resource beyond a dismal brooding over his misfortunes and the vain hope of a possible restoration.

When he saw me sit down he came down from a tree and lit on the post of the veranda, not ten feet from me, held on there and tapped with his bill, occasionally turning his bright eye to me as if to ask if I heard him. Day after day for a week he was there, having no fear of man, and apparently enjoying company. The stump of an old black burch, a few feet from the door step, was perforated by him with hundreds of holes, and when we tilled some of the holes with bread he would come down and pick it out. It was the first nstance I have known of a tame wood

A week slipped along very pleasantly. During this time several parties of people arrived and went into camp on the bank of one or another of the ponds. It is a custom of many north country farmers with their families to go once a year or oftener on a fishing expedition. They bring provisions and sometimes tents, and have a jolly time in the ing expedition. They bring provisions and sometimes tents, and have a jolly time in the woods. Before I came away there was quite a population of men, women and children around Little Diamond, and in the evening the camp fires blazing across the water made a picturesque scene. The weather continued cold. A snow squall on the morning of the 16th of June made us think there was some mistake in the procession of the season and mistake in the procession of the season, and the mistake seems confirmed as I am writing this on the 21st, the longest day of the year. For to-day has been bitter cold here, and we have had a succession of heavy falls of rain and ice, not hall, but genuine frozen drops of water, sharp sleet. I have drawn my table and chair close up to the blazing fire and the sensation of the evening is more like November or December than June.

A Man No One Envies. BERLIN, June 5 .- A Russian friend sends me the following striking picture of the state "The Emperor still broods in sullen retire ter, and to have been obliged to leave him for a time, while, on the other hand, it is stated that the Count has injured his leg and is obliged to keep himself quiet. It has not yet transpired which story is the yet transpired which story is the true one. The contradiction of the first reports as to the way in which the village of Gatchina was protected, a contradiction drawn up by Count Voronizoff-Dachkoff himself, does not apply to the vicinity of the palace, which is strictly guarded and watched. A short time ago two of the young Grank Dukes, cousins of the Emperor, were convend in the grounds by a Cossack who stopped in the grounds by a Cossack, who threatened to spear them if they advanced. A friend, who has occasion to visit the castle to see an official, tells me that as soon as he left the railway station and took the direct the eyes of the police were following him, the bridge over the castle moat that he was actually stopped. Here the police officials were all officers. They ascertained his business and escorted him to the service gate of the palace, the only one which is allowed to be approached. He at once found himself in the police office, surrounded by officers. His passport was taken and his description, the time of day, and business, were all duly noted in a book, which the chief of police is supposed to examine every day. An officer was then sent to inform the official inquired for, while my friend was kept by the police. On the officer returning with a message that the official could be seen, my friend was escorted by a the Cosack sentinels, with drawn swords, were tramping up and down. It can readily be imagined that no official of the palace, however high he may be placed, is particularly overjoyed at present by the visits of his friends. My acquaintance was therefore exhorted, for the love of heaven, to confine his conversation to the merest commonplaces ily glad and fortunate, though he could not shake off the sensation that the police were still at his back. Looking out of the win-The officer thought so, and the neighbor was released, led to the door, and the husband said:—

which there are four within the castle walls, he saw innumerable stacks of piled muskets, denoting the presence of a large force of infantry, and on the open place in front of the squadron of cavalry. Persons whose business calls them daily to the palace, and who are well known, are rigorously searched. For example, a priest, employed in the service of the imperial chapel, was lately subjected to such a close inspection that even his cigar-ette were not overlooked. A Cossack officer is stationed at each of the doors of the sleeping apartments of the Emperor, the Empress is stationed at each of the doors of the sleeping apartments of the Emperor, the Empress and the heir apparent during the night. The last named complains continually of the restraint put upon his movements since his father's ascension to the throne. He is not allowed to go out riding in the park, which particularly annoys him. None of the officers

> Taking Laudanum A Mrs. McLean living on Portsea street, between West Water and Liberty streets, and about 25 years of age, took laudanum yesterday afternoon, either by mistake or suicidal intent. Dr. Mailhouse was called and administered the usual restoratives, but finding that they did not act to his satisfaction, he sent for Dr. Tyler, under the Tontine Hotel. to come with a galvanic battery, and at last accounts the physicians were trying to restore the woman to consciousness

The Boy's Body Identified The remains of the boy found floating in Bridgeport harbor Monday morning were esterday identified to be those of Eddie Fisher, a lad seven years old, who came to Bridgeport from Norwalk to live with Mr. Thomas Hall, who resides on Frank street in that city. He disappeared June 14, but Mr. ner's Island to their destination, and the fare Hall thought nothing of it as he had done the same thing before. His attention was called to the matter Wednesday and he went and identified the clothing as having been worn tal, leaving her wharf at Belle Dock at 19:15 by the missing lad. He supposed the boy m., landing at Twenty-third street at 8 had gone to Norwalk, where his grandmother m., and then proceeding to Peck Slip, re- lives. Mr. Hall took the clothing to Norwalk asining until 11:30 p. m. This will be a Wednesday night. Nothing is known as to

Rev. Father Geary, who was recently or dained and who has been visiting relatives in Fair Haven and assisting at services in St. Francis church since his ordination this week started for his new field of labor in the Nebraska diocese, under Bishop O'Connor. One week from next Sunday the corner stone of St. Francis' parochial school build. ing on Ferry street will be laid. Bishop Mo-Mahon, of Hartford, and Rev. Dr. Carmody, of New Britain, who are now at Saratoga, will return in time to assist.

Shocking Assault on a Constable. A shocking assault was committed Tuesday afternoon at Danbury on Special Constable Washington L. Belcher by a gang of Italian laborers. It appears the men lived in a shanty near the track of the New England railroad in Mill Plain district, and being disorderly the constable went there to admonish them. The offense, of which six of the Italians were guilty, subjects them, if convicted, to life imprisonment. Much excitement exists. Two of the Italians were arrested and taken to the Bridgeport jail.

Prof. Sherlock very successfully gave Pin afore in Bridgeport Wednesday evening by a company mostly enlisted in Bridgeport. The Standard of yesterday says: In the chorus Mrs. Lotta Mitchell, of New Haven, was leading soprano; Miss Addie Pond, of New Haven, leading contralto; Mr. H. Hall leading basso, and Mr. G. Band leading tenor. Mis Lulu V. Sherlock presided very acceptably at the piano. There were several special features which deserve mention. One of these was the "Sailor's Hornpipe," danced by Master Charles Near and his friend from New Haven. They were recalled. The chorus was a little timid at the start, but recovered before the curtain went down and did much better. The success of the opening presenta-tion shows conclusively that Professor Sherlock is a good manager. The opera will b repeated this evening and will undoubtedly Salmon Fishing in Nova Scotia. Mr. C. NEW YORK. More Indictments for Bribery-An Effort to Indict Depew and Tillinghast-How it Was Frustrated by the Half-Breeds ALBANY, June 30 .- After one ballot fo Senators in joint convention to-day the stalwarts and Democrats secured an adjournment by a vote of 82 to 70. For the Conkling term Wheeler secured 43 votes, Conkling [Closing prices reported over the private wire 32, Potter 53, Lapham 17, there being eight scattering votes. On the Platt ballot Kernan had 53 votes, Depew 51, Platt 28, Cornell 11, Crowley 7, four votes being distributed among other candidates. The grand jury brought in this morning an indictment against A. D. Barber for paying E. R. Phelps $12,500 for the purpose of bribing State officers. He was admitted to bribing State officers. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $3,000 after pleading not guilty. E. R. Phelps was also arraigned on a similar charge and admitted to bail in $3,000. He also pleaded not guilty. Charles A. Edwards was also indicted for receiving from Joseph Dickson $5,000 for the purpose of bribing State officers. J. Thomas Spriggs, of Utica, appeared as counsel for all. The cases are held over till the next term of the court. The grand jury say that while they court. The grand jury say that while they believe the evidence against Barber and Phelps is insufficient to convict, that they considered it sufficient to warrant an indictment and legal investigation. There was great excitement to-day over the revelations of alleged proposed actions by the grand jury and efforts to secure other indictments which, it is asserted, are under consideration. The story is to the effect that through the efforts of ex-Superintendent of Insurance John F. Smythe, a stalwart worker, the grand jury considered the advisability of indicting Chauncey M. Depew and Tillinghast, assistant president of the New York Central railroad. It beef strength in him to keep up with either the German or Englishman.

The first heat for the Thames challenge cup for eight-oared boats was rowed late in the day and resulted in a victory for the Twickenham Boat club, the Thames Rowing club coming in second. lo on the same night, left it in his safe for a week and finally loaned it to a local bank which was short of currency. Smythe, it is a half, they coming to the winning stake that distance in advance of the London crew. The day's sport passed off in excellent order and to the great delight of the vast crowd of spectators who witnessed the successive races. The defeat of the Cornell crew was more a mortification than a surprise to the Americans present. They rowed well according the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast intended that the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast intended that the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast intended that the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast intended that the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast intended that the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast intended that the property of the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast was probable if Tillinghast was probable if the committee for its disposal, that it was probable if Tillinghast was probable in the committee of the to use the money Depew had knowledge of it, hence it was urged that both Depew and Til-linghast should be indicted. It is alleged that a vote was taken Tuesday and lacked but two majority in favor of the indictment. But the news got out and threats were made that there would be an exposure that would be very serious for the Democrats and stalwarts, and many of the Democrats notified their leaders serious for the Democrats and stalwarts, and many of the Democrats notified their leaders that if an indictment was presented against Depew they would vote solid for his return to the Senate. The stalwarts brought hard pressure to bear upon Smythe and the proceedings were stopped. The stalwarts showed that there was no evidence against Depew worthy of consideration and it could Depew worthy of consideration, and it would be fatal to the stalwarts to be connected with any attempt to injure Depew's chances by appearing to support an indictment founded on the theory, and the matter was dropped. The half-breeds openly defied the Smythe men to allow the indictment to be presented. Edwards, Phelps and Barber gave bail in $3,000 each to appear for trial. A terrible scandal is in circulation in this city over the movements of ex-Senator Platt Washington, June 30.—The President appointed R. S. New York, June 30 .- The record of failres reported in this city for the six months nding June 30 show 205 with aggregate liabilities of $5,807,285 and actual assets estimated at $1,988,924. These figures include all failures and assignments and are consequently somewhat larger than those of purely mercantile statistics. Bradstreets for the same period of 1880 give 203 failures with aggregate liabilities of $7,510,944 and actual assets of $2,739,921. The percentage shows a considerable reduction in the gross amount of liabilities. More than one half the failures were for amounts of less than $10,000 liabil

The rates for white ash coal, delivered on board vessel at Port Rich mond, for shipment beyond the capes of the Delaware, are $4.50 for lump and steamboat; $3.90 for broken egg and stove; $3.55 for chestnut, and $2.80 for pea. The prices at Elizabethport, N. J., are 35 cents higher on each grade.

NEW DOMINION

A Desperate Convict's Work. MONTREAL, June 30 .- Thomas Salter, onvict of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, was murdered last evening by a convict named Everetts. It appears he has been at enmity with Salter ever since their conviction. Yes terday Everetts accused Salter with trying to get him sent to the Dominion penitentiary where the discipline is most severe. What answer Salter made is unknown, but Everetts deliberately pulled out a shoe knife and stabbed Salter to the heart, the man falling dead with the exclamation, "Oh! my God." The guards rushed at the murderer, but he fled. Being hotly pursued he turned and threatened to kill his pursuers. He then in presence of his jail guards, who were afraid to approach him, deliberately cut his throat from ear to ear. The doctor thinks he will recover.

The investigation concerning the death of The investigation concerning the death of Aaron Wilcox, who was found in the rear of a saloon on Crown street and subsequently died at the hospital, was continued yesterday afternoon in the City Court room. Coroner Bollman and the jury were in their places at 2 o'clock, when the investigation proceeded. There were a number of witnesses and a few spectators present.

Officer Jackson was recalled to the witness stand by Coroner Bollman to give some fur-ther details of the position in which Wilcox was found lying when arrested. Neither in the street nor in the general police office did Wilcox cry out very loud, but when in the lockup he "belleved" and welled loudly. On tand by Coroner Bollman to give some furwas found lying when arrested. Neither in the street nor in the general police office did lockup he "hollered" and yelled loudly. On the street he groaned and mouned "as if he was in terrible agony."

Policeman Phelps was recalled, and said that when he first found deceased he was ying on his right side and right breast. While Wilcox was sitting up he took hold of his arm, and the man's coat was torn. The man hallooed all the way up Court street and he cautioned him to keep quiet. Wilcox wanted to sit down, and said he was sick and wanted to sit down, and said he was sick and wanted air. He said to the officers: "You hard-hearted men, why can't you let me sit down?" He might have been heard two blocks away. He hallooed by spells. He hallooed in the yard where witness found him, but not till they had got him up. Witness said, in answer to a question as to why he put nippers on a prostrate man, that they oftentimes found a man would walk easier with nippers on than without.

Dr. Bartlett told the jury that Sunday morning a large man (answering to Wilcox's large man (answering to Wilcox) large man (answeri

Placing his hand over his liver, he said: "A man struck me there." Dr. Bartlett told him he had better get to the hospital as soon as possible, as it was evident that something else than drink ailed him. He left Dr. Bartlett's office alone. This witness said a fall might have caused an internal rupture. The nan's pain would be likely to increase after the injury. A fall would not be likely to cause such a rupture.

that he didn't go into Twitchell's that night and didn't know that Wilcox did. He didn't know how much money Wilcox had that night, but saw him have money. Witness was with Wilcox all the evening with the exception of about a minute.

December William Luby testified to the fact eption of about a minute.

Doorman William Luby testified to the fact appointing a building committee for the purpose of erecting buildings necessary for the town as the county seat. Putnam has rais of Wilcox being brought to the station house on Sunday morning. He said Wilcox was mosning and said that he got hurt, and that one of the men stamped on him with his knees. He had a little change, perhaps sixty or seventy cents, and an old pocketbook. Lieutenant Sheridan had charge of the office when Wilcox came in. Wilcox said to one of the officers, "You are the one that stamped on me." The officer didn't know which one he meant. Witness didn't know who held him when he was searched. He was pretty the $30,000 required by the legislative act, but it is claimed that there was an illegal voting of the money. The whole matter go over until July 27. When you visit or leave New York city, save baggage expressage and carriage hire, and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central depot, 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 nim when he was searched. He was pretty irunk, and could not stand up very well by and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any himself. He said nothing except when speak-ing of the stamping he mentioned. Witness saw Wilcox half an hour after he was put insaw Wilcox half an hour after he was put inside. Wilcox moaned very hard and heavy, atd that caused the witness to go in and see him. Luby asked what the matter was, and Wilcox said that one of the men jumped on him. Luby said ino, and Wilcox said "Oh,

Therefore, do not dose yourself with a hun-dred things in the hope that some of them may hit the mark, but try Dr. David Ken-nedy's "Favorite Remedy" which hits it every time. For kidney and liver troubles, partly dozing, and seeming to feel easier He said he felt a little better. Afterward h began to grosn again and moaned very hard. He asked, "For the sake of humanity won't piles and constipation, it is just what you want. Druggists have it, or mail one dollar

He asked, "For the sake of humanity won't you get me something to cure those cramps?" He had more whiskey and that eased him again. Wilcox asked for a pistol afterward. Witness offered him the key of the lock-up and he said he didn't want that; he wanted a pistol to make away with himself. He did not yell that night, but made a very loud moaning. Between five and six o'clock witness say him again and asked him how he A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat Should be moaning. Between five and six o'clock witness saw him again and asked him how he felt. He said he didn't feel much better.
The witness didn't see him again. It was only at the first interview that he said that he had been stamped on. Witness told Lieutenant Sheridan what Wilcox said about being stamped on by a policeman. Officer Ben Jackson went in to see Wilcox before he went of daty. He went to whom Wilcox stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Indubable Lung Disease on Consumption. Wilcox was brought in intoxicated he made complaint about the treatment he had from the men who arrested him. He spoke to Officer Jackson and said, "You are the one that stamped on me " After he was inside he moaned and the witness sent Officer Luby in. Witness told about Luby taking in liquor. Continuing he said: About 2:30 I went into the lock-up and he came towards went into the lock-up and he came towards me and commenced to tell how the officer knelt on his abdomen. I said to him I guess not. I spoke to Officer Phelps about it and his assued me there was no truth in it. I thought, as I have so often heard persons brought in charge officers with abuse, that there was no truth in the charge. When I saw him (Wilcox) first, he seemed to have the abuse of the officer on his mind. When I let him out at half-past six he wanted me to look at his abdomen, which I did, but I did not see any bruises. I gave him more whiskey at this time, as he complained of severe pain in his bowels. Chief Webster was called. He said he came to the office about ten minutes before 8 in the morning. I inquired of Doorman Hemingway who it was groaning inside, and he said it was Aaron Wilcox. I was told that he had cramps. I ordered him brought out, and although appearing badly, at his own request I allowed him to go out and take the air. I soon after learned that a man wassick at the corner of Church and Chapel streets. I sent two officers and they brought back Wilcox, and as soon as I could get a team and make arrangements I sent him to the hospismooth and pleasant to the taste. Foster S. Bassett said he was in the police office when Wilcox was brought in. It was about half-past one o'clock in the morning. I was standing by the side of Lieutenant Sheridan inside the rail. I thought Wilcox was very drunk. He said something like this: Lieutenent, they have stamped on me. Turning to Officer Jackson he said, you have stamped on me. There were several officers outside the rail, and I am not certain that he accused Officer Jackson, although he said with an oath, turning toward that officer, you had no right to stamp on me. I inquired of Officer Jackson if he stamped on him, and he said, why no, he was drunk and could not move. After Wilcox went inside he groaned as though in great pain, and I inquired of the lieutenant what was the matter with him, and he replied he was drunk. When he was brought in he appeared to be perfectly helpless. He was not handcuffed when brought in, but I think he had nippers on, which Officer Phelps removed.

Doorman Hemingway said he was in the office when Asron Wilcox was discharged. The lieutenant said that Wilcox was in the lockup and I had better look after him. He was discharged after the chief came, although the chief told him he had hetter vance.

DR. J. L. LYON,

THE old reliable physician, located in New Haven since May, 1854, (27 years), has removed his office from 195 Chapel street to 49 Church street, Room 11. Hoadley Building, opposite Postoffice, up one flight of stairs; entrance either at 49 Church street or 67 Crown street. Dr. Lyon will continue as horetofore to treat all diseases of every name and nature, with that marvelous success which long years of experience has given him. Thousands of testimonials from grateful patients smatched from the brink of the grave now rejoicing in the perfection of health attest the unerring skill of Dr. Lyon. He especially invites those whose diseases under other methods of treat ment have remained intractive, to call upon him. Visit him and he will at once describe your condition. Perhaps you would have been cured if your physician had understood your case.

If you have tried for health and failed, it is no reason why you should not try again. Health is precious to all, and if he camot relieve your case he will tell you so. He can refer you to many, perhaps worse than you are, that were given up by their physicians and friends, who now enjoy good health. He will describe your case so clearly that you will know he perfectly understands your disease. It is something of great importance to you, although very easily accomplished by him, though no more wonderful than true. It is only the starting point to health for the physician to understand your disease, and then administer the simple remody to remove that disease. Come, he will cure that cough, pain in the head, side and back, remove that cold, sinking or burning at the stomach, stiff joints, rheumatism, gout, fever sores, cancers, sait rhoum, eryelpelas, seald head and all bad humors, with his vegetable medicines.

Persons at a distance may consult Dr. Lyon by letter (rost, and disease), medicines.

Appended are a few testimonials, want of space forbids the publishing of more. Their names will be cheerfully given to those desiring them by calling at the Doctor's office. Case I is that of a lady who was pronounced by three of the most prominent physicians of her native city to be in the last stage of consumption, and told that her case was helpless and hopeless. After being restreed to sound health by Dr. Lyon she sent the following letter, earnestly requesting that it should be published in the hope that it might reach others similarly afflicted:

To all who may be afflicted with that common disease, Consumption, or any weakness of the lungs, I would appeal to them to immediately consuit Dr. John L. Lyon, of New Haven, Conn., feeling sure that by so doing they may be restored to health. For several years I was troubled with a cough, hemorrhage of the lungs and the usual symptoms of Consumption. I consulted and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians the country afforded, without deriving any permanent benefit whatever. In the spring of 1803 the disease made such rapid progress that my attending physician and friends gave up all hopes of my recovery. On the 18th of May, 1863, I consulted to a perfect wreck of my former self, coughing incessanily, and it would seem just on the verge of the grave. After the usual examination, he kindly but less many permanent benefit whether had done, that my disease was incurable; that I had but a few months to investigate the second of the time I commenced the nae of his medicines, my cough was less frequent, I suffered no more from hemorrhage of the lungs, and day by day found the terrifying symptoms of Consumption disappearing, and was gradually regaining health. I was The following is an extract from a letter received from a patient treated and cured of seminal weak-
