MAGNETISM is a subtle force closely allied to Electricity, with different manifestations, is a curative agent of the highest value, one of the strongest forces in nature, yet imperceptible in ita operation upon the nervous system. Diseases of all forms do and must succumb to its power. A diseased condition is a disturbance of the forces in the system, consequent upon a want of sufficient magnetic force to overcome an unbalanced nervous condition, which is necessary for healthy function. The Wilsonia Magnetic Garments stimulates the impaired nervous forces to a renewed activity, where medicines would utterly fail. I know it by a blessed experience. Paralysis, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgis, and all diseases of milder form that are curable can be cured by the Wilsonia Garments. Those who desire it can see me at their

Thursday Morning, Feb. 23, 1882.

The campaign has been a vigorous one and an extraordinary interest has been felt in it by the citizens. * It was directed almost wholly at a single point—the control of municipal affairs by a ring represented by the Gas Trust-and was officered on the reform side by the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred, which made a thorough and effective canvass of the voters and did everything in its power to bring them out. Its efforts were rewarded by a large vote, and the signal defeat of the ring, all of whose important andidates, except the notorious 'Squire Mc-Mullin, were beaten. The candidates put forward by the Committee of One Hundred vere apparently selected without much regard to their politics. Many of them were emocrats. The election was unusually orlerly and the returns came in early after the polls closed, this being the result, according to the remark of a Committee of One Hundred man, of "the gang not waiting to cook things up, tear off stickers and fix the tally

Naturally there is much joy in Philadelphia over this complete and significant victory. The Philadelphia North American congratulates its readers upon the evidence that a large majority of the voters of the city are determined that the municipal administration shall be lifted out of the rut of machine politics. It also says: "They have risen in their might, to quote the orator of the stump, and the consequence has been such a purification of the Council chamber as must have a highly beneficial influence upon the public affairs of the community. Injustice has in some instances been done Republican nominees with a respectable urious substances. There are many who will regard vesterday's work as a deathblow to the Republican or panization. It is nothing of the kind. The victory has been won by the votes of men who are as good Republicans now as ever they were, and who will support their party whenever it commands their confidence." Such a piece of work as that done by the good citizens of Philadelphia on Tuesday is very encouraging to those who are hoping and working for the defeat of political rings

The icemen are already at it. It is an ounced that the ice harvest of the Hudson river has closed for the season with the following results. Not more than 2,000,000 tons have been gathered, which is less than half the average crop, and the quality generally is inferior. Of last year's crop less than 200,-000 tons were left over, while usually they have doubled that quantity. The old crop is in poor condition, and much of it is unmerchantable. The New Yorkers will "catch it"

The Ontario Legislature is considering bill to allow unbelievers to affirm instead of to swear in the courts. Mr. Mowat, who fathers the bill, is a man of decided Christian faith, and, while he deplores the opinions of heretics, he says that the evidence of respectable men should not be re jected on account of their disbelief, when convicts from the penitentiary are admitted to the stand. Some of the members oppose the bill on the ground that "it will unchristianize Canada as it has England."

> A curious story is told by the Paris Figuro oncerning the negotiations which it asserts have recently taken place in regard to the expected departure of the Pope from Rome. This flight from the Vatican, says the Figure, has long been the fixed purpose of Leo XIII., but it is only recently that he has decided where to go. Prince Bismarck offered to repeal the May laws and to authorize the expelled priests to return to their parishes if the Pope would consent to fix his future residence at Frankfort. He promised that the city should be neutralized, as in the times of | duced. the German confederation, and offered the Pope its temporal sovereignty, with a subsidy of many millions per annum. It is difficult to see how in the face of such testimony the opponents of vaccination can fairly keep up their fight.

The disposition shown by some members of the United States Senate to treat Indians fairly does not please all the Senators. When Senator Dawes a day or two ago presented a petition with a hundred thousand names signed to it in favor of keeping the treaties made with the Indian tribes in good faith, the education of the Indians and giving then clear titles to land in severalty, the petition was at once attacked by Senator Plumb of Kansas as a manifestation of sickly sentimentality. One of the Washington correspondents writes that it is getting so that anyone who in the Senate ventures to say anything favorable to treating the Indians as if they were persons having any natural rights or entitled to have the protection of the law, to be educated and brought within the pale of in the pages of the journal already referred citizenship, may expect to be assailed by the representatives of the frontier States, many of whom, like Mr. Plumb, do not hesitate to state their belief that the destiny of the Indian race is extermination, in very much the same temper as northern men who ventured, thirty years ago, to express the opinion that the negroes held in slavery were human be. ngs having rights which the law ought to regard, were assailed. Then all who differed from the views of the upholders of the institution of slavery were contemptuously branded "sickly sentimentalists." The only practical men were those, who believed slavery was the necessary condition of the colored bags, each containing two gallons of pine oil, race. Now a certain class of Senators and representatives hold that the only practical men are those who think the necessary condition of the Indian race is ignorance, barbarism and homelessness.

JUSTICE. Neptune Dosed With Oil. Success of the Peterhead Experiments to

Seas.

The perils of seafaring have been so tragieally illustrated during recent storms on our coasts that any attempt to lessen the danger to those whose business it is to go down to the sea in ships is certain to meet with the most favorable consideration. Nevertheless, by many of those who, with this object in view, are eager to secure improved harbors and better equipped boats for our fishing population, the attempt to mollify an angry ea by the administration of doses of oil is apt to be regarded as savoring somewhat of Dame Partington's endeavor to sweep back the waves of the Atlantic with a mop. The from the words of one who knows: It will Provost of Peterhead appears to have been of this mind until he witnessed the experiments recently made outside the harbor of by their transactions of less than a year. Last that eastmost town. Seeing, however, is Saturday Messrs. Walter S. Gordon and Eubelieving, as Provost Alexander stated when gene C. Gordon sold a block of a quarter of a taking over Mr. Shields' apparatus on behalf of the harbor trustees, and now Danville Extension company at 165, and rehe declares himself a convert to the alized, in actual cash, a trifle over $100,000 died recently, left a curfous will. It provides efficacy of pouring oil on troubled waters, each. Governor Colquitt and General Gorget the farm in his own possession. It will be seen that after the step-mother's death it will be 60 years before the son gets the farm, and, as the woman is yet in the prime of life and healthy, it is calcu- wind blew from the southeast, and the waves in the prime of life and healthy, it is calculated she may live another 40 years. The son is now 30 years of age, and when he can two headlands that the local "ball," the apclaim the farm by this reckoning he will be pearance of which indicates danger to boats in crossing the harbor bar, was hoisted, while the tugboat, with a vessel in tow, had to "stand off." On the waters thus agitated the oil—refined seal—was let loose from the three submarine valves to the extent, it is southern enterprises. Besides those noted, said, of only two or three gallons, and in the Gov. The question of the action of oil on troub the efficacy of oil on the surface of water to ness into the oil sheet, which prevents the oil taking up the tangential motion of the water beneath." Full details of his investigation have yet to be published, and these may be expected to throw light on the above explanation. A recent writer in Chambers operation to be simply that the thin covering of oil floating on the waves prevents the cising a quieting effect on agitated water has long been a matter of more or less common observation. It has been noticed that the waves never break round the body of a dead by sudden gales, they hastily draw in their lines and with all speed make for the land. Their greatest danger lies in the tideways which run like rivers between the islands, and it is in cutting the "string of the tide," as the Shetlanders call these tideways, during severe storms, that the islanders have reourse to oil. Taking any cod or ling they may have caught, they crush the livers of these fishes in their hands and keep throwing them round their tempest-tossed boat. The effect, says a writer in Chambers' Journal, who was an eye-witness of the opera-tion, "is magical; the waves are not lessened in size, but they no longer break, and it is only from their breaking close to the boat, and so being dashed in upon her and breaking her, that there is danger." The Shetlanders attribute the safety of many a boat's crew to the smoothing of the sea caused by their casting out the livers. Impending shipwrecks have, there is good rea-son to believe, been averted by the timely use of oil. Instances extending over a period of more than a century are on record, the best authenticated of which are to be Jound earnest persistence with which for many years past he has advocated, amid prevailing incredulity, the use for this purpose of eil at sea. It is recorded that in 1770 a Dutch 1867 that he had twice gaved his ship by oiling the sea. On one of these occasions both rudder and sails were gone, and shipwreck seemed inevitable, when, by the judicious use of four gallons of oil, he obtained smooth though heaving water, in the midst of which his ship rode till the storm abated. In another well authenticated instance, during a storm of four days' duration, two canvas were first punctured and then hung-one over each quarter of the ship. The oil in these kept slowly trickling for two days, during which it prevented the breaking of great waves on the vessel, and enabled necessary repairs to be made. It was the unanimous opinion of those on board that they owed their safety to the use of the oil. The British Vice Consul at Wilmington lately sent Dr. W. Chambers an account he had taken down from the captain of a brigan-tine which, on its voyage from Bristol, had encountered a terrific gale. In this case the captain, as a last expedient, determined to try oil, and putting three quarts of kerosene into a canvas bag he had it kept trailing to windward. The oil, he says, "broke the topping sea" and made mat-ters so much more favorable for the ship that she succeeded in weathering the gale, Exactly a year ago the crew of the screw steamer Diamond had occasion to land on the island of Anholt. The sea was so rough, however, that the islanders deemed it unsafe ven to launch the lifeboat; nevertheless two boats' crews were safely landed-a feat ttributed to the fact that five gallons of oil had been placed in the stern of the boat and a man told off to pour it overboard. The most recent instance of the efficacy of oil is that told by the crew of the inst. The crew took to their last boat off the coast of Norway when the gale was at its height, and into it the captain placed a large jar of oil. By using this upon the water the call to see such a sight.—Boston trace.

Dr. Franklin, who was a believer in the calming effect of oil on water, found that a single teaspoonful of oil poured on the windward side of a pond on lapham Common spread until, as he says, it made "all that quarter of the pond, perhaps half an acre, as smooth as a looking-glass." [Paris Correspondence London Standard] The Paris Court of ... Peal has given a in nent in a case concering an English merchan which should be a warning against transact-ing business with married ladies, even though they may happen to be of high rank. The case is briefly this: On the 22d of October, 1880, the Duchess of Bauffremont executed a document duly drawn up by a solicitor, ac-knowledging her liability to M. Emmanuel, described as a merchant of London, in the sum of 118,714 francs 25 centimes, and agreeing to repay the same in five installments, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. On default being made when the first installment became due, proceedings were taken, ending in an execution upon a portion of the Duchess' furniture. A claim was then preferred to submit the matter to a judge in chambers, on the ground that the property seized was included in the marriage settle ment of the Duchess, and therefore was ina-

THE FOOT GUARDS' GRAND PROMENADE. Tickets for the 107th annual concert and eception of the Second Company Governor's Foot Guards, to be given Thursday evening, March 2, at the Union Armory, are selling rapidly, and this with the preparations show that the affair will be one of the finest ever given by this popular organization. Invitations have been sent to the Governor and staff, the officers of the First regiment and all the invited guests of the company on the memorable Charleston trip. It will be a reunion occasion for many who went Charleston. The officers of the Second regi ment and of the Horse and Foot Guards are also invited. The American band will furnish the music. STODDARD LECTURES. The first in the regular lectures in th Stoddard course was given at Peck's Grand Opera House last evening, and was fully fore-shadowed by the brilliant reception of these lectures and the accompanying views in other cities. The entertainment was a brilliant success. A large and select audience was present, and golden opinions of the views and the accompanying very fine descriptive exposition were heard on every side as the audience separated. The subject last evening was "Scotland." March 1st the next in the course, "Down the Danube," will be given. The lively and appreciative interest shown in this highly enjoyable and delightful course has been shown in the large sale of course tickets, but there are still many desirable seats to be obtained at Loomis'. For the remaining lectures, four in number, tickets with reserved seats are $1.50 and $2. THE BOSTON IDEALS. Merited success greeted the performance in this city yesterday of the Boston Ideal Opera company at Carll's Opera House. The matinee was attended by a large audience that thoroughly enjoyed the performance, but a small portion of it being aware that it was the first public rendering of "The Musketeers" that the company had attempted. There were several indications, however, of a want of practice, but, barring an evident nervousness on the part of some of the leading singers and incidents common to a first performance, the rendering was decidedly successful. In the evening the popular ""Mascotte" was given, and whatever merit there is in the opera was certainly fully brought out. It was in many respects an improvement on the company's last presentation of it in this city. The constant drilling they have had enables them to render it almost to perfection, and the numerous repeti-tions of the popular numbers attested the appreciation of the audience. Miss Ulmar, who on her first appearance here immediately captured the audience with her charming oice and manner, was most flatteringly re ceived. It is evident from last evening's work that she has made marked improvement in her art, and her prospects for becoming one of the brightest stars in the operatic profession are decided. In addition to her pure voice she has the rare art of grasp-ing the true conception of a character and of eing able to portray it accurately. And while she acts with a freedom of manner which is fascinating, there are no traces of parseness to be discovered, but on the ontrary a simplicity and delicacy pervades the whole. We speak more particularly of this young lady because she has but recently ppeared upon the stage, and is undoubtedly great addition to the profession. Miss Lizzie Burton, who sustained the character of "Fiametta," is also an attractive singer and an actress of marked ability. She fairly called for a division of the honors last evenin a manner to make the music most enjoyable. An early return of the company would Large Attendance and an Able Sermon by Bishop Williams. There was a large congregation at St. Paul's church last evening composed of members of the various Episcopal churches in this city. It was the first of the series of united services to be held at this church every Wednesday evening of the Lenten season. Nearly all the local clergy were present, the service being read by Rev. William E. Vibbert, of Fair Haven. The sermon was by Rt. Rev. John Williams, D. D., bishop of the diocese. The speaker took for his text 1st Corinthians, 4th chap., 2d verse: "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful.' The discourse was upon individual responsibility, as involved in the idea of stewardship and the necessity of anxious endeavor to each the standards of duty. The seeming show of quick success is more sought after than the quiet, unobtrusive life of faithfulness The individual and the nation must strive for holy living. The lives of Herod and Stephen were contrasted, Herod proud and magnificent, Stephen poor and humble. "No great opportunities, no wide fields of ction are needed. In this age men think that if there are no great opportunities there are no opportunities at all. So many Christians seein to think that if they cannot be-come apostles, martyrs or confessors it is not worth the while to be anything. In short, too many think that since they cannot be faithful in many things it is of no use to be faithful in anything. This is all wrong. If we would be what God meant we should be, if we would be builded as a well proportioned temple of God, we should be faithful to our humble duties and they will become angel's wings which will bear us on our way

At the conclusion of the sermon the speaker paid a brief but eloquent tribute to the late Joseph E. Sheffield, saying in conclu-sion: "If ever a life was held as a trust, his was: if ever a trust was faithfully discharg ed, that one was; for his life's work God be praised." Wilsonia Magnetic Garments.

If the man who discovers a fact becomes public benefactor, then the man who invented the Magnetic Garments is pre-eminently entitled to great credit. And just here let me say that Wm. Wilson is not the inventor of electro-magnetism, but only the mode of application by garments that contain it. 1 difference between electricity and magnetism

Webster tells us what it will do, but not what it is: but the wonderful multiform uses made of it and what it has accomplished as It is God's gift for healing, however slow men are to accept it. God moves slowly. The telegraph and telephone were in his keeping, slumbering in the past, waiting for development. And no less true is it regardime has come for magnetism to assert its claim to public attention; just as futile will be the attempts to oppose it as it would be to start an opposition to the telegraph or tele-phone. Electro-magnetism put into garments, and applied to the human body for the cure ence which is unexplainable. Its power can be demonstrated by its effect upon the magnet through a marble-top table, and yet when these garments are applied to the body we are not consciously affected by them, but by a slow process are wonderfully affected.

Now there are certainly two princip which go directly at work in the curing of lisease, viz. : The forcing, restoring and equalizing the circulation of the blood. The other is attraction and repulsion, eliminating disease by positive and negative forces, through the pores of the skin and natural or ten minutes. Just at this juncture I ap-plied to Dr. Flower, of New York, who made what I am sure was a correct diagnosis of my case. He said my whole trouble for all these years of suffering had been an acid stomach; that my liver was literally stuffed with muriatic acid; that it was in my blood, deranging the circulation, impairing the nerve forces, etc., and hence all these years of nervous prostration. What he told me was what I ad suspected, for whenever I had partaken of acids I suffered extremely. At times my circulation would almost cease. I was once

He visits Washington upon the invitation of Proessor Hilgard, of the coast geodetic survey, to take part in certain nice pendulum servations for determining the exact force of gravity at this point. He brings pendulums used in similar experiments in England and in India, and which are to be used at various points on the earth's surface to ascerthe sphere, Tests will be made at the Smith-

It is now generally believed that the Pres ident will soon send to the Senate the name of Fitz John Porter as colonel of infantry in the regular army to fill the first vacancy. There are a number of mill questions as to the status of General Porter in the regular and volunteer force, he having been at the time of his dismissal a colonel in the regular and a brigadier general of volunteers. The last major general of volunteers was mustered out in 1866. The question of back pay is also involved. If pay as colonel of infantry is given him from the date of his dismissal it will amount to about $115,000. The case is now before the Attorney General for his opinion upon the legal points involved. In regard to the talk of a Blaine and Brown ticket Senator Brown said to day: "Some time ago I wrote a letter in which I said I would vote for the next Democratic nee for President and upon what I have announced as my intention I could neither be At t ever in my opinion for going outside the Democratic party for candidates. Hon. Bancroft Davis, Edward Everett Hale and Mr. G. T. Dwight, librarian of the State lepartment, were before the Senate Library nmittee to-day in relation to the purchase sterling. The committee took no action, but a favorable report is probable. The committee will also recommend the purchase of the tochambeau papers. THE STORM.

The Heavy Floods-Serious Washouts on the Raitroads-Great Damage to Property. still continue. Small creeks have swollen into rivers and damaged property very greatly. No trains have arrived from the South for two days. A few miles below this city a house occupied by a family named Rhodes was suddenly surrounded by water. One of the boys was drowned. Another climbed a tree, where he was compelled to remain all night in a blinding snow storm. Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 22.-The great storm of sleet and snow which began on Sunday has been disastrous to railway travel and telegraphic service in all directions from Kansas Čity, and the trouble still continues, Since Monday morning but one train has arrived from St. Louis in consequence of wash-outs on the eastern end of the road, and today travel between Kansas City and St. Louis has been at a standstill. None of the roads sent out through trains. The large bridge over Gaseonade river has been washed away, and it will take at least forty hours to repair the damage. The telegraphic service is also totally demoralized, and but little business with the outside world is transacted. Wires and poles are down in every direction, and ong the Missouri Pacific railway over fifeen hundred poles are down. Ex-Judge Munson, of Seymour, submitted a map of the proposed new county. He said the great bulk of the population would be within 15 minutes ride of Waterbury. It was more convenient to go there than to New Haven. He did not want the bill to take effect until Waterbury had fulfilled the conditions required of her. The new county, he said, would be as large in population as New Haven county was in 1840.

The hearing before the Railroad committee at Hartford was resumed 'yesterday morning called and testified that in the progress of his business he had had extensive dealings with the New York, New Haven and Hartportation and had never had reason to comthe New York, New Haven and Hartford road, or its branches, and had never had cause for complaint except in a few minor instances. In sending the granite for the Tribune building and others in New York it had sometimes been necessary to have the stones remain upon the cars in New York, and the company had been very indulgent and never had charged demurrage for this; when the freight was brought for the new State Capitol all freight over the Consolidated road or its branches was transported free; the State reaped the benefit of this and not myself, for I paid over to the Capitol Comioners a sum equal to what the freight charges would have amounted to; other railoads charged the State for all freight. James A. Smith, jr., of the firm of Smith, Northam & Robinsen, grain dealers of Hart-ford, stated that he had been in the grain ousiness for twenty-five years, and trans-corted more freight over the New York, New Haven and Hartford road than any other rain firm, the amount being valued at from

$50,000 to $75,000 per year; over all roads the firm transported freights valued at from $300,000 to $500,000 annually; had always New Haven and Hartford road, and could see no necessity for a new road; with very few xceptions freight had always been handled been satisfactory, and it would be impossible error, but it is one that the assessors o cheapen the rates, as the Consolidated oad has carried it for the past six months at

(band and proconcert) on Wednesday evening, March 1, 1882, with some improvement in the programme, and a reasonable anticipation of a large attendance should the weather be pleasant, as many from out of town will attend who were prevented by the inclement uck, Captain John Seward, for New York. The Emily A. Foote, one of Fowler & Colburn's steamers that was laid up at Eas iver bridge, has been taken to New London to be recaulked and fitted for the coming nenhaden fishing season, and is expected to leave for the South-probably Virginia water -about the tenth of next month. The sleet and rain storm of the past twenty-four hours was varied last evening, a thunder and hail storm, in which the zerial pyrotechnics were unusually brilliant, far surpassing man's best endeavors in that direction Important.
