WARLIKE SOUTHERNERS. It is interesting to see how the Mexican question is viewed in the South. Many of the newspapers in that region are for wiping out the insult in blood. The Atlanta Constitution is among the number. It wants to go into war with Mexico because the United States is crowded; the "better class of our public lands" have been disposed of; our people are howling "southward, ho!" We are losing the power of resenting insults and need a little training in ill-temper and belligerency. Moreover, the Constitution is for giving our anarchists and outlaws some better occupation than overturning the laws of the United States and Chicago policemen It desires to hurl the Mosts and the Parson against the "Greasers." It favors also the using up of our army of tramps in a war with Mexico

The Louisville Courier-Journal rises to re mark that "if a call for volunteers to wipe out the Gringoes were issued a million of nen would rise to arms in the southern and western States alone. If men should be afterward wanted a million more would respond." The New Orleans Picayune announces that "Mr. Cutting must be surrendered, or there will be war." The New Orleans States says: In the present Mexican question it looks as if the administration is trying to find out and to be guided by the sentiment of the North and East. It takes t for granted that the South is always in hand, and can be manipulated as the occasion requires. There is good reason to believe that the South will some day show the administration that it heartily and very emphatically renounces the influences that govern it, and will stand on the proper ground. And so forth and so on. It used to be thought by some that Mexico would have sympathy from the South if she got into trouble with this country. It now looks as Mayor Bulkeley's Candidacy.

[Correspondence of the New York Tribune.] The notable thing about the preliminary Republican canvass the past week has been taking a seat in the corner he waited until the room was cleared, when he again ap-proached the President, saying: "General Jackson, I have come here to talk to you about my office. The politicians want to take it from me and they know I have noth-ing else to live upon." The President made no reply till the aged postmaster began to take off his coat in the most excited manner, when Old Hickory broke out with the in-quiry: "What in hearen's name are you go-ing to dot Why do you take off your coat here?" "Well, sir, I am going to show you my wounds which I received in fighting for my country against the English!" "Put it on at once, sir!" was the reply: "I am sur-prised that a man of your age should make such an exhibition of bimself," and the eyes of the iron President were suffused with tears, as without another word he bade his each week of the history of Columbia, "the gum of the ocean," etc. It's tough—the fact, not the gum. of the iron President were suffused with tears, as without another word he bade his ancient foe good evening. The next day Messrs. Van Buren and Wright called at the White House and were

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is now certain that there will be wheat enough to "go around" in this country. There is a surplus of 70,000,000 bushels from ast year's crop still on hand.

Some of our Democratic contemporaries seem to be very much afraid that Mayor Bulkeley will be nominated for governor. They know that if he is they will have to bestir themselves

"Everybody that meets Mayor Bulkeley likes him," said a prominent New Haven Democrat yesterday. He is indeed a very friendly man, and he holds the same opinion concerning friendship that was so forcibly though somewhat inelegantly, expressed by ex-Governor English of this city.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune writes that the Bulkeley movement has grown rapidly during the past two weeks. This is the plain truth. It will continue to grow, for it will become plainer and plainer that it is the part of wisdom to nominate Mr. Bulkeley. With him as leader the Republican campaign will be enthusiastic and well directed.

The amount of matter in solution annual y poured into the Gulf of Mexico by the Mississippi is estimated at 150,000,000 tons, at which rate one foot of land over the whole basin would be removed in 4,000 years. Similar calculations applied to the St. Lawrence La Plata and the Amazon reach the result that 100 tons per square mile are removed from the American continent every year. Again, it is calculated that not less than one cubic mile of earth is deposited every year in the Atlantic from America, Africa, Europe and Asia.

A correspondent of the Mining and Scientific Press calls attention to the unusually high fineness or value of the gold found in the mines of Tuolumne county, California -higher than that of any other gold or quartz mine in any country, it is claimed. The fineness of the gold from one of these mines is stated to be .983, or $20.35 per

$19.64 per ounce. When it is considered that the value of chemically pure gold, one thousand fine, is $20.6718 per ounce, the close approach to absolute purity of the gold found in these mines is remarkable. An English court has decided that a hom for lost dogs is a charity. The judge said that an institution for the benefit of domes tic animals is so far for the benefit of the human race, who are served by them, as to fall within the reasoning of Lord Chancellor Cranworth in the case of London university against Yarrow. In that case it was decided that a bequest for founding and maintaining an institution for studying and trying to cure maladies of any quadrupeds or birds useful to man is a good charitable bequest. "Surely," remarked Justice Kay, "of all animals useful to man and domesticated in his service dogs hold the foremos place."

Lincoln's Kindness

[From the Baltimore American.] "Abraham Lincoln," said Judge Kelley, of eep mortification he experienced whenever he met with any mishap in his athletics which exposed him to ridicale—and the Pennsylvania, who is the father of the House dread of this ridicule caused him to go to the riding school or the gymnastic room with of Representatives, "was the most patient man in the details of life I ever saw. He much more serious face than he wore when was the only President we have ever had, sitting down to his books. In this, as in many other things, he was the opposite of ordinary young men. Once when he had rolled off his horse into the sawdust of the and probably ever will have, who knew nothing of the common autocracy of public life. He was the only man we ever had at riding school his military tutor, Colonel Heckel, laughed. Prince Louis turned to the White House who would go back of the him with a white face and said: "Pray, teach me, Colonel, to fall in a way wishes of persons and examine their real

I remember an incident in connection with the war which illustrates what I am trying to say. It is not proper for me to use names, but the story goes: It was at that early period in the rebellion when suspects and conspirators were being arrested and imprisoned by the wholesale. A letter written upon a printed sheet of paper, glv-ing the business of a prominent firm of mering the busiless of a prominent num of mer-chants in New York and containing incendi-ary language toward the Union, found its way into the hands of a government official in the South. The declarations were penned by a traveling man, who represented the firm mentioned in the letter head. The result was the arrest of the principal membe of that firm on the charge of conspiracy against the government. The letter was signed in such a way as to not make it per-fectly clear who the author was, and of course suspicion bore heavily upon the firm men-She displayed so much sympathy that she aloned. He is a man well known in New York to-day. Men were held in prison at that time on the slightest suspicion—suspi-cion in fact more slight than this one. The make-but she did not. The Senator while suffering one day deher and told her that it was of no use to call at the White House at such a late hour of the night. She said it made no difference, she wanted to see Mr. Lincoln and that he termined to give the nutmeg remedy a trial. He followed the old lady's directions and must drive her immediately to the executive mansion. When she presented herself at the entrance to the White House it was midin a few hours felt greatly relieved. He has worn the nutmeg ever since and is seldom troubled with neuralgia.
