SUCCESSORS TO

MESSRS. J. N. ADAM & CO

Regret the anoyances that their patrons have tolerated during the past week, while their store was being renovated; and we wish to express our appreciation of the considerate kindness of those who visited us and did their shopping under much personal discomfort. We are happy to announce that the march of improvement in the interior of our store has nearly ceased; that our store has been painted, whitened, cleaned and sweetened; that our cash railroad service has been improved; that by the addition of new electric lamps and rearrangement of the old, our store will be better lighted throughout in all departments. And now with a cleaner, lighter, handsomer store we shall endeavor to carry out our

EPPS'S COCOA.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gasette.

mounced it cancer. I have tried a number of physicians, but without receiving any perm nent benefit. Among the number were one or two specialists. The medicine tney applie was like fire to the sore, causing intense pain. I saw a statement in the papers telling what S. S. S. had done for others similarly afflicted. I procured some at once. Before I had used the second bottle the neighbors could notice that my cancer was healing up. My general health had been bad for two or three years-I had a hacking cough and spit blood con ually. I had a severe pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grow stouter than I had been for several years. My cancer has healed over all but a little spot about the size of a half dime, and it is rapidly disappearing. I would advise every one with cancer to give S. S. S. a fair trial. Feb. 16, 1886. Wednesday, September 1, 1886. POLITICAL PROHIBITION. One of the best known and most activrohibitionists in this region writes to us that he does not intend to desert the Republican part and does not think those prohibitionists who have done or intend to do so

It has always seemed to us surprising that prohibitionists in New England have thought t necessary to strike at the Republican party. The Rev. S. W. LeLacteur, of Portland, Maine, has something to say concerning this matter which is well worth attention. He says: The Republican party gave us the existing prohibitory law in 1858, and has from year to year given us such amendments as the majority of the friends of proibition asked for. When a law was desired putting temperance instruction in our public schools the Republican party gave us such a law. There is no need of a third party movement to secure prohibitory legislation for the Republican party has given us all we have asked for. The prohibition party at its last convention bore strong testimony to save him.—Burlington Free Press. what has been accomplished in this State A young lady in the West has given a wise hint to young husbands, viz: that they in-

And yet they ask that the Republican party should be defeated. It is as though a son who had received all the glory of his father should seek to thrust the dagger through his rather's heart. The complaint is made that the Republican party does not everywhere enforce the law. A few cases are pointed out, and the 450 ignored. If the same method were applied in judging the church sorry results would appear. In nearly every church a few memers may be found who do not honor their rofession. An infidel might say under this nethod of judgment that these few black sheep show the church to be in alliance with the devil. The third party would make a sorry spectacle under this test. The only man it elected in this State was Mayor Todd of Gardiner, and yet Mr. Thomas, a membe of this party, has stated on the stump that in Gardiner liquor is sold openly. From this it would seem that the third party is already in alliance with the rum power. No where in history can there be found an instance where a political party has been organized to enforce a law. The party enact a law; the people enforce it. This is sound sense. The attack of the prohibitionists on the Republican party i

The oil refiners of this country are not parparticularly pleased by the prospect of a nuch more severe competition with Russia in the manufacture and sale of kerosene oil than has thus far been encountered. New York and Chicago special attention is given to naturalization. Secretary Zeller tells the Chicago central labor union that of its 16,000 members only 9,000 are voters. At New York a larger proportion, it is beieved, are not entitled to political privileges.

The regulations issued by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue under the Oleomargarine act are severe enough. The bond that the manufacturers are required to file must be in a penalty of at least $5,000, and on the 31st of October, when the law goes into effect, every manufacturer must have all the product of his factory in wooden packages containing not less than ten pounds each and stamped or branded with the word "Oleomargarine" in letters not less than one-fourth of an inch square. He is also required to keep books open to inspection by the revenue officers showing in detail the nature and quantity of materials used and the quantity of the product. Wholesale dealers in their turn must keep books showing the oleomar garine received by them, from whom received, and to whom sold. Provision is made for testing the product when suspected of containing deleterious material, and for its branding and its sale if condemned.

The Salmon Industry of the Columbia the Rocky Mountains New Haven ers at Manitou-Eastern Colorade Blooming. TRINIDAD, Col., Aug. 24. o the Editor of the JOURNAL AND COURIER: Although our journal is sadly behind i the posting, and our present camp two thouand miles from our lest review, yet pleesant thoughts of Astoria and the salmon industry of the Columbia force themselves to he front, and a brief account of our visit here seems not out of place at this time. The salmon industry is on the decline on the Columbia; the total pack for this season being about four hundred and thirty-six thou-sand cases against five hundred and sixty sand cases against nve induced and skry-five thousand last year and six hundred and twenty-six thousand in 1884. The main cause of this falling off is owing to the greed of the fishermen. In former times the fish were caught the entire length of the ish were caught the entire length of the river as far as the cascades, but by the wheel system in the rapids and the entrance at Astoria completely blocked with nets, traps and seines, not enough get through to the spawning grounds to keep up the supply. So persistent are the gill net fishermen that boats go far out from the mouth of the river and was a consequence many are lost in er, and as a consequence many are lost in the breakers on the treacherous sand bar, which is a terror to all navigators even in the calmest weather. Fifty men have been lost this season in this perilous business. There are four methods of fishing; by the wheel, the trap (called pounds on the New England shores) the seines, which are hauled by horse power in the middle of the stream at low tide, and the gill net, the latter being the largest in men and catch. Through the kindness of an old acquaintance formerly from New York, we board a tugboat and exdore the harbor and river, which latter at Astoria is twelve miles wide, following the infortunate fish from the net until he is safely packed in pound cans and securely cased ready for the Portland steamer. The men engaged in this comparatively new in-dustry is estimated at twelve thousand; about one-third in the river and the balance rather go and get the water herself than have in the canneries. Of the latter fully three thousand are Chinamen. The labor societies it is said will demand the expulsion of Ah Sin next year, which if successful, my infor-

As a matter of course there are tricks in this trade like all others, and not a few packers put up what are called seconds, which may be a poorer grade of fish called steel heads, or fish too long out of the water. These seconds are sold to middle men at a low price and put on to the market as genuine Columbia river stock, but under the label of someone not a packer. There are thirty-nine canneries on the river, but the number of brands on the market is legion. The packets near the mouth of the river are in the best position to furnish good stock, as owing to nearness to the fishermen they can receive the fish within a few hours from the catch; yet not a few have been twenty hours dead before John Chinaman ranges them on the dissecting table. There are but two can-neries out of the thirty-nine that do in fact the subject to the minor organizations. At Mr. Hume on the dock with the air and appearance of a captain of an eastern coaster, in shirt sleeves and no suspenders, with logs in great force—we counted twelve hounds—and bear skins stretched on the dock building to dry. Mr. Hume is fond of bear hunting, and as game is plenty he enjoys his dogs and gun the same as in former ays, before the favorite chinook had brought im his present ample wealth. Our return to the east side of the Rockies was via the "Oregon Short Line" from Uma-tilla junction to Ogden, and thence over the Denver and Rio Grande to Denver. One cannot pass over the Short Line without thinking why was it built! The road does a poor business; it is of no use to the desolate country it passes over and can have little hope for the future except as a factor in a possible fight between the N. P. and the O. and N. The ride over the Denver and Rio Grande was full of wonder, excitement and alarm and will not soon be forgotten by the goodly number of passengers who shared our fears on the trip. As we were rapidly turning the dangerous curves through the grand gorge a few miles west of Canon City a rock fell from a great height across our parhway, and as good luck would have it the barnway, and as good luck would have it the descent was seen by the engineer, who by the use of his skill and the air brake saved us from destruction. For six hours we rested, while the wrecked engine was raised and removed and the huge boulder broken up. These kind of accidents are quite frequent I am told, but the newspa-pers are silent on the subject. Let all go over the Denver and Rio Grande that wish; I prefer some other route. Very over the Denver and Rio Grande that wish; I prefer some other route. Very pleasant days, though warm thus far in Colorado; at Denver, Colorado Springs and Maniton. At the latter we were delighted to find two old New Haveners, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Marble, who have been passing a number of weeks at this pleasant resort, and we also renew our acquaintance with two New Haven hove at first here. 100 Doses One Dollar. with two New Haven boys, at first her

All eastern Colorado is blooming this year, the numerous rains having filled the ranges with the best grass known since the cattle industry assumed its present magnitude, and making glad the heart of the range cattlemen, who by reason of low prices fer beef stock and unusual losses in the great storms of last winter, have been the great storms of last winter, have been under a cloud; alas, not a few of the weak ones will ever emerge.

We were riding with Captain Carlton the other day and asked him if Jimmy Dillard of Oglethorpe, did not belong to the Troupe artillery. "Yes, and a braver or better soldier did not enter the Confederate service, He was a mere stripling when he joined my company, but he was as cool and collected in battle as one of Napoleon's old guard. You know Jimmy Dillard was raised a very pious boy, and he led in the army as devout a life as if he were at home, but he could

It was at this juncture that an English officer, who had been sent here by his government to watch the American war, rode by in a hasty retreat out of danger. As he passed my battery there sat astride one of my guns, facing the enemy and defiantly waving a tat-tered flag, Jimmy Dillard, and he was so youthful a soldier and so cool and unconerned that the English officer, struck admiration at such gallantry, halted and asked the little fellow if he was not afraid of being killed. ""'O, no,' was the reply, 'Mars Bob Lee ordered me here and I'm not afraid to go mywhere he says.' 'In his report to the War department at home he mentioned this incident and com-mented upon it. It was taken up by the press and created considerable discussion. Generals Longstreet, Hampton and other Confederate officers after the war, were pre-paring a history of certain battles and located this incident in Haskell's battery. I once wrote to them and had it corrected,

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sai saparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effect-ing remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid. It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

The Annual Reunion of The Twenty Seventh C. V. To-Day. Members of the Twenty seventh C. V participating in the reunion at Pot Island to day, should bear in mind that the comrades asemble at Belle dock instead of at the green as formerly. The committee deemed this the better plan, in view of the large number of ladies who attend the Twentyeventh reunion. The regiment being essentially a local one, draws perhaps a larger attendance from New Haven than any other. At 9:30 sharp the Ivernia will leave for the island. After the business meeting is through the steamer is to make a trip among the Thimble Islands for the benefit of the ladies and other guests. The history of the Twenty-seventh regiment monument and the dedication ceremonies at Gettysburg, is expected to seventh regiment monument and the dedica-tion ceremonies at Gettysburg, is expected to be delivered to the comrades to-day. This Chief Bowen thought caused a great deal of jealousy between the men. An officer thought him-self in those days, as well as now, as good a man as any detective at that time on the force. The officers had an idea that they could uncerth mysteries as well as the detecrain. Members noted the fact that the past three annual picnics have been on rainy days. Chief Bowen introduced the practice of hav-ing an officer that had discovered facts of TWENTIETH REGIMENT REUNION The reunion of the Twentieth regime ing an officer that had discovered facts of value, to detail him to the duty required unless he preferred to be excused, when the case would be given to a detective. By this practice, which was for a time very popular, the officer of course if they were successful enjoyed the honors. While, as was very often the case then as well as now, an officer would give a clear case to a detective to have him enjoy the honor, while in reality the officer had worked the case to all but its close.

In those days as now, notwithstanding the care exercised by the commissioners in the selection of policemen, there was agreat difference of capacity and character existing among them, scarcely less marked than that which characterizes men in the ordinary pursuits of life. The force grew and prospered under Bowen and he retired two years later and was superceded by Charles W. Allen, who was a very popular chief among them embers of the force. About this time ment of the men and considerable political influence was brought to bear upon the appointment of the men and considerable political influence was brought to bear upon the appointments of men to the force. Chief Alien was superceded in office by Charles Webster, a man who probably did more for the building up of the force to its present state of capacity than any other man who ever was chief of the department. He held and managed the office very successfully up to the time of his death, which corcurred a year ago last January. The present incumbent, Charles F. Bollman, was elected to fill the vacancy after much wire pulling by the commissioners. Chief Webster, when he died, had the office in splendid running condition. The men were all well disciplined, and it would be hard to find a better flocking of men in the police force of any of the force of the general work of the season to be striving hard for the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department in his enders of the good of the department of the good of the department in his enders of the police force. A Card. To the gentlemen of the New Haven Steam boat company the managers of the New Haven orphan asylum would make their grateful acknowledgements for the excursion on the Elm City so generously given to-day to those connected with this institution. Many years before the Fresh Air mission was inaugurated in this country a noble and genrous impulse inspired the mind and moved the heart of your senior captain to take the asylum children out for a day on the water. Summer after summer this invitation has een given by Captain Richard Peck and thankfully accepted. We believe it has been a pleasure to be his coadjutors in this good work of giving a day of innocent and healthful recreation to a family who are closely confined to the routine of home life. To-day, as before, we entrusted to you care unhesitatingly the lives of all the fami ly, confident that naught that human skill and thought could do for their safety and address was delivered by Dr. Geo. B Loring In course of his remarks, after showing by a cheering array of statistics the admirable condition of agriculture in New England, Dr. Loring said: It is evident from these figures that the 187,252 farms in New En gland are yielding a good return to those who cultivate them. The New England farmer has learned that the market for his corn is essentially injured by the cheaper crops and easy transportation of the west and he raises it as subsidiary only to his other crops and The same is will make a fair return by the sale of milk for immediate use in the of land devoted to market gardening. He finds his orchards a profitable attachment to his farm when profitably located and wisely selected. He confines himself therefore to these crops and leaves the production of beef, pork, corn and wheat to cheaper land and more propitious skies. The figures have given prove the wisdom of his course.

ARRIED OUT THEIR THREATS.

A Village "Painted" With Fire-

South Royalston, Vt., Aug. 31.-Four arrested and charged with burglary upon the premises of M. J. Sargent, a druggist of this place whose buildings were burned last evening. The fellows were very angry and swore that whenever they got their liberty they would paint the village in flames. It is now stated that the men were set free a few days ago and many believe they fufillled their threats last evening. The railroad has secured the large storehouse belonging to Daniel Tarbell, south of the passenger station, and will occupy it for a freight station. A cooperative building association, that shall build a fire proof block to take the place of those burned last night, is proposed. It is estimated that more than $120,000 in buildings and goods were consumed by the flames in about two hours' time last evening, upon which there was less than $40,000 insurance. Twelve residences and thir teen store were burned and but little furniture was saved. In several instances there was saved the clothes upon the backs of the persons whose homes were burned. That the fire was kindled by incendiaries is the opinion of all the citizens. The fire was first discovered in the basement of . B. Durkee's store. Soon another was liscovered in some fuel in the rear of King's block, one hundred feet from Durkee's When the fire was first discovered an appeal for help was telegraphed to several places. The Central Vermont railroad management sent special trains with engines from North field, West Randolph and White River June field, West Randolph and White River Junc-tion, but before they could get here the fire was under control. Three years ago nearly all the business portion of the village was burned and now every business place with several residences have gone in smoke and flame. EARTHQUAKE SHOCK. Felt in the City Last Night-A Terro Stricken Family Rush to the Street -Felt in the Courier Office, Elks Hall, Garfield Building, Signal Office,

At four minutes to 10 o'clock last evening a very perceptible earthquake shock was felt at various points about the city. At the Central telephone office the shock made the building tremble, moved paper weights and gas fixtures. At the Courier office the shock was felt by several. It lasted about eight seconds. At the rooms of the St Aloysius society a party of six, who were present, felt the building lean and saw the pictures on the walls move frem their places Captain Charles W. Foster felt it in his office at 31 Crown street. Mrs. Foster was badly scared by the shock. Mr. Charles A. White felt it very perceptibly. In the Garfield building the inmates on the top floor, two families, rushed to the street as they felt the building swaying. They were badly scared. In the Elks' hall on Chapel street the shock was felt quite severely. Many people on the street felt the shock and thought it much fore severe than the one of a year ago. At the signal office the shock was felt. Cargili's Business College. F. A. KENT. Feb. 2, 1886. KENT, Feb. 9, 1886. Dear Sir-Your ast lot of Ointment received, and already I have disposed of several boxes. I will let you know how I was able to recommend it. Last April my horse was attacked with pneumonia. We all thought he could not live. Being a pet horse, we did everything possible to save it. The disease soon assumed a typhold form and the doctor advised us to kill him. The fever finally settled in his feet and he could not stand upon them. We tried several preparations to help the hoofs. Hearing of your Ointment I purchased a box, and lassure you it worked wonders in this case. All of my neighbors are surprised at the result. It is indeed the best Ointment in the world.

J. H. Fitzgerald, of St. Peter's church. The Episcopal service will be read.

The social hops which have been given during the season at Burn's Point have been a source of much pleasure to those who have attended them.

Rev. Mr. Sanford, of Grace church, New Haven, preachad in St. Peter's church in exchange with Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald.

The new desk and chairs for the First church adorned the platform last Sunday morning for the first time, and were dedicated by the preacher. They are of mahogany, of fine finish and design and an important addition to the improvements that have been made in the church of late.

There was a large attendance at the S. S. for them, and were marched on board the boat. Mrs. George W. Curtis, the president of the society, had also distributed 600 com-plimentary tickets for the excursion, and Kinney & Son, who keep their stables from 264 to 274 Congress avenue. The little new comers were made comfortable in the cabin where they could see and get the fresh sea breeze. At a quarter before ten the enjoyment of the day.

Another household has been bereaved of a loved one and a large circle of friends are called to abin where they could see and get the fresh sea breeze. At a quarter before ten o'clock the boat moved slowly out into the mouth of the harbor. Soon after the boat left the dock a heavy rain came on and kept the children between decks, but this did not seem to in the least interiere with the pleasure of the children, who, with smilling faces, crawled into every conceivable corner on the boat, played tag and had agood time generally. Noticeable among the children from the hospital was one little girl about eight years of age, who is suffering from a diseased bone in her knee. She was one of the most cheerful on board the boat and attracted everyone by her sparkling eyes and winning ways as she sat in a chair in the cabin near the stern of the boat with her injured leg stretched out on a piece of board. The Elm City steamed out into the Sound in the rain and fog and head ed toward the mouth of the Connectint river, but no land was in sight in any direction and they might as well have been one hundred miles out to sea. At 12 o'clock five tables were set on the lower deck and Mrs. Kingsley, assisted by about fifteen other benevolent laddes, began to set the tables. They were first covered with clean white table cloths and the wooden plates, and in each of these was a sandwich, a couple of peaches and some cake, besides a variety of other good things such as chil-

The children were then formed in line and marched to the tables where they in line and marched to the tables where they took their seats, after which they fell to with a good will and large appetites and the good things fast began to disappear as the children were made very hungry by the sea breeze. After they had finished eating Mr. John G. North took charge of them for a few minutes, and calling down Captain Peck introduced him to the children, after which they gave three hearty cheers for the captain and the good time he was giving them. Captain Peck in response said that he was not used to talking in public although he felt a great interest in children, and turning to ex-Mayor Henry G. Decline on a Very Small Volume o Business—The Morning Sales Aggregate Only Forty-Five Thousand Shares-Forencon News Has No In-fluence on High Prices - Markets Stronger in the Afternoon, but Not Maintained. NEW YORK, Aug. 31.

The market opened dull and lower. The opening prices were off 36 to 36 per cent. from the close of last evening and further declined 36 to 36 per cent. during the morning on a very small volume of business. At 12 o'clock the decline ranged from ig to 1 per cent. The greatest depression was in Erie preferred, Lake Shore, Jersey Central, Louisville & Nashville and Lackawanna. The stocks a all steady were the grangers, Western Union and Kansas & Texas. The sale: for the morning aggre gated only 45,00 shares and one-half of these wer made up of transactions in Lackawanna, Lak Shore and New York & New England. The news of the forenoon was favorable to higher prices, but it had no influence. Among the items current was the announcement of the canal strike and a statement to the effect that the demand for an advance by New York Central employes reported to have been made through the Knights of Labor, had been repudiated by the representatives of that-organization. After 12 o'clock the market, though dull, was stronger and in the hour and a half to 1:39 there was some recovery, resulting from a reduction in the rates of the exchange. The improvement was not maintained and at the close prices were at the lowest of the day and the final quotations showed a decline as compared with those of yesterday. The sales aggregated 89,716 shars.

Money closed at 5:46 per cent., which were also the ruling rates.

BLOW YOUR NOSE.

Disgusting Habit.
(From the Chicago Herald.)
Perhaps the most disgusting and filthy habit to which Americans are addicted, is the dirty indifference to the use of the handkerchief, and the substitution of the mouth for the offices of the nose. There is no sight so nauseating, revolting and sickening; nothing so suggestive of putrescence as this public relief of the hose and mouth. It is seen on the street, even in the church and theatre, and most offensively in a crowded car and in the presence of ladies, where there is no escape from its unsightliness, except to leave the car, or kill the perpetrator of such nastiness. Any one who can persist in the habit, after seeing another in the in the habit, after seeing another in the performance of an act so disgusting, must have either an iron-clad stomach or no stomach at all, or is too mean to buy a handkerchief, or too ignorant to know its use. The physiological place of the nose is highly important. Its relation to and sympathy with some of the most dangerous maladies which afflict mankind, are clearly understood. In catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, all diseases of the bronchi and lungs and disordered stomachs, it is sympathetically and deeply affected. By the disuse of the handkerchief, the mucous accumulations from the diseased organs drip into the lungs and stomach; hence the use of the handkerchief is not only a duty we owe to decency but to health. The nose being always sensitive to these irritations and inflammations of the throat and bronchial tubes, needs at

to these irritations and inflammations of the throat and bronchial tubes, needs attention and nature intended it as a discharge pipe. There is no doubt that by this abuse of the functions, and by this accumulation of these nauseous secretions, incipient consumption is hastened and the throat and bronchial maladies greatly aggravated. The proprietors of Duffy's pure malt whiskey, an article which has a reputation all over the country as being the most effective element in the cure of consumption and kindred troubles, say that of the thousand persons with whom their Medical Department is in constant correspondence on this one subject alone, fully one-half say their troubles are directly traceable to neglect of the proper functions of the nose. We have refrained for a long time making allusion to a thing for a long time making allusion to a thing go distateful, but it seems to be a growing vice and must be suppressed, if it takes a law to do it. Nuisances can be abated by law, and who knows how much contagion hay lurk in these filthy emissions.
