TROUBLE IN WISCONSIN. A Wisconsin judge has rendered an inter esting decision. At the last session of the legislature a statute was enacted giving to women the right "to vote at all elections in Wisconsin in which questions relating to the public schools were raised." The object of this law was to let women take part in school elections, but the fair importuners for political rights at once set up the claim that they could vote at any municipal election, because in such municipalities the elective city officials appoint the school boards. Litigation was therefore begun. The history of the present case is as follows: At the first election in Racine succeeding the passage of the new State law, Mrs. Olympia Brown Willis, an orator and preacher, presented a ballot at lem to be met by all forces which make for the respective property of the common state and the respective property of the common state that the random analyzed, and the common state that the random state the random state that the random state the random state that the random state the random state that the random state the random state that the random state the random state that the random st for malfeasance in office, and, to soothe their own feelings of resentment, the inspectors sued her for attempting to stuff a ballot box of the Second ward. In delivering his decision the judge pronounced the act constituwomen the right to vote on school questions, loosely worded. It will be interesting to see what the Supreme court says about the matter. The Wisconsin women who want to have reason for joy. Of course if the decision is confirmed by the Supreme court the only way for the Wisconsin men to get back their advantage will be to have the legislature repeal the law. There appears to be fun ahead in Wisconsin.

THE WHEELER CASE.

The Proceedings At Hartford Yester day-The State Rests-The Case Adjourned To November 31st. The E. S. Wheeler case was resumed b fore Judge Henney at the Hartford Police court yesterday morning. Only a few persons were present, mostly banking men. Mr. Wheeler sat beside his counsel and appeared like an indifferent spectator. General Mer their opponents. During the game Clark of win, the trustee, was not present yesterday, his presence not being required. President F. S. Bradley of the Yale National bank of New Haven testified that his bank discounted a Wicks company note August 10 for $3,641.11. It was payable to E. S. Wheeler & Co. It has never been paid. When Wheeler brought the note to us he said the firm had been improved by new capital and that the note was good, Mr. Bradley was not cross-examined.

Mr. Perkins declined to cross-examine be cause of his general objection to this class of evidence as inadmissible.

Henry W. Latimy of Baltimore, a lawyer there for seven years, testified as to the in-solvency law in Maryland. The law refers solvency law in Maryland. The law refers only to individuals and partnerships, not to corporations. The usual proceeding against the corporation is by a bill in equity by one of the creditors. I conducted the proceedings against the J. L. Wicks company which wound them up.

Mr. Parker—"Have you claims to a large that control the Wicks company in your nt against the Wicks company in your hands for collection?"

Mr. Perkins objected to this and it was then shown that the said claims were stated in the record of the Probate court of Baltimore, and the question was then allowed.

Mr. Latimy then said be represented in those proceedings several New Haven banks
as follows: Yale National $9,000, Merchants' $3,000, National Tradesmen's $3,000, First ational $13,000, City $9,000, Mechanics $3,000, making a total of $40,000. Mr. Parker sought to show by witness what he books of the Wicks company show with reference to the issue of the stock of that company, but Mr. Perkins objected. Judge Henney admitted the enquiry.

Mr. Latimy said: The stock book of the James L. Wicks company shows that the first six issues were of one share each to six parties named in the record in evidence. The next issue was of 994 shares to James L. Wicks and is cancelled. In lieu of that there were 50 shares issued to D. L. Monroe and 944 to James L. Wicks. The final issue was 884 shares to E. S. Wheeler and sixty shares to James L. Wicks. The only certificate re-moved from the book was that to Wheeler. The only minutes of the organization of the company were on slips of paper. The first slip showed Wicks as president. Another slip was an offer of Wicks for 994 shares of the new company, in payment of which he offered all the assets of James L. Wicks & Co. The statement showed none of the liabilities of the latter concern. The next was a written acceptance of this offer by the new company. Nothing in the records of the organization of the James L. Wicks company shows that any oney was paid in. examination—One of the allegations made in the petition of insolvency against Wicks was that he had been drunk for a week. There was nothing shown me in the papers that any money had been paid into the new concern. A mortgage covering the assets of James L. Wicks & Co. was made to Meehan, an agent of Wheeler's, after the Wheeler failure, the validity of which mort-gaze will be contested.

Mr. J. C. Bradley, cashier Merchants' National bank of New Haven, discounted a note or Wheeler and we now have a J. L. Wicks note as collateral therefor. The date of this note as collateral therefor. The date of this note is July 26, '87, and the amount $2,-912.33, three months after date. It has never been paid. The Wheeler note has never been paid either, though a demand

Mr. Cole offered a large amount of corre ondence between Wheeler and Meehan of Baltimore, to show that Meehan was the gen eral agent of Wheeler, but it was excluded. At this point the State rested at 11:45. Mr. Perkins said the defence would offe o evidence and claimed the State had no made out a case, but as considerable evidence had been admitted which had no been contemplated time was required to look up points bearing on this, and counsel had agreed upon adjournment. The case was then adjourned until November 21 at 10 a.m. under the same bonds. The Wheeler books are to be sent back at ce to General Merwin, who says he needs hem constantly as trustee. His lecture was profusely illustrated fine stereopticon views of the famous emples, pagodas and public buildings of the large cities of the great empire, and was very pleasing and instructive. The speaker made an eloquent plea in behalf of his countrymen and denied the allegation that the denizens

LOMBARD STREET EXTENSION. The Board of Public Works Hears Persons Pro and Con Who Are

Interested in the Extension Lombard Street-If the Extension is Made the Proposed New Bepot at the Junction Would Not be Brected The Street Preferred by Some. There were a score or more persons present t the meeting of the board of public works last evening who were interested in the proposed extension of Lombard street connecting with Laurel street. The petition called for the extension of Lombard street from the resent terminus westward to Laurel street, assing under the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad by a suitable passageway and over Mill river by a bridge. In December, 1884, the Common Council eassed an order that the board of public works cause a survey and layout to be made.

It was never made, however, and the order was pigeon-holed. At the last meeting of the oard Major Lincoln appeared before the board and revived the matter. Wm. J. Atwater favored the extension and thought it would be a public improvement. Patrick Roach, Michael Roach and John Reyholds favored the layout if the extension John Hartigan, representing John Carr, said Mr. Carr favored the extension.

Henry C. and Howard A. Porter, repreited by Charles Shelton, totally opp the layout on the ground that it would be too xpensive. Mr. Russell, of the firm of Russell Bros. said that the extension of the street was nore importance than the erection of the roposed depot at the junction of the S Line and Hartford tracks. He said that land for many blocks around had laid dormant. Twelve years age a petition was gotten up for the extension of Lombard street, but in some mysterious manner it was killed.

Professor Townsend represented the railroad. He was accompanied by Civil Engineer Curties. The railroad company claims that the extension of Lombard street would materially interfere with the proposed new depot at the junction. Engineer Curtiss stated that it would cost from $30,000 to $35,000 to run the street under the railroad tracks.

Edward Dillon favored sacrificing the deoot in favor of the extension. He strongly avored the layout.

Major William A. Lincoln, representing 1,200 feet, spoke in favor of the proposed new layout, but said he didn't want to autagonize the railroad. He said that President Warren of the State street horse railroad had told him that in all probability a line of cars would be run over Lombard street i Rutledge and William Johnston favored i public improvement. Professor Townsend said the officials of the road had stated to him positively that if the new street was run through, cutting the center out of the proposed depot, they could not build the depot. President Clark told him they would posi-tively have to abandon the plan if the extension was made. Commissioner Sullivan asked if the city had power to take the land owned by the railroad company. Prof. Town-send said that in his opinion it had not. On motion of Commissioner Whitney the matter was referred to the corporation coun sel, who will be requested to give his writ-ten opinion as to the rights of the city to take any of the sites of the proposed railroad depot.

The corporation counsel was also reques ed to give his written opinion as to the legality of the claim of $1,250 presented agains the city by Contractor Patrick Dewling, who claimed that he lost that amount owing to a change of grade which was made in a street which he was grading. At the last meeting of the board the matter was referred to a committee to look over the ground. Commissioner Reilly was of the opinion that the contractor should get $500. Commissioner Whitney thought $300 would be about right. THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

The lecture to be given by the Rev. San Jones at the Hyperion Theater to-night will be full of interest for everybody. It is a regular Jones talk, in which persons and topics are discussed with that breezy freedom fo which the speaker is noted. Mr. Jones has made an unmistakable hit in this lecture. He will take occasion to tell what he thinks of college students, and his remarks on that point are likely to be highly entertaining. He is a wonderful man, a peculiarly original, unique speaker, one who possesses remarka-ble powers of entertaining an audience. Everywhere he goes he draws crowded houses. Spirits. THE HAZING OF YOUNG CHOATE All the Facts of the Case Given by the Students Concerned. WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 16.-The acts in regard to the hazing of George Choate at Williams college have been fully disclosed by the voluntary acknowledgment of all the participants. Each of the persons oncerned has made an individual statement of the affair subscribed and sworn to before a ustice of the peace. The following is comoiled by the authorities of the college from hese affidavits and it is believed to be an exact and complete account of all the hazing which Choate received while a member of the college: On the evening of September 15 at had been calling upon him, intending as he said to take a walk. As it was found to be raining he went on the invitation of them to their room in Morgan Hall, the adoining building. After a few minutes they companied him at his request to call or two of his classmates rooming overhead. Then he expressed a desire to visit other rooms in the building and they went to several neighboring rooms occupied by freshmen and sophomores. In one of these rooms about fifteen students gathered including five freshmen. Choate was introduced to nch of the company as he did not already know. Biscuits and olives were passed and after some minutes' conversation not addressed to anyone in particular someone proposed that Choate should get up on the table and thank the occupants of the room YULE TIDE, HOLLY LEAVES.

he shook hands with the persons present and the girl and then the bomb might have been went down stairs, as did all the company exept the occupants of the room. Some noise ned by efforts to capture a bat which had flown into the passage. Among those attracted by this noise were some soph-omores who invited Choate to go to a room in another part of the building, which invita-tion he readily accepted. Here in the preswetting him and he was told his boat was table. To this he somewhat demurred, but after a moment complied. While under the tablesomeone pushed him with his foot and on emerging an empty paper basket was placed upon his head. Finally he gave an exhibition of swimming, lying upon a desk. Then at about 11 o'clock he returned to his room. He was subjected to no further hazing or this or any other occasion, nor was any vio

ence or compulsion used except as stated The students who were present during any of these proceedings and who have made affidavits have expressed their readiness to meet Mr. Joseph H. Chöate and to answer any questions he may put to them. Their names are as follows: S. V. Beckwith, C. L. Case, W. H. Cleminshaw, L. C. Couper, S. Crook, L. Crosby, J. H. Denison, N.Gorham, C. E. Johnson, W. F. Judson, G. P. Keating, G. Y. Lansing, F. H. Lovell, F. T. Nevin J. O. Nichols, C. C. Nott, N. H. Par tridge, C. M. Ransom, M. T. Reynolds F. K. Scribner, G. K. Turner and H. R Vermilye. It has been necessary to hold the above statement from publication two days longer than was originally intended. It is unfortunate that unauthorized versionshave the meantime been published. In reference to these statements it may be said, according to these affidavits, that no part of Choate's clothing was removed at any stage of the proseedings add that the sophomores deny having having spoken with him at any time on religious subjects. Harris B. Fisher, whose name was published yesterday, had no connection with the affair.

FIRE IN A STEAMER'S HOLD. The Cargo of Oil and Cotton Makes a Fierce Blaze. Boston, Nov. 16 .- The after-hold of the teamer Venetian in which the fire occurred to-day contained at the time three hundred bales of cotton and two hundred barrels of oil. The fire was a fierce one and required a double complement of firemen and the combined efforts of the two harbor boats to check and extinguish it. The Venetian is still discharging her cargo and will probably be cleared to-morrow. The cotton taken out is badly damaged and it will probably be two or three days before the steamer can reload and sail. NEW RULES FOR BASE BALL the Brotherhood Riding a Very High Horse.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.-Base ball men

rowded the corridors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel this morning and nothing but base ball and the convention was talked of. Among the most prominent were Mesers. Billings, Soden and Conant, of Boston; President Nimick and Manager Phillips, of Pittsburg; G. G.: Ethan A. Weaver, G. L., and Lewi Presidents Young of Washington and Day of Stockton, Ch. New York; Messrs. Rogers, Beach and Reed, of Philadelphia; Robert and Walter Hewitt, of Washington: Brush, of Indianapolis; A. S. Spaulding, of Chicago; President Stearns, of Detroit; Sharsig, of the Athletic; Byrne Doyle and Abell, of Baltimore. The probable action of the league toward the brotherhood was the chief topic of conversation. Players Ward, Hanlon, Brouthers and Morrill representing the brotherhood are at the Barrett House waiting for a committee from the league to call upon them. Ward said to a rethe advances it could in honor make.

The convention met shortly after noon and The convention met shortly after noon and adopted the changes in the rules approved at Pittsburg on Monday. Then a recess was taken. It seems now as though the East and West division question would only receive passing notice at this meeting. If, however, the percentage plan is introduced with any energy toward its enforcement Boston will probably push the new division idea. At the close of the day's session President Young said the convention had been engaged entirely on the work of reconstruction of the conly on the work of reconstruction of the con-stitution and that the brotherhood matter would not be discussed until to-morrow. The brotherhood representatives have seemingly assumed a very independent position. They will not consent to call at the convention's rooms and say they will not until the conven-tion sends a committee to them. It is said a capitalist told President Ward that in case the league refuse to recognize the brotherhood he and others would form a syndicate to back the brotherhood in the formation of an dependent league in which only brother ood players would be recognized. Club would be placed in this city, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Detroit and Providence

THE SUICIDE OF LOUIS LINGG. Some Interesting Facts Told At the Coroner's Inquest-The Manner In Which the Bomb Was Smuggled in-

The letters implied that the turnkeys killed Lingg and were evidently written by the ame man for the writing was alike. The letter to Juror Muller was as follows: Mr. A. J. Mullier:

Dear Sir—You are aware that you are on the jury to inquire into the death of the late Louis Lingg. Will you please take particular notice what that Mr. O'Neill says, for it looks saspleious about him and Henry Hogan finding so much about Lingg when there were others that were in his cell as much as those men. Mr. Folz exhibited a half dozen twisted and blood stained pieces of gas. These were the pieces found in Lingg's cell. A small bolt one and a half inches long plugged up one end of the little bomb and the rest contained the dynamite. Jailer Folz then described the dynamite. Jailer Folz then described the finding of the bombs on Sunday. "On that morning," said Mr. Folz, "we made a search of Lingg's cell. Jailer Hogan went in first and I followed. It was pretty dark and Hogan ran against some obstruction. It fell over on the bottom, spilling out two bombs on the floor. When we get conjuted a little record. the floor. When we got quieted a little we took the box out. It had a false bottom and took the box out. It had a false bottom and in this were found two more bombs. We searched all the prisoners and Lingg's cell thoroughly and how he got the bomb with which he killed himself I cannot say." Sheriff Matson questioned Mr. Folz until he elicited the fact that no ene had been near nor could get near Lingg after the four bombs were found except the two keepers. Sheriff Matson said Lingg must have had the bomb concealed about his person somewhere.

County Physician Moyer probably gave the correct place of the concealment of the bomb and that was within the bombmaker's body. "That is the only way in which he could have concealed it without our knowledge," said the doctor, "for we searched every-

His theory was that Lingg received the bomb with which he killed himself through the screenings; that it was given him by some outside party before the big find and that he had concealed it in ome mysterious manner about his person.

John C. Klein, the Times reporter who aided the physician in caring for Lingg after the explosion, gave a plausible theory as to the manner in which the bomb was gotten through the bars into Lingg's hands. The following was the programme: Trio Miss Kate Lewis; recitation by W. G. Isbell, P. G. C.; musical sleigh bells, Captain H. W. Nearly all who took part in the programme had to respond to encores. The committee having the affair n charge was made up of E. F. Durand, H. R. Seward, J. H. Norman, D. Campbell, I.H. Stoddard, J. P. Gilman, H. W. Durand. The Pythian address was made by Colonel E. F.

The Address.

Nineteen years ago to night there were as-sembled in this building thirty-eight men who had pledged themselves to the formation of a lodge or branch of a society the foundation of which was friendship and whose future should be devoted to deeds of charity and benevolence.

There were present with them gentlemen from New York with authority to institute and instruct them and receive their pledges

f honor that they would carry out the prin The pledges were given and the impressive ceremonies which indelibly fix in the mind the lessons to be inculcated followed. The officers elected were installed and Rathbone lodge No. 1, Knights of Pythias of Connecicut, was born, the first in the New England

Since that memorable night this lodge has assembled once a week without a single inter-nission, and to-night we come together to mission, and to-night we come together to celebrate the completion of its nineteenth year and the one thousandth night of meeting. Nineteen years ago we stood alone in the eastern States. To-night we can count our sister lodges by the hundreds and our brother Knights by thousands. Then there were but 50,000 Knights in the world; now there are bont 300,000, men who according to our law nust be white male citizens of good moral haracter, sound in bodily health and believ rs in the Supreme Being. Having thus briefly stated the reason for his celebration it is but fair I should give those of you who are not members of our order some idea of what it is, what its principles are and the manner in which they are earried out in life. First, we will go back to the time in the history of Sicily when Dion-ysius the elder was on the throne. Here fol-lowed a vivid recital of the beautiful and pathetic story of Damon and Pythias.

This bright spot on the pages of the past is orld within its jurisdiction, interested solely and ily to disseminate the great principles of friend-ilp, charity and benevolence. Nothing of a secta-an or political character is permitted within its ortals. Toleration in religion, obedience to law ope, his refuge, shelter and defense to soften down as aspertites of life, to subdue party spirit and by he sweet and powerful attractions of the glorious rinity of friendship, charity and benevolence to dud in one harmonious brotherhood men of all issees and all opinious. The brightest jewels which garners are the tears of the widows and orphans, and its imperative commands are to visit the homes there lacerated hearts are bleeding, to assuage the ifferings of a brother, bury the dead, care for the ridow and educate the orphan, to exercise charity oward offenders, to construe words or deeds in purpose and good intentions to others, and to pro-ect the principles of knighthood unto death. Its aws are reason and equity, its cordial doctrines in-spire purity of thought and life. Its intention is beace on earth, good will to men.

Certainly there is nothing in this declara ion to which every man of honor cannot suboribe, and all our rites, obligations and cereill these principles into our minds and im-I us to follow them out, and to practice ir golden rule, whatsoever we would that e.. should do unto us and ours, do we even We take no part in political or frelig-ous disputes, allowing nothing to be ious disputes, allowing nothing to be brought within our circle that could divide r disturb. We have no aristocracy, but al meet on one common level—the mechanic, the professor, the rich, the poor, the high, the low, so long as they are honorable, hon-est and pure, meet on one plane of equality. The history of the order has been one of The order of Knights of Pythias has proved a blessing to every community in which it has been established and there are not only in this city but all over the world many, very many, who thank heaven that the husband and father was a member of the Our ideal charity is not the cold charity of the world at large, but in its true sense a genuine love for humanity. When we assist a brother we do not call it charity. trouble comes to one he simply takes his portion, for it is his and he receives it net as sold charity, but as his rightful due, his own.

We teach benevolence and practice where We teach benevolence and practice what we teach, and while we believe in serving our brothers first and always, we do not stop there, but as at the time of the great Chi-cago fire, when the Knights of Pythias sent over $15,000 for the relief of their distressed brethren, the Chicago Knights, after re-lieving their own brethren, found they still had on hand a large amount of clothing, food and money, and this was promptly distribu-ted among those less favored, and the report of the committee who had the matter in charge voiced the sentiment of the entire order when they said we could not bear to see suffering around us when we had the means with which to relieve it, and as freely as we had received we freely gave.

I could tell you of many in this city who now live in comfort and happiness who owe it to the benevolence of the Knights of Pythias, and while they thank God and us we rejoice that we have been the means of doing good to suffering humanity.

The address then speaks of the great benefits of the endowment rank, in which members may be insured for $1,000, $3,000, or $5,000 at the lowest rates consistent with wisdom and safety. What a blessing this has proved in many cases! has proved in many cases!

Young in years, the organization is great and powerful, and its principles commend themselves and are eminently commenda-With other remarks the speaker concluded asking, Is it any wonder that we love this order, an order with such fellowship, such

For a city of one hundred and twenty-five thousand people Rochester has made a good many sensations. Sam Patch and his deadly leap, the Fox sisters' spiritual rappings, Seward's 'Irrepressible conflict' speech, Susan B. Anthony's attempt to vote, the cometary discoveries of Dr. Swift, of Warner ob-servatory, have each made the city the "talk of the world;" she leads in the manufacture proprietary medicine, and her immense arsery, shoe and clothing interests put her n the front rank. The origin of one of her greatest industries is interesting. About ten years ago one of her foremost citizens was stricken down in the very height of a successful business career with what his doctors said was an in-curable disease. They gave him up to die, He then used what is now known as War ner's safe cure, and since then has developed as the world's great champion of the people against the assumed monopoly of physicians over the treatment of disease.

His fight too has been a determined one, and as successful as determined. To day he is the head of the largest proprietary medi-cine business in the world, having branch houses and laboratories in London, England; Toronto, Canada; Melbourne, Victoria; Sydney, New South Wales; Frankfort, Germany; Prague, Austria; Rangoon, Burmah. Many foreign governments will not permit the manufacture and sale of proprietary

In every case Warner's safe cure has passed examination with the highest satisfaction to the government chemists and analysts, and the sought-for permission has been granted, which no other Amer-sion has been granted, which no other American has before secured.

This confirms the magnificent reputation given it by leading physicians, ministers, Senators, Congressmen, lawyers and ladies of the world. "Its secret of success," says the leading physician at Clifton Springs, N. Y., sanitarium. "Is the simplicity of its companyation in which the

The American is getting to be quite as tenacious of his personal rights as against conspiring monopolies as is the typical Eng-lishman, and this Rochester telephone spi-sode is a noteworthy illustration of the fact.

At that time Samuel Hitchcock was Mayor of the city, and Charles O'Neil, the watchmaker on Broadway, is the only surviving member of the Court of Common Council. The book was printed by William Storer, jr., and devotes a page to Fair Haven, which, according to the work, contained 1,200 population and was the most flourishing village in the State. Its principal industry then, as now, was in the oyster line and the bivalvular crop amounted to between 20,000 and 40,000. Long clams were also an article of export and the yield was put down at 4,000 bushels. Fair Haven was at one time, the work goes on to explain, called Dragon on account of the vast number of seals which the early settlers found along the shore and which were then called dragon.
