The prohibition vote fell off about a quarter in Vermont, and the indications are that there is a similar state of affairs in Maine. There is no reason to suppose that General Fisk will stairs?" Sub-editer—"Sh-h-h! That's the get any more votes in November.

The change indicated by this is an import ant one. If there is a similar change in New York next Nevember it will give Harrison and Morton the thirty-six votes of the State.

And there are excellent reasons to expect such a change. The Tribune points out some f them as follows: Since the last election a new issue has been forced upon the people, that of the preservation of our system of manufactures, upon which the prosperity of this great commonwealth depends. Very many of the men who have for years past oted the prohibition ticket believe that this nestion is of vital importance. Will they o on voting for a ticket which represents ertainly so far as national affairs are conerned, a mere abstraction? Will they cast a vote for free trade, for the sake of the mere satisfaction they will have in being counted for prohibition—a record which cannot have the least practical result! We do not believe it. Furthermore, there are State reasons why they should vote the Republican ticket. The shortest way for them to secure a hear-The shortest way for them to secure a hear-

In the window of a Main street drug at ing for prohibition is to strengthen the hands of the Republican party, which is pledged to submit that question to the voters of the State. Then, too, much as they may differ from the views of the Republican party on license, they cannot be indifferent to the fact that the whole saloon power has organized the fair creature. She took it for the latest thing in sods, only she didn't get it. The clerk fainted.—Buffalo Courier.

It will be very surprising if these reasons do not have a good deal of weight. And right here in Connecticut, where the prohibitionists are claiming everything, there are plain signs that they are losing groud. They deserve to. Their chief aim seems to be to damage the only party that ever helped them.

payable within thirty days. The expectation was that, rather than submit to the loss which the borrowing of some $500,000 to meet these notes would entail, the objectionable parties would sell their stock and gracefully retire. They did nothing of the kind, however, but secured an injunction restraining the directors from paying the dividend or issuing the notes on the ground that the actual profits of the business did not exceed 5 per cent. and that the dividend should be limited to that amount.

Benjamin F. Rogers, a New York Democrat, who was an earnest supporter of Cleveland four years ago, will work and vote for Harrison this wear. The research has cived to the house it To get the immense coffin into the house it To get the immense coffin into the house it land four years ago, will work and vete for Harrison this year. The reasons he gives for his change are interesting. He says: I enlisted in Angust, 1862, in the 107th New York regiment, and in the fall of 1862 was sent to Chattaneoga with Gen. Hoeker, and was then in Sherman's army until the war closed. On the 25th of May, 1864, while fighting at Dallas, Ga., I was shot through my right thigh and sent to a hospital. After lying there six months it was decided that I should be placed in the invalid corps, but I asked them to let me go back to my regiment, and although the cord in my leg had contracted so that I had to walk on my toe, they sent me to join my regiment at Savantion from an unbroken line.

the colon from from the wagon, but extend very thing was in readiness to lower it into the ground it was found that the grave was too shallow and the ground very marshy. Owing to this latter fact Mr. T. A. Johnson, Winnie's former manager, refused to allow the body to be buried, and another site had to be selected and a grave dug, the work being done by the light of lanterns. When the grave was ready to receive the corpse the twenty-two men lifted the coffin and big Winnie was allowed to slide alowly into her last resting place.

Rev. Mr. Walker, colored, who had office ted at a funeral at the cemetery shortly before, was called upon and conducted the funeral services. Some kind-hearted person placed a small bouquet of white flowers upon the grave. Winnie's sons seemed very much affected at their mother's death.

Those who saw Winnie when she came to this city the first time will never forget the occasion. She arrived from New York at Winnie was, for so large a woman, a very small eater. She could not stand upon her feet unsupported. Winnie's husband died about six years ago and she never renewed the bonds of matrimony.

Veritable dens of rattlethat the whole saloon power has organized itself in this campaign, as never before, against that party. The Prohibitionists must be for the saloons or against them. A vote for the prohibition candidate for governor will be a vote for David B. Hill, whom the saloon-keepers call "our friend." A vote for Fisk will be a vote for free trade.

It will be very surprising if these reasons do not have a good deal of weight. And the first surprise in the whole saloon of the saloon would fill several columns of this paper. On Monday, the saloon of the s was four feet long and had nine rattles. The snake was skinned and the skin measured twelve inches across at the widest part. THE STATE FAIR. Grand Exhibition Which is Libera Patronized -- Large Attendance The Town Hall Exhibits—The Dis-play at the Fair Grounds—Trotting that the recent rain had diminished the atmdance at the nineteenth annual State fair very large attendance that was present both at the fair ground and at the Town hall was rarionaly estimated, but it is probable that from 4,000 to 5,000 persons were at the fair during the day.

The exhibit at the town hall is remarkably ood. No description can convey an adenate conception of the beauty of some of he most attractive articles that are exhibited by the large manufacturing firms of Meriden. Among the large number of valuable articles exhibited by the Meriden Britannia articles exhibited by the Meriden Britannia company are some very expensive and beautiful art works that must be seen to be fully appreciated. Parker Brothers, manufacturers of guns that are noted for superiority, have a showcase of fine guns in the hall. Baum & Bernstein, the Palace block clothiers, have a showcase which contains a beautiful display of gents' furnishing goods. The stage in the hall is made attractive by the beautiful fioral display, among which is a collection—one of the largest ever seen—it is said this one beats the record for size. A large collection of gladiolas is from New York, but nearly all of the floral display is from the florists of Meriden. The flowers emit a delightful and refreshing odor.

Mrs. W. H. Lethrop of Hartford and Mrs. J. M. Smith of Meriden have on exhibition beautiful embroidered articles and other works of art.

beautiful embroidered articles and other works of art.

Mrs. Samuel Comstock of Norwich has a show case which contains handsome hand painted photograph and handkerchief cases, etc. The display of bed spreads is extensive—among the attractive spreads is one in the east gallery that is outlined with etching and is beautiful.

The button fever that has existed in Meriden during previsus years is not unknown now. Ella M. White of Yalesville has a string of buttons at the fair labelled "memoy buttons."

Several pairs of polished horns are worthy of mention.

The total exhibit at the fair grounds is considered by good judges the best that has ever been seen at any of the State fairs that have been held at Meriden. The display in some departments is not as good as during former fairs, but this only applies to a few of the departments. The poultry exhibit is not as good as last year, but the show of agricultural implements is very much larger than usual. The show of apples, pears, peaches, grapes and other fruits is remarkably good for this year.

At the Prohibition Tent.

The Prohibitionists were more cheerful last night, their tent not bing spoiled by either reezing weather or a rain storm. Owing to the pleasant night there was a large attendnce. S. P. Thrasher presided and Rev. Mr. Wooley spoke. He is a very eloquent speaker, and by many is likened to Gough for magnetic oratory. He speaks again to-night. The Prohibitionists have put one of the most eloquent men they have got into New Haven, as they know this is a political stronghold, but seem to gain but very few new converts. The singing at the meeting was by the Loyal Legion, a temperance so-ciety of children, and Mr. Wooley sang the solo part of the song "Where Is My Wander-

AMONG THE VACHTSMEN. The Fall Races on Saturday the 22d-Meeting Last Evening—Brief Addresses by Judge Quillinan of Derby, Mer-bert E. Benton, General Garland E. Gifts by Gen. Ford and Commodore Hughes of New York-Yachts An

A pleasant, patriotic and heart-warming meeting was that of the Republican league New Haven Gun club, at the club grounds last evening at their parlors. A number of on West Chapel street. There were ten speeches were made and these were followed the lateness of the seeson and cold weather events on the programme, but only nine were by a most excellent collation, prepared by Mr. Bradley, the steward. There were present a number of the more prominent memmuch rivalry between the shooters. Quite a bers of the lesgue, some of whom have held bers of the league, some of whom have held honorable positions in the service of the State and nation. President Greely called upon one after another and they all promptly responded with brief addresses, for the most part filled with sound arguments in favor of the principles and policy of the Republican thing new to say whenever he talks upon the colitical questions of the day, made the first peech, in which he predicted that the north and the Republican party will be as solid next November as in 1864 and that the country would see another Appomattox this

The most forcible and energetic address was made by Judge Quinilan of Derby, who had fortified himself with historical facts had fortified himself with historical facts tending to show that the Democratic party was never the friend of the free workingman. He said: "I remember that in 1853 and '54 many of the temperance men wanted the Maine law. Thomas H. Seymour was the Democratic candidate. It was the policy of the Prohibitionists to wait until the two great parties had nominated their ticket and then to decide whether to adopt either of them or make another ticket. In 1854 Henry Dutton was a candidate for governor. We temperance men conferred with him and adopted the whig platform and the Maine law was passed. I never found that a man lost easte in the South because he was a drunkard or gambler. The judge ridiouled the absurd story that the Republican is a free whisky party. In 1874 can is a free whisky party. In 1874 Mills, at an anti-prohibition convention made a speech which was broadly circulated The speaker, after alluding to other historica facts, recalled the attitude of southern Dem facts, recalled the attitude of southern Democrats at the time of Andy Johnson's administration. In the whole history of the Democratic party in 1856 did they ever denounce such men as Yancey, Rhett and Calhouni In 1864 they were demanding the cessation of the work of the government and were declaring the war a failure. In '64 they went in for Polk and Dallas and the tariff of '42. Dallas proved a traitor. In '42 they wanted a tariff for revenue only.

Dallas proved a traitor. In '43 they wanted a tariff for revenue only.

Judge Quillinan inferred to the inconsistency of Cleveland's various messages on the tariff question. In his first message he denounced the very laws by which he became a President. When Cassidy, a leading lawyer of Philadelphia, who came to New Haven to defend the accused in a murder trial, went to Washington to expostulate with the President Washington to expostulate with the President for his views on the tariff President Cleve-land was incorrigible. He told Lawyer Cas-sidy that he believed in free trade as much as the did in the Protestant religion. One of two things is certain, either President Cleveland don't believe in Protestantism or he don't believe in free trade. We are fighting the same battle as twenty years ago. Then it same battle as twenty years ago. Then it was against southern armies in the field and now against the money of the Cobden club. We shall again have a solid North as in the days of the rebellion.

H. P. Hubbard when asked by a friend why the Demogratic papers, had no such circumstants.

why the Democratic papers had no such cir-culation as the Republican, said that he sup-posed Republicans were the greatest readers. President Greely took occasion to remark upon the great work being done by the liter-ary bureau, and said that not since 1860 were ary bureau, and said that not since 1860 were the people so active in getting the truth regarding political issues of the day.
General S. E. Merwin, being called upon, warned the Republicans that there might be defeat through over confidence in victory.
The Democrats were not all dead. He believed that Connections was to eattle as to lieved that Connections was to settle as to who should be President. Money would be freely used by the Democratic managers. He believed that next to working for a church The speaker said: "We see the same ele about o'clock at the corner of Court and State | ment arrayed against us that was in force in

Colonel William H. Lincoln though unprepared made a fine address, urging that the humbug charge of there being a free whisky plank in the Republican platform should be fully exposed to all voters. He had gone to war from a love of country and that same love of country had made him a Republican ever since. It is this same love of country which will carry the Republican party to victory through the approaching battle.

Judge L. P. Deming spoke of the condition of life among blacksmiths when he was a boy in the Berkshire Hills and the comparatively comfortable und elegant homes which they now enjoy. His father was a blacksmith and he (the speaker) knew that if all the facts of the history of mechanical labor in this country were known to every voter. the racts of the history of mechanical labor in this country were known to every voter, there would be a unanimous vote among the workingmen for the Republican candidates. President Greely said that the next meeting of the league, would be the mass meeting when they would listen to General Foraker and another distinguished statesman, two weeks hence.

Returned From Maine's North Woods church, arrived yesterday afternoon from a stay or a number of weeks in the north of Maine. His headquarters were at the Mt. Kineo House. Saturday's tide will be very favorable for the yachts and a most interesting and pleasurable event is foretold for the fall exhibition.

The cool weather and brisk breezes of auur new styles in this department are now ready for inspection, and prices range from $6.00 to $25.00. The cool weather and brisk breezes of autumn make everything fascinating about the ocean, and the hardy tars and tried sailors of the olub anticipate a delightful outing with their friends and fair componions.

At last night's meeting a book of English yachting was presented to the club from General George H. Ford. It is a book bought by him while abroad and is a valuable treatise and manual of yachting. It comprises signals and rules of racing, at the same time giving many interesting details of English boats.

coming races will take the place of the usua

autumn festivities.

They will be held on Saturday, Septemb

Another noticeable tropy lately presented to the club is an immense tarpon over four feet in length which is gracefully placed over one of the wide entrances to the parlor on the second floor. It was caught by Commodore Fred Hughes of the New York Yacht club while at St. James City, Fla. The commodore says he pulled the big fish in with an ordinary silk line and reel. It was a great haul and enough to last the most ambitious angler for one month at least.

The yacht Alene, which is now riding on the club's anchorage, has recently been cruising along the coast and is on its way to New York. The black sloop Carrier, from Port Jefferson, is also on the club's anchorage. The Sea Belle has lately been overhauled and now lies before the club house. It is soon going to Washington, where it passes the winter. During the fall it usually is off for a long time with ducking parties. It took eighteen days for this pretty little craft to make the sail to Washington and nineteen for its return run.

anchorage and the season of summer cruises has pretty well been spent. The natty sail-ors look bronzed and tough after the summer's pleasures, but everyone can see that this is only the stamp and mark of the gay times which have been lately enjoyed. The olub has passed a most pleasurable season and the fall races on the 22d promise to be a fitting climax to the year's doings. The following card was received yesterday

A BRASS MONKET.

In his latest comedy, "A Brass Monkey,"
Hoyt has departed from his rule of simply devoting himself to the provocation of laughter, as it contains certain touches of homely pathos which are said to stand out in bold relief from the surrounding comedy and add greatly to the strength of the piece. The New Haven public will be curious to see what Hoyt's pathos is like and will soon be gratified in their wish, as "A Brass Monkey" will be seen at the New Haven House on Friday and Saturday evenings and at the Satur-THE DIFFERENCE between buying Rub er Goods from us and elsewhere is this: FORTY PER CENT. of all rubber goods is spoile n vulcanizing; such goods will not wear. The bank building of Brush & Co. was also destroyed. A large amount of cash and valuable securities, account books, etc., are supposed to have been saved, being locked up in a large vault safe, which, however, had not been reached at noon.

The Second Presbyterian church, a handsome frame building, with its contents was also food for the flames. The loss on the church building is about $10,000.

Gildersleeve's blacksmith shop, a small jewelry store and a wheelwright's establishment complete the list of buildings destroyed. The fire is said to have originated in the postoffice, probably through the explosion of a lamp.

He said of the change: First, that it would confirm the brutal, violent and subversive Democratic suppression of a free ballot and to have been exposed to the fever. There fair count in the South. That prediction had been no cases in Marion county. Second, we said that the reform of the civil service had become so crystallized in our politics that a change of parties would result in losing the steps that had been gained in its behalf. That prediction had been fulfilled. Every pledge has been broken. Every principle of the reform has been deliberately violated. We talk of the spoils system of Andrew Jackson. History records that its excesses were less, even proportionately, than those of Grover Cleveland.

Third, we said that the election of a Demogratic administration meant an assault on the well. It soon became apparent that he was very sick and health officers were called in. He had a high fever and vomited. His temperature was 103½, and his face was jaundiced in appearance. His recent arrival from Florida made the case suspicious. Late in the afternoon he became better, but it was deemed best to take him to the William Parker hospital and he was removed there last evening. Everything was done for the sick man and he rested well all night. This cratic administration meant an assault on the American system of protection to American morning a relapse set in and the trouble was complicated by the appearance of symptoms of Bright's disease. At 7:15 death occurred preceded by slight convulsion and the black womit of the yellow fever.

The health officers here are confident that they can battle successfully with the disease in any event. They deny that there is any grounds for popular apprehension even if American system of protection to American industries and labor. That prediction also has been verified. In the most direct terms the President has declared that system to be "vicious, inequisable and illogical."

The platform is a strong protectionist document. It charges the customs service with permitting serious frauds and undervaluations; declares that the treasury of the Democratic party is repleuished from the saloons, and is vigorous in its denunciation of the foreign policy of the administration.

The ballot for governor resulted as follows: Whole number, 1,150; necessary for choice, 576; J. K. C. Sleeper of Cambridge, 1; William F. Draper of Hopedale, 290; Oliver Ames of Easton, 855. On motion of Hon. F. T. Greenhalge of Lowell, the nomination of grounds for popular apprehension even if other cases should be imported from the South. MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

The President to-day sent to the Senate a response to the resolution introduced by Senstor Hoar, calling on the President for copies of all communications that have been addressed by his direction to the government of Great Britain remonstrating against discrimination against American vessels passing through Canadian canals and American vessels eugaged in the fisheries. With respect to the inquiry, so far as it relates to the canals, the President transmits copies of correspondence between the Department of State and the United States Consul at Ottawa, between the Department of State and the British Minister, copies of the orders of the Canadian officials in regard to this subject and the answer of the acting Secretary of the Treasury to the Dingley resolution laid before the House on July 23.

On the subject of correspondence which has taken place with respect to the denial to American fishermen of the right of transportation of fish or other sargees in bond, the President says: It will be remembered that though the fishing articles of the treaty of 1871 expired on the 1st of July, 1885, a temporary arrangement was made whereby the privileges accorded to our fishermen under said articles were continued during the remainder of that year's fishing season. No instance of refusal by the Canadian authorities since July 1,1886, up to the present time to allow the entry at Dominion sesports of American cargoes other than fish for transportation in bond across the territory of Canada to the United States has been made known to the Department of State.

known to the Department of State. RECENT DISCRIMINATIONS. The President says that the Senate committee on foreign relations has already been supplied with a list of cases of alleged ill-treatment of our fishing vessels in Canadian waters and as relating to the subject of the resolution he quotes the "point in passage" from Mr. Edmunds' report in which it is stated that nothing in the treaty of 1818 excludes an American fishing vessel from shipping a cargo by rail from some Canadian port into the United States, but the Dominion's laws may make such a distinction and it is understood that in fact the privilege of so shipping fish from American vessels has so shipping fish from American vessels has been refused during the last year.

In answer to the concluding inquiry as to what instances have occurred since March 3, what instances have occurred since March 3, 1887, of wrongs to American vessels in the ports of British North America and what steps have been taken in that respect the President says: No case has been reported to the department of State wherein complaint was made of unfriendly or unlawful treatment of American fishing vessels on the part of the Canadism authorities in which reparation was not promptly and satisfactorily obtained by the

In conclusion the President explains the most recent case, that of the ship Bridgewater, which was made the subject of a communication to the British government June 22, 1888, and to which no further reply has been received. The case of the Bridgewater, to which the President refers as the subject of a communication June 25, 1888, from Secretary Bayard to Mr. Edwards of the British legation, was disabled by a storm and on April 5, 1887, put into Shelburne, N. S., for repairs, was condemned and her cargo discharged. While repairs were progressing the vessel was seized for non-payment of duties, but was subsequently unconditionally duties, but was subsequently unconditionally released. Mr. Spooner offered a resolution reciting the fact that Joseph Hoffman of Brenham, Washington county, Texas, a prominent Republican and a witness before the Senate committee on privileges and elections, had been shot down in cold blood in that city; that his assassination was believed to be diactivity and to the fact that he had given strong testimony before the committee in in-vestigating alleged election outrages; and that it is of the utmost importance that witnesses before congressional investigating com mittees may, without danger to their live

The resolution gave rise to an extended and heated political discussion, the speakers being Senators Spooner, Pugh, Coke, Teller, Evarts and Reagan. The discussion turned largely on the question of whether the killing of Hoffman was a political crime, the Republican senator sarguing that it was and the Democratic senators taking the contrary position and pressing the fact that a prominent Democrat, Mr. Holt, was killed by the same discharge as shat by which Hoffman was Democrat, Mr. Holt, was killed by the same discharge as shat by which Hoffman was shot down.

The discussion was interrupted to permit the President's message, printed elsewhere, in reply to a resolution calling for copies of the correspondence with the British government in reference to the fisheries and discrimination of tolls on the Cannadian cauals, to be presented. It was read in full and to be presented. It was read in full and re ferred to the committee on foreign relations DEBATE ON MR SPOONER'S RESOLUTION.

The discussion as to the Texas matters having been resumed Mr. Blair declared that fo ing been resumed Mr. Blair declared that for the existing condition of things in that State, education was the only remedy. He therefore asked in regard to such investigations of what use were they?

Mr. Saulsbury suggested that the question was not what good such investigations did but what harm they did. He regarded it as a disgrace to be constituting the Senate.

Mr. Hoar treated the remarks of Mr. Saulsbury as an unconscious admission that the putting a stop to political murders at the South and the establishing of a free ballot and a fair count there was to the advantage and a fair count there was to the advantage of the Republican party. The Senator from Delaware was quite right in that. He denied that the outrages in Texas, Mississippi and other states were the result of a race controversy; they were the results of Democratic efforts to maintain supremacy of that party. Mr. Coke said: We do not pretend to be better people in Texas than elsewhere. We have got a large amount of human nature in us. It was wrong that these negroes were taken out of jail and hanged, but it was done because they had assisted in the murder of young Bolton. There was nothing political in it.

At the close of Mr. Coke's speech the re lution went over without action.

After some business of minor importanthe Senate adjourned.

He was a week ago taken ill with remittent fever just after his return from a two weeks' stay at the White Daggett. He died of a sudden attack of heart failure. Dr. Daggett was summoned as quickly as possible, but the patient was beyond relief. Mr. Merwin graduated from Yale in the class of 1839, and from that year to 1840 he was employed as a teacher in the Burr Seminary at Manchester, N. H. In the year 1841 Mr. Merwin was connected with he Yale Law school, but discontinued his indies after one term and entered the theogical school at Andover, where he remained for a short time, when he entered the Yale seminary and finished his theological course in 1844. Immediately after being ordained he was installed as the pastor of the Congregational church at Southport. In 1844 he married Miss Mary Frances Bulkeley, and in 1850 spent the year in European travel. In 1854 he published a book entitled "Old Sights with New Eyes." under the non de plume of 1854 he published a book entitled "Old Sights with New Eyes," under the non de plume of "The Yankee." The book had much merit and was well received by the public. During the years of 1858-59 Mr. Merwin was settled in New York, but he returned to this State the following year and accepted the restition as restor of the Cheshire Congress. State the following year and accepted the position as pastor of the Oheshire Congregational church. Mr. Merwin did not remain long in Cheshire before he received a call from the Congregational church at Hadley Falls, which he accepted. He remained here several years and was afterwards installed at Wilton From that time up to the time of Wilton. From that time up to the time his death the Rev. Mr. Merwin has preach in this section of the State, although he has retained his residence in New Haven. The deceased was a man of more than average ability and had many friends in Congregational circles. He leaves two children, a son and a daughter.

In 1887 he began the eason with Bridgeport, but the team dissanding he signed with the Oshkosh. He pitched twenty-five games with the latter club, losing only two. He has pitched twenty-nine games for Omaha and lost only eight. In these contests he has faced some of the best batters in the country, and many an old "slugger" has gone down before his effective delivery. He pitches a wonderful ball, which combines curve and speed and is well calculated to deceive the best batsman. In addition to his pitching Lovett plays ball with his head, and when a game is lost it can be depended upon that he alone is not responsible. Aside from his ball playing Lovett is a gentleman in every sense of the word and is esteemed highly by all his acquaintances. He is the only married man in the team, and at present is rejoicing over the advent of a bright little girl baby who will, in years to come, sit in the grandstand and watch her paps strike out the opposing team.—Omaha Hereld.

New Haven, Sept. 10, 1888. Stock for Sale. A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THE Nebraska Mortgage and Investment Co.'s Stock Is now on sale by the subscribers. This company is a reorganization from the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Fremont, Neb., the separation of which had become necessary from the magnitude of the business. As the officers of the former company are chiefly retained in this company, it is expected that the high standing of the former will be sustained by this. What that is is shown by the published statement, that Not a Dollar Has Been Lost y the patrons of Mr. Dorsey or of the Farm and Merchants' National Bank from the outse ears ago. Liberal dividends may be confide
