SATURDAY AND MONDAY, SEPT. 29th, OCT. Ist,

In order to make this Opening famous we will offer on the above two days throughout our store the greatest bargains ever seen in America. Thousands of Dollars' worth of Dry Goods at your mercy. We mean to astenish every buyer, "not with ordinary bargains," but with Extraordinary Bargains such as you never saw before, and in all probability never will see equal value again.

Give us a call; we will both please and surprise you. Comparison out of the question.

SILK DEPARTMENT.

Impossible for us to illustrate the magnitude of values offered at this time. Never have you or your friends seen or heard such bargains as are presented on this counter. The Silks enumerated below are famous in quality and finish, being manufactured with especial care for the American market. The name or make is a household word, both familiar in America and Europe. All leading dry goods stores keep Guinet Silks, we being particularly fortunate in procuring 150 pieces of this famous make; are now in a position to place before you Silks at 75c, $1, $1.25 and $1.50, positively the same as you see marked in other stores at $1.25, $1.75, $2 and $2.50. Do not think for a moment that we bought this extra space to make ridiculous quotations such as you are in the habit of reading; we wish it distinctly understood, whether we sell one yard or the entire lot, no buyer or merchant in New Haven can duplicate the goods we show in America at same price. This open Challenge we leave to the unbiased opinion of the most critical experts in New York or Boston.

20 pieces Antoine Guinet & Cie Cashmere finish Black Gros Grain Silk, sold in every store at $1.25; price for this sole 750 per yard.

CLOAK ROOM. Last spring we consummated the largest purchase of genuine London Dye Seal Plush rarments ever sold in Mew England outside of Boston. Our story is easily told. The 'Plush made in England' is the best that comes to America; the brand is sold only to ONE. "Plush made in England" is the best that comes to America; the brand is sold only to ONE house in a city; therefore we claim our garments are made of better cloth than you can possibly find elsewhere, the linings are finer, the trimmings are richer, the cut of garment more nobby, and the prices are from $5 to $15 lower than inferior garments can be bought in this State. Make no mistake, we mean just as stated here, and we can verify our position by your looking at the garments. We earnestly ask comparison. It is the only way to prove our words. By paying $5 on a garment we will cheerfully keep it for you until November 1st. Remember our prices are from $5 to $15 lower than others ask. That is the stand we take until Nov. 1st, selling at cost until the surplus is reduced low enough to warrant an advance. With an advance of $5 to $15 our prices will then be lower than our neighbors. You may think it strange, but take our advice and compare the garments before buying. It will not then seem so unlikely to you. ore buying. It will not then seem so unlikely to you.

Plush Sacques $17.50, $20, $22.50, $25, $27.50, $30 and up to $45.

The $17.50 is sold at $22.50, we will not mention where; but if you are as smart as we think, you can easily trace it without paying any extra fare.

The $32.50 is sold at $40.

The $45 is sold at $60. Plush Jackets, $13, $15 to $25.

Plush Wraps, $17.50 to $85.

JOHN B. WRIGHT, of Clinton Friday, September 28, 1888. THE PROHIBITION VOTE.

The prohibitionists are "talking big," and If the votes come out in accordance with their there had been for several years a steady increase in the vote polled by the prohibition party. In 1880, 9,678 ballots were cast for the prohibition presidential candidate, while 1885 in a fewer number of States voting, the robibitory aggregate was 151,233, and in 1886 it amounted to 294,863. In that year, however, it seems the third party prohibiory tide reached high water mark. The is a further decrease in State elections this year as compared with 1886. True, fewer States voted in 1887 than in the year preseeding, and this fact should be borne in mind when making a comparison by totals for the whole country. Of the ten States roting in 1887, however, which had an election in 1886, seven-Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island-showed a falling off in 1887, and only three-Massachusetts, New York and Ohio-revealed a gain. The derease in 1888, also, from the vote of two ears ago, counting the States which have had elections this year, indicates that the falling off in 1887 was not merely accidental or temporary, but that it marked the beginning of a steady and permanent decline in the prohibition strength. Mr. Blaine's refusal to engage in a controversy over Roscoe Conkling's grave is not maured even by the most rabid Blaine It really begins to look as if there were no wheat in the country. But when the Chicago seculators have made or lost money enough there will probably be wheat enough to go

The vesse will have a length of 350 feet and a breadth of 67 feet. Its armament will be two 12inch guns in a turret, four 9 inch guns and eight 6-inch pieces, beside fourteen Hotchkiss mitrailleuses. Its speed is expected to attain fifteen knots. There are parts of the South which do not ook as solid as they did. The Memphis Avalanche warns everybody concerned that the Democratic majority in Tennessee "has been out down to such a point that it will be dangerous to build much on it," and that it will eed a steady pull altogether to take that State out of the "doubtful" column. There is also a growing uneasiness about Florids, in view of the wholesale flight from the yel-dented woman. She takes very little inerest in politics, preferring outdoor sports the intrigues of Statesmen. She is a clevr horsewoman and loves the chase. WOOED, AND WEDDED BY SIGN. Pathetic Courtshipland Marriages of

There was a silent wedding last night the ladies' parlor at the Grand Pacific Champion Buchan who is employed at the Post Office, and Elean or Patten, a tall and beauti ful young woman, stood before Dr. Gillette the Superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Jacksonville. There were six bridesmaids, one of whom was so lovely that she riveted attention, and the bride-groom was attended by six young mea in immacu late frock coats and carnations at their buttonhole. The parlor was filled with relatives and guests. Nobody spoke a word. All were deaf and dumb. "Wheresoever thou goest I will go," said Dr. Gillette, adding the words of Ruth to the marriage service.

And the bride, with a pretty fond gesture touched eyes, mouth and heart, and signified that she would follow her husband.

"Wheresoever thou abidest I will abide," continued the Dootor.

And the bridegroom, taking the bride's hand in his promised with a sign that he would cleave to her.

low a Little Trout Helped Joe Cotta to Hook Three Large Catfish. From the Austin Statesman. Joe Cotta, one of the tax figure clerks in the Comptroller's office, returned from a fishing frolic the other day. He had splendid luck, and says he caught three twentypound cats at one time on a single line with but one book. He was quietly fishing for trout, when he felt a quick, sharp pull, indicating that a handsome speckled fellow was fast. He began to pull him in, when he felt s terrific pull at his line, and a momment later there was another and he was al-

stump until it subsied. He then drew it carefully ashore and found that had three cats weighing about twenty pounds each. They were stung on the lines through the mouth and gills just as you would string your catch. And at the end was a lively trout weighing nearly a pound. Joe says that when the trout was first hook-ed three cats must have observed him and into their capacious maws. He was fast to the line and could not escape, so he watched his opportunity, and, when one of cats would close down his great jaws upon him he would dart through his gills. He did the other two the some way, and successfully strung three of the yellow cannibals in Joe's li Joe says he warded the pluck and skill of the ng him to the river. "How did that tront get out through the gills!" meskly inquired an incredulous clerk

"Gentlemen, none of you know anything about a catash. When he closes his mouth and breathes; his gills open, and then it was the trout slid out. Perhaps some of you know more about this story than I do," and Joe buried his face in his tax papars. The Extermination of the Buffalo.

NOT A GRAND RALLY. Western Man Addresses the New Haven Democrats at a Rally at the Hyperion Last Evening.

Last evening the Democrats held a rally at he Hyperion. The theater wasn't very well filled when the time for the opening of the meeting arrived, and it was about 8:30 when Hobart L. Hotchkiss stepped on the stage and announced that Attorney John C. Gallagher bad been selected as chairman for the

Mr. Gallagher then stepped forward and began talking. "The Republican platform of '84 pledged to reduce the tariff and the surplus," he shouted. "We know that when our tariff reduction bill was brought forward by R. Q. Mills the Republican party proceed in every way, and now the Senate s trying to stiffle it. "But." said the orator. 'my sphere is in ward meetings, and I do not shine here as well as the orator of the evening, Hon. Henry B. Ewing of Chicago." "To be called upon to stand before doctors and lawyers and professors in this ancient seat of learning," said Mr. Ewing, "is quite nough to embarraes any western man. I will, however, demonstrate to the best of my ability some of the moving principles of ocracy." Then followed an address in regular Democratic style. He was frequently applauded, even by the dozen or so in the upper gallery. During his speech he said: I believe the two virtues in mankind is a sendid man and account of the said. candid man and a courageous man. I be-lieve our people love Grover Cleveland, be-cause he has opinions and has courage to speak them. I admire that courage which leads a man to stand firm as adamant upon his convictions and places his reward in hearts of every true American citizen.

One question of this momentous campaign is whether taxes shall be levied upon the wealth and luxury of the country or upon the homes where poverty stands aloft with threatening eye, and menaces the very breath of life. I say that necessity should never be taxed; the revenue of the country should come from those who have made more than their share from the world's market. It is distinctly not a question of free trade or protection. Free trade doesn't enter into the subject at all. The Mills bill is no more a free trade measure than it is absolute testo free trade measure than it is absolute testo talism for some miserable, abject wretch of a drunkard who is accustomed to take forty-seven drinks a day to reduce them to forty-

Some say that Mr. Blaine voices the spiri of protection, and others say he speaks the very thought of Pennsylvania protection and that he was coached all summer by one of their leaders. I won't say he is an ignora-mus or a falsifier, for you know he isn't the first and I cannot say he is the last.

You understand that to protect, a tariff must raise prices, and if it doesn't it doesn't protect. The higher prices are the more this thing protects. I think the Republicans belong to a grand party and one that has been a blessing to the country. When it looked up for inspiration from that spirit that has long has long dwelt in paradise, it was indeed a grand party. But it has driftwas indeed a grand party. But it has drift-ed away, and now I'd see it scattered into atoms and every atom blown to hell before I'd embrace it.

-Mr. Pine, of Ausonia, Testifies-The Syndicate and the Tariff. WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 .- The Senate com mittee on finance began to-day the inquiry provided for by the resolution of Senator Platt into the operations in this country of the French copper syndicate. Charles H. Pine of Ansonia, Conn., treasurer of the Parrott Silver Mining company of Montana, was one of the parties examined. Mr. Pine said his company had a contract with the Societe, which ostensibly limited the profuction of his mine to a certain amount of copper, but in reality the limit was placed seyond the present possibilities of producion. He sold the copper on behalf of the Societe, the company realizing 13 cents a pound and one-half of the profits above that sum; the other half of the excess over the 13 ents going to the Societe. He was also authorized to sell at all times at 1/4 cent s pound less than the price of lake copper. The contract contained an ostensible limit to the amount of production of the mine to which t applied and the same terms with regard to he price of sale. It was explained by all the witnesses that the Societe took all the surplus copper pro-duced in America and sold it abroad, paying the American companies one half of the sum realized above 13 cents a pound, and making the deficit good when the price realized was less than 13 cents, whether sold at home or abroad. The Societe had the right at all times to fix the price of sale. Mr. Rahl, a broker selling late copper on commission, said the price of copper here was £8 to £10 sterl-ing less than in Europe. The United States, he said, was the largest producer of copper in the world and imported no copper at all, but he did not think the tariff had anything to do with its exclusion. All the witnesses agreed that the tariff alone had made it pos-sible to develop the mining industry of Lake Superior, Montana and Arizona. He said that since he made his contract with the Societe the market price of copper had de-clined. All the witnesses agreed that there were no American members of the Societe. The price of copper to-day, they said, was less than the average for ten years past.

A practice of more than thirty years, and frequent visits to the Patent Office has given him a familiarity with every department of, and mode of proceeding at the Fatent Office, which, together with the fact that he now visits Washington semi-monthly to give his personal attention to the interests of his clients, warrantshim in the assertion that no office in this country is able to offer the same facilities to Inventors in securing their inventions by Letter Patent—and particularly to those whose applications have been rejected—an examination of which he will make free of charge.

Preliminary examination, prior to application for patent made at Patent Office, at a small charge.

WHAT VANCE SAID. Congressman Vance when renominated on Wednesday last addressed the convention which nominated him as follows: He said the Democratic party had never had more cause to congratulate itself than at present. Gloomy predictions made four years ago on Cleve-land's election had not come true. No fault can be found with the administration of Gro-ver Cleveland, but it is necessary to find something to hang a political argument; that something is the tariff. The Democratic party was asked to stop the accumulation of funds it went to the internal revenue for $20,000, 000, to the schedules for the rest of the reduction and put articles on the free list fo the rest(!). The Mills bill is correct. Nov the rest(1). The Mills bill is correct. Now our friends, the enemy, say a reduction of 5 per cent., from 47 per cent. to 42 per cent., would be ruinous. But the tariff of cent., would be rainous. But the tariff of 1883 made reductions, and besides duties always had to be paid in gold, which ran up from 100 to 285. The reductions of 1883 and the reduction by making a dollar of gold and a dollar of greenbacks equal, made a reduction of almost 200 per cent. Yet we are told 5 per cent, means ruin. "Big Four", C. C. C. and I., were the fencing, and compared with most fellows of good swordsman. In addition to this he was a most insufferable braggart, and his military accomplishment was his one topic of thought and conversation. He had about him a very patronizing air, which he pro-ceeded to inflict upon the inoffensive French man, and his familiar slaps on the back evidently displeased the stranger. Finally a particularly emphatic thump between the little Frenchman's shoulders produced as response a stinging slap in the face, which left the red mark of a small hand sharply prominent against the otherwise deathly pale face of the reverse A revisers. of the young American.

Speechless with rage the young man found his desk, and shortly afterward, through a friend, challenged the Frenchman to mortal combat. The latter apologized, in fact did all in his power to undo the mischief of his hasty blow; in vain. "Nothing but blood can wipe out that insult," the young man said haughtily. The details were arranged, the Frenchman, as the challenged party, choosing rapiers. Greatly to the surprise of the bot blooded young challenger, the cashier of the bank, who knew the Frenchman well, acted as the latter's second. The day came acted as the latter's second. The day came and the hour. The principals stepped to po-sition, saluted, and the bine blades crossed with that smooth, gliding sound which is music to the ear of the true swordsman. The Frenchman, whose familiarity with his weapon was evident at the start, confined weapon was evident at the start, confined himself at first entirely to defence, turning his opponent's point with a grace of movement and absence of fear or nervousness which were poetry in action. The young man grew bolder, his thrusts began to have an air of ferocity which seemed to anger the Frenchman a triffe, and turning saide his opponent's thrust he made a quick lunge, and the young American barely parried. the young American barely parried.

Another quick thrust and a turn of the wrist were too much for him; there was a sparp snap and the top button of his coat flew across the room. Angry at this evident trifling, the button's owner made a spiteful flew across the room. Augry at the system trifling, the button's owner made a spiteful lunge, which was quickly parried and the next button was snapped away. One after another the shining buttons on his natty blue braided jacket were cut off by the Frenchman's ready peint. Decidedly "rattled" at his opponent's skill and the irrepressible smiles of the seconds and surgeon, the young clerk now, with greater rapidity and less caution, made fierce lunges, any one of which would have driven the sharp rapier through the body of the coel Frenchman, while the little man, quietly parrying, with the sharp point of his weapon stripped the front of the young man's jacket to ribbons. The contest had lasted some twenty minutes when suddenly the Frenchman caught the swiftly advancing point of his opponent, turned it aside, slipped his own sword quickly down along the other's blade, turning it with a quick wrist motion so that it partly wound around it, and with a sharp wrenching motion tore the weapon away and wrenching motion tore the weapon away and sent it flying across the floor. Then he salusent it nying across the noor. Then he said-ted, threw his weapon down and left the room. It subsequently transpired that the foreigner was—and is—a member of a once noble French family, a captain in the French army, and his teachers have been some of the best awordsmen in France. The young

[From the Charlotte Harbor Beacon.] John Richards of our town tells us of a uge manatee that was found up the Miakka River in 1884. Many of the people of the vicinity visited the spot to see the curiosity. It was esimated to weigh between 1,500 and 2,000 pounds. We can form some idea of its size when we know that it measured six feet across the breast. John Richards, who discovered it, afterward saved the skeleton. He also says that about one very see he saw snother was that about one year ago he saw another man-atse at the end of Knight's wharf, and is under the impression that they are at present frequently in the bay, but being unuselly timid animals, keep out of the sight of man.
