While, on the one hand, this system of schools has not resulted in the full fledged secular school which the English charchmen feared, either, on the other, has it satisfied the de mands of English parents. It is found that all classes in England desire to give their children a religious and moral training. But it is found, also, that nearly one-third the hildren, if not taught morals in the schools, rill not be taught at home or through the deominational schools. Unless training in norality is given in the board schools, the oor children who need it most will not, at sast as things now are, receive it at all. The vidence collected by the commission goes to show that the religious school cannot be banshed from the English educational system with the consent of the parents, and that the step now looked forward to is some plan by which different denominations may exercise heir proper freedom and still be able to indude their own schools within the terms on which they can receive grants from the government. Indeed, both the majority and the minority reports of the commission agree that secular and religious instruction ought to be combined and that religious teaching of positive and definite character ought in the uture to be maintained in the board as well s in the voluntary schools. This is interesting. But in neither the najority nor the minority reports is anything practical concerning the method of carrying

The replies to Dr. Mackenzie, and especial ly that of Dr. Bergmann, are effective. Dr. Mackenzie has made a big stir, but it doesn't look as if he would come out of the discus sion with great credit.

Mayor Francis of St. Louis, the Democratic candidate for governor of Missouri, was lucky or unlucky enough to make some money by the recent wheat deal. It is being used against him politically with good effect.

A shoemaker named Pichereau, living it the town of Painbourf, France, was recently accused of stealing 200 francs. He stoutly denied the charge. The judge before whom he was tried believed him guilty, and called in the services of a professional hypnotizer. Pichereau's eyes were blindfolded and he was placed under "the influence." The hypnoliver was successful, and the money was found concealed under a stone wail. The shoemaker was convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. He is now bitter in his denunciations of modern scientific methods as applied to criminals.

Breaking of the "Sawbath" is still liable to severe criticisms by the Scotch. Lord Fitzhardings and friends, who have been shooting in the neighborhood of Lairg, have occasionally taken a quiet drive or sail on a Sunday afternoon. In public meeting, under the chairmanship of Rev. Mr. Noble, the local Free Kirk minister, it was resolved that "pleasure salling" and "driving about in vehicles" were "a profanation of the Sabbath, an offence and grief of the religious population, an annoyance and distraction of hurch-going people on their way to and from the sanctuary, and a general lowering of the moral tone of the community." For a Young Men's Building in Sunday was a red-letter day for the Young Men's Christian association of Bridgeport. Almost every pulpit in the city was occupied by delegates to the State convention. A mass meeting of young men was held in St. John's hall at 4 p. m., which was packed to its utnost capacity, hundreds being unable to gain admission. The most enthusiastic meeting of the convention was the farewell service held at 9 o'clock in the evening in the South Congregational church. The house was wowded. Fifty young men in half-minute seeches gave their impressions of the con vention. Many of the city pastors were esent and spoke.

The burden of every address was the great sed of an association building for the city of Rev. Charles Ray Palmer of the First Con Rev. Charles Ray Palmer of the First Com-gregational church swept the audience by an intimation that if forty-nine thousand dol-lars were subscribed for a building he would make the amount fifty thousand dollars. But the most telling address of the evening was made by a citizen of Bridgeport known for his large liberality and practical benevolence. Dr. I‡ DeVer Warner when called upon ad-vanced to the speaker's stand, and in an earor and the speaker's stand, and in an earnest and moving address said that Bridge-port must have an association building and that when the citizens had subscribed $50,000 he would present the association with a deed of the lot on the corner of Main and Gilbert streets. This suggestion created the most tense enthusiasm. The day and occas were forgotten and the audience broke out in prolonged and defening applause. The lot is one of the best in the city for an association

A Fine Praise Service. Humphrey street Congregational church was crowded to overflowing Sunday evening the occasion being a special praise service which was very interesting to all all present Beside the regular chorus singing and solo by Miss Nellie Thomas, leading soprano, of the choir, there was fine singing by Mrs. St. John, contralto, and Mr. Lander, tenor, o the Congregational church, South Norwalk, of which Miss Thomas was for some years oprano. Mrs. St. John also led in the hymnal ervice in the morning. At the evening service a short and brilliant sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Luckey, very appropriate to the occasion. THE DERBY EXTENSION.

Between two and Dr. Warner paid $20,000 for the three hundred active newspaper workers in this State, New York and Massachusetts have already accepted invitations and to accommo date all the ontsiders who wish to go would require not one train of ordinary size, but

> The Wheeler & Wilson band has been engaged to accompany the excursion. Much is being said in the State paper about the trouble of the contractors, Davis Brothers of New Haven, with the owners o the Derby extension. And fears, have been expressed that it would interfere with the completion of the road by October 17. The contract that they are filling has nothing to do with the road proper, as it is for building wiaduct in Shelton by which Bridge street will be carried over the railroad to prevent a grade crossing. The road has been completed as far as laying rails is concerned for over a week, and trains have already run through as week, and trains have already run through as far as Botsfords. The past week Superinten-dent Hopson has had two trains employing one hundred and ninety-six men at work bal-lasting the roadbed, and still another gang has been at work under charge of the Housa-tonic road, the work now being well under way and the roadbed in condition so that way and the roaded in condition so that trains can run at a twenty-five mile rate with safety, Superintendent Hopson's train having made the run over this point of the road in fourteen minutes. Where the exercises are to take place to-morrow is where the mos eautiful scenery along the line can be ound. The river flows one hundred feet be low the tracks and a magnificent view is ob-tained both up and down the valley. Minutes. William Muldoon, the head of the coteris of wreatlers in "the Muldoon and Horseshoe the borough were made livid with red fire Four Specialty Company," now playing at their intention to attend the next masque and torches and alive with the inspiring the New Haven opera house, deposited $25 at this office last night, to be given Frank Duinn if he mests Hugh Leonard ing match at the New Haven opera hous to-night.

There is considerable doubt as to whether painn will come to time. It is learned from Mr. Muldoon that he offered Quinn $25 if he sould stand up before Leonard for fifteen minutes. Quinn said he wanted $25 whether he won or not. Manager Wall immediately took him up, when Quinn said that he wanted the money first. He didn't consider Manager Wall's word good enough. It looked as if Quinn wanted to crawl out. Then Mulon offered to leave the money at one of the newspaper offices but Quinn wouldn't agree to that and wanted the money left at "Jimmy" somebody's saloon on some street. Muldoon didn't propose to leave it at "Limmy's"

"Jimmy's."

Muldoon offered Quinn $50 if he would last, besides the $25 for going on, but this didn't seem to suit and so Muldoon offered him $100 if he would stand up before Leonard fifteen minutes.

If Quinn does go on, the match will not be

Hotel, at which Mr. Blaine was kept busy shaking hands for an hour, and this aftershaking hands for an hour, and this after-noon there was an imposing parade which under the surrounding circumstances, and Mr. Blaine, General Hovey and Corporal Tanner reviewed. In the course of his speech Mr. Blaine said: At Goshen last Wednesday

CORROBORATED BY THE RECORDS. I do not know what Mr. Mills means by this denial unless it is that Mr. Havemeyer never appeared before the full committee when in regular seasion. If he means that Mr. Havemeyer did not appear before the members of the committee in the committee room, then he is contradicted, not by me, but by the Commercianal record. but by the Congressional record. On pag 6,503 of the record for the current session is sued on July 10 a debate is reported, in which Mr. Breckenridge of Arkansas, a member of the ways and means committee, ad mitted that he had invited Mr. Havemaye and his attorney to the room of the ways ar means committee on the 12th of April to talk over the sugar tariff and Mr. Brecke ridge of Kentucky, another member of the ways and means committee, admitted having met Mr. Havemeyer and his attorney at an-other time. All I said is substantiated.

NURSING THE SURPLUS. I find also in the morning papers to-day report of a Democratic meeting in New York on Saturday, before which Mr. Fairchild the secretary of the treasury, appeared to defend his policy of loaning sixty million dollars of the public money to certain banks without interest. He does not explain to the people how the banks could afford to bu government bonds when the government itself could not afford to buy them. If was an advantageous proceeding for these ganks to invest $80,000,000 in government why was it not more advanta-for the government to do it? the question not only because it is pertinent but because it was asked by one of Mr. Fairchild's most distinguished prede-cessors. Secretary Guthrie during President Pierce's administration was criticised for payvery question I now propound to Mr. Fair-ehild, viz: Why those government bonds were not worth as much to the treasury de-

(Applause.) That is a question I now ask in the name of Secretary Guthrie, who was one of the ablest financiers in the administration of the treasury department since Hamilton. of the freesury department since Hamilton. General Harrison used a happy phrase when he accused the administration of nurwould have appeared in the surplus. The further fact is revealed that there was at that date $50,000,000 of 3 per cent. bonds that could have been called in at par and that they were left in the hands of private hold-ers drawing interest and in order that the pear of a surplus might be raised, and,

And now, with a surplus artificially, stuliously and persistently piled up, the Demoadministration asks that its future growth be averted by destrowing the proablished in its stead. PENSION VETOES. SENATE. - When the journal was read to day some thirty Senators were present. The message of the President veteing the pension bill of Mrs. Sarah Woodbridge on the ground that her second husband is still living and that such a precedent ought not to be established was laid before the Senate. The bill and message were referred to the committee on pensions. on pensions.

Mr. Blair, in connection with the veto message, proceeded to discuss the pension vetoes sage, proceeded to discuss the pension vetoes generally and the case of Mary Ann Doherty in particular. He read various affidavits in support of Mrs. Doherty's claim that she was one of those who were injured by the Washington arsenal explosion in 1864. He also read various certificates as to the good character of the woman and said that those who who had been instrumental in doing her in jury should make reparation.

Mr. Cockrell characterized the documen roduced by Mr. Blair as mere bosh and to tally unreliable. Mr. Blair further declared that there had been an infamous amount of trickery and fraud perpetrated by govern-ment officials to victimize this woman, who was a person of irreproachable character. At the close of Mr. Blair's remarks several other messages vetoing pension bills were referred to the committee on claims. MR. ALLISON ON ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. Brown presented a petition of the Women's Christian Temperance union of Georgia for the repeal of the internal revenue laws. He referred to the fact that there was no quorum of either house in the city and that no business could lawfully be done He therefore urged the necessity of adjournment at the earliest day possible, for there ment at the earliest day possible, for there was no probability of enacting the tariff bill into law at the present session. He saw no reason why an adjournment should not be agreed upon at once. Two weeks had been occupied by tariff debate in the Senate and there was little left to be said. He saked

Mr. Allison replied that he did not see even if it were passed by the Senate it was impossible to have the amendment passed in the House before next December. The consideration of the tariff bill should take Mr. Blaine said: At Goshen last Wednesday I stated that Mr. Havemeyer, the president of the sugar trust, had appeared before the ways and means committee when the tariff bill senators would remain in session during the next three weeks, and yet Congress was not, at this day and hour, ready to adjourn, for the general deficiency bill had not yet received the signature of the President. The delay had arisen out of the fact that the appropriation bills had not come to the Senate, as under the rules and customs they should have, in the early period of the session. That delay in the appropriation bills was the primal cause of the situation to-day.

Whatever was done row, whether Congress have, in the early period of the session. That delay in the appropriation bills was the pri-mal cause of the situation to-day. Whatever was done row, whether Congress

If he had his way, he should push it to the exclusion of all other business. discussion of the adjournment resolution stopped here and the Senate proceeded with the consideration of the tariff bill.

UNION WITH CANADA. Blair presented certain informat collected by a correspondent of the New York Tribune as to the condition of public sentiment in Canada on the great international question of the political and commercial connection of the dominion with the United States, and asked that it be printed with his remarks. He was entirely opposed, he said, to the idea of anything like retaliation or resort to unnecessary force. Undoubtedly a majority of the people of Canada are in favor of union, and Mr. Blair said he believed that this inclination is most as harmoniously reciprocated by the 65,000,000 who make up the American nation The Senate then adjourned.

Cuicago, Oct. 15 .- Notwithstanding the settlement of the street-car strike, a rather serious conflict occurred this morning, about three blocks from the Garfield Avenue stables, between a mob of strikers and the new men who were running out cars. A hand-tohand struggle was stopped by the timely ar rieal of the police. The trouble arose through the fact that the new men, who were returned, were concentrated at the Garfield Avenue barns, and were the only men running cars from that point.

The North Side men are not all satisfied with the shape which affairs have taken They say that their understanding of the greement was that the new men were to be retained as "extras," while all of the old men were to go to work regularly. They find the "extras" are to be supplied from their own ranks, so that some of them will their own ranks, so that some of them will not get full wages, regularly. ervation. WASHINGTON, Not. 15 .- The Sioux Indian chiefs began their conference with the secretary of the interior this morning. Secretary Vilas then asked the Indians to state freely their objections to the proposed law providing for a sale of a portion of the great Sioux reservation in southern Dakota. Sitting Bull immediately stepped forward and said the Indians wished to speak in regard to this aw-men to men-and he hoped that everything would be done in a quiet manner The old war chief's words caused a chorus of approving "ughs" from the other Indians. John Grasse, the leading spirit among the Indians, then took the floor. He said that he had never opposed the bill as a whole, but only as to some of its parts. In speaking of the treaties of 1868 and 1876 he asked why the obligations of these treaties had never been executed by the government. Under the former treatment the money due had never been paid, the schools promised had not been established until ten years ago. His objection to the law was that the portion of the reservation the government proposes to take by rights contains a great deal more than 11,000,000 acres. He said he had changed his mind about the price they ought to receive and was of the opinion that in-

MAUCE CHUNK, Penn., Oct. 15 .- The coro ner's jury investigating the Mud Run accident resumed its session this afternoon. Jame Harrigan, the brakeman on section No. 4 testified that he went back with red and white lights and torpedoes, but said he never knew of the rule which required brakemen to go back half a mile and did not think it was necessary to walk that far. Henry Cook, the engineer of the first en gine, testified that he was running at the rate of twelve or thirteen miles an hour, but say no signals at the station. When rounding the onrye he heard two blasts from the engine behind him which signified "all right," and he went on coming to the station at ten miles signal being swung violently across the track and applied the break to his engine, but it was too late to avoid the crash. He declared positively that if Engineer Major of the rear engine had applied the air brakes the train could have been stopped, but Major pulled open the trottle when within a quarter of w mile of the station. One witness who was on the fourth section says he saw the red light being waved two or three hundred yards back of his train.

The White Winged Ships and the Commerce of the Sound-Some interesting Facts and Figures.

A prominent New Haven gentleman whill at club the other night was a listener to a conversation in respect to the commerce of onversation in respect to the composition of the co Long Island Sound, and became deeply inpassed through Long Island Sound to the port of New York than across the bar at Sandy Hook. Since this he has met a gentleman in New York who had it direct from the New York Chamber of Commerce that Mr. Nash, now secretary of the New York Board of Pilot Commissioners, was sent few years ago as far east as Eastport, Maine to ascertain the amount of value transporte by sail and barge tonnage through this wate route. He found it to be one-third greate

It was stated by ex-Comm dore Scranton, late commodore of the New Haven Yacht club, that during an easterly blow he was sailing up the harbor on a re-turn trip in his yacht from the Vineyard Sound and that he noticed a large number of three-masted schooners, deeply laden, seek-ing refuge under the lee of the east break water. The sight inspired him with the ou riosity to inquire of a number of the ships where they were bound and from whenee, and to his surprise he learned all were from the capes of Delaware and Chesapeake, bound to Boston and eastern ports, and had come into the Sound via Sandy Hook. The ques-tion was then saked why did not these year. ion was then asked, why did not these ves sels make a more direct course to Massachu setts Bay than by the Sound route! which was explained as follows: These vessel came out of the bays with fair winds, by meeting an easterly gale, stood northward, just weathering the Jersey shore, and as the wind veered to the southeast. The vessels were not able to weather Montauk Point They therefore kept off and with a free sheet (and maybe a fair tide) passed up New York Bay and the East river into the Sound, escaping a heavy southeast gale and sea, to gether with the Gulf stream current, which would have been encountered if the vessel

When your collars and cuffs are rough and irritate your flesh, when you find the fine linen eaten away in spots, displaying the coarse filling, this is the cause: They have been washed with ordinary soap, whose cleansing properties are due to caustic soda and elbow grease; either of these will produce the above, and the starch makes them feel as if you had a saw around your neck. Pyle's Pearline does away with the rubbing, hence it saves all wear and tear in the wash. It is as harmless as the finest imported castile soap. Linens washed with it are perfectly white and last many times as long as if washed in the old rubbing, twisting, wrecking way.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." Beware aged, stylishly dressed, with no wraps or outer garments.

It's false—they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers.

City Attorney Dailey thinks he has a clue to one of the shoplifters. She is a woman from Boston whom he arrested three years ago foa defrauding furniture houses. She is tall and of distinguished appearance. Her hair is gray, nearly white in fact, and she wears it combed back from her forehead in a roll. Her manner is snave and pleasing and she is a most excellent talker. On the whole, she is just the person the average salesman would delight in selling a bill of goods. Storekeepers in general would do well to keep a sharp watch of their customers for a few days.
