Ignered, because but little understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charistans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustwortby. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Badical Cure has won the approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, succeing, sunfing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and heaving and neutralising the constitutional and sometimes all, yield to its destructive infidoir or Bath, To be Found in the City, is now on our shelves and is constantly re plenished to suit the times and season. Mr. Carlisle, in his speech in the house representatives May 18, 1888, said of the disstrons revulsion of 1857, which produced these astonishing results, that it was a comparatively insignificant accident, and that the country recovered from it in a few months. This extraordinary statement cannot be harmonized with the fact that Mr. Secretary Cobb in his report of December, 1858, testifies to the continuance of financial difficulties during the whole of the fiscal year nded June 30, 1858; or with the statement of the same official in his report of Decem ber, 1859, that the business of the country was then one of only "comparative prosperi ity," or with the fact that the price of wheat and other cereals did not recover up to the fall of 1866, the prices at which they had ruled before the panie; or with the fact that did the country return to a condition of icanism to Democracy which deserves to be recorded. It is that of Mr. C. H. Nevius, of the neighborhood of New Brunswick, New Jersey. For some years he has been known as a Republican. But this fall he will vote for Mr. Cleveland. Why! Because, he explains in the Home News of New Brunswick, "labor at present is too high. If Cleveland s elected wages will be lower. Some factories will be closed, and wages in at least some of those remaining will be reduced; in which case men would be forced to go into the country to seek work, where labor would be cheaper. 'I now have to pay a mechanic,' says Mr. Nevius, 'twenty shillings a day. It s too much." Mr. Nevius is in his right place as a member of the free trade party. The Bradford (England) Daily Telegraph gives the President some advice. It says: In the vocabulary of a very large portion of the American public the word free trade is colitically an opprobrious epithet. Richard Cobden and all his works they condemn. White, too, cannot land on a square which is already occupied by blue. If a blue and a white counter be in adjacent squares on the mainland, the player whose turn it is to move must capture his opponent's counter by removing it from the board and substituting his own; and if, from any cause, he fails to comply with this rule, he forfeits his offending counter. A variation in the method of moving may occur when a counter occupies a square through which there passes a line of railway. A special to the New York Herald from Paris relates the sudden termination of the honeymoon of Count and Countees di Montcalieri, nee Miss Virginia Knox of Pittsburg. Their marriage was celebrated about a fortnight ago in Pittsburg with great eclat and a full account of it was given in the Courier as Mr. Knox, the Countess' brother, was two or three years ago a Yale man and a prom nent and wealthy society man here and having a few months ago married a pretty New Haven young lady who resided at 44 Elm street. The Herald dispatch says the bride was brutally treated at her hotel in Paris by her husband, the lady being obliged to call for help. The unfortunate bride told the manager of the hotel that she had been thoroughly deceived in her husband. She be lieved him to be a man of means, but learned too late that he was not only penniless, but an inhuman brute. At first she supplied him liberally with money, but nothing seem-ed to satisfy him. When she refused to give him more he commenced beating her. They were obliged to leave the hotel.

SECRETARY FAIRCRILD dresses a Democratic Rally at the Hyperion-Luzon B. Morris Presides -Consul General Waller Breaks the Ice and Slyly Works in a Campaign speech of Three Quarters of an Hous Long Despite His Good Resolve to Re-main Quiet in the Campaign—The Audience Forgives Waller and Applauds Him to the Echo.

The Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, secretar of the treasury, addressed a Democratic rally at the Hyperion Theater last evening. The house was well filled. Consul General Waller occupied a prominent position by the secretary's side upon the stage. Hon, Luzon B. Morris introduced Mr. Fairchild. The speaker began by reviewing the President's last message to Congress and endeavoring to justify its free trade tendency. He then turned to the pension vetoes, justifying them, and did likewise by the fisheries treaty, throwing the blame upon the Republican Senate. The bill for protection died in the Senate and now Canada could discriminate as she pleases. The speaker then defended his acts as secretary of the treasury and alluded to the Sackville letter, urging that no true Democrat ought to be influenced against the administration by what an English minister wrote. In conclusion he urged voters to do their duty next Tuesday. Consul General Waller was now called upor

Consul General Waller was now called upon. He received an ovation of applause and it was about ninety seconds before the tunuit subsided enough to allow him to speak. He spoke with his usual felicity. He tucked in a little polities, as his neutral position in the campaign has not been at all palatable to the Democracy. He hedged a little on that position. He very slily said that he was not debarred from speaking in the campaign, as there was nothing to hinder his explaining to the voters of Connecticut the reasons why he took the position mentioned. He said while there was no written law of the diplomatic service preventing a man in his official position from speaking in political campaigns, custom and man in his official position from speaking in political campaigns, custom and usuage were against it. In other words there was an unwritten law against it. Continu-ing he said there were peculiarities in the State department service. It you wanted to find out said peculiarity just write a letter to

Lord Sackville.

This sally produced uproarous applause.
Continuing Mr. Waller expressed the deepest appreciation of the big vote the Democracy of old Connecticut rolled up for him when he ran for Governor, and he bespoke a bigger majority this year for Cleveland than that of four years are Lord Sackville.

This pleased the democrats and they ap plauded Waller to the echo. Then, too, the ex-Governor spoke of free trade and said in his official position in London he met many British merchants who did not want America to have free trade. Mr. Waller made some remarks concerning Gladstone and expressed the belief that it wouldn't be long before a majority of the English people would vote for home rule. This remark brought out more applause. Altogether the genial ex-governor put Secretary Fairchild clear in the shade, the latter being a dry and methodical speaker and dealing mostly with dry figures and statistics that made his auditors look weary and fationed.

Mrs. Hiram Foster, of Meriden, has given to the association the use, for a nominal rent, of a cottage at Morris Cove, which has given opportunity for many young women worn out with city work to have a few days' rest at the shore. The Bible class and prayer meetings have been better attended than in any previous year, and those who have enjoyed these meetings have been greatly strengthened and helped in their Christian lives. The various classes prosperously carried out. The following statistics show the number instructed: 500 in all classes, 250 in these—dressmaking, calesthenics, bookkeeping, reading and spelling, stenography, penmanship, music, arithmetic and sewing; 70 children Saturday afternoons in sewing classes; 2,500 have visited the reading room and 3,000 books have been loaned; 2,118 dlshes have been cooked by pupils in the cooking department.

Attention was called to the growing need of a large building for the association. Fiften thousand dollars is needed.

Rev. E. M. Poteat, of the Calvary Baptist church, said he was glad to be present, but being a comparative stranger in the city he knew but little of the doings of the association. But he wanted to be linked to everything of a christian nature. Though this is only a recent movement, yet it began with a circle of Galilean fishermen. He suggested circle of Galileau fishermen. Speaks-Mr. Sperry Answers Mr. Sar gent's Last Argument. Another overflowing hall was seen at the noonday meeting of the Business and Workingmen's campaign club yesterday. President Easterbrook congratulated th club upon the success of their champion Mr. N. D. Sperry, at the Hyperion night before last and said it was one of the greates events the State has seen this campaign. events the State has seen this campaign.

Mr. Kellam then arose and proposed a vote thanks to Mr. Sperry. For several seconds a scene of wildest applause ensued. The gathering stood up as one man, waving hats and handkerchiefs and shouting until the floor trembled beneath them.

After the compliment to the great Connecticut politician, J. Rice Winchell was called upon for a few remarks.

He took Mr. Sargent's statements concerning the benefits that fine raw rubber material gave to manufacturers. He showed that of gave to manufacturers. He showed that o thirteen manufactories in this country mak ing rubber boots and shoes during the last two years five had failed, five had not made a dividend and the other three had barely made expenses.

He then said he would preach a little ser mon on the threadbare Democratic text, "The sariff is a tax." He said that no one would deny it, and showed the utter absurdity of opposing a tariff on these grounds, as we must be taxed some way to support the gov-

He demonstrated that to tax a thing raise its price and increased wages of workmen at the same time. "This means," said he, "that money will circulate quicker and thus add spirit and health to the life of the commu-

He described another kind of taxation which the people had to pay, namely that of patents. He showed how the government gave a man a monopoly, as it were, and let him charge his own price. This he vindicated by the fact that every invention benefited the community and the records chould fited the community and the people should therefore pay for it. "And if it is right to protect manufacturers by patents, it is also by a tariff," he concluded. President Easterbrook then called upon

President Easterbrook then called upon Mr. Sperry to say a few words, if he wished, relative to the great debate. As he came forward, tremendous applause again shook the hall. He, with his usual energetic impetuosity, overhauled all of Mr. Sargent's points made in finishing the debate and utterly overthrew them. In several cases he read statistics to show that the free trade speaker was badly "off" on the facts that he dealt with.

He stated that he didn't bring the greedealt with.

He stated that he didn't bring the question of files before Mr. Sargent to bear upon the work of three or four men in New Haven, but to show how it affected the file labor of the entire country.

As to borar, Mr. Sargent said the price hadn't been over 41-2c. a pound. Mr. Sperry read the Congressional committee's report, showing it in 1873 to have been 33-4 cents per pound, and was now 61-2 cents a pound, the present low price being due to the encouragement of a protective tariff the encouragement of a protective tariff.

As to carriages, Mr. Sargent flatly contra dicted Mr. Sperry's assertion that they could be made cheaper in Germany and Italy than here. Mr. Sperry said he took his statistics from a Democratic consul's report, which showed that, where, in those countries, a carriage to-day could be made for $20 or $30, the same thing here would cost $90 to pros on the free list, and said it was a disgrace Mr. Sargent or anyone else who support the idea of having a tariff so low that convilabor of foreign countries could be able compete with our free labor. "The low tariff of '33," said he, "produced the hard times of '36 and '37 and these in turn resulted in bringing about the protective tariff of '42." Mr. Sargent made a statement that he went into business in 1850 under a low tariff and that till 1860, when the tariff was raised, he enjoyed the most prosperous period of his business life. Mr. Sperry sthat in 1857 the concern of which Mr. Sargent was the head failed in business. "And was this prosperi-

Mr. Sperry then answered several questions put by those present concerning the matters debated upon. The meeting then adjourned till noon to-day. Smoking

THE LABORERS FRW. Growth of the McAll Mission in Paris A meeting of the New Haven auxiliary the McAll mission was held at the Center church chapel Tuesday afternoon. There was a goodly attendance of ladies. Mrs Chase of Philadelphia was introduced. She spoke earnestly for more workers in France. The people there are ready with their hearts open to be converted to the Christian faith She said very fervently that we on this side of the water should remember the help that gathered to help their sisters. He liked it because it is so eminently a Christian work. He hoped the coming year might be more fruitful in good works.

Prof. George B. Stevens, of Yale University, was the next speaker. This work has a peculiar interest, as it holds out to the young women the influences of a christian home.

Rev. E. M. Poteat, of the Calvary Baptist church, said he was glad to be present, but statily increasing and new stations are being opened. But there is one trouble, the laborers are few. The demand for religious teachers is enormous, and still the work has been mostly confined, so far, to Paris. The people are heart and soul with the workers.

Collision Between Paraders In New York.

MR. PARNELL ON TRIAL. aptain O'Shea, the First Witness for the Times, Identifies Mr. Par nell's Signature on the Alleged Forged Letters-Terms of the "Kil mainham Irish Treaty." LONDON, Oct. 31 .- The Parnell sommi don resumed its investigations to-day. Atorney General Webster, for the Times, asked leave to interpose Capt. O'Shea as a vitness, as that gentleman wanted to go immediately to Spain. Permission was granted and Captain O'Shea testified that he had seen on good terms with Mr. Parnell until June, 1886. At Mr Parnell's request, in June, 1881, he had communicated with Mr Hadstone. The communications were made without the knowledge of Mr. Parnell's colagues and were broken off in 1882 when Mr. Parnell and Mr. Dillion were in Kilmainham jail. After their release from jail Mr. Parnell, on returning from Paris, saw Mr. Gladstone and afterwards conferred with witness a number of times at the latter's house. Mr. Parnell authorized witness to communicate with the government. Mr. Parnell undertook to do his utmost for the Parnell undertook to do his utmost for the suppression of boycotting and outrages and he gave witness assurance that he had power to do so. When Mr. Parnell was in Kilmainhan jail a letter was written and signed by Mr. Parnell which witness took the next morning to Mr. Forster, then chief secretary for Ireland. The letter was afterward presented to the cabinet.

Attorney General Webster here read the letter. It expressed Mr. Parnell's opinion Attorney General Webster here read the letter. It expressed Mr. Parnell's opinion that if the arrears question were settled he and his colleagues would be able to suppress outrages. It urged the importance of agrarian legislation and concluded by saying that "if the programme sketched was carried out it would enable us to concerte accretion." t would enable us to co-operate cordially in he future with the Liberal party in forward ng liberal principles." The day after the Phoenix Park murder continued Captain O'Shea, Mr. Parnell showed the anti-murder manifesto which it had been decided to issue. It was a mishad been decided to issue. It was a mistake, said the witness, to say that Mr. Parnell was not in favor of the manifesto. He only disliked the amount of bombast in the document.

About this time, went on the witness, Mr.
Parnell told us that he had been obliged to ask for police protection as his life was in danger. Seven letters were here shown to witness, who declared with certainty that the signature attached to them was that of Mr.

signature attached to them was that of Mr. Sir Charles Russell here asked the court to permit him to postpone the cross-examina-tion of the witness. He said the latter part of O'Shea's evidence came upon him as a surrise and it was impossible to do justice to Justice Hannen said he could not perceive any good reason for postponing the cross-ex Sir Charles Russell thereupon decided to proceed and Captain O'Shea in reply to his uestions said Mr. Buckle, editor of the imes, had asked Mr. Joseph Chamberlain to get him to give evidence. Mr. Chamber lain showed witness Mr. Buckle's letter in July last. Witness did not agree to give evidence, however, until subpognaed by Mr

Parnell. Mr. Houston, the secretary of the Irish Loyal Union, saw him take down in shorthand his statement for the Times. Mr. Houston told him it was a state secret how the Times got the letters it had published. Mr. Chamberlain told him that Mr. Parnell accused him of procuring fac-simile letters and of dining with Mr. Buckle. Witness and or dining with air. Ducate, that heard Piggott and Callan mentioned as the men who had given the letters to the Times. He had heard through a Nationalist named Mulqueeny that a Nationalist named addiqueeny that the police had found a letter in the league's rooms in London in which Frank Byrne acknowledged the receipt of a check from Mr. Parnell, which had been sent to him to enable him to escape from the country, but the authorities had assured him that no such letter had been seized. He did not know that Mulqueeny was a member of a secret society. He knew him as an advanced Nationalist, that is, an old Fenian whose views were different from both the dynamiters and invincibles. Mulqueeny had been threatened with death by General Carroll-Davis and Hayes, the civil engineer who was supposed to have conceived the London bridge outrage. Mulqueeny had given of-fense by joining other advanced Nationalists n signing a protest against witness'exclusio rom Parliament by Mr. Parnell. To further questions the witness replied that he saw the original of the fac simile of one of the Times' letters last week. He believed the writing was Mr. Parnell's, He had not heard before that the Times had published the fac-simile. There were in existence compromising letters and document and it had been said that he was engaged a conspiracy to get these letters, but he had never stabbed a man behind his back. He had been anxious to give evidence in order to clear himself and to refute the slander which had been circulated by Mr. Parnell

WITNESS CREATES A SENSATION. Recurring to the Kilmalnham treaty, h said that the chief conditions of the negotiations were that the league should be broken up if the landlords would reduce their rents and receive compensation from the excheqner. Many of the memoranda were destroyed in 1883, when there was danger of a select committee of Parliament being appointed to inquire into the Kilmainham treaty. It was imated that the utmost reticence ought be observed on the subject. Sir Charles Russell—"Intimated bywhom? Witness—"Intimated by Sir William Ver

This statement caused a sensation in the court, and Justice Hannen asked that every-body abstain from manifesting his feelings during the proceedings.
Sir Charles Russell—"Was it then you de

Sir Charles Russell— was it then you destroyed the memoranda!"
Witness—"Yes; certain memoranda which were in another box and which included some of Mr. Chamberlain's letters escaped destruction. It was Mr. Gladstone's wish that I should be as reticent as possible from motives of political arigandes. should be as reticent as possible from motives of political exigencies.

The fac simile of the Times letter was again handed to witness, and he said he was decidedly of the opinion that it was Mr. Parnell's writing. He had never discussed the question as to how the Times became possessed of it, because he did not know. When he first saw the letter in the Times he did not think it was genuine. This was not because of any peculiarity it the writing but because he could not understand why Mr. Parnell should say—"you may show him this, but do not tell him my ad-Witness had no doubt about the signs tures. He had had numerous letters from Mr. Parnell of about the same date as the letter referred to and could not mistake th writing. Under cross-examination by Mr. Healey witness stated that when he contested Galway for Parliament the Parnellites attacked and denounced him in every way in their power.

REVIEW OF THE TESTIMONY. The court then adjourned until to-morro to allow the proceedings enlivened by Mr O'Shea's examination to become quiet. Mr ture, the animus of the witness was apparent. The Parnellites probably felt the quiet malignity of the evidence more keenly than the best informed outsider.

O'Shea's examination to become quiet. Mr. O'Shea proved a good witness, giving his sylidence in a calm, matter-of-fact way. His narrative of the Kilmsinham negotiations, though largely a matter of history, was listened to with rapt attention, which was at its helght on the production of the alleged forged letters. Taking up a letter he scanned it with careful deliberation for a few moments and then said in a distinct tone without overemphasis: "It is Mr. Parnell's signature."

no ordinary privilege to appear before you this morning to say something of my work and the work of reform, as it moves slowly but silently forward, among Roman Catholies. When made free in Jesus Christ, I left the monastery; I had not the remotest idea of what my work should be. In my training and sympathies there was a feeling of dislike for Protestants and Protestant ministers. Of them I knew little, and what I knew strongy prejudiced me against them. They were represented to me by the Catholic church as deceivers, making a liar of God by setting forth a Christ who is not according to the gospel. The first time I entered a Protestant prayer meeting and heard them sing:

"What a friend we have in Jesus. All our sins and griefs to bear." knew that that experience realized in the seclusion of the monastery was my own. That our work, little as it is yet known, and That our work, little as it is yet known, and less understood, makes its impression on Romanism nesds no stronger testimony than that my humble presence in your midst should have been noticed by the declaration made from its altars yesterday in your city that persons attending the services conducted

The effort of Romanism to protect hersel. against the emancipating influence of Protestantism is seen in her war upon the public schools. The work of those who have dared to separate themselves from her, more particularly of such as have been educated for her priesthood or have been priests or have belonged to her sacred orders, is especially dreaded. Here the speaker referred to the state of affairs in Marlboro Mass., which he described as an attempt to boycott the Mir-ror, a daily of that town, whose editor stood up for the free school, free press, free speecl and fair play. He described the Jesuitica Branford's New Mystery—The Clothing Which Was Found in the Woods. The woman's apparel found in the Branford woods on Tuesday is thus described by Sheriff Nettleton: Stockings, dark lisle thread road company. The suit claims $3,000 dam- finely made underclothing with costly lace trimmings; thin muslin dress, buff color with ner of Grand avenue and Front street, a car dark dots and made in Mother Hubbard style; white pleated apron trimmed with lace; alligator-ekin belt. There was also near by s lace collar and a bustle. The bustle was what attracted the attention of the boys, Gilbert Lindley's son and John Page's son. bert Lindley's son and John Page's son.

They were rambling in the woods and caught sight of the bustle, which was hanging to a bush. They investigated and came upon the clothing. As they were staying out of school without leave they kept their find a secret for a few days. When they told their story it soon came to Sheriff Nettleton ears. The spot where the clothing was found is twentyfive or thirty rods from the highway and about half a mile from the depot. The people are condealing their brains in vain contecple are cudgelling their brains in vain conjectures as to how the clothing came to be where found. A CORKER

Months' Business To Be Done In One!

CAN WE DO IT?

There's no use denving the fact that we are OVER-LOADED with FINE OVERCOATS and SUITS, and we have got to sell them now or never. The warm, stormy and unfavorable weather of the past few weeks, together with the excitement which has attended the present political campaign, have injured and detracted from general business. We have suffered with the rest, and Excess in Stock Over One Year Ago of Rising $30,000. To sell this large surplus we must do two months ousiness in one. We must sell more goods in November than we usually sell in November and December. CAN WE DO IT? WILL THE PEOPLE RESPOND O THIS ADVERTISEMENT? We believe they will if we but make PRICES LOW ENOUGH. As our sole object is to reduce this big stock we shall sell it without profit and many lots MUCH BELOW actual cost to manufacture. Read this advertisement through, gentlemen, and see what we offer you, Commencing Nov. 1.

Remember, We Offer None but New, Unbroken Lots, of Fine Quality and High Grade.

Small Lots and Off Styles We Never Advertise at Any Price.

FIRST LOT:-75 Imported Scal Brown Kersey Overcoats, mad with full satin sleeve linings, silk velvet collars, double stitched seams and lined with a XX farmer satin lasting. The regular price for these Overcoats is $22, and they are being shown up as great bargains in New Haven, Boston and New York to day for $20 and $22. They are worth it, too, but we have a big surplus of Overcoats and we shall sell this lot for $12. Read the price again-Twelve Bollars for Men's Seal Brown Imported Kersey Overcoats, sixes 33 to 44 inclusive. The goods were made by one of the best woolen manufacturers in the world. To say they are fashionable and stylish is super-fluous. There's no more popular Overcoat worn than the seal brown Kerseys.

A Large Bar of the Finest Laundry Scap.

We expect to give away 2,000 bars of Scap: so don't fall to be there. Many other grand bargains.

SECOND LOT :- 400 Men's and Young Men's Indigo Blue Chinchills Overcoats at $12.00. This lot of Overcoats was manufactured to retail for $29, but like many other lots of fine Overcoats we have too many, and we slaughter them with the rest. On every Overcoat is a sleeve ticket which reads: "Warranted strictly all wool and Indigo Blue." A better guarantee of the quality and solid color could not be given. They are made with piped edges, silk velvet collars, double seams and double warp serge linings. They are worth $23, and would be cheap at $20. We shall sell

THIRD LOT:-We offer 200 of the celebrated Lawton Diagonal Beaver Overcoats in two very handsome shades, a dark blue and seal brown. At the prices we shall offer this lot we do not hesitate in saying that this is "The Bargain" of this sale. These coats are made by our best tailors, cut single breasted, fig front, shaped backs, double stitched Lapped seams, silk velvet collar, and trimmed throughout in our best manner, and just placed on our counters fresh from the workroom. We manufactured this lot to retail at $18, but shall offer them during this sale at $12 each. NOTE,-For a medium-priced Overcoat we believe this lot will outwear and give better satisfaction for an every day business coat than anything we have ever offered. Bear in mind, it is not an ordinary $12 Overcoat, but such as is usually sold at

Take your choice, an all wool Indigo Blue fast color Chinchilla, an imported Scal Brown Kersey, or the famous Lawton Diagonal Overcoats, for $12.

FOURTH LOT:-And a Bigger Bargain we have not offered during a lifetime in the Clothing business. What is it? Read and see and tell us if you think it a bargain. Three hundred-300-Men's and Young Men's simon pure Hillsboro Beaver Overcoats, in three solid colors, Blue, Brown and Black, regular sizes from 33 to 44, and new lots just in from the maker's hands. Overcoats that sell in the regular course of trade for $18, and never lower that $15, we shall close at $10. Ten dollars—yes, ten dollars—for the genuine Hillsboro Beaver Overcoats, new lots and the three colors to select from. They are made with fly front double stitched edges, silk velvet collars and lined with xxx double warp serge linings. Ten dollar bargains we have offered before, but we never offered for $10 an Overcoat that could ouch these. If you want an Overcoat that is always in style, one that will wear better wear longer and look better than any Overcoat you ever bought for $15, ask to see our Hills-

FIFTH LOT:-Everybody Knows We Are Doing The Business In Fine Overcoats. To-day we offer no fewer than 1,000 young men's and gentle-men's rich and velvety Shetlands soft Venetians, select Schnabels, stylish Chinchillas, choice Elysians, fashionable Fur Beaver, Kersey, Worsteds and Diagonals—narrow and wide wales—in Blue, Black, Brown, Grey, London Tan and Oxford. They are made with silk velvet collars, piped and double stitched edges, plush pockets, and those that are not lined all the way through with satin have satin sleeve linings and are lined with fine Italian cloth, tailors' serge, or a light colored all-wool fine cassimere. Our present prices for these magnificent Overcoats are $20, $23, $25, $28, $30,$32 and $35. They are all tailor made, hence are perfectly shaped, and they would cost you to-day made to order $43 to $79. Look in our now windows. Come in and examine the goods. You will buy them when you see them

SIXTH LOT:- 500 Men's and Young Men's Kersey, Elysian, Chin hilla, Diagonal and Beaver Overcoats—Overcoats that are being shown up as great bargains or $20, $22 and $23, we shall sell in quantities of one Overcoat or more for $15. Don't fall to see them! They're simply wonderful. All the solid colors, Blue, Black and Brown we offer in this lot of 800 Overcoats of $15, and there is no question about there being the greatest value for $15 ever shown. Look at the display in our windows.

FOR THE BOYS AND CHILDREN.

Our stock of Boys' and Children's Overcoats and Suits includes goods of our own man nfacture and choice selections from the best houses in Boston and New York, and there no question about our present showing being way ahead of any previous season.

ULSTERS AND REEFERS.

No Such Stock Has Ever Been Shown in Connecticut. Heavy Flannel lined Driving Ulaters in big lots for $6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $19, $12, $15,

Men's, Young Men's and Boys' Heavy Blue Chinchilla Reefers, $5, $6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $10, $12 and $15. Vests to match nearly all our Reefers, but you are not obliged to buy the Vests to get the Reefers. For Uisters and Reefers, as well as Overcoats, we are Unquestionably Headquarters,

If you live a distance from New Haven and cannot attend this sale, send for a f any of these lots. If you do not find the goods fully up to the representations in this advertisement, return them and we will pay express charges both ways. There's no nonsense about this sale; we mean business. We mean two months business in one, and to accomplish it we offer a list of bargains which are simply in-
