CONSOLIBATION. To-day the hearing concerning the consoliiation of the town and city governments of New Haven begins at Hartford. An effort will be made to show that there is a general lemand for such union. There is not, and there has not been. In fact, there is very little interest felt in the matter by the inhabtants of the city. The bill has been mended so as to do away with as many of the objections as possible, and as it now stands it provides for a queer kind of consolidation. Some of the Democratic politicians object to it on partisan grounds, but they would of course object to any such bill. The weighty objection comes from some of the most rominent men in the city who believe in own government, and from residents in the listricts which it is proposed to annex, who for money."-Life. do not believe in being forced to "join." The bill craftily provides for the submission of the matter to the people, but those most inof the others don't care. The legislature will practically be asked to force into the city an improvement. The figures set the wheat crop in England at 68,159,000 bushels or nearly 4 per cent. less than in 1887. The estimated average rate of yield in 1888 was twenty-eight bushels per acre, against thirty-two in 1887. The acreage of wheat in 1888 in England was larger as compared with 1887 by more than 10 per cent., but in spite of this increased area under cultivation the of this increased area under cultivation the erop as a whole diminished. In Wales the falling off was much the same, and in Scotland the average yield per acre fell off thirtysix bushels in 1887 and thirty-one bushels in 1888. But this was not the only difficulty the English farmers had to contend with, for, peside a deficiency in production the quality of the wheat was even more unsatisfactory than its quantity, a result due to the absence of sunshine and the excessive rainfall during creasing from 65,000,000 bushels in 1887 to 88,000,000 bushels in 1888. But the grain was of an inferior quality, much discolored and coarse, a large quantity of the crop being unsuitable for malting purposes. The oat crop was about as large in Great Britain in 1888 as in 1887, the aggregate of each year footing up to 107,000,000 bushels, this on a somewhat diminished acreage. But although the quality of the oats is relatively better than the quality of the wheat and barley, it is by no means equal to that of the year 1887. The hay crop of Great Britain in 1888 is estimated at a total of 6,700,000 tons, a great gain over 1887, when the total product was 4,700,000 tons. But the quality of the hay of the last season was decidedly unsatisfac-At this rate the English farmer will have reason to be discouraged. It has been a long time since he had any good luck.

BDITORIAL NOTES A writer in the Philadelphia Press who has been talking with Postmaster General Wanamaker reports that the railroad mail service will receive early attention. It cannot e too early.

TO ENGLAND FOR HUSBANDS.

An Attempt to Explain Why So Many American Girls Turn in That Direc Many people seem to be exercised in their minds as to why American girls marry Englishmen, and they seek the reasons far and wide. It has, for instance, been asserted that it is because Englishmen are handsomer that it is because Englishmen are handsomer on the justice. "Well, your honor," said out the justice. "Well, your honor," said than Americans, a statement that could only emanate from an English mind, as any one well acquainted with Americans and their inmost ideas can at once perceive. One of them observed to the present writer: "When I landed at New York (it was after a year' absence) I was perfectly ashamed of mysels absence) I was perfectly ashamed of mysels for staring at the men the way I did, but f couldn't help it. I could not take my eyeI off them; they seemed to me too beautiful for anything after those," &c.

And yet we prefer to marry Englishmen, and I am told that we do so in ever-increasing numbers. Why is this, since American men are so handsome? In the first place there is the natural tendency of women to be at-tracted by the new and the unusual. It seems to have been indigenious in America, as the ancient arrow maker found to his cost when Hiawatha came to woo in the land of the Dacotahs:

as the ancient arrow maker found to his cost with trace of the latter is lower than it was ever before known to be. This fact is causing great concern to French thinkers. The special studies of M. Lagneau of the French Academy of Medicine have led to the conclusion that, at the present rate of retrogression, 100 French families, such with three children, will in the second generation have among them a total of eighty three descendants, and in the fifth generation half of these families will have no male representatives, and in the fifthegeneration half of these families will have no make representatives, and in the fifthegeneration half of these families will have no make representatives, and in the fifthegeneration half of these families will have no make representatives, and in the fifthegeneration half of these families will have no make representatives, and in the fifthegeneration brown much his last specialistic process of the straight of the family name in nine cases ont of ten will have periabed altogether.

An Australian paper has been attempting to gather statistics of the number and varieties of truste existing in the various countries, but the record is far from complete. Germany has more than any other country, and they have attained there their greatest power. It is asserted that the German tariff of 1879 has been the chief cause of their development. The United States comes next with a great number and variety, some of which, however, are properly not trusts but pools and corners. England has a few, obtefly relating to articles like sait, of which the country possesses something like a monopoly. Trusts are also found in almost all the European nations and in the countries of Asia even. Mexican merchants and manufacturers have recently combined to control the production and sale of sugar and cotton.

The work of cutting the Perekop canal by control the production and sale of sugar and cotton.

The work of cutting the Perekop canal by the Russian government is now well under way. This canal is to extend across the isthmus of Perekop, connecting the sea of Azof with the Black sea. It will be seventy-four

The American men are not idle enough to make love with any chance of success against the leisurely European. Mr. Max O'Rell strikes the keynote of American life when he says every body works—young, old, rich and poor. The idle man who in Europe is called poor. The idle man who in Europe is called a gentleman, in Chicago is a losfer.

That is just it—work without ceasing is making America one of the most prosperous, and Dupont streets, and paid a rental therepleted in about three years. As with most making inable. Nobody, either rich or poor, imaginable. Nobody, either rich or poor, imaginable with the most unbeautiful making image. Nobody, either rich or poor, imaginable with the stime to idle; and nobody seems to realize that it is only in idleness and leisure, or at least in cessation from the pursuit of wealth, that anything beautiful will be evolved out of either brain or hand. There is another point to be considered engineering difficulties the cost will by no means be excessive.

The Jekyl Island club of Georgia is said to be meeting with great anccess in propagating the English pheasant. A few months ago the club received seventy-eight birds out of one hundred which were sent to it from England, twenty-two having died on the journey. From these seventy-eight birds one thousand chicks were hatched out last fall by common barnyard hens. In addition to these, most of which throve, an additional one hundred hen pheasants Lave been ordered from England; and when they arrive preparation.

The Jekyl Island club of Georgia is said to be meeting with great anccess in propagating the English pheasant. A few months ago the English pheasant. A few months ago the main causes of this is the defective do meetic arrangements, which has thrown an overwhelming burden upon the shoulders of the American wife. She has to work so hard, even though she may be delicate, that she has no time to be happy. Her nerves are soon worn out, her health gives way, misery ensues and relief is sought in the divorce court. The trouble was not that she married the wrong man, as she foolishly imagines, but that she had no servants. English women don't realize the blessings they enjoy in being able to obtain the services of the divorce static arrangements, which has thrown an overwhelming burden upon the shoulders of the premises, they gave possession to Lee Chuck.

The visitors in this family were expected to "pull their own weight" in the household. It was an amusement for a European visitor to do so, but one could see that such a system deprived the women of all chance of social happiness and pleasure. In fact, when they wanted rest they came to Europe or two years.

we like England. We are more inought of here when married than in our own country. In America the girl, it is true, is paramount. There she is the center of social life, while over here the girl is only a graceful and pleasing figure of the background. But marriage distinguishes the English woman; it extinguishes the America n. To be a girl in America and a matron in England is to in America and a matron in England is obtain the maximum of deference and hor merely because they are rare, and also be-cause they like to see a man distinguished by something besides his mere cash value. Hereditary nobles possess this distinction apart from their wealth, and therefore they receive a certain limited amount of notice and admiration. These, then, are some aggressive patriotism, we are content to be come English wives. The old country has so much that is beautiful to offer us, and here, without being very rich, we can still realize our woman's ideal of a refined, elegant and leisurely home, where the chief figure is not always conspicuous by his absence. In these respects we American wives have much to gain by coming to England, and we lose very little. Perhaps some Eng-lish husband will tell us the motives that Another time, when Tim was civil justice, a shyster had a case before him, and the lawyer didn't know much about his clients nor their case. This shyster, Lang by name, was anxious for a postponement, but he didn't know how to work it. Some one entered the room, and whispering to him, said us out," said Deputy Shea; but we are ready for them, and will give them all the lead they can carry." A cablegram was received yesterday by see Poy from Lee Chuck in the #Flowery Kingdom, in which he was instructed to keep Lee Wing on the outside, even if the floor of the establishment had to be paved with twenty-dollar gold pieces. The build-ing is a three story structure, the front part eing used as a general store, while the Lee Chuck made a quarter of a million by renting out coclie labor to the Pacific roads, while Lee Wing is the owner of a dozen stores. He is said to be a real-estate sharp also, his tactics being to rent profitable stands over the heads of the occupants and raise the rent on them. The officers say that they have information that the highbinders will make a concerted move to capt-ure the place some time this morning, and the two are making their preparations ac sordingly.

Patrick:
The Knights of St. Patrick send you fraternal greeting in this the most auspicious anniversary of their sainted apostle that has come since the days of O'Connell; and we hope that the light which is now breaking on the old land and her uncrowned apostle, Charles Stewart Parnell, may envelop the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick and all other sons that are friendly to the cause to which the Knights of St. Patrick are committed.

Very kindly,
JOHN E. MOPARTLAND,
President K. of St. P.

It was half-past 11 before Toastmaster James P. Pigott began the speaking of the evening by introducing John E. McPartland, resident of the society. He expressed the leasure which all felt in the occasion and hoped that another anniversary would see Ireland free.

John J. Splaine answered "The Day We delebrate" in a nappy manner. He spoke of the memories which cluster around the day and the joy which every Irishman felt to see Ireland's fortune looking so brightly for the future. "It is natural for an Irishman to be free," said he. "Freedom gathers around the cradle of every man born on Irish soil." Dennis O'Reilly happily responded to "The and of the Shamrock." "What pleasure o-day to look back and observe the change to-day to look back and observe the change in celebrating St. Patrick's day," said he. "Instead of living in the dead past, as formerly, we are living and dealing with the live issues of the day. Mr. Cahill in responding to the toast "St. Patrick's Day" said: On possibly just such a day as this, Mr. Toastmaster and gentlemen, thousands the wide world over are meeting in honor of the great Christian apostle of their race. The feeling which prompts such celebrations as this of St. Patrick's day is common to all nationalities. But surely I common to all nationalities. But surely may not overshoot the mark if I venture to say that this feeling is doubly strong in men say that this feeling is doubly strong in men of Irish birth or race.

Nor is it difficult to accept this truth. For what land, under so many centuries of coldblooded persecution and misrule, as systematic as it has been steadfast, what land, I ask, has nevertheless preserved intact its own distinctive nationality! The unwarying scene of intolerance and butchery, of homes despoiled and lands ravaged by ruthless conquerers, Erin's past has been a sad, unhappy but not injurious past. Before ruthless conquerers, Erin's past has been a sad, unhappy but not injurious past. Before and after the time of Cromwell's iron rule, the story of Ireland remains the same old tale of oppression, oppression and oppression. And then came that dark and dreadful period, the atrocious "Penal Days,"

"They bribed the flock, they bribed the rou, To sell the priest and rob the sire. Their dogs they taught alike to run. Upon the scent of wolf and friar." But, sitting as we are, to-night, about this pleasant board, perhaps it might be well to cast aside the bitter memories which come surging over us when we recall the saddest known. To-night we can forget those dark remembrances. To-night a glerious record shines in upon us. To-night the names of warriors and statesmen are recalled. Our minds are bent to-night to thoughts of Silken Thomas, the O'Neils and O'Donnel f Sarsfield and the Dillons; to thoughts of that long line of devoted martyrs from Lord Edward and Robert Emmett to those later heroes of dock and scaffold at Liverpool and Manchester; to thoughts of that incom-parable group of statesmen, giants in intellect and action, Grattan, and Flood. Curran, Shiel, O'Connell, until finally we are brought to dwell upon the familiar figures of our own day, Dillon and Healey Davitt and Parnell. Such are the names which make Ireland dear to its children. Great, indeed, and glorious beyond compare, the land itself

"Oh! she's a fresh and fair land; Oh! she's a true and rare land; Yes, she's a rare and fair land; This native land of mine." It is difficult, Mr. Toastmaster, upon ar It is difficult, Mr. 10astmann, concerning occasion like this to avoid a word concerning of course. Within litics—Irish politics, of course. Within week or so tremendous changes have occured. The Tory owners and managers of a certain London daily, after an unexampled prosecution, say rather persecu-tion, before a so-called Parliamentary com-mission have been forced to hide their faces before an unmistakably outraged public sen-timent. In a word, as everybody knows, the case of the Times has collapsed and Richard Pigott is dead. His countrymen can forgive, may forget him. The innocent wife and children for whom he bartered honor and threw his soul away will be cared for, kindly and tenderly cared for, by the very man he sought to rain and disgrace—and so an end to Richard Pigott, the arch informer, arch-traitor, arch-forger of modern times. But the results of his work remain. eady staunch John Morley has risen from his seat in the commons and terrified the government by threats of an investigation into the conduct of the Times commission itself. What will be the answers to the questions of the English liberals! The civil-ized world cares little. Its opinion has been already formed. Surely, however slowly, the ministry of a Saulisbury and a Balfour is toppling to its ruin. This effected, home rule, as the first step toward self-government, will have been assured. Then, indeed, the hopes of three generations of Irishmen will be realized and again and light will be realized and again. be realized and again an Irish parliament be seen sitting in College Green.

Dear friends and brothers—This, it seems to me, is the picture we should look upon to-night. The presence of Irish legislators in college green means a complete and perfect national autonomy. It means a happy and a plenty-teeming land. And surely, too, it means the banishment of all prejudices of creed or clan and the establishment of that peace and concord which alone can make a ation integrate and prosperous.

"And ob, it were a gallant deed
To show before mankind
How every race and every creed
Might be by love combined;
Might be combined, yet not forget
The fountain whence they rose,
As, filled by many a riverlet,
The stately Shannon flows."

And again the lesson of this St. Patrick's lay is embodied in the fervid language of freland's intensest poet, Thomas Davis: Never under wrongs despair, Labor long and everywhere; Link your countrymen, prepare, Then—Strike home! Thus great men have ever wrought, Thus must greatness still be sought, Thus doored, loved and fought Greece and Rome.

Gentlemen, are we wrong in believing that this lesson has best been taught by the greatest living exponent of Irish liberties, Charles

Mr. J. H. Clerkin responded to the Friendly Sons, etc., as follows: Mr. President, and toastmaster: The executive committee must have had a peep into the mirror of my soul, and truly studied my inmost thought when they so well and in such forcible language as this have expressed my honest feeling in the word of this toast. I must confess that I confess that I word of this tosis. I must contess that I could not express my own feeling in as ornate language as this sentiment. I think you will all agree with me, however, that I even though rude in word am not lacking in love and admiration for the Society of the Friendly Some of St. Patrick. Yes! I love and admiration for your wonny blood.

Rev. Mr. Fordham's Coming Departare-Will Rest Awhile at Bay State-Two Coming Entertainments. Westville Methodists much regret the oming departure from their midst of Rev. Mr. Fordham, the earnest and faithful pasto of the M. E. church. He will not take a new charge at present, but will retire to his bean tiful and remantic sea shore residence, at DeBU Bay Shore, L. I., to rest for a number of months. His services at the church are warmly appreciated and he retires April 1st with the heartfelt best wishes of his people and many other Westville friends. Two social events in his honor will occur soon. Next Monday evening the young people of the church will give a concert under the leadership of Paul Unger, and next week Wednesday evening the young people will give a supper and tableaux. The choir of this church will remain unchanged the coming year. It is a choir of mixed voices. The WHITNEYVILLE.

New and Handsome Parsonage t be Erected by the Congregational Church-A Generous Donation From a Whitneyville Lady-Judge Mus son's New Residence.

Whitneyville Congregational church is to have a new and handsome parsonage. The work of erecting it will soon be begun and it will be finished ready for occupancy in the fall. The land for the purpose, one hundred feet front, on the Centerville road a short distance from the church, was donated for this object by Mrs. Putnam. widow of th late Rev. Austin Putnam, who was for forty eight years pastor of Whitneyville church The same estimable lady gave also $200 to ward the fund for furnishing the parsonage. The land donated is a part of the Putnam homestead, south of the Putnam parsonage Judge L. E. Munson of this city has nearly completed the erection of a handsome Swiss cottage residence on his land in Whitneyville a short distance north of the boat houses. BOARD OF COUNCILMEN. President Chandler Wins His Point-The Fire Marshal Instructed to Close the Upper Gallery of the Hyperion if Found Unsafe-A Long Harangue

There was a quorum of the board of councilmen last night, and after a few routine matters had been passed upon, President Chandler called Councilman Wardell to the chair. Mr. Chandler then brought to the notice of the board the insufficient number of exits of the upper gallery of the Hyperion. He pictured the danger that might arise at the graduation exercises, when the theatre would be crowded. He thought something should be done and offered the following should be done and offered There was a quorum of the board of counshould be done and offered the following $1.50 counterpanes 56c, and others in pro resolution:

Whereas, There exists in the public mind much unesainess and uncertainty as to the probability of escape from the Hyperion in case of fire, and, Whereas, By reason of the large numbers who frequently gather in this building, many of whom are compelled to sit in the upper gallery which has too inadequate exits, in case of fire, therefore, for the better protection of the lives of all who visit the Hyperion, Bunnell's museum, the New Haven opera house, or any other public half in our city, be it.

Resolved, That the board of fire commissioners Resolved, That the board of fire commissioners be and are hereby requested to instruct the fire narshal to order that all door exits in any and wery public hall, theater or opera heuse within the tity timits be and remain unlocked except by a bolt on the inside of said exit doors, which can be easily irrawn by any person during any and every public berformance or gathering in said public hall, theaver or opera house.

r or opera house. Resolved, That the board of fire commissioners b Hesolved, That the board of life commissioners be and are hereby requested to instruct the fire marshal to order that the upper gallery in the building known as the Hyperion be at once closed to the pub ic and remain closed until such time as suitable and adequate exits shall have been constructed to the satisfaction and acceptance of the board of fire This started a discussion which lasted for early two hours. All the conneilmen were in favor of the first part of the resolution, but several thought the board had no power to act in the matter. Councilman Chandler stated that he had asked the advice of the stated that he had asked the advice of the corporation counsel, and he had introduced the resolution only after getting his opinion.

Mr. Chandler fought hard, making several forcible speeches. He spoke of just such a resolution being introduced a year ago, and which was passed by the board of aldermen, and which was tabled by the councilmen. He said that he had understood pretty thoroughly that several councilmen had been "seen" on the matter by parties interested. "It is frightful to think what would be the result should a panic arise in the theater," he said.

arise in the theater," he said.

Dr. Winchell, owner of the theater, was Dr. Winchell, owner of the theater, was present and was given a hearing. He stated that the Hyperion was one of the safest theaters in the country and had been so reported by a committee. He knew the gallery was unsafe, but said no theater could be absolutely safe in case of fire. Only on special occasions are there large crowds in this gallery, and then it is at a free show for the public good.

"I don't wish to cast reflections on any one," he continued, "but there is a ghost somewhere." He invited a committee to investigate and report.

Mr. Chandler said: "I want it understoo that no pressure has been brought to bear on me in this matter. I have not seen a single person about it. All I ask is that this death trap be closed. Councilman Hamilton offered an amend ment providing that the number to be admitted to the upper gallery be limited. It was voted down. The following was finally passed as a substitute offered by Counc Chandler: Resolved. That the fire marshal be instructed to close up the upper gallery of the building known as the Hyperion until a sufficient number of exits be made that shall be acceptable to him.

An opinion from Corporation Counsel Townsend was received setting forth in re-sponse to inquiries made of him by the com-mon counsel, that I am therefore of the opinion, that in case of a disagreement between the mayor and the board of aldermen as to the duty of the corporation counsel before the General Assembly, the corporation counsel would have no right or power to act without the advice of the court of common council. In Order to Thoroughly Introduce COBB'S SOAPS To the people of this place, we have made an arrangement with the manufacturers to dis-tribute a limited number of their

INTRODUCTORY PACKAGES. These packages contain 45 cents worth of Soap, and we shall sell them For Only 25 Cents,

Or about one half the regular retail price for these goods.

This is your opportunity to test the merits of these Celebrated Soaps, as no manufacturer ever before offered $1.80 worth of Soap for $1.00.

The Complexion or Toilet Soap is carefully medicated and delicately perfumed. It heals Chapped Hands, cures Eczems and all Skin Eruptions. Cures Dandruff and prevents the Hair falling out. Best Soap for Baby's Bath and highly prized for the Teeth.

Cobb's Borax Soap is combined with Borax in correct proportions. One bar outlasts two or three of ordinary so-called Soaps, which contain 25 to 50 per cent. of rosin, silicate, along at the contain 25 to 50 per cent. clay, etc.

It is a Luxury to use it, as it leaves the hands soft, lessens the labor, leaves the clothes sweet as a lily and white as snow. It does not injure the most delicate fabric and is specially adapted for washing Blankets and Flannels. It does not shrink them and leaves them soft as new.

A STRIKE IN WALTHAM AVERTED.

Explained.

CLEV&LAND IS OFF FOR CUBA. The Senate Considers Our Foreign Relations.

THE WEAVERS' STRIKE

Big Saint Patrick's Parade-The Strikers Show No Signs of Wavering -Arrangements For a Big Mass Meeting Completed-An Appeal to the Public Will be Made For Ald. FALL RIVER, March 18 .- All is quiet here o-night, with no visible change in the situson. Interest centered in the St. Patrick's parade, which was the biggest ever held in Fall River, and the shut-down of all mills made the day a general holiday. The strikers show no signs of wavering and manufacturers to-night concede that unless a large num ber of weavers go back to work to-morrow the strike will be long and likely to last s month. The strikers spent the day in varions amusements and the athletic games atracted big crowds. The executive committee met and completed arrangements for big mass meeting to be held in the park tonorrow morning. They want to make it the piggest meeting of the strike to show that ne spirit of the strikers is not broken. They do not expect that many will return to work to-morrow morning, but as most of the mills will open their gates to allow all help to go n who wish, the committee will station pickets at each gate to warn strangers away and report to the mass meeting the exact number who return to their looms. The ommittee does not expect that enough will o in to have any effect on the strike. Thus go in to have any effect on the strike. Thus far the committee has only had three applications for assistance and those were from families whose wages had been retained for rent. At the office of the overseers of the poor it was stated that but few extra applications for aid had been received as yet. To morrow the executive committee will send out collectors to raise funds and will issue an appeal to the public for aid. TRIAL OF CAPTAIN BEAUCHAMP. ome Astonishing Statements From the Witnesses - Offered to Increase His Pay if He Would Throw Two Men Overboard. BALTIMORE, March 18 .- The trial of Capain C. E. Beauchamp, of the oyster boat C. E. Beauchamp, for cruelty to sailors under is command, which was brought in the United States court to-day brought out some ather astonishing statements from one of the witnesses which, if accepted as literally ruthful, would indicate that the numerous dead bodies found floating about the bay and its tributaries at times are not always the result of accidental deaths, and that life is not neld at a high premium by some of those who sail the waters of the Chesapeake in search of its food product. John Kavaelek, a sailor n Captain Beauchamp's boat stated that he captain had offered to increase his pay if he would consent to throw two worthless hands overboard. This testimony produced a decided effect on those present. Kavaelek told how the captain best John Steiner with a stick of wood without provocation and forced him to work when his foot was so ore that he could not put it on the ground Beanchamp, according to the testimony, seemed to claim the privilege of beating any-one in his employ. Kavaelek said the fare consisted mainly of half-spoiled beans, with

The chiliau government has sent orders to its mmigration agents in Europe authorizing them to give free passage to all who desire to receive board and lodging for fifteen days. The Bolivian and Chilian governments are ngaged in a dispute over the action taken by the latter in Antofagasto. The Chilian minister of foreign affairs in reply to a protest from Bolivia say Chili considers as annexed to her territory all land south of parallel No. 23, that Chili exercises determined prisdiction over the rest of the coast, and hat while Chili entertains the most friendly ntentions toward Bolivia it does not accept O'Brien Refuses to Accept Liberty. LONDON, March 18 .- Rev. Mr. Tanning today applied to the authorities of the prison at Chatham for permission to visit Dr Gallagher, but his application was refused on he ground that Dr. Gallagher was underroing punishment for a breach of the prison ules. Mr. Wm. O'Brien refuses to accept his liberty on the condition imposed by Presiding Justice Hannen, of the Parnel mmission that he abstain from agitation during the period of his release. Mr. O'Brien says he will not accept the proffered liberty unless he is released unconditionally.

The Riot in China. WASHINGTON, March 18 .- The Secretary State has received from Mr. Kennedy, U. S. onsul general at Shaughai, a report on th recent riot at Chin Kiang, China. On February 25 the consul general received from Consul Jones as Chin Kiang telegraphic news of the riot and threatened attack on the consulate, and a request for protection. As there was no American man-of war available the British consul general was communicated with and a British man-of-war started from Shanghai on February 26 for Chin Kiang On that day the British consulate and four other houses at Chin Kiang were burned and the office of the American consul gutted and looted by a mob of about 6,000. Mr. Jones and family example in the consulation of the cons and family escaped injury. The consul general at Shanghai has also reported there was a late rumor that more buildings had been destroyed, among them the residences of some American missionaries.

Ex-President Hayes' Contribution. New York, March 18.-Ex-Peesiden Hayes has sent a contribution to the fund for a confederate soldiers' home. J. N. Tyner of Indiana has been selected for assistant attorney general for the postof The Senate has confirmed the following ominations: John A. Kasson, Wm. Walter Phelps and George H. Bates, commissioners to the Samoan conference at Berlin, J. F. Dalton, postmaster at Salem, Mass.; Cyrus Bussey, assistant secretary of the interior. In the senate this afternoon resolutions were offered and referred to the committee on contingent expenses authorizing the com mittees on woman suffrage and on additions accommodations for the library to sit during the recess. Then the resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Gibson for the appointment when the resolution was last under discussion) implying that the motives which prompted its being offered were the ex-pectation of the mover to be ap-pointed chairman and the desire of enjoying a pleasant trip at government expense. He reminded the senate that he had originally offered it as an amendment to Mr. Hoar's resolution for a select committee emigrate to Chili, where, on arrival they will on relations with Canada, and that if it had been accepted, no additional select commit-tee would have been required. He said there were no less than thirteen steamers plying between New Orleans and the seaports of Mexico and Central America. The imports from Mexico into the United States amounted to $30,000,000 a year, and the exports from the United States into Mexico to only

$8,000,000 a year, and that great differen

between imports and exports showed that there was some difficulty in the way of trade with Mexico, which difficulty required attention at the hands of Congress. The resolution was referred to the committee on conmerce, and the Senate proceeded to executive When the doors were reopened (after very short interval) the Senate proceeded the consideration of the resolution heretofo offered by Mr. Call for the appointment of a select committee on the relations of the United States with Cuba and the other West United States with Cuba and the other west-india Islands. The discussion turned on the question of competency of the Senste when sitting in called ex-ecutive session, to enter upon the performance of legislative functions- Mr. Gray making a short argument against it which when completed was followed by the further discussion of the resolution by Senators Sherman, Blackburn, Gray, Call, Platt, George and Spooner. The latter favored the ides of leaving the matter of relations with Canada, Mexico, Cubs and the South Amerihought that the appointment of such select can states in the hands of the executive. He committees would be a hindrance an obstruc-tion and a detriment. The executive department would not have to hunt for testimony with a braseband." Without disposing of the question the pending motion being to refer the resolution to the committee on foreign relations, the senate again proceeded to the consideration of executive business and at St. Patrick's Day in Various Places. The individual liabilities of Martial F. H. Wood are $118,633, and his individual asset quarter interest in some doubly mortgaged real estate. Louis F. Wood's liabilities and assets are the same as those of M. F. H. Wood.

> George H. Wood's liabilities are about $56,350, and he has no assets. The committee says that the firm has been insolvent fo years. This insolvency was created and in-oreased by the continued withdrawal of money from the business of the firm by the senior partner for private purposes. The amount withdrawn by the partners during eleven years appears, by the books, to be $247,679. The individual account of the $247,679. The individual account of the senior partner (E. M. Wood) stands charged with over drafts of $93,000, which are included in the above sum. While the books have been correctly kept the committee has been confronted with a confusion unparalleled in their exper-ience. SPORTING MATTERS. The New Havens in Fourth Place They Defeat Meriden 2 to 1-The Rink Filled to Its Utmost Capacity One of the largest crowds that have at ended the polo games this season witnesse the struggle for fourth place between th New Havens and the Meridens last evening The game was a lively one with no tiresom moments, excepting the time occupied in r pairing broken skates.

New Haven won two to one The first goal was made by Newcomi after having made three drives in quick suc ession whick Reed had stopped. The score was finally tied by Still, wh caged the ball on Conner's pass from behind

In the third goal Cunningham took the rush and after two or three minutes playing rought the ball down the rink towards New Haven's cage but just as he was about t drive for goal he struck Phelan and both fell Three other players who were following fell on top of these two and for a minute or two there seemed to be a prospect of a general scrimmage, but it subsided and all went on quietly with the exception of Cunningham and Phelan, who exchanged a few blows with their sticks. After playing over fifteen minutes Hill passed the ball to Conners who aread it. nnors, who caged it by a quick drive rom the side. The features of the game were the block ing of Phelan, Mul Smith and Hill, and the coal tending of Reed and Curley. There were many Meriden people present and they backed their team heavily, giving odds. They evidently had the wrong tip. One New Havener won $180. The score:

Score—New Haven 2, Meriden 1. Fouls—Merid Stops—Reed 20, Curley 16, Referee, O'Maley.

SPRINGFIELD, March 18.—The Springfields defeated the Bridgeports to night 11 to 4. The game was interesting at the start, but dwindled into nothing but a farce. John Smith being on the sick list and Conway having missed the train, H. P. Smith of last year's Woburns played goal and Frazer playard contact for the visitors. d center for the visitors.

SPRINGVIELD, March 18 .- The Interstate Polo league held its last meeting of the sea-son at Haynes' hotel to-day. All the clubs were represented. It was voted that the clubs esenting the same cities should make up he league next year. The representative favored calling a convention of captains be fore the rules were changed. As an experi ment for the rest of the season a rule was adopted that after to-night's games there should be no stopping on account of broken skates. It was voted that no player shall be reserved for less than $20 a week. was adopted to protect the players from the spite of some managers.

It was voted to give T. H. McDonald, secretary of the league, $100 for his services.

A rule was passed that surfaces should not be over 140 or less than 120 feet long and not over 50 or less than 40 wide. This will reduce the floors in Bridgeport, Meriden an It was voted that the league season another year should begin the first Monday in November and close the first Saturday in April so giving three weeks more playing time.

The benefit to the New Haven polo team will take place on Wednesday evening, March 27, when the Bridgeports will play here. Rase ball on fourth page.

A MONSTER CLOCK.

Brotherly Love and its Mammot New Public Time Piece. New Haven gentlemen who were last week visiting the city of Philadelphia were much struck with the mammoth clock that is to be put into the tower of that city's grand new public building, and thinking rightly that New Haveners would be interested to hear the particulars, obtained the following figures. The dial will be twenty-five feet in diameter and the center of the dial 361 feet above the street. The dial will be illuminated by electricity, and it is calculated that the time can be seen at night from any point in the city, and with a field glass the

DIXWELL DIED 200 YEARS AGO. Memoirs of the Regicide-Professo Wheeler on the City of London-Its

Extravagant Expenditures-Histori cal Society Meeting. A paper by Mr. F. Sargent Dixwell was read before the Historical society last evening. It related many facts about the life of the regicide John Dixwell, who died in this city on March 18, 1689, two hundred years ago yesterday, and whose remains were interred in the plot of ground in the rear of Center church on the Green. A silver snuff box owned by John Dixwell is now in posession of the Historical society.

After the reading of the Dixwell papers Prof. Arthur M. Wheeler of Yale university made extended and interesting remarks upon position of the hands can be distinguished at the gevernment of London. He said that the first thing noticeable about the great metropolis was its enormous size, which is equal to six or seven cities like New York. Its population is growing at the rate of 100,000 a year. The city of London itself is but one pear. The city of London itself is but one mile square and is occupied by commercial places entirely. Its population is small, being made up of lodgekeepers and the like. The metropolitan police district, however, covers seven hundred square miles and extends fifteen miles out from Charing Cross. The lord mayor has no authority beyond the The lord mayor has no authority beyond the one square mile. The way in which money is spent by the London authorities is something startling, public entertainments to visitors costing $60,000 or more each and appropriations for almost nothing being enormous.

The Rev. E. A. Whittier closed his labors with the Congregational church at Woodbridge last evening. The meetings have been greatly blessed to the church and community. Mr. Whittier is conservative and wise in his mode of conducting the meetings, eminently biblical and searching in his preaching, and gives prominence to the work of the Spirit in regeneration. He is truly the pastor, friend and helper. Many have already come into the Christian life, and the whole parish are more or less thoughtful. The Rev. E. A. Being a good parlia-mentarian, he was a favorite presiding officer for public meetings of all sorts. He repre-mented Plymouth in the General Assembly of 1866, 1872 and 1881, and represented the last named session he made a most efficient chairman of the committee on finance. In 1872 he was house chairman of the committee on State Prison, and in 1881 he was house chairman of the committee on banks. While not pretending to possess the gift of oratory, he had an easy and effective way of putting things that always made his words influential. And there was such implicit faith in his honesty that when he, as chairman of a committee, said a bill was right or wrong, that settled it so far as the action of the house was concerned. Because of his impartiality and good judgment he was often selected by the courts to act as commissioner. He was also a delegate to the Republican National convention in 1880, and was clerk of the State delegation. He has served on the Republican State committee for several years and has been a regular at-tendant at Republican State conventions ever since the party was organized.

I can walk on this wire," she asserted, as she proceeded to climb on the wire. She fell off, of course. She tried it again and got both feet on, but dropped something.

It leoked like the picture of "comething." It looked like the picture of "something" printed in The Evening Sun recently in con-nection with a reported presentation of Mrs. President Harrison. The ladies in the audience giggled, but the young woman paid no attention to it. She stuck fast to that wire for a few seconds and then fell off again. Then she tried it a third time and lost several of her skirts. The ladies in the orchestra chairs turned their heads and hoped a policeman would arrest her. They looked up again and in a flash all the young woman's clothing fell off and she stood revealed in a suit of pink tights.

Then the audience "tumbled" to the clever

This singular compound was discovered by German chemist, and on account of its re markable qualities is now used the world over. It has the power of reducing the temperature of the body by several degrees, and so is of vast utility in treating fevers and feverish stages of many diseases. It does it work by depressing the action of the heart, and generally, when employed by physicians, it is accompanied with digitalis to neutralize its influence in the latter regard. Women use it partly because it is sedative and partly because it makes the complexion beautifully clear and pale by keeping the blood away from the surface of the body. The habit, like all others, grows Sabbath.
