If this weather will only move the legislature it can be endured for a few days. With the State House question and the prohibition issue in full blast New Have will be a good place to leave for awhile. It looks as if this State would, after all, have a law providing for a secret ballot. I ought to have, and we have no doubt that a proper and practical bill will have the approval of the governor.

The Standard Oil capitalists already own most of what is worth owning in this country, but they do not appear to be satisfied. presents as the best and most effective solution of the Irish question, and several other questions, a federal union of Great Britain and France, as a first and long step toward the federation of the world. Why not! the author asks. Frenchmen and Englishmen are already federally united in Canada. The combined navies of Great Britain and France would be simply irresistable. The colonial cossessions of the two nations would be made secure for all time. The objections to the channel tunnel would vanish, and Englishmen could visit Paris and Frenchmen London without incurring the horrors of seasickness. Probably the United States (as well as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, etc.) would come into the confederacy after a while. "This would secure peace in Europe, not only by the union of so many powerful and peace-loving nations, but by showing how much greater results can be obtained by political union than by the terrible weapons

The Revolution and Its Effect France and the World. In estimating the French revolution as an event we must regard it from two points of view—as it affected the country of its origin, and it influenced the world, says the London Standard. The results in France have that those who are getting the benefit of the high prices that actual consumers have to pay fer copper are not the copper producers, but the manufacturers of copper. In support of this assertion, it gives the prices of a variety of classes of manufactured copper. lized as the court. Feudalism still linger in the provinces, and the whole country, as regards institutions and ideas, was on a level with the England of the Plantagenets. That in a few years France should have leaped from the era of our Third Richard to the era secording to size; bolt copper at twenty-nve cents per pound; circles, segment and pattern sheets, and cold or hard-rolled copper at even higher prices per pound than those above mentioned; and yet, if we are to trust the authority we have given, it does not cost three cents per pound to manufacture these various articles out of copper ingots.

A pamphlet is being sold in London which presents as the best and most effective solutions. French liberty rose, like Aladdin's palace, in a single night. This has given to everything connected with the revolution its startling brilliancy and dramatic effect. Then, these are solid advantages. Although, as Taine has clearly proved, the partition of the soil among many proprietors is not a conquest of the revolution, yet it cannot be denied that through and after that event freeholding occupiers increased their event freeholding occupiers increased their numbers and consolidated their position. numbers and consolidated their position. Of the three factors represented in the great motto of the time—liberty, equality and fraternity—it cannot be said that all have been harmoniously advanced. The security of a Frenchman against prolonged imprisonment without trial is not even now as well established as that of an Englishman under the later Stuarts. Fraternity is not much cultivated when we find a very rancorous feeling among French workmen toward the feeling among French workmen toward the capitalists who employ them. Equality, however, has been certainly established, and his achievement of the revolution is likely to last. In no country in the world has merit a more open career than in France. The son of a shopkeeper or an artistan, if endowed with eloquence and tact, has as good a chance of becoming prime minister or President as the son of a noble, and a better chance than the son of a noble, and a better chance than if he were the son of a prince. If we enlarge our view, and regard the revolution not merely in its French but in its cosmopolitan results, our conclusions must be altered. Many Frenchmen and a few Englishmen write and speak as if the whole world were in darkness until, in 1789, France illuminated the globe by shaking on high the burning torch of liberty. Nothing could be more preposterous, nothing more false. The principles of human right and political liberty which manny wise and witty Frenchmen had enshrined in literature or embodied in in oratory before and during the revolution ly papers and so did not know ef the bursting of the dam until the following Wednesday. As soon as they read the story numbers of them were heard knocking on their wickets to tell the keepers they wanted to give some of their earnings. These they make by working extra time, half going to represent France as holding up in 1789 at the county from which the convict comes beacon light by which the nations might be and half to the man himself. The maximum and the clash of her victorious arms shattered that can be earned in a week is $1. Ont of the 1,110 prisoners, 546 gave $542.96, or almost an average of one dollar per man. One old man had $15 to his credit, and wanted to German and Spain by Napoleonic aggression.

We prefer gradual reforms that do not fascinate the world; our neighbors prefer sudden changes and more startling effects. Astonishing Feats With Figures.

There died in Woodville, Va., some time ago one of the most remarkable characters the Blue Ridge country of Virginia ever produced. Old Tom Cubbage, as he was known, was the mathematical wonder and the pride of the Blue Ridge people. His feats at figures and his calculations were indeed wonderful, and like Blind Tom, the musical prodiger his powers were intuitive and innate. digy, his powers were intuitive and innate. Persons of fair educations, who tested old Tom, say they could never stump him, though they hunted for the most difficult problems in the books, and believe he could give the correct answer to any possible sum. Problems involving square and cube roots, completing the square and cone roots, completing the square of equations, were as readily solved by him as simple addition, and yet, were you to ask him what cube room meant, he would tell you he didn't know. Dan Warner's Educated Alligator.

In this paper a few weeks ago mention wa made ef an alligator about four feet long that had been captured by Dan Warner on the sidewalk in the most thickly settled portion of our city. Dan felt as soon as he saw the young saurian that it pessessed unusual intelligence, and set about to teach im. It is perfectly wonderful the progress 'John"-he has been christened John-has made. The bake shop is to him a revelation. He will, after the bread has been taken from the pans, take the untensils and pile then in the corner as neatly as a boy could do it. The first trick he learned was to stand on his tall and hind feet. It is pathetic to see him as he assumes the position and crosses his fore feet over his breast, awaiting the loaf which is given him as a reward for his skill. which is given him as a reward for his skill. He is very fond of cider and Schmidt and Warner have found it necessary to place the barrel beyond his reach, as he has half a dozen times turned the faucet. The boys do not mind the single glass, but he does not seem to have learned the art of cutting it off, and he was not discoved until a gallon or mere had been wasted. The music by the band pleases him hugely, and he will lie in front of the band-room every practice night until the last note is heard. His harness will not be done for another week, But Dan will not be done for another week, But Da is confident he will drive well. Dan has given him a huge [palm-leaf fan and he han-dles this with the utmost grace in keeping off the flies, which seem to annoy him exc

THE DIOUESAN CONVENTION. A Sermon By Dr. Storrs—The Bishop's Address—Only Bishop Living who was Present at Convention of 1852—A Lively Discussion and a Close Vote on Proportional Representation.

The annual convention of the Episcops hurch in the diocese of Connecticut opened this morning at 10:30 o'clock in St. Thomas' church. The morning service lasted unti one o'clock. The morning prayer was read by Rev. George H. Buck of Birmingham Rev. George P. Torrance of Bethel, and Rev. Edward H. Cleaveland of Seymour. The Rev. Storrs O. Seymour of Trinity hurch, Hartford, preached an eloquent ser mon from the text, Matthew v., 13. "Ye are the light of the world." That the church s the light of the world is shown in two ways: First, by its reaching out and adminstering to the wants of each and every individual in it; second, by its proclaiming the truth which God has revealed to the world. From small beginnings the church has pros-pered and grown to large proportions. It ex-tended to all those things spiritual which all mankind desired in a greater or lesser degree. It held salvation and a chance of the life beyoud the grave up to man. It kept alive the truth and words of Christ and promulgated them to all the world.

After the sermon the holy communion was cartaken of by several hundred of the clergy and lay delegates present. In the commu-nion service Bishop Williams was assisted by Rev. Dr. Beardsley, Rev. Dr. Vibbert, Rev. Mr. Jarvis of Brooklyn and Rev. Mr. Tompkins of Hartford.

At the close of the services the convention

At the close of the services the convention organized. The Rev. C. C. Camp called the roll which showed that there were 116 clergymen and 110 lay delegates present. The delegates from this city are: Clergymen, Rev. Drs. E. E. Beardsley, Edwin Harwood, William E. Vibbert, Rev. Charles C. Camp, Edwin L. Lines, Harry P. Nichols and S. H. delegates are mostly stopping at private residences among Episcopal families. A few are at the hotels.

The convention reassembled at 3 o'clock and transacted the business. Bishop Williams presided. Reports on the various funds of the discounters were read and several committhe diocese were read, and several commitees reported. Bishop Williams made his annual address and report to the convention Officers, standing committees and delegate to the general convention were elected. The bishop delivered his annual address t the convention at the afternoon session. I the convention at the afternoon session. It showed that he had visited during the year 121 places, had officiated 180 times, had preached and made addresses 188 times, confirmed 1,444 candidates, and in three years had confirmed 3,874 people. There have been ordained seven deacons and six priests. Eight clergymen have been received and thirteen dismissed. There have been twenty candidates for orders, and five clergymen have died. Of the American bishops two have died. Of the American bishops two have died during the year. The bishop re-marked that he was the only one remaining of the bishops who were present at the general convention in 1853, and of those consecrate since that time twenty have died.

The bishop spoke of the need of endov

ments for poor parishes but urged that such endowment should not excuse the neglect of canonical obligations. Of 170 churches in the diocese 77 have not contributed. During the year the bishop has consecrated one church and the chapel of the General Theo-logical Seminary. Two churches have been reopened, four parish houses blessed, and one chapel reopened. In the matter of the proposed changes in the book of Common Prayer the bishop deprecated any heavy set-ling of the matter. In referring to th In referring to the subject of proportional representation of the several dicesses in the general convention, a matter which occupied the attention of the convention at the evening session, the bishop took the position that that the House of Deputies would become to unwieldy. Yet he would not have considera tions of advantage to the diocese of Connect tions of advantage to the diocese of Connecti-cut govern the settlement of the question, but a broad and liberal view as to what wrs just and equitable for all, and for the best good of the church.

The present secretary, Rev. C. C. Camp, was re-elected, and the Rev. M. K. Bailey of Branford chosen assistant secretary. The Branford chosen assistant secretary. The usual routine business was transacted, reports of the various trustees and committee received. The report of the financial condition of the Missions y society of the dioces was made by the treasurer, Burton Mansfiel of this city. As secretary of the society he also reported the work of the society during the year. It showed that forty-seven families had been helped, at a cost of $9,000. The convention voted $10,000 to be apportioned during the coming year among the families requiring it.

The evening session was occupied with a discussion of proportional representation in the general convention. The presentation of the following started the ball:

Whereas, The house of clerical and lay deputies in the general convention is not truly representative either of the clergy or laity of the church in the constitution of its membership and in its method of voting by dioceses, in that through the growth and progress of the church, involving a great increase in the number of dioceses, the dioceses containing a large majority of the clergy and laity have not their due weight in the council of the church, the church.

Resolved, That the basis of representation in the house of deputies in the general convention should be so far modified that the several dioceses shall be sentation in the House of Deputies in the convention proportional to the number of communicants. As it is now the small dioceses have equal power with the large ones. To do this is a difficult matter, but it is hoped that agitation will accomplish the desired end in time.

Rev. Dr. Beardsley offered a substitute res son of the late Major Russell Norten, who elution instructing the deputies from Con-was for years a New Haven selectman and vention, but not binding them to a particular method. The division showed that this substitute had been lost by a vote of 56 to 59.

Judge Robertson's motion to strike out the preamble was lost, 53-55.
Rev. Dr. Harwood then moved to strike Rev. Dr. Harwood then moved to strike out all the words in the resolution after "and furthermore." But the majority seemed bent on yielding not a point to the very large majority and Dr. Harwood's amendment was lost 45—55. The original preamble and resolution were adopted, after a plucky and lengthy fight by the opposition, by a vote of 60—51.

The report of the trustees of the enro ment fund was received and the convention adjourned until nine o'clock this morning. Four clergymen and four laymen will be chosen to-day as deputies to the general con-vention which meets at New York in Octo-

Leaking. The schooner John L. Treat arrived in th narbor yesterday loaded with lumber, and leaking badly. The vessel will be unloaded on the flats above Tomlinson bridge.

THE LADIES WERE FRIGHTENED The Thrilling Though Not Enpleasan Trip of the Parsons Quartette to Naugatuck. The Parsons quartette gave one of its ex sellent concerts at the Parish house, Naugatuck, last Monday evening. The quartette, composed of Miss Fechter first soprano, Miss Mansfield second soprano, Miss Wilson first alto, Mrs. Blinn second alto, was essisted by Dessauer flutist.

While they were at the hotel before the concert a terrific thunder storm came up. The ladies were somewhat frightened, but made up a pleasant party in the parlor and passed the first part very well. Suddenly, however, the rain began to pour down in torrents and the thunders leapt about very alarmingly. A minute after a deafening report was heard and a ball of fire fell from the sky, striking in the road before the botel. It was thrown up by the reaction and flew onward down the street.

This was enough for the ladies. Miss

An interesting feature of the evening will be a large dancing pavilion, which has been erected especcially to add to the pleasure of the lover of the dance. Refreshment tents will be numerous and easy of access. They will contain all that any of the many visitors can desire. What promises to be a popular addition to last year's Fete is a shooting range in an alley at the rear of the house. A andsome rifle will be given as a prise to the person making the best score. Hundreds of Chinese lanterns and several lectric lights will illuminate the picturesque rounds, and a truly beautiful scene it will

But within the homestead, perhaps, will the elegant taste of the young ladies be displayed in its most captivating variety. Draperies, fans, pictures, armour, antique bricabrac will dress the old walls in gay attire.

J. H. G. Durant, the Church street jeweler, starts to-night on an extended tour to Europe, which there is no doubt he has well earned it, being seventeen years since his last vaca tion. He leaves his sister. Mrs. Strond in charge while away, who with the staff of old employes will do their best to please his many patrons. He goes mainly for his health. The route included will be to Ply-mouth, Reading, London, Dover, Paris, Isle of Wight, Portsmouth, back to London, Lin-coln, Isle of Man, then to Liverpool, return-ing home about the 5th of September.

The statue to commemorate the battle of the early settlers with the Pequot Indians has been placed in position on its granite edestal in Mystic. The dedication will take lace June 26. Isaac H. Bromley will deiver the oration, and Capt. Charles Stanton of Stonington will act as marshal; Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley, with his staff, and the Putnam Phalanz of Hartford will be among the visitors. The governors of the States of Rhode Island and Massachusetts with the members of these historical societies have been invited to be present. The literary ex-reises will begin at 11:30 a. m. The Rev. John Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's R. C. church, returned Monday evening from the Holy Land, where he has been ince February. His arrival was unexpected, out the news spread quickly that he had reurned and hundreds of parishioners called at the parochial residence last evening to exend greetings to their esteemed pastor. Arangements were being made to tender Father Russell a reception and escort from the depot on his return, but his prematur arrival will necessitate a change of plan. were again beater by the Giants to-day after another magnificent game of ball. The rain of the early morning put the grounds at St. George in a deplorable state and half an hour before the game was to begin it looked as if it was impossible in such a mud puddle. Welch and Radbourne followed Keefe and Clarkson as the pitchers and the battery work was just as good as that of yesterday Umpire Barnum showed an improvement his work. The attendance was 2,123. The game was another pitchers' battle, but seven base hits being made. The fielding was superb, a wild throw to second by Ganzel being the only blunder. The New Yorks won the game through good team work in the second inning. Brouthers' home run drive was probably the longest ever made on the grounds. The score: New York....

A Present of Unique Pottery. Mr. James Gallagher, jr., received yeste day from his friend, Thomas H. Hall, esq., of New York, three specimens of very peculiar pottery. Mr. Hall obtained them at little village in the interior of the island of Porto Rico, on his visit there during his re-Porto Rico, on his visit there during his recent yachting cruise among the Carribees and Antilles. One of the pieces is a pitcher twelve inches high and of graceful design, the others are peculiarly shaped cups. The material is red clay, of soft and agreeable shade and susceptible of a fine finish. The shape of the pitcher suggests the antique and it is reasonable to suppose that the moulders, being in some part descendants of the ancient race of peaceful Caribs, retain in their art many of the designs and methods of their ancestors. Upon close examination the pitcher shows the process of its manufacture to be different from such articles made here, the finishing touches being laid on verere, the finishing touches being laid on ver tically rather than traced around its surface as they would appear if from a spinning ta ble like those in use hereabouts. Mr. Hall also brought Mr. Gallegher a walking stick made of the Guiana palm, a tree indigenous to the islands near the northeastern coast of South America.

CMICAGO, June 11 .- In the Cronin inques his morning John C. Garrity, a saloon keeper estified that Coughlin came to him and said JOURNAL AND COURIER se wanted to hire a tough character known an advertising medium within reach of al as Maj. Sampson to slug a man. The witness ONE CENT A WORD told Sampson about it a few days later and Sampson told him (Garrity) that the man or each insertion will hereafter be charge or WANTS, RENTS and other small mis Coughlin wanted slugged was Dr. Cronin. He wanted him slugged with a base ball bat The Carrington Publishing Co. and disfigured for life. If it killed him it would not make much difference. It was given on reliable authority at an early hour this morning that James Moran, a driver in the employ of the ice firm of McGin-nis & Moran of Lake View, was arrested last night and is held at the central police sta-tion as a witness in the Cronin murder case. It is alleged that on the evening of Dr. Cro-It is alleged that on the evening of Dr. Cronin's disappearance Moran, in company with another man, was seen in the vicinity of the Carlson cottage. It is also stated that in addition to the arrest of the the above named person, Thomas Morgan and Patrick Gannon, a bar tender, were placed under arrest.

J. D. Haggerty, a railroad clerk, gave the most important testimony this morning. After the trial of Dr. Cronin, he said, Alexander Sullivan told him that Dr. Cronin was a scoundrel and a menace to the Irish cause. It was the impression of the witness that Sullivan was trying to express the opinion that Cronin should be exterminated. About that time a circular had been issued saying that many Scotland Yard detectives had left England for America to attempt to find out some of the secrets of the order, and every person who was a member was on the lookout for informers. Tim Crane, who has since died, circulated the statement that Cronin was a dangerous man and a traitor.

Since died, direntated the statement that Cronin was a dangerous man and a traitor. Le Caron, who was a friend of Alexander Sullivan, was a member of the committee which tried Dr. Cronin. He was introduced o the witness by Sullivan at the trial as a nan worthy of confidence in the Irish cause. He was opposed to Dr. Cronin at the time on occunt of the statements from Alexander

At the afternoon session a number of witnesses were examined, without developing anything of importance. Then Chief-of Police Hubbard was sworn and told of an interdist which he had with Woodruff, the horse flied Hubbard was sworn and told of an interdist which he had with Woodruff, the horse thief. Chief Hubbard asked him what he knew of the Cronin matter, and if he really was the one who drove the trunk from the Carlson cottage. Woodruff said he was and then described the cottage and told the story of his having stolen the horse and driving to the manhole at Fifty-seventh street with King and Fairburn

A special grand jury was summoned this afternoon to take immediate action on the Cronin case, and they will be impannelled in Judge Shephard's court to morrow.

Potectives say J. J. Maroney, who was arrested in New York to day, is a member of the Clan-na-Gael executive, that is to say, the committee which governs the whole organization, and of which Luke Dillon is a member. Maroney it is Johnstown sufferers will receive a benefit. The prominent amateurs of the city will do "The Merchant of Venice," with Mr. Ira Snow as Shylock. The Swedish Glee Club will, between the acts, rendered in New York to-day, is a member of the Federal Republican out. Thekeis, at 50 cents and $1, can be read at Chandler's, on Montague street, or at the club house, on Court street.

Perry's Glass Pavillon at Coney Island will this afternoon be open for the benefit of the of the Clan-na-Gael executive, that is to say, the committee which governs the whole organization, and of which Luke Dillon is a member. Maroney it is claimed, has been identified from a photograph by the salesman as the man who pur-chased the furniture which first went to Clark to $190. Maroney is claimed to have been identified as the person who rented the cottage. McDonald, the other New Yorker, was his companion. A witness has been found, it is serted, who will swear that Maroney and McDonald are the men who posted the letter at Hammond, Ind., after the tragedy, telling the Carlsons the rent would be still forthcoming. Maroney wrote the letter, so it is alleged, and McDonald was seen to leave the train and post it. In fact the story in a nut-shell is that Maroney and McDonald were the shell is that Maroney and McDonald were the two mysterious "Williams brothers" popularly credited with being the actual persons who took Cronin's life.

The verdiot charged that "Dan Coughlin,
P. O'Sullivan, Alexander Sullivan and one Woodruff, also Black were either principals, accessories or had guilty knowledge of the said plot to murder Dr. Cronin and conceal his body and should be held to answer to the grand intry."

"We also believe that other persons were engaged in this plot and had guilty knowledge of it and should be apprehended and held to the grand jury, and we further state that this plot in its inception and execution was one of the most brutal that ever came to our knowledge and we recommend that the proper authorities offer a large reward for the discovery and conviction of all engaged

LABOR AT JOHNSTOWN.

Phirty-Right Bodies Recovered Yester A Canvass of the Town-Plenty of Johnstown, June 11.-The impendin

hange in the control of the town, the exodus workmen and flood survivors and a steady rain have combined to make Johnstown more niet to-day than at any time since the flood. At all the headquarters work has been narrowed down to the finest possible calibre and a good many faithful men are getting rest they needed so much. James B. Scott throws down the reins with a breath of Scott throws down the reins with a breath of relief and Adjutant General Hastings undertakes the largest contract of his life. At least $100,000 will be paid out to workmen to-morrow morning and the majority of it will leave town with the men who earned it. The new leaders claim to have a number of plans to introduce by which the work of clearing up the wreckage and caring for the survivors will be greatly only the will see the month. He will then be joined by Mrs. Harrison and the children will leave for Cape May, N. J., where they have taken a cottage. They will remain there until the end of the month. The President may run down to Cape May for a single day once or twice while they are there, but he will keep pretty close to the White House until he lays for Deer Park, Me., the last of the month. He will then be joined by Mrs. Harrison and the ohidren and the vill spend the summer at have a number of plans to introduce by which the work of clearing up the wreckage and caring for the survivors will be greatly systematized and simplified. The military will be retained. Dynamite has been used in the river below the bridge to-day, but General Hastings expects to dispense with it. Good progress was made in cleaning out the channel of the Conemaugh above the bridge to-day. A number of stationary engines and long cables are being used to pull out the heavy timbers. The morgues are about to be abandoned on account of the bad condition of the bodies being recovered. Identification is almost impossible except by personal effects found. The board of health still issues encouraging bulletins, although isolated cases of pneumonia, diphtheria and measles are reported.

Thirty-eight bodies were recovered to day, all in an advanced stage of decomposition. There is a hungering for orphans here that cannot be satisfied. The city was thoroughly canvassed to day but with little success. A number of letters containing considerable money to defray expenses of the children cannot be satisfactorily answered as the orphans are not to be found.

ty-four hours have passed, and after a trip over the entire flooded district, it is apparent that a vast amount of work has been accou plished. Places that appeared to be insur countable are gradually fading away before the energetic work which is being done Gangs of men will commence on a block of debris, work in opposite directions, and more wagons having been secured the debris is rapidly disappearing. Owners of houses have commenced clearing out their own resinces in Johnstown, and when they request, as they frequently do, the foreman of a gang to allow his men to help they are never refused. Storekeepers are also commencing to take their goods from the general wreck to the creek to clean them, to see what they can recover from the effects of the flood. Of course there are many sad hearts and weeping eyes in families as they find articles that in their happy homes before the flood belonged to loved ones, but with brave hearts they are smothering their intense grief, and have apparently resolved that Johnstown shall be herself again. The prediction is now being freely made that by July 1 the city will present a very active appearance. Houses that have not been damaged very much are already being repaired, and as a consequence there is much better feeling prevailing all around, now that the solid sense of this community is coming to the front.

kin entirely gone—Flesh a mass of dis-ease—Leg diminished one-third is size—Condition hopeless—Cured by the Cuttoura Remedies in two months —Not a sign of disease now to be seen. For three years I was aimost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your Cutiours Remedies and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified; and the bone, which had been exposed for over a year, got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day and for nearly two years past my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect and not a sign of the disease to be seen. S. G. NORTH HAVEN ANNALS. he Completion of the Meeting House -A Vivid Picture of the Call to Wor-ship in Days of Old-The First Paster -Theological Difficulties.

We have come to the completion of the neeting house and also the pastor's residence We have watched the young society step by step coming up into line, independent, fearless, beholden to no one, yet obedient and God fearing. We rejoiced when the hard look. The bill as agreed upon provides that grinding struggle seemed about to close, and when the railroad companies apply for the nearts were in closest sympathy with them shall pay the entire expense. the first Lord's day on which they offered their vows at this their new altar. Precisely when this latter event occurred we cannot mer of the following year. Nothing is said about its dedication; it is unlikely there was any. The blessing of inanimate objects in that day obtained little or animate objects in that day obtained little or no favor with the mass of the settlers, but we shall do no violence to their memory when we believe it was with devout thankfulness they entered their new temple and for the first time invoked the Lord of hosts to meet with them and make their humble structure his dwelling place through all all their generations. Little did they think on that first Sabbath how short would be their stay within those walls, nor how abundantly the lord would bless and build up the Zion they had planted.

Reader, if you are a citizen of this village, as you pass along to your place of worship on the next Sabbath morning tread slowly while you look out over the old market-place of ther days. If the June sun be shining, re-nember that it shone on as fair a scene one member that it shone on as fair a scene one hundred and sixty-seven years ago. Picture the little church, the central figure in the landscape; see the fringe of noble caks about it, old then, the frame in which it is set. Mark the stillness; no rumble of wagon, no rush of cars, no sound even of human voices. The breeze blows, the leaves tremble, the birds sing, but this is not noise; it brings rest, it seems but silence, it is the breathless expectation of waiting in nature's great eathedral for some solemn service to begin. Listent What; a drum! Yes. Yonder through the trees comes Nathaniel Thorp with his drum beating the "second call." He has made the circuit of the parade two hours before as a warning, and into that announcement he entered with surprising definess and ment he entered with surprising deftness and vigor, but now, as the time draws on for the people to gather, he lessens the volume of his strokes somewhat and will not distract the tention of the approaching worshippers by vermuch zeal. It is near the hour of ten. Here and there across the fields and adown the streets to the people are gathering; some are on horseback, but mostly on foot, and they have come from the "Blew Hills," from "The Pines," from "Muddy River," from "Whartons Brook" and from the "Half Mile." Their dress how quant their man

Mile." Their dress how quaint, their manners how formal, their very speech how singular. Life, life, is a terrible earnest thing with them, and its grim front echoes back from their faces the sternness of the foe they are fighting. We may not gossip with them for they are but shadows, but we can watch the wondrous nanogams. From the north comes wondrous panorama. From the north comes Bradley, Blaksly, Ives and their neighbors; from the east, Smith, Todd and others; from the south, Brockett, Barns, Beach, Sanford, Cooper, etc.; from the west, Granniss, Heaton, Tuttle, Humaston, Yale. Last of all with eyes bent down, slowly pacing up the parade comes their pastor. The beat of the drum grows fainter as he nears the sacred place, and as he passes over the threshold it place, and as he passes over the threshold it ceases; the drummer follows, the door closes and preacher and people are before each othr and their God. er and their God.

Davis in his history of Wallingford aptly says: "The imagination cannot but revert to these occasions with an admiration toned down almost to holy reverence. There in the midst of a silent wilderness, the hardy toilworn settlers and their wives and daughters are gathered, listening with bowed heads to the fervent prayer of their pastor that the God of Israel would endue his servants with courage and counsel to lead them in the days courage and counsel to lead them in the days The curious Indian paused at the door and was filled with awe as the white man addressed the Great Spirit. Far away from the busy haunts of men they seemed and felt nearer God—more alone with God—than ever before." And the ever eloquent Bacon, who so well understood them, tells us, "They love the word that comes from the lips of their paster. They love the order of the house. To them each ermon, every prayer, every tranquil Sab-oath is the more precious for all that it cost Quaint old Sternhold and Hopkins voiced this peoples piety when they wrote in the church psalmody of that age:

Goe walk about all Syon hill, yea round about he

But we must leave this realm of shadows But we must leave this realm of shadows and fancies and turn again to the more stern and unimaginative surroundings of this people. There is a peculiar clause in the "call" which the society extended to Mr. Wetmore which under the turn of events that followed, seems significant. After rehearsing their wish that he become their pastor, they add, "—— supposing he desire to lead them on in ye methods ye New Haven church have or doth now practice."

The question has been asked when did Mr. Wetmore begin to turn from Congregationalism to Episcopacy! Could he as an honest man and servant of the Lord have accepted the post offered him unless positively cepted the post offered him unless positively certain he could comply with the conditions (for there were conditions) of the call. Certainly not. The clergy of the colonies were its strength and its defence. They were to be sincerely believed and implicitly trusted, and we must do Mr. Wetmore the justice to acknowledge that at his codimitor here.

acknowledge that at his ordination he fully endorsed the belief of the church over which he was placed. Moreover the "councila" called on such occasions to examine and settle candidates were uncommonly inquisitive as to the orthodoxy of their ranks, and had they detected the least uncertain ring about his belief it would have worked to his dis-comfitnre. No, we must either accord Mr. view is not worthy of a thought.

Wetmore sound in the creed he upheld or a sembler of the most subtle dye; the latter But however sincere at his ordination, the feeling and purposes of Mr. Wetmore began to undergo a change immediately thereafter. The roseste hus of the affairs of the new church in the spring of 1722 commenced to deepen during the summer, going through all the gradations from lightest to darkest tone, and at last in the late fall, shading off into the blackness of a thunder cloud out of the midst of which suddenly leaped a livid bolt of lightning, the surcharged wrath of the people, which smote their pastor hip and thigh and ended his career among them.

But we let it tell its own tale.

HORSE CARS TO THE DEPOT. The senate to-day defeated the amendme which provided that the West Haven horse car company should allow all other compa nies to run cars over its tracks to the depo by a unanimous vote. Senator Graham said the proposition was ridiculous. The children's employment bill was amended to make the limit 14 years. An amendment was passed by request of Senator States correcting an error that had been made in the order for the New Haven town bonds of $500,000. The resolution instead of forty, which was cancelled just i time.

The House passed the bill giving the Shepang railroad the right to consolidate with a road, to be built from Hawleyville to Westport. The railroad committee reported against the bill but the report was overridden. The new road if the Senate concurs will parallell the Danbury and Norwalk. PASSED AGAIN. Shortly after two o'clock the House recor vened and took up the Secret Ballot bill vetoed by the Governor. Mr. Glover offered an amendment which Mr. Glover offered an amendment which exempted all but State elections from the requirements of the bill, and thus meets one of the governor's objections, that with hundreds of small offices to be voted for the bill would e too cumberson. Mr. Chapman of Manchester offered a new bill which simply provided by secret com-partments and ballots furnished by the State.

Mr. Wolfe amended by providing that all candidates of one party should be grouped. Both amendments were defeated, and Mr. Glover's accepted. The bill was then passed as amended by Mr. Glover. THE COURT RECORD.

Superior Court - Civil Side - Judge The claim for damages of Henry Hunger against the old Olmstead Parallel was heard recently before Julius B. Curtiss of Stamford as a committee of the Superior court. Hungerford was the contractor authorized to purchase the right of way for the Parallel. He covered about one-third the distance when upon the company failing to comply with legislative requirements the company went out of existence in 1875. Hungerford's contract was for half a million. He asked for the appointment of a receiver and then presented his bill of damages. Mr. Curtiss, after the receiver had been appointed, reported on Hungerford's claim that he was entitled to about $1,000 for personal services. The attorneys for the plaintiff filed a remonstrance against the report as being unfair an unjust and not in accordance with the fact as submitted. This remonstrance was argued

June 11.—Children's day was observed at the Congregational church on Sunday. The church was elaborately decorated with flowers. After the opening exercises by Rev. Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Merz, superintendent of the school, led the service which consisted of the school. music, reading in concert and class recita-tions, and was exceedingly interesting. Miss Gilbert, of the New West Education society, was introduced by Nr. Reynolds and occupie a few moments of the time.

There were two hundred and eighty-two present at Sunday school. On Sunday evening the church was opened and Miss Gilbert interested a large audience with an account of her work. The choir, D. W. Robinson leader, rendered appropriate selections. The music received much commendation.

Two ladies from Pequonnock, visitors of Mrs. Polly Linsley, attended church on Sun-day. They were returning from New York where they had been to see Clara Smith, daughter of Samuel Smith, formerly of this place, start for Europe. Southington. June 12.—The ladies of the East street Sunday-school will give a social on the lawn of Mrs. Charles Moore this evening.

The main shaft at the Cutlery shop broke on Saturday and necessitated the shutting down of the works for a number of days.

Gov. Bulkeley's veto of the Henny bill Gov. Bulkeley's veto of the Henny bill is being complimented greatly. Many letters have been received by him. They represent all parts of the State. All the letters are in endorsement of the veto. Among those who wrote were the Hon. Stephen W. Kellogg of Waterbury, Mr. Charles S. Landers of New Britain, Judge James Phelps of Essex, the Hon. Solomon Lucas of Norwich, First Selectman Wheeler of Norwalk, Dr. Rufus W. Griswold of Rocky Hill, the Hon. W. S. Goslee of Glastonbury. Some of these gentlemen are earnest for a secret ballot bill of some sort, but object to this as cumbersome; others say the existing law of the State is good enough, and any change toward a more secret ballot is a mistake.

Makes the Closing Prices the High-

Stocks opened from ene-eighth to one-half per cent, higher and while the interest in the trading was confined to a few shares such as the coale St. Paul, New England and the trusts further ad vances were scored in the early dealings. Towar noon the market drifted into duliness and som ecession from the prices of the first hour were made but after that there was renewed buying on a arge scale in the coalers and Jersey Central fo eaching 147%, while Lacks wanna was not slu gish, especially toward the close. Even New York gish, especially toward the close. Even New York, Susquehanna and Western became active and advanced materially. The movement in Reading was smaller, but the transactions in the stock during the last two hours were on a large scale. There were the usual realizations in the last hour, but the strength of the market was renewed and the close was active and strong at about the highest prices of the day.

Railroad bonds were quiet though firm. The sales reached $1,550,000.
