Monday, August 26, 1889. THE SCHOOL ELECTION. The free text book idea is now fairly ore the people of New Haven. It is fortunate that Colonel Sprague happened to be ere just at this time, for he has much cnowledge of the working of the system, and interviews and in his remarks last Saturday evening has given much useful informaon concerning it. It is certain that it has worked well in other places and there is no eason to think it will not work as well here. Public opinion seems to be decidedly in its favor, and it is therefore likely to have a

The ticket ratified at the meeting Saturday evening is a good one. It has a platform to tand on. The gentlemen who compose it are heartily in favor of free text books, and hey also have the interests of the schools in ther respects at heart. They will probably be elected with little opposition.

A SPECULATING JUDGE. It has been discovered that a judge of the Supreme court of New York has been speculating in Wall street, and the discovery has made quite a stir and is likely to make more.

Customer from Seedville—"Do you keep the beet make of shoes here?" City dealer—"Yaas; our shoes are all A No. 1." Customer from Seedville—"Then you can't suit me. I take B No. 5."—Munsey's Weekly. He lost and was sued by his brokers for about $14,000. The suit was discontinued on account of an agreement in which the judge promised to pay when he could. He has not paid, and has come out victorious in a suit against him to make him pay. A part of the decision is as follows: It seems to us that it would be a gross hardship, after the defendant admitted this account upon the express undertaking that he was to pay when he was able, and presumably not before, that he should be called upon to pay without proof of this condition. We know nothing of the hardship of the agreement. The deence, which was withdrawn, to the joint account may have been perfectly good, or it may have been a defence in which the chances of success were reasonable, and the lefendant, for the purpose of getting the time in which to pay the alleged claim, may have been willing to waive his chances of sucess. He having done so, there is certainly no hardship in calling upon the plaintiffs to adhere to the bargain which they made with he defendant and which was the basis of the Madrid, Spain, has just been having a curious experience with its new municipal government. Four years ago the capital was hear the crack of guns on every side, and I thought I would have my share.

"I soon realized that these animals would soon be extinct, and in 1884 I began to gathself control. A mayor and thirty councilmen were elected, and now it appears that the entire batch of local officers have just been kicked out of office, having divided among themselves some $20,000,000 of what should have been public revenue. This would be called pretty able stealing even in New York.

The only effect of a general listribution of federal offices among the colored men of the South would be to embitter their opponents and to retard the cause of political equality. Shere are, no doubt, nany colored men who are suitable by character to represent the federal government. out we doubt whether they are the men who are represented as having haunted Washingon since March 4th on a still-hunt for ofice. A persistent office-seeker is not likely to be a good representative of any govern-ment, and an office-holder who is offensive to a large portion of his fellow citizens is not likely to strengthen the hands of an adninistration which is called upon to deal with a difficult and intricate problem. M. de Carbonnet, a French savant, has liscovered how to make silk without worms. He began his experiments some time ago with the guiding idea that the peculiar appearance of silk was the result of the spinning of a liquid. After many months of repeated and unsuccessful trials he produced eral yards of silk in this wise: He poured collodion solution into a copper receiver which emptied into a system of small glass tubes. These tubes terminated in capillaries which carried off the solution in fine thread like streams. In a second system of glass tubes, filled with water, the fine streams became fine threads, which, before leaving the water, were eaught mechanically and wound around tiny rollers. After being heated and cooled in an acid of special gravity and temperature the threads were made less combustible than cotton by being saturated in a simple chemical preparation. The quality of the silk goods manufactured from these threads is fine. The threads are cylindrical, water, were caught mechanically and wound when turning the money to "wish a wish," and the wish is certain of fulfilment, and some Shropshire folk will tell you that whatever you are doing when you first hear the cuckoo "shout," as they term it, that you will continue to do all the year. There is a very widespread superstition that any one on first hearing the bird can, by counting the number of times that it repeats "cuckoo" without intermission, so ascertain how many years of life are left for his or her enjoyment. This belief is found to prevail in France, Denmark, Germany and Sweden, as well as in this country. In Hungary, for the same purpose, the bird should be first heard during the moon's first quarter.

German rustics have a notion that if they roll themselves three or four times in the grass when they first hear the cuckoo, they will thus secure themselves for the rest of the year against pains in the back. This is the enly case in which there seems to be any connection traceable between the cuckoo and folk medicine. With a certain form of divination, however, the bird is widely associated. In the very important matter of obtaining, by some means or other, a hint as to the appearance or characteristics of a future partner for life, the unconscious cuckoo often plays an important part. In Ireland, it is believed that if, on first hearing its joyful cry, you take off your left shoe and carefully examine the stocking, you will find adhering therefo a hair in color identical with the hair of your future husband or wife. The direction in which the bird is heard is also the direction whence will come the future partner; and, in Ulster, they will tell you that if, after finding the hair, you count the number of times the cry is repeated, you will know the number of years that will elapse before you are married. In Sweden, if the cuckoo calls more than ten times, the girls say that he is bewitched, and pay no and are from one to forty micromillimetre enable him to manufacture silks cheaply and in large quantities. Ratching Chickens by the Million Western Munter Endeavors to Dom Egypt for American Stomachs. From a Cairo (Egypt) Letter 1 "I began hunting the buffalo in 1871, The Egyptians are, however, far in adhave killed from 40 to 60 buffaloes in one vance of us in the science of raising chickens hunt," said a verteran buffalo hunter to a and the incubating establishments of the country hatch out eggs by the million every plan of my own to corral them upon the praiyear. At a hatching establishment near the rie. I made an effort to get in front of the Pyramids the farmers trade fresh eggs for young chicks and the rate is two eggs per would come within about 20 yards of me in chick. Another artificial egg hatchery turns passing. I then shot the leader through the out 500,000 little chickens every season and heart and dropped her in her tracks. In a few minutes one of the cows led out to go around on one side or the other, and I would drop her as I did the first. They would again fail back a short distance and huddle together. After a short pause, another cow might undertake to go around on the other eide, and invariably met the same fate as the other two

We have about two hundred million dolars worth of money invested in the fowl industry in the United States, an amount se large that all the money of Jay Gould could not equal it, and still we have to import more than sixteen million dozens of eggs every year. If America would adopt the Egyptian hatching system we could sell egge instead of buying them and our farmers might buy little chickens to raise at a price invariably met the same fate as the other two. The herd after this was sure to form a close group upon the ground where they halted after the first shot as buffaloes never retrace their steps but a short distance.

"Now, they had trouble on three sides, and of twenty cents a dozen. More than twen-ty millions of little chickens are sold each year in this way in Egypt and there is a reg-ular business in chickens just old enough to

The incubatories are rude, one-story buildings, made of undried bricks, so arranged that the eggs are laid upon cut straw in racks in rooms, around the ovens, which are kept fired on during the hatching season. The outside walls are very thick and are built so that they retain the heat, and the only thermometer used is the blood of the boy or man who attends to the fires. By long practice these men learn just how hot the ovens ought to be kept, and they replenish the fires as the weather demands. A small amount of fuel is needed, and the temperature of the avens is about that of 98 degrees above zero. The fire is built up for eight or ten days before the eggs are put in to thoroughly warm the hut, and after this time it does not go out during the season, which is from March until May. The eggs are turned four times a day while hatching. The whole outfit of an establishment which natches over two hundred thousand chickens a year does not, I am told, cost more than $25 and one man runs the whole machine, keeping the fires, buying and turning the eggs and selling the chickens. There are in this incubatory twelve compartments, each 70 feet long, 60 feet wide and 16 feet high, and each or these compartments will hold 7,500 eggs at a time, or 90,000 eggs in all. It produced last year more than two hundred and thirty thousand chickens and did the work of more than twenty thousand hens.

The half breeds are not so good as the three-quarter or seven-eights. The latter are splendid animals, carrying a fine coat of hair.

"With a view of perpetuating the race of American buffalo, and also of establishing an attraction for the city, a syndicate has been organized at Ogden. A zoological farm will be started and completed as rapidly as possible. Negotiations for the purchase of a half interest in my herd have been going on for some time. They are now concluded, the price being seventy-five thousand dollars.

Chinese ambassadors are treated throughout Europe as the representatives of one of the great powers of the world—a power not to be neglected much less affronted, without the gravest reason.

China is more solid and contented at home and immeasurably more powerful abroad than when the empress, a lady, probably with crippled feet who has never since girlhood been outside the park wall of the palace in Pekin, took up the jade sceptre, which she has wielded through a generation with so firm and skilled a hand! And yet Europe has known nothing of her, not even Europe has known nothing of her, not even her name. That, in this era of communication, when every newspaper knows every-thing, and news even from China arrives instantaneously, where correspondents are as numerous as languages, and the far east is not only watched through a microscope but swept of its treasures with a small-tooth comb, is surely a strange fact.

The object of preserving eggs is to keep bem over from the summer, when they are plentiful, and consequently cheap, until the titles of the foreign eggs which come to us served, and the comparative freshness of many tells that the thing can be accomplished successfully. Whether an egg can be preserved so as to contain all its original freshness is questionable, for there is a delicacy about the flavor of a really fresh served are quite fit for eating, and cannot the kev. Water Gregor tells us that the first time the note of the cuckoo is heard, the hearer turns round three times on the left heel against the sun, searches in the hollow made by the heel, and there finds the all important hair. In addition to these divinatory proceedings, the first hearing of the bird is associated with a charm that would be very useful to country residents if one. be very useful to country residents if only its efficacy could be satisfactorily proved. In a curious old 'Book of Dreams,' published at Birmingham in 1784, it is written: "When you first hear of the cuckoo, take some of the cuckoo the c ross it." This charm is also known in France.

There is a long standing connection between the arrival of the cuckoo and agriculture. Horace, in one of the satires, alludes to a proverbial saying of his time, in virtue of which a slothful vine dresser was branded as a "cuckoo," because the cutting of his vines should have been accomplished before the bird began to sing. In the northwest provinces of India the note of the India cuckoo (koel) is supposed to be a bad omen if heard at the first ploughing. In various English connicies agricultural wiseacres say:

When the cuckoo comes to a bare thorn, "Tis like to be a good year for corn." water with about four gallons of fine slacked lime, into which a gallon of salt is also placed. When the water appears to have taken into solution as much of the lime as it is capable of holding, it is then put over the eggs so as to completely cover them, leaving two or three inches of water above the top layer of eggs. It is, however, found necessary from time to time to add a little lime, or by keeping a clothful of lime on the top, just touching the water, in order that as the lime in the liquid is absorbed or loses its effect, more can be taken up. If too much is added, there is great danger that the whole may become a solid mass. Water is added from time to time, as absorption reduces the quantity.

their hands, no man dissenting. The only dissent was on the question of making church members voters and office holders. Having decided the fundamental questions they were prepared to organize churches, which they did in the same barn August 22d, 1639. They had already adopted and now were ready to act upon the principle as one described it, "that it is of more importance to save and be governed by the steeple than the State," The Milford records have it that the two churches of New Haven and Milford were started on the same day. Phillips presched at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning on the text, "God who command-eth." He said in substance, "There is visi-ble everywhere in this universe evidence of personal power. There appears a law in life and growth; not a hair's breadth of the order of things seems to change. Take an acorn; it always produces an oak tree; the germ of an elephant an elephant; that of a man a man. There is nothing spontaneous about these, nor one thing evolving into another; all scientists exclude the idea of spontaneous generation. These things go to argue that there is original life; and this original some-thing we proclaim to be God. Yes, God's glory is manifest everywhere; nature bears glory is manifest everywhere; nature bears witness to his existence and to his power.

"Whilst we stand amidst these beautiful works of God we are unsatisfied, crying for yet more tangible evidences of God, something more personal than these displays of nature. Can this be any different from the importunity of Moses, who had seen such wonderful things on Mt. Sinai, for something more than law and nature? He who reared the mountains and measured out the cosans. the mountains and measured out the oceans, can He be unable to help our infirmities and can he be unable to help our infirmities and to wipe away our tears!

"Modern science reveals instead of denies God. The telescope shows us the myriads of globes in the heavens besides our own; the microscope leads us into the fields of infinitesimal animalculæ; the spectroscope lets us into the secret of light; they all point to the Creator of the privace.

us into the secret of light; they all point to the Creator of the universe. These scienti-fic appliances, however, go for nothing, should there be no light; and the light, in turn, serves us nothing, if there be no eye in our heads. The co-relation and law of things in the world again testifies to the Author of them all." Through the kindness of the Trip at Niagara—He Will Now go Over the Falls.

Secretary water H. Lord read the records of the past year, showing that the association was free from debt and had $100 in the treasury. He gave the full list of deaths in the regiment since muster out. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Lord for his very able and efficient services. The following officers were elected for the destroyed.

The dam was built in 1877 by H. B. Barton, a local civil engineer, for the Pawtucket Valley Water company. The reservoir corered eighteen acres, and contained about thirty-five million gallons of water. The dam is 925 feet long, 17 feet 9 inches high and 8 feet wide on top and 38 feet wide at the bottom. The embankment is composed of clay and gravel in layers and puddled. The low and seventy feet long. Co. C.; C. F. Beckly, Co. F.; and Lieutenan Burritt, Co. H. Letters of regret for absent members were received from Lieutenant Lucius P. Bissell of Leadville, Col., and Captain J. D. Whee-ler of this city. Resolutions of condolence ler of this city. Resolutions of condolence were passed on the death of Colonel Samuel Tolles and Privates Lyman Benedict, George W. Bunnell, Henry Hawley and others who deaths were announced since last reunion.

The association then adjourned to the basement of the Baptist church, where the Ladies' Relief corps and citizens had prepared a royal feast.

The banquet was prepared under the aus-pices of the Ladies' Relief Corps and the Citizens of Naugatuck. After the chaplain had invoked the divine blessing, Attorney Baldwin invited the boys to "sail in." A grand clatter of knives and forks then be-gan, the boys looked supremely happy when they beheld the faces of the fair cheeked maiders, who had kindly volunteered their maidens, who had kindly volunteered their very acceptable services to wait upon the tables. It also compensated for many a heavy day in camp and on the march, to see so large an assembly of the old vets present, and still enjoying life and its blessings. After doing ample justice to the feast the veterans adjourned to the Opera House. President Baldwin called upon Rev. William F. Blackman, who made the address of welcome, which was pleasing and finely delivered. His allusions pleasing and finely delivered. His allusions and tribute to the dead were clad in very beautiful language and his address was a fine one throughout. He was followed by Cap-tain Davis, Captain Butrick, Lieutenant Linsley, Lieutenant Burnett and Comrades Stoddard, Mcsber, Williams, Beach, and by Comrade Saxe, the "Ghost" of the Fourth New York Cavalry, and C. W. Loomis of the old Sixth Connecticut. L. P. Hatch of Millerton, N. Y., formerly of Naugatuck accompanying on the plane. His efforts were received with rounds of applause from the vets and the ladies and citizens in the Captain Tueodore Davis' remarks on the fortunate recovery of his long lost sword were deeply interesting. It was taken from him by the rebels at the battle of Kinston, N. C., March 8, 1865. He related the way that he got track of it. It was through a lady, who was instrumental in having it returned to him. He prizes it highly. The meeting adjourned at 4:30 with a hearty vote of thanks by the vets to all who had contributed to their happiness, and all united in saying that the twenty-second reunion was

The eccentric musical drama "Duvar will be presented at Proctor's New Haven Opera House to-night, to-morrow and Wedneeday by a strong company, including the young English actor, Tom Ricketts. A large Egyptian chorus is one of the attrac-tive features of the performance. The fa-mous Marie Hamilton's trio, the Litta quartette and London Theater gaiety dancers als add a decided charm to the entertainment The presentation will undoubtedly be gree ed with good houses.

Save Your Hair BY a timely use of Ayer's Hair Vigor.
This preparation has no equal as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, and preserves the color, fullness, and beauty of the hair. "I was rapidly becoming bald and gray; but after using two or three bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair grew thick and glossy and the original color was restored."—Melvin Aldrich, Canaan Centre, N. THE SCHOOL CAMPAIGN OPENED. Saturday Night's Meeting in Lincoln Rink-Nominations Made-Remark by Colonel Sprague and Judge She

About one hundred persons gathered Lincoln rink Saturday evening to discuss the school question in relation to free text books The meeting was called to order by James A Howarth. Judge Sheldon was elected as presiding officer and he returned his thanks for the honor. He briefly remarked in favor of free books for the schools of this city and BY a co then introduced Homer B. Sprague, president of the North Dakota university. In starting his address he gave the audience a point or two that probably all were not aware of. He resented fourteen propositions in favor of the system of free text books. The speaker's remarks were to the point and formed an ar-gument which many considered unanswera-ble. After he had finished Judge Sheldon briefly addressed the audience. He said the briefly addressed the andience. He said the intelligence of the Yankee boy and the Yankee girl of Connecticut is worth more than all the riches of California. Everything should be thrown aside that was a barrier to free text books. It added to the grand list to educate every It added to the grand list to educate every person in Connecticut. The most cheerful tax he paid was that of the school district. It was short-sightedness, selfishness, a poor policy and an absurdity to oppose free books. He wanted New Haven to be the ploner in Connecticut in the adoption of this plan. Then there would be no such standing disgrace to the reputation of Connecticut's educational institutions as the Third congressional district had to tamentably claim.

Representative Wolfe moved a vote of thanks for the distinguished speaker of the thanks for the distinguished speaker of the evening and then made a motion that Samuel R. Avis, James A. Lamp Inspector Noonan says that Fair Haven, with few exceptions, is as well lighted as any portion of the city. There were a few places away from the center of the district where more lamps were needed, and in all such cases of real merit, gas or naptha lamps could be secured if the people would interest themselves by petition and then back up their petition before the committee on lamps. The inspector's recommendation should be profited by, as there are still some pretty dark stretches of street that should be lighted.
