EVERY THURSDAY MORNING

The young expect a happy new year, ar those of more experience hope that the new year may be a happier one than the old. It is well to enter the year with as much hope and courage as can be mustered. Troubles are sure to come, but most of them are endurable by most people. Very many who did not expect to get through last year well about three hundred and fifty thousand. have, as they can see in looking back, made more comfortable progress than they expected. It will be so with many this year. Therefore let us hope, and thus armored fight as consistently and bravely as possible. It is a good way to begin the new year by wishing everybody (oneself included) a happy new year, and a good way to live through it in trying to make it happy for others. -

AN INTERESTING DECISION. Not long ago a wave of what is called 'popular indignation" was rolled over this town on account of the discovery that the selectmen had hired help to assist them in defending the town against the attacks of the consolidationists. This wave was energetically pushed by the consolidationists, who saw in it an opportunity to further their pet scheme, which had received a serious setback in the decision of the legislature against them. They were aided by all the little politicians who wanted a new deal and sick dude called on a doctor "What selectmen had hired help to assist them in "joined in." As a result, when the political ore or less summarily thrown overboard, for the alleged reason that they could not be -elected. It is their turn now. The decison of the Supreme court of the State in the ease of Farrell vs. the town of Derby estabshes the legal right of the selectmen of this or any other town in the State to defend the town when it is attacked. The Supreme court's decision is not so useful for the puroses of the consolidationists as the report of the investigating committee was.

OIL IN CHINA. The Standard Oil company will have to wake up if it intends to supply the Chinamen in China with oil. There is nothing a Chinaman appreciates more than being able to save he most trifling sum, and it is because of its being a trifle under the cost of American oil that Russian kerosene is finding such a demand in Shanghai. From January to July of the present year 225,000 cases of Russian kerosene oil were used at Shanghai, against 353,000 cases of American; that is, Russia sent 40 per cent. and America 60 per cent. of the oil taken. But the Russian exportation is not yet two years old and up to a short time ago the American producers had the market to themselves. A somewhat similar report is received from Manila, our consul there stating that in consequence of the arrival of cargoes of Russian oil the price of American oil had fallen from $3.25 to $2.75 per case, the Russian selling at $2.621/2 per

It would be a pity if the Standard Oil company should be driven out of China. Probably it will not be.

ourt by an open letter to a committee o Iowa prohibitionists in which the Rev. I. J. Mackay, rector of St. Paul's church, Council Bluffs, says that prohibition in that city is a miserable farce;" expresses the belief that drinking on the sly is a worse thing for the young than saloon drinking; expresses wish to see the whole question taken out f politics; and suggests that, legislation having failed to reform drunkards and check drunkenness, it might be well to give the Christian religion a fair trial in the premises. n New York city, has had so much experience in dealing with social problems that his pinions conferning them are valuable. He says: Poverty-stricken men are worse off than the women, for there are fewer avenues f employment open to them than to a wonau. A woman can always get housework or washing to do, there is always a constant demand for such kind of help. It is better for a poor family that the father should die than the mother. A woman, as I say, can always manage to find employment and so keep her family together, while a father soon comes discouraged after the death of his

the family soon drift apart. There are seven thousand diamond cutters out of work in Amsterdam alone. At a meeting of more than a thousand of them recent-ly held there, M. Van Prang attributed the want of work chiefly to the high prices of raw diamonds, and next to the tendency of the jewellers to trade in raw diamonds instead of devoting themselves to their preparation for the market. Bourse speculation, and to a certain extent with politics. Then will follow "La Guerre," treating of the army, the war of 1870, and containing a long dissertation on the surender of Sedan. The next book will conclude the Rougon-Maquart series, and will tell us how all the characters not already killed off will end. As soon as the series is ompleted, which will be in 1891, M. Zola tends to devote himself exclusively to the tage. He will then be 52 years of age, and will confine himself to the production of riginal plays—that is to say, plays which ave not been adapted from his novels > that has just ended is that in these last twelv e months the total number of immigrants has been about a hundred thousand ess than the number in 1888. The year's igures are also of interest as enabling us to round out the complete record of seventy years—the period during which accurate, or fairly accurate, statistics have been kept The full force of the accessions to population from this source is only to be felt when the figures of the whole period are taken together. Altogether it may be said in round numbers that we have received from foreign ountries in that time about fifteen million people, of whom Great Britain has sent about six million (nearly three and a half million being from Ireland alone), Germany abou four and a half million, Norway and Sweden about eight hundred thousand, and France

Mrs. Stanford Gives Fuller Details o It was on one of our rarely beautiful No-

The feelings of the prohibitionists will had gone to have a chat with Mrs. Stanford in regard to the educational advantages the Leland Stanford, Jr., University proposes to confer upon women. As many have never seen the lady patron of California, I will speak of her first. While she led the way to the library I nowhite she led the way to the horary I hot ticed that she was of medium height, plump of figure, with a wealth of golden brown hair such as belongs to women who have hazel eyes. She wore a gown of creme white moire, fastened at the throat by a ministure medallion brooch containing her dead son's medallion brooch containing her dead son't face when he was a mere lad. The likeness was surrounded by a single row of pearls, and she also wore pearls in her ears.

"To so educate boys and girls that they will be able to take care of themselves when they leave the university. For instance, a boy will not only be taught engineering theoretically, but he will know how to build and run an engine practically, and will be encouraged to have as much pride in his skill as do those who devote themselves to medicine or law."

"Will there be any difference between the "Will there be any difference between th

"Will there be any difference between the collegiate course of boys and girls!"

"None whatever. Girls will be given the same opportunities to study the professions, music, drawing and the mechanical pursuits, as boys, with only such exceptions as their sex would naturally impose. It is our desire that all branches shall be studied with the idea of being turned to practical use. We have no intention of turning out a lot of helpless ladies and gentlemen. Society is already overburdened with these unfortunates."

"What special mechanical training will girls have?"

transfer of the trade to London, where the dealers in raw diamonds and the owners of the diamond fields were living.

Henrik Ibses, who is making a good deal of discussion in this country, is thus described. His appearance is literally leoning and would attract instant attention in any company.

"To a certain extent. If a girl in moderate circumstances has musical or artistic talent which she wishes to develop, she will be given instructions with the idea of teaching or singing, while in drawing she may make original or conventional designs, which can be used in the manufacture of wall decorations, carpets, fabrics or furniture. Or she may learn photography, carving on wood or stone, pottery designing, or any of the processes used in illustrating magazines, photogravure, or etching, down to mechanical drafting. This of course does not prevent her from learning portrait or landscape painting for the mere love of art, not prevent her from learning portrait or landscape painting for the mere love of art, but if she must support herself she will be encouraged to learn something which will make her tesk lighter; if she would be a church or concert singer, or a teacher of vocal music, her instructions will take that bent, and the same policy will be pursued in instrumental music. Thorough courses in bookkeeping, telegraphy, typewriting and shorthand will also be given, and I am anxious that upholstering shall be added to the list of available occupations for women."

"I desire to have two picture galleries at Palo Alto; one with paintings representing the most celebrated modern artists, the other containg copies of the most famous paintings by the old masters that are in the galleries of Europe. Through our former minis-ter to Germany, Mr. Pendleton, the young ter to Germany, Mr. Pendleton, the young Kaiser has given permission for a copy the size of the original famous "Sistine Madonna" in the gallery at Dresden. The Kaiser reserved the right to name the artist who will copy it for me. I realize the fact that very many of the boys and girls of California. nis may never have an opportunity of seeing these wonderful originals. They can never be purchased. The next and only way of seeing them is through these copies, which are all painted by the very best artists that

Following the erection of the two first colleges will be the building of institutions in which will be given the higher course of education. The colleges will be revised with the provided with which will be given the higher course of education. The colleges will be provided with ample lecture rooms, and the trustees will be required to offer the highest salaries for instructors of any institution of the kind in the world. The higher courses will be free the world. The higher courses will be free to post-graduates of all colleges and universities, and to such other deserving persons as the trustees may elect to admit. Free scholarships will be established in colleges of the university, which are to be given to deserving pupils of the public schools, or to the children of those who have died without the colleges of the colleges of the children of those who have died without the children of those who have died without means in the service of the State or the cause of humanity. At a certain stage of his progress each student will be required to select the pursuit he is to follow through life, and, if the selection is approved by the president as practical, the pupil will be afforded every possible advantage to perfect himself or herself in the chosen calling.

How Can CURED By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has often when other meanines have tained, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous some neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely dis-appeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. Carller, Nauright, N. J.

After the charges were preferred the superintendent stated that Officer Cowles appeared before him, and, after a friendly chat, acknowledged his error. He thought the officer had been punished enough, and had therefore withdrawn the charge. Commissioners Baldwin, Clancy and Andrew didn't think the superintendent had any right to withdraw charges. He had made them, and it was the duty of the commissioners to investigate them. The officer had been served with a notice of the selectmen to develop the counts and the Supreme court has just decided in favor of the selectmen, finding that they had the power to employ connsel and pay them from the town funds to resist legislation which would divide the town. Mr. Rowe is a good natured man, but when he thinks he is in the right lepot. President Ives informed the board that it was the intention of the company to relay its entire track from Chapel street to the Union depot and to double track this portion of its line from George street to the depot. He informed the board that the company were going to have representatives from a railroad track building concern in Pennsylvania come here shortly and he desired the board to meet them and specify the the kind of rail that would meet the board's approval. The board appointed a committee for the purpose, and the various patterns will be submitted to them for their selection.

The Fair Haven and Westville company intend to relay various portions of their road in the coming spring and summer. In all about three miles of new track will be laid. to relay its entire track from Chapel street to Philip Colwell, the roadmaster, telling him that his services were no longer needed by the town, explaining that there was no work for him. Selectman Rowe brought the matter up before the board last night, and wanted to know whether the board of selectmen had anything to say about the affairs of the town.
Mr. Rowe and Mr. Reynolds had quite a spirited argument. Mr. Rowe moved that Mr. Colwell be reinstated and that he be paid for the two days since his discharge by Mr. Reynolds.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Rowe, "that "It seems to me," said Mr. Rowe, "that the town agent should be governed by the selectmen, and not the selectmen by the town agent."

Chairman Goodrich thought the matter should be left to a committee. He thought the town agent should have some power, and that he should be favored somewhat.

"Should we favor the town agent when he disobeys the order of this board, when he bought a deak the purchase of which was left to the finance committee!"

Selectman Goodrich thought Mr. Rowe was mistaken. He thought the town agent was given the power. The company also expect to extend the oad next spring out West Chapel street. AN INTERESTING DECISION. Towns Have the Right of Belf-Protec-

A Parallel Case to New Haven's AntiConsolidation Fight.

A new decision of the Supreme court just handed down is of much general public interest, as it involves practically the same questions which lay at the root of the recent fight against consolidating the town and city of New Haven. Eminent legal authorities in New Haven said yesterday that the decision was food for thought for those who had been condemning New Haven's old board of selectmen for their stand in their notable contest against consolidation. It is also a vindication of the opinion Hon. N. D. Sperry expressed (solely and alone among those interviewed) in the case, in an interview with him which was published in one of our papers, in which Mr. Sperry held that the selectmen of New Haven would have been derelict in their manifest duty if they had not, as the town's representatives, maintained its accident. May Haven would have been detected in their manifest duty if they had not, as the town's representatives, maintained its ancient and legal right (pertaining to all Connecticut towns) to oppose and resist dismemberment, or the practical dissolution of its government of the town.

Notwithstanding the decision of the Conecticut Supreme court, other Supreme courts have passed upon the matter in an entirely different light. That in Massachusetts held that a town had no power to incur expenses on such a defense, and in Maine the same was held by the Supreme court.

By the decision, those lawyers who have been anxiously awaiting their pay will now be compensated for their legislative work. Some of those interested in the non-division movement say that they will send for the opinion so that the full text of the finding can be seen.

The Benton and Starr Case. Benton in December, 1886, caused the arrest of Deacon Starr on a bastardy proceeding of Deacon Starr on a bastardy proceeding, alleging that he was the father of Fannie's child. The justice of the peace in Guilford and the Court of Common Pleas of this city so held. Deacon Starr's appeal to the Supreme Court of Errors was based on exceptions made to the admissibility of certain evidence. The Supreme Court finds that Starr's conviction was so obtained, and ordered a new trial. Alling, Webb and Newton were the attorney's for Starr, and Attorney's Zacher and Arvine for Miss Benton.

Hartford sued Julia Champion for taxes which there was an effort to evade paying her by what was claimed to be a change of residence, the lower court rendered a decis-ion in favor of the city of Hartford, that the defendant was liable to it for her taxes. This defendant was liable to it for her taxes. This decision the Supreme court sustained.

In the case of Franklin Farrell and others against the town of Derby, the court decides that the defendant town had power to employ counsel and pay them from the town funds, to resist before the legislature the petition of the people of Ansonia for a division of the town. The Supreme court of Massachusetts had held in a similar case that a town had no power to incur expenses on such a defense, and the same had been held in Maine. Our own court now helds that the right of the town to exist implies the the right of the town to exist implies the right to defend its existence.

torical Association.

Cleveland's Re-Election. BOSTON, Mass. Dec. 31 .- Members of th fassachusette Tariff Reform League gathered in full force at the Tremont house this evening, the occasion being the annual din ner of the organization. Hon. Henry L. Pierce presided, and among the most notable entlemen present were Hon. Roger Q. Mills, of Texas; Hon. Thomas G. Shearman, New York; Edward Atkinson, Hon. Wm. E. Russell, Hon. John M. Forbes, Hon. J. S Farlow, Robert Bleakie, Esq., President C. W. Eliot, of Harvard; Charles Francis Ad-

W. Eliot, of Harvard; Charles Francis Adams, Hon. John F. Andrew, Jerome Jones, Hon. Robert Treat Bayne, Hon. P. A. Collins, and others.

President Pierce in opening the afterdinner exercises said there were three great causes—tariff reform, ballot reform and civil service reform—now on trial before the country and that it was no small advantage that in the struggle before us we have for our leader a man of moral courage, sterling honesty and straightforwardness, the most interesting personality in American life, Grover Cleveland.

When this reference to Mc Cleveland.

Cleveland.

When this reference to Mr. Cleveland was made the assembly arose and cheered and applauded to the echo, closing with three cheers and a tiger.

He then introduced Hon, Roger Q. Mills as the first regular speaker of the evening.

Mr. Mills' address was most enthusiastically received. His demands for free raw material for New England as a step which would result in benefit to the entire country was received with cheers and applause, as was also his statement that the emancipation of trade would place this country in control of the business of the world, while Europe would be nowhere. His apt use of statistics created amusement.

would be nowhere. His apt use of statistics and read a musement.

Hon. John H. Forbes was then introduced and read a paper showing the effect of the doctrine of protection on foreign nations in past ages. Dr. William Everest delivered a spirited address in favor of free books as a moral and spiritual right. He declared that books developed minds and souls, and that the government has no right to tax souls.

Mr. Thomas G. Shearman, of New York, was then introduced. Shearman congratulated Massachusetts upon the fact that it seemed to be getting its eyes opened and proceeded to argue the question of free raw material to preserve the iron and steel manufactures of the east. His allusions to ex-President Cleveland, his prediction of the latter's re-election in 1892, were received with wild enthusiasm.

OPOBTO, Dec. 31.—Dom Pedro is better.

The remains of the empress will be taken to the Lapa church to-morrow and will there lie in state until Friday when they will be conveyed to Lisbon.

The Marquis of Salisbury Down With Land Grippe.

Lendon, Dec. 31.—The Marquis of Salisbury last the grippe in a severe form. He was taken on the 24th, but as the observation of the strictest secretical option of the latter's proceeded to argue the question of the latter's core of the east. His allusions to ex-President Cleveland, his prediction of the latter's re-election in 1892, were received with wild enthusiasm.

Mr. Shearman was followed by Mr. Edward Atkinson who advocated the policy of conciliation without compromise of principle and the schievement of tariff reform on right principles by a harmony of interests, mutual trust and sincerity of purpose on the part of both protectionists and tariff reformers.

Letters of regret were received from ex-Speaker Carlisle, who was unable to be present on account of the ways and means committee. Representative Breckenridge, of Kentneky, General John M. Palmer, of Illinois, President Seth Low, of Columbia College, ex-Governor Hoadley, of New York, ex-Governor Chamberlain, of South Carolina, and others.

The constitution of the Atlantic League was accepted, with few changes, the most important being the settlement of the salary limit as not over $1,500 a month for the players and mansgers of each club. No presents are to be allowed in addition to salaries and strict observation of the rule is to be enforced by monthly affidavits which are to be sent by the president or treasurer of each club to the secretary of the lesgue within 24 hours after pay days. A breach of this rule will insure tha expulsion of the offending clubs. The following officers were elected: President, F. C. Bancroft of Springfield; vice president, A. W. Lang of Hartford; secretary and treasurer, J. C. Morse of the Boston Herald. Committees were also appointed to visit Providence, Waterbury and Holyoke base ball men, and the New Haven club was invited to join the new league. The applications of other cities will be carefully considered. The delegates present were: E. S. Pierce, H. Hovey, J. J. Kennedy and H. H. Seeley of Worcester; D. A. Sullivan and M. J. Courtney of Lowell; A. W. Lang of Hartford; F. C. Brancroft and H. R Merrill of Springfield.

INFLUENZA.

The Disease Getting a Firm Grip NEW YORK, Dec. 31 .- All the city depar ments have more employes on the sick list to-day, and the same condition exists among to-day, and the same condition exists among the banks, insurance companies and stores. The number of members of the police force are laid up to-day is 302. The hospitals all report a large number of applicants for treatment who claim to be affected with the influenza. The cases are usually aggrevated by other complications and are often quite serions.

sons, including Henry Irving, Mr. Bancroft, Sir John Millais, Mr. Alma Tadema and Sir Theodore Martin.

As the funeral procession entered the abbey and approached the altar Croft and Purcell's choral muslo was sung. The coffin was carried down the aise and placed in front of the altar steps. During the reading of the lessons the Wesley anthem, "We All Go to Our Place," and "Meditation," were sung. The choir also sang Mr. Browning's poem and refrain, "He Gliveth His Beloved Slesp," to special music by Bridges. After the services at the altar the coffin was borne to the poets' corner in the South Transept. As it was lowered into the grave the committal service was chanted by the choristers. As the congregation dispersed the organist played the "Dead March in Saul." The grave is in front of Abraham Cowley's monument, with in the angle marked by Longfellow's bust. The monuments of Chaucer, Edmund Spenser, Ben Jonson, Milton Matthew Prior and Thomas Gray adorn the walls near by.

Close about the grave as the body was lowered to its final resting place stood the Most Rev. Edward White Benson, archbiahpo of Canterbury and primate of all England; the Very Rev. George Bradley, dean of Westminster; Rev. Robinson Duckworth, canno of Westminster; the choristers and the pall bearers—Hallam Tennyson, Dr. Batler, Justice Stephen, Sir Theodore Martin, the venerable Frederick Farrar, archdescon of Westminster; Rev Robinson Duckworth, canno of Westminster; Rev Robinson Duckworth, and Professor Knight.

The dense fog which prevailed throughout the services gave an unusually somber effect to the funeral.

BERLIN, Dec. 31.—The Tageblatt says: The nearer the epidemic in Berlin appears to be drawing toward a close the greater is the endency to various complications, mostly that of pneumonia, which itself seems to have become verifably epidemic. Other complications are diseases of the ear and neuralgia. In the city of Frankfort scarcely a single house has escaped the visitation.

London, Dec. 31.—Many diplomats are down with the epidemic. Count Hatzfeldt, the German ambassador, has been ill a fortight, but is now better. Mr. Philip, one of the secretaries in the foreign office, and Francis Milliers are ill. Owing to the prevalence of influenza at Munich the usual New Year reception at the palace will not be held.

At Copenhagen the epidemic is abating.

At Copenhagen the epidemic is abating.

The official report gives a total of 30,000 cases. Most of them are of a mild character.

The harbor of Copenhagen is free of ica. Reports from Cassell say that the disease is spreading and that a number of doctors have been attacked. In many cases the influenza has been followed by inflammation of the lungs.

Monday evening, Miss Berths Ives, who is home from Mt. Holyoke seminary, entertained a few of her friends at her home on the East side.

The deferred Christmas entertainments for the children of the Second Congregational and St. James' churches were held last evening. There was a large attendance and the exercises were very interesting.

Willis Hemingway says that the entrance into his residence on North Quinnipiac street Sunday evening by a sneak thief was a very bold operation. Entrance was effected through a lower window early in the evening, while Deacon Hemingway and wife were in their room on the second floor. Mrs. Hemingway heard a noise below, and her husband went down to investigate, only to find that the sneak had escaped by the front door, but Mrs. H. saw what she believes was the flash from a dark lantern in the hall. No property was missed, the thief having evidently been frightened away before he had time to operate.

Among the many occupations which busy the fishermen in winter is eeiling. When winter comes on in earnest this is a very cold task. The adventurous fishermen start out with an ice chieel, a spear and a bag. The chisel is a large flat bar of iron, hardened and sharpened at the point. With this they cut holes about 18 inches in diameter in the ice. The spear is made of steel prongs which have heads like arrows and come together at the butt. When the fisherman has cut a hole he lowers his spear into the water crosswise to the course of the river and jabs over every inch of mud. Oftentimes as many as fifty pounds of sels are taken. The best places for catching these salt water snakes are in elips where the mud is soft, and in the rivers which extend, as small creeks into the meadows of North Haven, West Haven, and like places. This year, as there is no ice, the men go in large boats. This fishing is much warmer, but the sport is not half as great, besides it is much harder work. By the Sunday School of the First M.

"You see the reason I ask this," said the fair customer, as she assumed a confidential tone, "is that I have been told by my neighbor that great deception is practiced in the sale of ducks, and especially in red-haired ducks. Of course, I don't think you would impose on me, but I know of a lady friend who bought a duck for Thanksgiving, and it turned out that it was not a real, red-haired duck, but that its hair had actually been bleached. Her husband had never got done joking her about the fraud, and I would not have such a thing happen to me for anything. Now, are you real sure," and she cast a be-witching and at the same time an imploring glance at the keeper of the stall, the puzzled expression on his face having deepened into a broad grin by this time.

"Yes, madame, if that duck does not prove to be genuine you can have your money refunded." He tried to keep a straight face, but with indifferent success only, and when the little woman had paid for her Christmas duck and left the stall with a triumphant expression on the part of all the attaches of the stall, and bleached-haired ducks was the subject of many remarks about the market vesterday. work. Querous pseudo-coccifera is an evergreen species with the general appearance of the liex of Southern Europe, and closely related, botanically, to Q. coccifera, a commun and widely distributed scrub oak of Southern Europe and of Algeria: indeed, Hooker was of the opinion that the two plants were merely geographical varieties of the same species. IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could us digested at all. Within the time men ioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."
