Saturday, February 1, 1890. People whose business or pleasure it is neomfortable as possible and who are as insulting as they dare to be. A lawyer of this rebuke which he will be likely to remember. He had put an insultingly insinuating question to a respectable young lady and was acquainted with the parties to a divorce suit, and the subsequently knocked over lawyer sought to make a public display of what he magined was keenness and wit at her expense. He gave full play to his blackguard-ism and was promptly knocked down, as has been said, by Deputy Sheriff Dempasy, the young lady's brother. Mr. Dempsey was prevented from administering further punshment and hurried from the court room by his friends. The judge did not take any notice of the affair, which seems to indicate without adequate provocation. A few such occurrences as this would ten to teach such lawyers as the one who figured in this case something. A legal education and admission to the bar does not give a man a right to be a blackguard. THE SCARED DUTCHMEN. The people of Holland are more frighten ed just now than they have been since the Dutch captured the country. They have discovered that their country is likely to be made use of, either by France or Germany, more probably the latter power, should a war break out between these two military nations. There are several lines of railway which lead almost directly from Germany to France. In 1866, when Prince Bismarck used the Prussian army in one of the first moves of his great international policy, he gave the Dutch government six hours to decide whether or not they would allow the Prussians to temporarily encroach upon their territory. If yes, it was peace; if no, war; and as the Dutch were quite unprepared for such a sudden summons, they had no alternative but to submit. Perhaps they wouldn't be allowed even six hours to decide in the event of another war. Says the Boston Herald: In less than half a day a German army of from 30,000 to 50,000 men could be thrown over the Dutch frontier, while the latter would have ready to oppose this advance a military force of less than 6,000 men. To acquiesce in such a violation of national rights might be a safe ourse to adopt if the success of Germany was concerned. But if, on the other hand the Germans should be defeated, the French would be justified in claiming indemnity from Holland for violation of internation obligations, a justification which would perhaps, be sufficient to warrant the seizure of Holland and the extinction of its inde-No wonder the peaceable Dutchmen are listurbed. They are certainly in a very nviable predicament. Probably if there is a war they will have to submit to whatever is asked of them by any of the great powers, and perhaps they will be allowed to dis-cuse the matter afterward.

writes to the Charleston News and Courier his view of the Southern race problem, as follows: I have never believed in negro suffrage. Senator Sumner never committed a graver blunder than driving the act which legalized it through congress. It was not an act of statesmanship. It was a filing of desperation. The only palliation of it is the fact that in the struggle for its existence the nation was brought into a supreme exigency, in which everybody felt that something must be done, yet nobody could tell anybody what to do. The thing that was done struck nature a blow in the face. And for that she always gives a return blow in grand rage. We are sure, in such an encounter to get the worst of it. That is what we are suffering to-day, and what the end will be, God only knows. I shall not be here to see it, but it would not surprise me if it cost the nation more blood than the civil war did. To the Editor of the Journal and Countra:
The comforts for the inner man, which we carried to the empty storehouse of the alcalde show it is every Gallegan's highest dream, the peasant of Galicia who remains at lome idly sits and dozes his life away in sodden indolence. Four bare wells, the outside always whitewashed, the inside black with smoke and filth, and a thatched roof, are enough for shelter. He needs little fire, and the dead branches of the forests provide for this. A patch for potatoes, a quarter of an acre for mijo or millet, a half acre for borono or corn, are all he sullenly pecks at in the summer; and for winter his perro or dog is the same excellent company as is his wife ruces or dietaff to her. Two or three goats furnish enough milk, and queso or cheese whose horrible odor no compound can surpass. He may possess a skinny jacas on whose patient back hydrages inconstrable.

The situation was both interesting and ludicrons, but it soon became irksome, and towards night myself as Spanish sentinels in charge of the American prisoner myself, began giving the latter a few unofficial liberties. One was to permit myself to penetrate ties. One was to permit myself to penetrate my slight baggage and produce an old passport of Mr. Bayard's making, worn to the

Mr. Max Dessauer appeared on the next number of the programme and delighted the audience with his own composition "The Issues of the Day. The annual county convention of the pronumber or the programme and delighted the audience with his own composition "The Nightingale of the North." This he performed on his $150 silver flute, and the airy nightingale notes sounded clearly throughout the auditorium to the great delight of the audience. Mass Belden then sang "Jamie," Molloy's well known ballad. This is a difficult piece to display one's vocal powers on, but Miss. Belden showed rare richness of voice and clearness of tone as ahe vocalised the words to complete distinctness. A rare treat followed in the bass solo of Mr. E. C. Bennett, entitled "Ten Thousand Drums and Fifes." Mr. Bennett is one of the popular "Abt Quartette" and at one time was a member of the original "Boston Ideals." He has a specially fine bess voice and is always enjoyed by New Haven people. The closing number on this especially fine programme was a selection by the Amphions, introducing Miss Russell as the soloist, and in which the soloist's voice rang out clear and sweetly above the subdued tones of the chorus. The plece was the "Blue Bells of Scotland," and made a most fitting close to the evening's entertainment. It is expected that Miss Wynn Ward will be the reader at the next popular concert.

The ushers at the Hyperion deserve a word of praise for their prompt and efficient work in senting the vast audience. The ushers are: Chief usher, A. A. Musson, K. Shepard, C. Bebee, G. Cooper, R. Billings, H. Hoyt. The beautiful stage setting was furnished almost entirely by Mr. Bunnell. Among those occupying the boxes last night were: F. Wayland Fellows and family, E. Polo Pointers. Hurrah for Springfield! New Haven in Meriden to-night. Menard and Price seem little in their work lately. Wodtke would be a good man for New Britain, or in fact for any team.

A large crowd will probably accompany the team to Meriden this evening. Games Monday night: New Haven at Springfield and New Britain at Bridgeport. John Smith is accused of indifferent work McPeck's injury does not seem to lower the Springfields any. Perry so far is keeping his and up and more, too.

Conway keeps up his dirty work. He tried on Hill last night, but "Billy" was not to "bluffed" and he called the "Kid" down. New Britain newspapers seems to think hat Connell is a great man. We have never seen any of his great work here in New ness in making that match game with New Britain. "Long Tom" has not lost much of his old cunning.

The "Scientists" will venture as far as Meriden this evening and endeavor to show the quintette of poloists in the Silver City the great game of polo.

The New Healtar service on Sunday evenings at the close of the sermon is also an attraction, and much good is being accomplished. To-morrow evening the doctor presents a subject full of interest to all church goers. The theme will be "Ephriam, How Shall I Give Thee Up."

The New Havens' next game at home will be Tuesday night instead of Monday. The opponents of the home team will be the "Woodchoppers" and a hot game may be ex-No one can dispute the fact that Dunning's playing has fallen off considerably of late. It is a wonder that they don't make the same remark of him that they did of Connors, that he is playing for his release.

Every manager in the league wants to see square polo playing. Every polo enthusiast in Connecticut knows that New Britain is the roughest team in the league, and yet when that team is fined or fouled once or twice in their own rink a certain man in New Britain always raises a bue and cry and writes fot the dismissal of the referes. Bosh. The present Inter-State polo league is without a doubt the finest polo league that has ever been organized. Patrons of the game have seen better polo this season than ever before, and the teams have never been so close before as they are at present. No team in the league has lost money so far, and take it all in all it bids fair to be the most presents wolk season on record.

Charley Bennett, the noted catener, was in Chicago Friday. He came from Williameburg, Kan., where Fred Pfeffer vialted him a few weeks ago. He said he was going to Detroit to winter and rest. When asked what were his intentions about playing next season, he said: "I hold $1,000 stock in the Boston Players' league club and expect to play with its team."

St. Andrew. Mr. Lines touched upon the influence of the order upon the personal life ness and activity. One of its advantages is its simplicity. It binds its members more closely to the clergy. Rev. H. P. Nichols closed by presenting the social influence of the order. He chose not to speak specifically of social sins, as he did not consider it the proper place or occasion. There is no true ideal in the brotherhood or church that is not a Christian ideal. All must answer for themselves. Principles, not rules, must be weighed. The question for you is, "Am I equal to the Christian standard!" Previous to the service supper was served in the parish honse, and a social was held there at its conclusion.

WEEK BEFORE INVENTORY, AND THIRD

-OF THE-

'Tisn't often the life of a sale becomes worthy a biography, but the vitality and sterling service of this one, as it swings into its third week of animation, gathering fresh interest as it progresses, is fast earning it. Facts that bring down the price chopper have accumulated this week: Winter that's not winter, goods that must leave the way of the workers, and, added to both, inventory coming Friday: all happenings for your particular good. Comatose competition fails to comprehend how quickly the public sift out the truth from printers' ink and extravagant bosh. The throngs here in January are speaking indications of it. The crush and jam of people mean something; means they've found out where they can do the best with their money.

Mr. Bynum—This is the first time in the history of that chair that the presiding officer has turned his back on a representative on this floor and directed a mere sub-the beneat of the chairman of the Republican National committee to turn out the represen-latives of the people elected to seats on the floor and put in men who were not only elected but who do not command the respect of the constituents they seek here to repre-sent. Now proceed in this matter; but in the language of the immortal Emmett, we propose "to dispute every inch of ground, burn every blade of grass and the last in-trenchment of liberty shall be our grave." The Democratic side burst into cheers, which were answered by derisive laughter from the he intends to make opposition in every direction, it becomes apparent to the House and community what his purpose is. It is then the duty of the occupant of the Speaker's chair to take under parliamentary law the proper course in regard to such matters, and in order that there may not be any misunderstanding as to whether or not it is the wish and desire of the majority of the House apparent, as it seems to be, the question of an appeal from the refusal of the chair to enter the motion would be presented to the House.

THE ROMANCE OF YOUNG LOVE. I Seventeen-Year-Old Jeaneste Bean Supposed to Have Eloped With H.

Mr. Bland immediately arose and demanded that the vote be announced before the names were read. The Speaker calmly ignored him and proceeded to call the names notwithstanding Mr. Bland's vigorous protest, in which he declared that the Speaker might be deaf to his appeal, but that it was on account of a tyranny that this house was getting sick and tired of.

The Speaker paying no attention to Mr. Bland's indignation, directed the clerk to enter the names of the following members on the journal as present and not voting: Mesars. Barnes., Bland, Breckinridge, of Arkansas; McRes., McCreary, McMillin, Oates, O'Ferrell, Outhwaite, Price, Sayres, Stewart, of Georgia; Stone, of Kentucky; Tilman and Turner, of Georgia. He then declared the demand for the previous question carried; yeas 160, nays 0, amid the loud protests of the Democrats.

The Speaker—The previous question is House.

Mr. Springer desired to be heard on the appeal, but the Speaker recognised Mr. Mc-Kinley to move to lay the appeal on the table. In vain did Mr. Springer protest, the Speaker merely remarking that the House would now vote on the question whether it desired to hear the gentleman from Illinois. His rights were of course dependent on the action of the House, which alone had the power to compel 330 members to listen to the gentleman from Illinois. (Laughter... Mr. Springer still insisted on his right to de heard, which called forth the remark from Mr. Percins of Kansas that when gentlemen on the other side of the House learned to talk with decency they would be given an

mr. Springer—I am in order. The Speaker is not in order.

The Speaker directed the call of the roll, but the voice of the clerk was drowned in that of Mr. Springer, who held his ground with pertinacity. As well as could be heard in the confusion Mr. Springer said: I want to enter my protest against the decision. I insist that I have the floor and have the right to be heard. I have never known the time in the history of the country when the Speaker when an appeal was taken refused to hear debate—never in the history of the country. I deny your right or the right of this house to gag members in the way you are now doing. It will not be none without my protest and my denunciation, going into the record against the ruling as dishonest to the American people. (Applause on Democratic side.) The appeal was then laid on the table—yeas 163, nays 0—the Speaker, as usual, counting the requisite number to make a quorum.

Mr. Springer—I am in order. The Speaker for coll, the the pair have started for that city. The police at Worcester and Springfield have been notified of the affair and it is thought that their journey cannot be of long duration.

Mr. Dean lives at No. 33 Lake Place. Up to a late hour last night he had received no word of his daughter or of her companion.

Mr. Smith was also in ignorance of the whereabouts of his missing son. His two sons, Fred and Harry, were at home as usual up to yesterday morning. Since then Jean-ette's admirer has not been heard from.

Mr. Springer—When will a motion to adjourn be in order?

The Speaker—It will be in order at the proper time. (Laughter).

The Speaker thereupon recognised Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania to speak on the Smith versus Jackson election case.

Mr. Crisp—If the gentleman from Pennsylvania designs to call up the election case he has not yet done so. I raise the question of consideration.

The Speaker—And the chair declines to entertain the question.

Mr. Crisp called upon the Speaker for his reasons, whereupon the Speaker replied that the House has already decided to consider the election case, and notwithstanding Mr. Crisp's protest and that no Speaker had ever declined to entertain such a motion.

The Speaker refused to put the question to the House.

the House.

Mr. Crisp—Then I appeal.

The Speaker—The chair declines to entertain the appeal. (Democratic hisses).

Mr. Crisp—Will the chair give reasons?

The Speaker—The chair gives as his reason the vote of the House just now sustaining the ruling of the Speaker against dilatory motions.

ruling of the Speaker against dilatory motions.

Mr. Crisp protested that the Speaker had no right to determine his motives, to which the Speaker replied that he thought them perfectly apparent.

Mr. Crisp—The opinion of the chair is not of any value to me and is not the question. The opinion of the chair cannot prevail as to what my motives are.

The Speaker—The chair has put the question to the House fully stating the views that have governed the chair. The gentleman from Georgia cannot be ignorant of the scenes which have transpired before his eyes and within sound of his ears, and the getleman knows that the action of the House has covered his case.

Mr. Crisp—The gentleman from Georgia does not know that, but he has no doubt that it is within the power, and that it is the right of any member to raise the question of consideration.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company in another column. This great corporation is meeting with gratifying snocess in its efforts to place the financial affairs of the road on a sound and substantial basis. It now announces a modification of its proposed stock trust, made upon the suggestion of a number of influential stockholders, and submits the same to its stockholders for their approval. The terms of the modification are detailed in another column. It meets the hearty approval of a large list of sound, conservative financial men, whose names are appended to the advertisement.

You have no more right to inject anything into the journal than any individual on the floor has. You have gone forward. You have usurped power. You have mutilated the records of the House in order to carry out the scheme you have deliberately gone to work to carry out. Deliberately, I say, because you went forward day and night to vamp up some feeble show to sustain your views. No tyrant ever ascended a throne who did not attempt to make some feeble show to fall to make some feeble show to asstain your outrageous rulings, to amuse the galleries, and to amuse the people, when he had gained the possession of the kingdom. You sir, have attempted to vamp up some feeble show to asstain your outrageous rulings, to amuse the galleries, and to amuse the people, whell be people, while you consumate and carried out the behat of the chairman of the Republican National committee to turn out the representatives of the healt and the representative of the healt and the top of the content of the senting was devoted to southern men and other students of the university, and to bring southern men together in a social way. These are the objects which the Southern club comes to accomplish; now let the university say if they are not praise worthy ones. Politics are laid aside and all semblance of sectional strife and feeling are at its commencement forever excluded. The officers of the club are as follows: Mr. J. H. Keerans of North Carolina, president; Mr. J. E. Estell of Tennessee, vice president; Mr. Finley of Georgia, secretary; and Mr. Fry, of Virginia, treasurer. The executive committee consists of Mr. A. A. Gilbert of South Carolina, chairman, Mr. Stone of Arkansas and Mr. E. F. Sims of Kentucky.

Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, moved to adjourn, but the Speaker deelined to recognize him and again put the motion on the approval of the journal.

The motion to adjourn was lost—yeas 135, nays 162, and the question recurring on the demand of the previous question, the yeas and nays were ordered. The Democrats again pursued their policy of not voting, and the Speaker once more pursued his method of jotting down the names of members present and not voting.

The vote having been taken the Speaker directed the clerk to enter on the journal the names of several members present but not voting.

which was ordered, and pending this moved to adjourn.

But the Speaker was deaf to this motion, which called forth the declaration from Mr. Springer that this was tyranny, simple and unadulterated; and the further declaration from Mr. Bland that it was an outrage and that the House could not be in a more demoralised condition than the Speaker.

The roll was then called on the approval of the journal and the old tactics were brought into play, the Democrats refraining from voting and the Speaker keeping his list wherewith he could count a quorum. The vote having been completed, the Speaker directed the clerk to record the following members as present and not voting:

Mesere, Barnes, Breckinridge of Arkansas, Bynum, Chapman, Clements, Culberson of Texas, Cummings, Enlos, Fithian, Goodnight, Hemphill, Hooker, Lane, Lanham, Lee, Mansur, Martin of Texas, MoAdoo, McCreary, McMillin, Montgomery, Moore of Texas, Morgan, Oates, Sayres, Spinola, Springer, Stewart of Texas, and Stone of Kentucky.

Then the most fierce storm of the three days' battle burst upon the House when Mr. Bynum of Indiana, rushing to the front of one of the aisles, demanded the floor on a question of personal privilege. He said: Betore the vote was taken on this question I arose and addressed the Speaker and made a motion to adjourn, which was a proper and parliamentary motion.

If the registrar, who is the appointed officer whose business it is to know that they are of age and qualified to be married, issues a license in violation of the laws and is derelled in duty, then let the aggrieved person or the State's attorney prosecute such registrar and let him be punished to the full extent of the law.

The other professors of astronomy, besides Professor Lyman, always had keys to the observatory and not a single secret, astronomical or otherwise, is hidden within its walls," and Professor Brush laughed as he paid a concluding compliment to the writer of the romance.

William H. Mabry, the first letter carrier appointed in Bridgeport, killed himself yesterday by cutting his throat while despondent. His wife has for years been subject to frequent fits of insanity lasting for months at a time, and had been sent to Middletown many times. Saturday she was again sent to the insane retreat, after which the deceased broke down and yesterday ended his life.

Mr. J. H. Hale, who wrote the California letter wherein reference was made to Senator Stanford's stock, and which occasioned some criticism, was in Hartford yesterday and he sitional story printed in various papers that the key, and which was not to be opened until after his death:

"Yes, I read the story. It is very ingenyear-olds were shown in 2:20 or better. These youngsters are as mature as northern bred colts usually are at a year or more older. A man who has not seen them has no conception about it. And when you remember that there are some eight hundred or more of them frolloking about the place it would be indeed surprising if there could not be found even a greater number than a dozen which could do a mile in the time mentioned.

Watson W. Pease, a popular and influen-tial man in Suffield, died Saturday last, sged 53. He had held various town offices. HARTFORD'S POPULATION-THE COURANT OF

THE BUBJECT. The registrars are officers designated by law to enreli the voters of the State. It is law to enreli the voters of the State. It is their business to keep a record of the citizens of their town, and their work is generally regarded as thoroughly done. It furnishes the basis for a calculation, which is of especial interest now that the recent Bible society of Hartford census has been made public. It gives us something to figure on as to the population of this and other cities. The following table shows the registered vote (not the votes cast) in the years 1880 and 1888, each of them "presidential years," and shows the precentage of increase. If we assume that the whole population increased at the same ratio, we can take the official 1880 population and reckon what that in 1880 population and recken what that in 1888 was by a very simple process. The able gives the result:

New London 2,400 2,908 5 10,537 11,003
The figures of registration are the official returns in each case. The calculation gives Hartford in 1888 a population of 51,486. The recently published census, already referred to, made out in 1889, put it at 48,179. Thus this calculation made us more than 3,000 better, and that one year earlier, besides. If we carry the 1888 estimate out to a full ten warm at the same ratio it gives Hartford a we carry the 1838 estimate out to a full ten years at the same ratio, it gives Hartford a population in 1890 of 53,719. But the fact is that in the years 1888 and 1889 we have been unquestionably gaining more rapidly than in the earlier years of this decade. The Courant's own belief is that the 1890 census will give us more than 55,000. We should be cled to see 18 60 000.

Railread Bonds Quiet-A Firm to Strong Tone in the Market-Bears Unsuccessful in Their Raid-The

New Yors, Jan. 31.

Bailroad bonds were quiet. The sales reached $1,593,000. The market displayed a firm to atrong tone, but the changes are small, as a rule, and without special significance. American Dock and Improvement company's rose to 110, Metropolitan seconds 2 to 108½, Michigan Central fives 1 to 111, Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western sixes 1 to 110, and St. Louis and Cairo fours 1½ to 80½.

The bears tried unsuccessfully to raid the stock market to day and then concluded to let matters drift. Pacific Mail mounted to 41½ against 30½ last evening, but lost almost all of the improvement, closing with only a fractional gain. New Eagland was also prominent for the buying both for Boston and inside account, and the stock is one of the few showing a material improvement for the ment, closing with only a fractional gain. New England was also prominent for the buying both for Boston and inside account, and the stock is one of the few showing a material improvement for the day. In the last rally the coal stocks were the leaders after being held comparatively quiet all day long, but, like most of the others, their influe tuations were small and their final gains fractional.

The trusts were quiet and failed to make any important movement, and, in fact, the only decided movement of the day was in Evansville and Terra Haute, which shot up from 103 to 19636 against 236 lest evening. The marked closed fairly tive and firm to strong on the rally, generally at insignificant changes for the day.
