Kansas sugar growers believe that if the ariff provision of a bounty of two cents per pound on sugar produced in this country becomes a law, Kansas and Nebraska will become great sugar producing states. W. L. Parkinson of Ottawa, Kansas, nov in New York, says that the diffusion proess is a success. This consists of the eaching or washing out of the sugar from the sorghum cane, and no pressure is used. There are four mills in operation in Kansas, at Topeka, Attica, Fort Scott and fedicine Lodge, and this year's output will be between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 ounds, which will test at 98 degree whereas the bounty provision requires communication of contagious di eases by physicians is a question which has for some time been agitated in England, the general conclusion being that, although it cannot be denied as a thifig sossible for a medical man under som ircumstances to convey infection from ne patient to another, the risk of this aking place is, if ordinary precautions be aken, almost nil. This is thought to be clearly shown by the experience of the London Fever hospital, where the resident luties is constantly passing from the scarlating department to the departments for measles, typhoid, diphtheria, etc., and yet, as stated, it has never been found that he transfers these contagia, although ie would be much more likely to do than an ordinary practitioner, inasmuch trated in a fever ward than in a root where only one patient is treated; the medical attendant is not, as a rule, brought into sufficiently close and prolonged connection with his patient for his clothes to receive any very large amount of the contagion, and a short exposure in the open air is generally sufficient to disinfect him.

For all ordinary purposes, washing the not in the least the ideal escritoire of the state of the ideal escritoire of the ideal hands in a disinfecting solution and a disinfect a practitioner, though it is advis

Is it for the purpose of enabling its members to air their personal spite and party other parents would like to know and so the duties of the school board are strictly beneficent education laws of our state, or, that they now cease bickering and realize that the time has arrived when the business of our public schools is to produce men rather than scholars and so direct requirements of the future rather than the present board. In fact, it is time that the board understood that the teaching and training must be designedly prepara-tory to those of the workshop, the ware-house and the office and if our future house and the office and if our thurse progress is to be at all worthy of our beginning the moral and intellectual dignity of industry must be formally seknowledged and systematically sustained and advanced, fully conscious of the fact that the mechanic of to-day will be the superintendent of the labor-saving machiner of to-morrow. Furthermore, it woul be composed of men sufficiently broad-nainded to know that improved educa-

I read the report of the president of the board, in which he stated the time was near when additional high school facilities would be needed, and the same day my child was sent home from the primary school because it was full. In fact, it seems to me that the system of primary education is carried on as a matter of expediency rather than principle, as during

This is not as it should be. Our laws

And in conclusion I would say if our school board cannot do better, or at least have some relization of the magnitude and great importance of their official positions than they have lately shown, it would be better for them to resign in a body and not confor them to resign in a body and not con tinue to insult an intelligent community

It is back a little way from the quiet road, and an elliptica driveway leads to and away from the door A bed of blooming plants is surrounded by this drive. Beyond is a mass of pr cipitous rock, which rises almost to the roof of the dwelling, and which affords foothold here and there in the crevices for foothold here and there in the crevices for clambering vines and honeysuckles. Green grass closely clipped is all about. The porch and veranda are almost hidden among a mass of vines, through whose festoons a glimpse is had of the blue sea almost at the door, and the white walls of

Within is found not elegance, but sub within is found not elegance, but substantial comfort, and everywhere the evidence of rare taste. The floors are of polished oak, strewn with rugs. At the left of the entrance is Dr. Holmes' library, or rather study, for he takes with him to his library in Beacon street. The room is ex-tremely pleasant. A wide bay-window overlooks the tiny dooryard and the jas-mine-covered rock. Beside this window, vorite chair, while at the opposite side site another wide-armed chair, which smiles a welcome to the visitor. This great chair is often occupied, for Dr. Holmes entertains many visitors and ments chat many pull his bell and sit fo a while in his easy chair who are to hin strangers, but who have become familia with him through his writings. He thu becomes accustomed to admiration, al sary to employ a secretary. Although his health is firm, his eye bright and his form upright, Dr. Holmes calls himself an old man. Neither is he one of the old men of man. Neither is he one of the old men or whom we read so often, who are growing a third set of teeth and can see to read fine print in the dark without spectacles. He does not hesitate to confess to a failing eyesight, and he is not at all ashamed to admit that he cannot read manuscript as readily as he once could. His amanuensi then reads the majority of Dr. Holmes letters to him, and in many cases writes steers to him, and in many cases writes the reply, which, however, is always signed with the poet's autograph. As many of his correspondents are ladies, and as the modern style of chirography for the sex has not yet penetrated to all the cor-ners which Dr. Holmes' books have reached, he finds the assistance of his secretary in reading their letters very grate

Autograph collectors do not comprise all of Dr. Holmes' correspondents. Frequently inquires are made respecting passages in his works. Very often manuscripts are sent with the request that he shall read and pass upon their merits. When these are short poems the poet usually complies with the request; when they are lengthy manuscripts—which, by the way, do not come as frequently as formerly—they invariably are returned by the next mail. It is imposing upon an unusually sweet disposition too greatly to ask a busy old man to wade through an inteminable manuscript which cannot afford him any personal interest. The vast majority any personal interest. The vast majority of the manuscripts sent to Dr. Holmes of the manuscripts sent to Dr. Holmes have proved upon examination to possess but little if any merit, and in many cases are the product of people who have greatly overrated their literary powers. But now and then through the years he has been delighted to discover a gem which betrayed the presence of unrecognized genius. Such people have never failed to receive that warm encouragement which Dr. ius. Such people have never failed to receive that warm encouragement which Dr. Holmes knows so well how to give.

But the poet's days are not fully occupied by his visitors and his correspondence. His "Over the Teacups" chat, which is appearing monthly in the Atlantic, has occupied much of his time and attention. "I enjoy the writing," he said to me the other day, "but perhaps I have not the enthusiasm which I had in writing the Autocrat. It is, perhaps, natural that Every year is likely to increase our consumption of California fruit, for as the country grows in size the demand increases relatively.

I do not know what I shall busy myself about next, "he added, in response to a query. "I have no plans except for desultory literary work which suggests itself from time to time."

A headman informed me one day as assed through his village of the whereabouts of a well-known dacoit a few miles terward. Some months later this head-ishing how accurate the information of the dacoits frequently is, and how they watch the movements of every post. A district magistrate, accompanied by the officer commanding the military police and by a district superintendent of civil police, returning from village C. through village B. (where a post was to be established) to village A., received intelligence the day after their arrival of an attack upon B. and the murder of a woman whose husband and murder of a woman whose husband and brother had rendered us important serorvice. The dacoits waited to perform this outrage until the officers had passed back through B, with baggage and personal es-cort, thus seizing the most tavorable oportunity for their purpose, as any con-oys would have accompanied the party to ave escort, and no patrol was likely to pass directly after the passage of a corable body of troops.

The members of the Young Men's Re publican club of West Haven are early in the field with an announcement of a ratification meeting which will be held at the hall of the club on Wednesday evening. The secretary, Mr. W. C. Munson, is preparing a program of entertainment for the evening. In addition to speeches, songs from the Glee club may be expected, and a number of social attractions will be arranged.

"The Humanitarianism of Christianity" was the subject discoursed upon yesterday morning at the Church of the Messiah by Rev. L. H. Squires, the pastor. The central thought of the sermon was the Christ spirit which is permeating the world and ushering in the glad day when righteousness and peace shall cover the land as the waters cover the mighty deep. The sermon was like all of Mr. Squire's utterances, replete with thought and full of helpful ideas. In the evening Mr. Squires discoursed on "An Adventuresome Life." A thrilling picture of the character and career of St. Paul was presented, which faithfully portrayed the great apostle and the spirit which animated him in his grand efforts in behalf of humanity.

In the Fair Haven wards especially is a large vote expected for the Hemingway ticket. Mr. Hemingway has hosts of friends in Fair Haven, who are making every effort to se cure for him a seat in the board. As the outlook stands at present to those who have watched the fight closely, it would seem that Dr. Carmalt is in a fair way to be retired from the board.

Peaches. Speaking of peaches, J. Henry Smith of 5 Clark street is not to be outdone. He has a tree which alone yielded him two oushels this season, and twelve of the peaches weighed six pounds and a half. We tasted of the fruit, which was both good to the eye and very acceptable to the palate. This makes two trees in New Ha-ven which have yielded this season two bushels each—a circumstance worth reording in the uncommonly barren year with the peach crop.

There was quite a large congregation, considering the very inclement weather, at the Dwight Place church last evening, the wholesale drug house of Wells, Richardson & Co. of Burlington, Vt. The deceased Rev. Dr. Twitchell, of the first of a special series of Sunday evening lectures. The subject of last night's address was "The of Mrs. F. A. Cleveland of 87 Woolsey Ages Before the Flood." The subject was ably handled by the speaker and was listened to with rapt attention by the congregation present. Among other things Dr. Twitchell said : The history of the human race is generally supposed to extend over a period of about six thousand years. Some place it at even more, bu be that as it may, man has been doing be that as it may, man has been doing illustrious work in politics, business and religion through all these ages. It would be interesting to go back to the creation of the world, and trace the various stages of man's advancement, but this we will not do, as such discussions would be more suited to students of antiquity than to a promiscuous congregation of Christian worshippers. Certain it is that after what has been termed the "fall of man," our first parents incurred the divine displeasure and were driven from the Garden of Eden, but whether they went or what they did is and were driven from the Garden of Eden, but whether they went or what they did is not recorded in holy writ. It is, however, extremely probable that they lost but little time in egdeavoring to secure forgiveness from God for their sins. I fancy that Adam and Eve talked over their sin and asked forgiveness for it. They probably soon began to offer sacrifices, and taught their children to do likewise. At any rate, we read that Cain and Abel offered sacrifices. I believe that the worship of God fices. I believe that the worship of God was observed in some form from the time veterans (all of whom are voters) should

At St. Mary's Church.

The full musical services were resumed at St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon at the 3:30 o'clock vespers. The regular quartette and chorus were present and rendered the music. In addition to the regular choir, Mr. Edward J. Gavigan of the Yale law school will play the cornet in the church for the next three Sundays. It is probable that a series of sacred concerts will be given in the church edifice this winter, the proceeds to be devoted to the payment of the new organ.

Officers Elected.

At its annual meeting on Saturday evening, New Haven Fraternity, No. 5, P. P.F., made choice of the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, J. L. Allabough.

A NEW CAMILLE.

Miss Josephine Cameron, a beautiful woman and an accomplished artiste, comes to us highly endorsed by the foreign press as a lady of rare ability. She appears at Prector's to-night in Dumas' "Camille," and the course of time, while engaged in this correction, he turned up the remains of Abel and knew that it was he. The natural supposition is that Cain concealed the body of his brother, hoping thereby to avoid the punishment for his act. was the oldest son of Cain and "he walked with God." By this is meant exceptionally sweet and pleasant conversation with God. We read that "God took him." How, when or where! We have no record, but How, when or where? We have no record, but are sure that he went to join the innumerable company of angels. Enoch's years were few as compared with others in that age, his years numbering but 365. At the same period there were nine men whose average ages were 912 years. Some have supposed that the longevity of this period was due to natural causes, but I am of the opinion that it was in order to people the earth more rapidly than could have been possible had a century been the limit of a man's life then as now.

Certain it is that an immense population

Certain it is that an immense population was upon this earth of ours prior to the time of the flood, and an eminent commentator conjectures that at that time the earth was inhabited by twofold as many people as inhabit it to-day.

Let us look for a moment at the people of that age. They were absolutely ignorant of all arts and sciences. Man had little if any knowledge of the world. Our first parents must have begun their life as children. What they learned they were taught by experience. The antediluvians made a great advance in the arts of civilization, but unfortunately their wickedness

The committees are to be seletected, such as on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions, and the pulse of the convention will be sounded as to the names for the ticket. It looks, according to all reports, as though General Merwin will receive the nomination for governor with little or no opposition. The esolutions, it is expected, will be broad, comprehensive and judicious. Among the

The democratic state convention meets in Hartford to-morrow. To-night at Hart-ford the New Haven county delegates to the democratic state convention hold a cancus at the Allyn house. It is expected that the Morris boom with the New Haven delegates will be a strong one. Senator Eaton appears to be booked for presiding officer at the democratic convention.

Saturday's Hartford Times says: "Merwin is sure of the nomination for governor on our ticket," said an active republican replace to a Times reporter to day "and worker to a Times reporter to-day, "and Hartford will be honored with the nomination for lieutenant governor. The mat-ter was canvassed at the republican gath-ering this week in New Haven, and it was decided to put the Hon. Francis B. Cooley on the ticket with Merwin. We think it a very strong ticket."

The Winsted Herald says: "The Derby delegates to the congressional convention in the second district are announced as in tending to show their hand in favor of Hon. Charles H. Pine when they get into Hon. Charles H. Pine when they get into convention as their first choice, and if they can't have him they will take kindly to H. Wales Lines of Meriden as second choice. There are many Litchfield county people who, though they cannot vote for Mr. Pine, will give him a lusty cheer if he is the nominee. They remember him well as a drummer boy in the old Litchfield county reciment during the war, and they know egiment during the war, and they know the has the ring of the true metal in him." ERICSSON'S BODY Arrives at Stockholm-The Transfer Made With Much Ceremony-The Procession-Minute Guns Fired by the Baltimore-Many People View STOCKHOLM, Sept. 14.—The body of Captain John Ericsson was landed from the United States warship Baltimore at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The transfer was made with much ceremony. Upon arriving here on Friday evening the Baltimore saluted the Swedish flag on passing the forts. Soon after she had dropped anchor the American minister went aboard to an-nounce officially the program for the cerenonies. The reception committee, which accluded three naval officers and four nephews of the deceased, met on board the Baltimore at 1:30 p.m. to-day. Speeches were made by Captain Schley of the Baltimore in delivering the body to the American minister, by the latter in consigning to Admiral Pepron, and by the admiral in accepting charge of the body. The remains were then transferred to a steam have accepting charge of the body. The remains were then transferred to a steam barge draped in black and silver, commanded by a captain of the Swedish navy. The body was placed in a pavilion that had been erected for the purpose on the bridge of the vessel, to which it was carried by sailors from the American war ship. The coffin was covered with wreaths. A procession of boats was then formed. First came Admiral Peyron and the captain and came Admiral Peyron and the captain and other officers of the Baltimore, then a num-ber of American sailors and then the catafalque. As the procession of boats moved slowly along minute guns were fired by the Baltimore and by the forts on shore, while all the vessels in the harbor hauled down their flags to half-mast. When the funeral barge arrived at the landing stage the governor of Stockholm formally received the casket

Stockholm formally received the casket which was borne to a large pavilion, handsomely decorated in black and gold, which had been erected near the water's edge in the park. While the body was being carried to the pavilion bells were tolled, and the military, which were to escort the remains to the train, presented arms. An immense crowd had assembled in and around the pavilion. When the coffin had BEST SOLES AND HEELS 85 CENTS. around the pavilion. Money Attributable to the Bemark-able Activity in Business-No Dan-ger of Serious Financial Troubles. New York, Sept. 14—Secretary Winom left this evening for Williamstown, Mass., to join his family. He received but few callers at the hotel during the day and in the afternoon he announced to the representatives of the press the plan he had devised for the relief of the stringency in the money market. As a result of his conference with the bank presidents and cided to receive proposals for the sale of fours to the amount of $16,000,000 the pro-posals to be received at the treasury deposals to be received at the treasury department in Washington at noon Wednesday next. These bonds the secretary will purchase if a reasonable price is asked for them. At the same time Secretary Windom will offer to pay for three-fourths of a year the interest on currency sixes. The announcement of these offers will come from Washington over the secretary's signature on Wednesday, when it will be officially formulated. Secretary Windom said it was not usual for statements as above to be made before they eminated officially from Washington, but owing to the anxiety of so many of the business community to know what was going to be done by the treasury in the premises, he thought it best to announce beforehand, although it was Sunday, his in tentions.

In reply to a question as to the cause of the present stringency in the money mar-ket the secretary said:

> Washington, Sept. 14.—It is expected that Senator Sanders will conclude his each upon the conference report of the and grant forfeiture bill to-morrow and that the report will then be agreed to. If it is then not too late in the day Senator Sawyer will call up the anti-lottery bill, which has already passed the house. Otherwise he will ask the senate to dispose of private pension bills on the calendar, postoning the anti-lottery bill until Tuesday. So far as known there will be no open opposition to the passage of this bill. Sena-tor Gibson of Louisiana will speak in its favor and if any opposition develops on the floor Senators Spooner and Casey, the latter of North Dakota, will support the Gibson's speech will be the only one delivered. Following the anti-lottery bill on the order of business adopted by the republican caucus are the bills to repeal the timber culture act; to establish private land courts and for the relief of the supreme court and the labor bills. It is hardly probable that all these will be disposed of this week, but should it prove to be the case the rapid progress will be the only one dethem for further examination.

This bill has been discussed a number of times during the session, but the oposition has always prevented a vote. So far as known the opponents of the measure are still equally as determined that it shall not pass and as they include that it shall not pass, and as they include some of the best tacticians on both sides of the senate a long debate may be anticipated. An hour every day under an order adopted by the senate last week will be devoted to the consideration of bills on the calendar to which no objection

The opposition shown by the misority in the house to the consideration of the Langston-Venable election case has had the effect more strongly to determine the republican leaders that the house shall act oon the case as well as upon the Miller-liott case. It has been urged upon absent Elliott case. It has been urged upon absent republican members that the party could hardly afford to abandon the colored republican contestants after seating a number of white republican members. A large number of telegrams have been sent to the absentees requesting their attendance here, and if a quorum is obtained by Monday or Tuesday it is the intention to dispose of the two election cases without argument, beyond election cases without argument beyond the forty minute's talk allowed by the rules the forty minute's talk allowed by the rules in each case after the previous question is ordered. After that will follow the tariff bill. Already Chairman McKinley has prepared the way for speedy action upon the bill by his resolution—endorsed by last night's caucus—providing for the suspension of the ordinary rules and consideration of the bill by the house itself instead of in committee of the whole. The time to be allotted to its consideration was left blank in the resolution, to be filled in by the committee on rules. It is the general the committee on rules. It is the general impression that not more than two orthree days at the most will be consumed, and that if a quorum is in attendance the tariff bill will go to conference before the end of

One Killed and Fifteen Injured-List St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—The through Kansas City express of the Missouri were very simple, consisting of the sing-ing of Swedish hymns and the recital of a Pacific railway, which left St. Louis at 9 p. m. yesterday, was partially wrecked at poem. When the services were concluded the body was deposited in a magnificent hearse and the funeral procession west of St. Louis. One passenger was paggage car with the injured arrived at the baggage car with the injured arrived at the Twenty-Second street station. The names, as far as could be learned, are: Mrs. Mary Lott, Kansas City, probably fatal abdominal contusion; A. C. Danby, Lebanon, Ind., bruises on the head and chest; Mrs. A. C. Danby, bruises on face; E. L. Norton, St. Louis, internal injuries; Mrs. E. L. Norton, dangerous internal injuries and cuts on face and neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton were conveyed home in carriages and the rest were taken in ambulances to the Missouri Pacific was the carriage of the king of Sweden. The route to the railway station was thronged with spectators who maintained a respectful silence as the procession passed along. It is estimated that 100,000 persons viewed the procession.

On arriving at the railway station where a special train was awaiting to convey the body to Wermland, the birthplace of Erricsson, the remains were placed in a handsome funeral car, heavily draped. At twenty minutes past three o'clock the train moved slowly out of the station. The whole ceremony was conducted with great solemnity and made a profound impression. was the carriage of the king of Sweden.

Nearly one hundred Italians were at work on the new reservoir at Sodom, and when the rain began to fall they hastened for shelter to a small house near by. It contained but one apartment, and scarcely afforded standing room for the frightened Italians.

They felt that their last moment had come, and the swaying of the house caused by the wind made them fear that it would fall down and crush them. Many began to moan, some were imploring their patron saints, and all seemed to have lost their reason. They had not been in the house over fifteen minutes when there was a blinding flash, the thunder pealed louder than ever, and there was one wild cry from the Italians. Four of them lay stretched on the floor dead, and when the others realized that their companions were killed they rushed from the house. There was but one small door through which they could pass, and the hundred men strove to go through it at the same time. In the terrific crush the weaker ones were thrown adown, and their cries of pain as their companions passed over them added to the horror of the scene. Many of them were bruised and cut, but none were seriously injured.

When the Italians left the house many of them ran for half a mile through the drenching rain before they were stopped.

They were stopped by sheer exhaustion. They were too frightened to return to the house, and either they were unable to remember the names of the men who had been killed, or they had left too hurriedly to ascertain them. Coroner Sutton of White Plains was notified, and last night left for the scene of death.

A curious fact was that the house was not shattered by the lightning and did not even take fire. It seems that the fluid entered through an aperture not more than an inch wide in the roof and passed through the four men, who were huddled in a heap just below, and then entered the ground. About half a mile from the house in which the Italians were killed a woman whose name has not yet been ascertained was working in the kitchen when a bolt struck the house and sife was stunned by its force. Luckily it did not set the house on fire. At the last report the woman had not yet recovered consciousness.

It is supposed that the midwives named supplied the babies which were found to the number of forty in hallways and on doorsteps in this town and Long Island City during the past faw months besides other courses at the Court street temple. The day is the first of the Jewish year 5651, and in the Hebrew tongue is called Rosh Hashona. The service at the synagoue, besides the usual religious ceremonies, will also consist of the blowing of the shofar, to the number of forty in hallways and on doorsteps in this town and Long Island City during the past few months, besides others which have died from lack of proper care. Claus and his wife implicated the midwives in a confession made to Justice Brandon last night. Claus says the midwives paid him from $1 to $4 for taking the children off their hands. The women deny this and say they only referred their patients, the mothers of the children, to the Claus people. The prisoners were arranged before Justice Scheper, who held them for further examination.

Rosh Hashona has another significance than that of the first day of the new year. It is the beginning of the ten Penitential days which end with the feast of Yom Kippur, or the feast of the Atonement, on September 24, and it is expected that all devout Hebrewsshall refrain from work on that day and spend the time in doing good that day and spend the time in doing good deeds and laying the foundation for a bet-ter life for the year to come. Durham recently made a trip up the Quinnipiac river in the big naphtha launch elonging to the latter. They went up on nearly flood tide and it was a close squeeze for the tip of the smokestack, which cleared one of the railroad bridges by only three inches. They had to chance it, however, for when the launch approached near the bridge it was too late to turn back, as the tide swept up river very strong. Coming back the stack was unshipped for the lowest bridge, the tide having risen several inchbridge, the tide having risen several inches. The trip was extended up stream nearly to the North Haven railroad bridge, and it was probably the first time that a naphtha ascended the river so far. Captifin Fuller says that this novel trip is a very pleasant one. Some thirty years ago quite a transportation was made on this river from the brick yards. A stern-wheel steamer towed large scows loaded with brick clay from the yards to the site of the present Mallory, Wheeler & Co. plant on Mill river, where the bricks were made. This matter of carriage was much cheaper than hauling the bricks were made. This matter of carriage was much cheaper than hauling the bricks by horse power as at present, and was in vogue for several years. It was finally abolished when the yard became valuable for manufacturing purposes. Captain Tyler says that at high water there is eight feet of water in the Quinnipiac river as far up as North Haven bridge and that navigation is better than bridge and that navigation is better than in the Housatonic to Derby, because there are very few rocks in the channel. The United States engineers in their report not many months ago upon the feasibility of navigating the Quinnipiac, recommended that draws be placed in the railroad bridges so that craft of considerable tonnage could be taken up the river. It is probable that in time this river will be used for heavy freighting, as light draft vessels carrying 150 tons or more could easily pass up and down as far as North Haven. The case was finally compromised, Reilly's lawyer paying Cook $125. Recently Reilly's friends wished to settle the criminal case, and City Attorney Dailey offered to recommend a fine of $50 and costs. Reilly accordingly delivered himself up. Judge Thompson said this was the most aggravated assault upon an officer that had come to his attention. Reilly had been fined several times for breach of the peace since 1882, and usually was fined $15. In every case the mother, who paid the fine, bore the punishment and Reilly escaped. He would settle the drunk by a fine of $5. For the assault he would impose apenalty of three months in jail.

Doctors, chemists, scientists and professors are now fully agreed that no whiskey used in America to-day is so chemically pure or free from fusel oil as Duffy's Pure Malt. It has successfully withstood the enmity of all other whiskles, the produced results, restored health, prolonged life, awakened the lagging faculties and counteracted the evil effects of poisonous water. Indeed, it is a pure, medicinal whiskey. Do not, however, allow any unscrupulous dealer to impose upon you by declaring he has some concoction of his own that is "just as good," or some bottled whistey that is "inst as good," or some bottled whistey that is "much better." It is the very popularity of Duffy's Pure Malt that has caused these unworthy decoctions to come into the market.

SATAN AND MOSES. Rev. Dr. Hodges of Buckland, Mass., Discusses the Aspect of Satan and Human Sin From the Pulpit of

The pulpit of Center church was occu-pied by Rev. Dr. Hodges of Buckland, Mass., yesterday morning. The attendance was good considering the weather. The Massachusetts divine discussed the aspect of satan in human affairs and chose his text from Jude 9: "Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke

This wild reply of Michael to satan's fierce statements cannot be taken as a standard of Moses' character, said he. standard of Moses' character, said he.
God was angry with Moses because he had not sanctified God as he should before his people. Yet he had given himself up to leading his people to a worship of God such as no man had ever done before. In the sight of the people their law-giver was a sufferer of the unyielding punishment of God. He died literally by the mouth of the Lord. Yet his people honored him. Death came something like a kiss of the Lord's affection.

This gentle answer was not an acknowl-

This gentle answer was not an acknowledgment of Michael's lack of sympathy with Moses. Christian saints upon earth have called each other hard names. How ashamed they must be when they reach the presence of the angels! "See that none render evil for evil to any man," is the broad synonym of Christian living. For human adversaries, the best reply is "Lord forgive them, they know not what they do."
We read that the anger of the Lord

We read that the anger of the Lord was kindled greatly, and Moses was displeased. He thought of his labors for the Lord and his people. Moses, in carrying this burden of pain and sorrow, was suffering for the people. The truth he chose was not of this world. Only its shadow falls on us. Satan as the originator of death in the human family, was deeply interested. Moses' death was not immediately for sin in general, but for one particular sin—that of declaring himself the mediator of the covenant. God, for thus dishonoring the covenant. God, for thus dishonoring the covenant, not only displayed towards him extraordinary wrath, but extraordinary mercy. The founder of the ancient covenant had to die for his sins. The covenant was therefore not perfect through him, and needed another and greater mediator. Christ came and completed the great covenant. A Call to O. M. In Pomfret, Eastford, Ashford and other neighboring towns the storm was of great severity, about six inches When the devil contends for the power was of great severity, about six inches of rain having fallen. Instead of all these perversions of truth, we understand from the text that the spirit of Christ would have us rebuke sin upon all occasions. The gates of hell shall not prevail over any one of us who are steadfast in Christ. Satan cannot recognize the truth of the spirit of God. A greater than Moses commands our aid and will abundantly reward all our endeavors. A New Railroad For Connecticut.

BLEACH not only removes tan, sumburn, freckles, and, in fact, all discolorations or blemishes of the complexion, but actually prevents any of these even at the seashore in the hottest rays of the sun. Inquire among your friends whose faces are free from these aggravating blemishes, and ask them what they are using. In every case the reply will be MME. RUPPERT'S world-renowned FACE BLEACH, which is the only article manufactured that will do this. FACE BLEACH, as well as the process of clearing the skin by this method, is entirely original with MME. RUPPERT. Beware of all imitations. See that you get the genuine in the imitations. See that you get the genuin original bottle. The unprecedented su MME. RUPPERT has caused unscrupu tators to spring up all over.

MME. RUPPERT'S FACE BLEACH is not a cosmetic, as it does not show on the face, but is a thorough tonic for the skin, removing blemishes entirely from the skin. is the entirely from the skin.

Call or send stamp for reply and full particulars. One bottle of FACE BLEACH $2, or three bottles (usually required to clear the complexion), $5.
