THE STATE REPUBLICAN TICKET FOR GOVERNOR.

SARUEL E. MERWIN of New Haven, FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. GEORGE A. HOWEN of Westport, FOR SECRETARY OF STATE. GEORGE P. MOLEAN of Middletown, FOR TREASURER. THOMAS HENRY of Vernon, FOR COMPTROLLER. LYMAN S. CATLIN of Stratford, FOR CONGRESS.

FOR SHERIFF. NEW HAVEN STATE COLLEGE OF NEW HAVEN.

THE NEW TARIFF. The Boston Journal makes some very pertinent remarks, as follows: There seems to be something like concerted action on the part of certain importers, free traders and others, to create a feeling of uneasiness in the public mind in this way. So impudent and reckless is this new conspiracy that in a number of instances an announcement has been made of the proposed tariff, with the result that the tariff assigned as a reason, when the rates on these goods are actually lower in the new law than in the old. These fictitious advances in prices cannot be sustained. Competition will do well to look into the matter, and to see whether there is any justification for them. The general public should not be disquieted by these reports. They are gross exaggerations designed for political or commercial effect. The new tariff will be found, in its practical operation, to stimulate industry, quicken business, improve the workingman's chances for employment and conduce to the general prosperity of the country. No tariff reductions ever have before.

It will not take long to clear the matter up. There will of course be some disturbance in prices for awhile, but it is probable that in the end prices will be lower than before.

THE SHERIFFALTY CONTENT. When Lieutenant-Colonel Lee was nominated for Sheriff by the Republicans there was mourning in the Democratic camp. The Democrats had hoped and believed that the nomination of Lee would be a vulnerable point in the Republican nomination of a very strong candidate. But they have had no comfort since the nomination was made, and they have had no reason for any. For Mr. Lee's nomination was received with general and hearty commendation by good citizens in both parties, and it has been growing in favor ever since. There are good and substantial reasons why it should. Mr. Lee is a man of irreproachable character, and of special fitness for the office of Sheriff. He is entirely free from all political entanglements and animities, and can do his duty in office without regard to bargains and deals. Furthermore, he can be elected. We observe that the Democrats are not confident that Tomlinson can be pulled through, and they have reason for their gloom. Mr. Tomlinson was re-elected last year. It is not pretended that his qualifications for the office equal those of Mr. Lee. His nomination was given to him in order to square up an old account which stood in the way of what is called Democratic harmony. Some of the schemes which were proposed to get votes for him are not of a character which commend them to good citizens. They ought to fall, and it is probable that they will. Mr. Lee should not be allowed to have the credit of a successful progress of the campaign come from all parts of the county. Mr. Lee's supporters are hearty and hopeful, and are working with well directed zeal. The influence of the Republican party will be successful in electing Mr. Lee. The supporters of Tomlinson are finding "hard selling."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Cholera has been so active and successful in Spain this year that it is feared that it will reach this country. Measures to keep it out have already been taken.

More than five thousand stone-masons in Berlin are without work or money. The builders say that the stoppage of their trade, from which this state of affairs has resulted, is due to the recently-mentioned agitation of the Social Democracy. Every one is afraid to contract for new buildings for fear of a strike for higher wages on the part of the stone-masons.

Some people are not so greedy as other people. Some time ago Edward Langwin died in St. Paul, leaving an estate of $4,000,000, which he distributed equally between his five children, with the exception of his only son, whom he left nothing on account of his waywardness. Mrs. Langwin, with the consent of all the children, will burn the will, and allow young Langwin to come to his full share of the estate under the common law.

Chicago is going to have a Masonic Temple which will be the largest building on earth. And this is the largest one of its projects ever talked about. "The structure will have its halls and corridors on the various floors named as the streets, so as to do away with all idea of altitude. Suppose a woman wants to go to somebody on the eighth floor. She will draw a sign, murmur 'Eighth floor' and a promptly go home without seeing the person. But if she is told by the elevator boy that her friend is up on Morris street, why, of course there is no idea of altitude."

M. Giffard says that his new invention, liquidated, will revolutionize all present theories concerning steam and electricity. The manner in which the new gun is employed in the wonderful new gun is as follows: A drop of liquid gas entering the breech when the trigger is pulled develops behind the bullet a force equal to a five hundred pound pressure to the square inch. A screw regulates the speed of the bullet. There is no noise, smoke, smell, or recoil, and no danger of an explosion. The liquid gas is said to be infinitely cheaper than gunpowder. The inventor of the Giffard gun is at present in London. He is a native of France.

The largest contribution made by one man to the Union army is thought to have been made by Charles Brandon, of Montclair, West Virginia, who sent seventeen sons of a family of thirty-five children, all sons. Mr. Brandon died the other day, when some interesting facts came out regarding his success as a parent. He was married three times. His first wife bore him two sons, the second wife with eighteen and the third, whom he married when he was sixty years old, bore him three. The third, Mrs. Brandon was the youngest of sixteen children, and when she married her husband he was seventy-five years of age. Mr. Brandon lived to be ninety-six and was in average good health within a short time of his death.

A publisher was saying recently that the Chautauque circle in this country is largely responsible for the present marvelous interest in Latin and Latin literature. At no time within fifty years has so many Latin books, commentaries and translations been turned from the press. The tendency of the colleges to make Latin and Greek optional studies, instead of allaying this interest, seems to have excited much among budding scholars over the country to master the dead languages. Since the first American translation of Virgil a year or two ago the publishers' woods are full of MSS. of Virgil, Horace, Ovid and Lucan, and the number of copies of the best-selling Am Arbor University and Washington Seminary, are planning the production of classic commentaries also.

The Paris correspondent of the London Morning Post says a curious story has leaked out as to how M. Constans, the minister of the interior, was obliged to frighten General Boulanger out of France and thus bring an awkward situation to a climax. The minister knew that one of his subordinates was in daily communication with the general and his emissaries, and everything that passed at the ministry. Knowing that Boulanger was restless, M. Constans scribbled on a slip of paper: "Arrest B. R. and D. to-night." He then called his subordinate to his office and gave him instructions to take the slip of paper to the general and to tell him that he had read the letter. He then sent the clerk out on an errand not requiring haste. Soon after M. Constans received a visit from one of General Boulanger's emissaries, who had been instructed that his stratagem had succeeded and that preparations for a flight had been made.

A State Issue. (From the Norwich Bulletin.) It would be amusing, if it were not something else, to see the desperate way in which certain of the more virulent democratic organs of the state are noting and sniffling around in regard to the fact that the late General Merwin and the republican state ticket.

They have all of them, at last and after two or three unfortunate attempts at sniffling, been forced to admit that Merwin is a vulnerable point in the republican character of the character of General Merwin or of his associates. And now they are devoting their strength mainly to the purpose of showing that the election of the state ticket will result in a more economical, and financially able entirely to omit the immemorial state tax the present year.

The tax which the state levied on the people of the various towns amounted for the year ending June 30, 1889, to $440,000. It would have amounted to as much this year if it had been levied. This is a fact which the republican administration of the state's affairs it will not be long before the people will know.

As a regular, annual tax it has been abolished, and absolutely by republican government. We have planned the republican ticket on an endorsement of that policy and that action.

Now there is a State issue which means something, and which the republican contemporaries: Why not devote some of your great swelling thoughts to that subject!
