Substitution SHOE SALE! 854 Chapel Street, Is un xampled in shoe trade history. M. Bristol & Sous are selling out. Our con-nection with the new "Bristol Shoe Manufacturing Company" on Orange street makes this imperative. Our entire stock of boots and shoes must be out of our of boots and shoes must be out of our store within the next six weeks. $30,000 worth of boots and shoes must be sold. Former prices knocked out, positively. This sacrifice beats them all.

Friday morning, December 11th, our prices will be cut all along the line, and bargains unheard of will be offered.

We determined efter 30 years of business We determined after 30 years of busines we determined after 30 years of usiness to manufacture and sell our own goods, and as a consequence our Bristol Shoe Manufacturing company was organized last month. Its finished product is now ready for our disposition. We must use ready for our disposition. We must use our own new shoes and therefore must elean out all other makes. The consideration for cost or former orices is out of the question. 'Twould be olly to look elsewhere for shoes of the same colly to look elsewhere for shoes of the same grade at our prices. Raw leather cannot be bought as cheep. We mention a few of our unapproachable bargains: Ladies' Pat. Tip Button, value $1.50:

THE WEEKLY JOURNAL

At the meeting of the board of alderme ast evening after a very interesting dis ussion it was apparently decided to begin the trial of the case against the Big Four next Tuesday evening. Of course it is ecessary to proceed carefully in a matter of this kind, and no fault can fairly be found with any reasonable delay. There are no indications yet that the Big Four ntends to try to tire the case out. We give a full and accurate report of th ion, which was characterized by fairness on both sides and notable coutesy between the distinguished counsel It was a good beginning.

Last fall, according to the stories of th wheat "bulls," there wasn't going to be wheat enough in this country to supply the home and foreign demand. May wheat went up to $1.164 a bushel, and $2 was predicted. Yesterday the same wheat sold enough, and now it is said that the crop reports have not been correct, and the more wheat was raised than has been re ported. The last government crop report Point Curtains, envirely new showed 171,000,000 bushels of wheat to be patterns. Would be sold reg- still in the hands of the farmers, wherea the most general expectation was that it would not show above 150,000,000. The 171,000,000 bushels still in farmers' hands, together with the 41,000,000 bushels visible supply in store at the various points of handsome design. Positively accumulation, make a total supply of 212, worth to retail in the regular 000,000 bushels, against 135,000,000 bushels at the same time in 1891 and 185,000,000 Point Curtains. Decidedly the 1, 1892, is estimated at 120,000.000 bushels finest pattern we ever saw. leaving 92,000,000 still available for expor-Customers should examine out of the crop of 1891. The wheat situation grows yearly mor this design, as it is a marvel and more interesting. On the one hand of the artist's creation. We we have Farmer Davis of Kansas showing have seen poorer curtains sold by irrefutable figures, that the limit of wheat production in this country will be reached in 1895, and encouraging wheat raisers to believe that they will get at least $2 a bushel for their product; and on the theor hand we have what appears to be a steady lownward tendency in the price of wheat, interrupted by occasional upward spurts. 250 Pairs, ranging in price from a fair or good wheat crop this year the $6.50 to $19. The designs price may be pretty low.

An interesting indication of the unwil lingness of the working classes to subscribe in early life for an old-age pension is afforded by a great English firm of cotton spinners. They offered to subscribe £1,000 to a pension fund on condition that the work people subscribed upon an actuarial scale, but this proposal was reected by a vote of more than two to one.

In this respect he may be over-sanguine, but he has other arguments in favor of his plan. The chief of these are that the aluminium plate or coin would be agreeable to look at, clean to handle, and so light that it could not by any chance be mistaken for silver.

Queen Victoria has just been obliged to make a solemn anneuncement to the press, by means of a letter from her private secretary, General Sir Henry Ponsonby, to the effect that she will no longer present any gratuity to mothers giving birth to triplets, unless in cases of altogether exceptional poverty and destitution. A friend of my father's had a servant called Jerry Doberty, a handy man, who was of invaluable service to him—until poor Jerry took to drink. His master, as much in his own interests as in Jerry's, was continually trying to reform him; and to this end he would read out to Jerry from the newspapers every story of crime or of trouble traceable to drink which he could find in them. At last he came upon a story which might have reformed Bardolph. It was a thrilling tale of a drunk-ard who was so saturated with whiskey that his breath caught fire as he was blowing out a candle, set his inside ablaze as it would have set any other whiskey-cask, and burned him to ashes in five minutes. Now, Jerry, now, Jerry," urged his master, with the solemnity of an adjuration, "let this be a warning to you!" "Oh, begor, it will so, sir!" groaned the horrified Jerry. "I'll never blow a candle out again the longesht day I live!"

A famous surgeon told me that he went once to see a lunatic in a private asylum, and that, in passing through a corridor, he was thus accosted by one of the patients: "Take off your hat, sir." "Why should I!" asked my friend. "Because I am the son of the Emperor of the French." "Oh, I beg your royal highness' pardon," apologized my friend, taking his hat off. On revisiting the asylum a month or so later he was again accosted in the same corridor by the son of the Emperor of the French, and in the same words: "Take off your hat, sir." "Why!" again asked my friend. "Because I am the son of the Emperor of the Emperor of Germany." "Of the Emperor of Germany." Surely, when last I had the honor to see your royal highness you were the son of the Emperor of the Emp embarrassment, he added brightly, "That

The Illinois of Lincoln's Time Writing on "The Illinois of Lincoln's Time," Sophie Bledsoe Herrick says in the Century:

"There was in those early days a curious character who presided at the bar; his name I have forgotten, but I remember my father's characterizing him, in Lord Chesterfield's phrase, as 'duliness blunder ing upon vivacities.' In a certain case in which this person acted as counsel for the plaintiff, a five-dollar note had been tolen. The fact was proved beyond question. The point at issue finally was one of grand or petit larceny. The counsel for the defendant made the ingenious plea that the bill was an Indiana bill, and worth four dollars and ninety-five cents, and therefore was below the limit of petit larceny, five dollars being that limit. The jury seemed quite impressed by the argu-ment, when the counsel for the plaintiff "Why, Emma, aren't you married yet?" rose, and in the peculiar drawl and nasal intonation characteristic of his speech there that would not be glad to take it at

> "After General Shields had challenged Mr. Lincoln, and before the preliminaries had been arranged, Mr. Lincoln came into my father's office. He said: 'I don't like this duel business. It is very foolish; but I can't show the white feather, and I don't know what I ought to do.' My father said: 'Lincoln, you are the challenged party, and can choose the weapons. Choose broadswords, and I'll be qualified Shields will research. SOLID COMFORT Shields will never fight you. Mr. Linion, and instructed his second to name preadswords as the weapons. When the seconds met and broadswords were pro-cosed General Shields' second demurred. He said, 'Barbarous wespons for the nine-teenth century?' 'Yes,' said Mr. Lincoln's second; 'they are barbarous; so is duelling, for that matter. It is just as well to have the whole thing of a piece,' or words to that effect. When the time for the duel to that effect. When the time for the duel came, my grandfather, father, Dr. Merryman and some others went to the scene of action. In those days stage-coaches were the only public conveyances overland, and the party had to spend at least one night on the way. The men, as was not uncommon in those days, found very limited accommodations, so four, I think, had to sleep in a bed. My father said that during the night he found himself in very narrow quarters as to the shoulders, while parrow quarters as to the shoulders, while harrow quarters as to the shoulders, while below there seemed ample room to expati-ate. In the morning he discovered that his right-hand bedfellow, a perfect stran-ger, had lost his left leg. Dr. Merryman called out in the night to my grandfather, 'Wake up, Bledsoe; wake up.' Grandp said, 'Dr. Merryman, you are a doctor an said, 'Dr. Merryman, you are a doctor and don't know that when a man snores it is a sign that he is asleep, not that he is dying! 'Yes; I know,' said the doctor. 'When most men snore I know it is a sign that they are asleep; but when you snore it is a sign that nobody else in the house but yourself is asleep.'

on the Illinois side of the river awaiting the return; it seemed to this merry party the return; it seemed to this merry party that the termination of this threatening affair would be unbearably flat if they just came home and announced an apology as the upshot 'in the end.' So they put a log of wood prostrate in the bottom of the cance, covered it over with General Shields' cloak, or something equally effective, and then clustered around the supposed victim of the fight, one fanning, another supporting, etc., till the crowd gathered on the opposite bank was worked up to a great pitch of excitement and sympathy. When the log was lifted out the duelling party had effectually turned the laugh from themselves."

The Newspaper Man as a Confidant, Fierce as competition is, there could toeast a newspaper which would outstrip evof its news by simply printing what the news would all of it, too, be within legal and conventional bounds of decency. Then why not start such a newspaper? will be asked. Such newspapers have bee started in plenty, but none were sustained. The reason, simply though seemingly paradoxical, is that the stock in trade of every solidly established newspaper is the new- it does not print. In other words, confidence is the source of every piece

Her wrath, thus kept at boiling point for three months, gave the store keeper a hot quarter of an hour, when she burst at last into his store and thundered down the parcel of match bores upon the counter. Having waited with deferential patience until the storm had spent itself, he said suavely, "Allow me, madam." Taking a match-box from the parcel, and a match from the box, he struck it, after the manner of men, upon his trousers. "See, madam!" he exclaimed in smug triumph, holding up the kindled match. "The divil if yaway wid ye!" shricked Mrs. Laverty. "Do ye think that ivery time I've a fire to light I'll thravel thirty miles to strike a match on the sate of yere breeches!"

ACTION IS POSTPONED. he Trial of the "Big Four" Postpened Until Next Tuesday—The Question as to Whether the Mayor Should Preside—A Large Number of Interested Spectators Present-The Meeting in Detail.

The rooms of the board of councilmen resented last evening the appearance of a eritable court of justice with its attenlant witness box, the large number of egal lights and of spectators present, while Mayor Sargent still further carried out the npression in his capacity of judge. The casion for the grand transformation scene was the trial of the "Big Four" of the board of public works on charges preferred against them by Councilmen Parsons and Cahn. The chamber was filled almost to overflowing with spectators in terested in the proceedings. On one side of the room were seated but two of the accused members of the "Big Four"- resentative David Callahan.

Commissioners Todd and Maley, Commissioner Atwater being still in Florida and Commissioner Sullivan in Hartford. Seated immediately in the rear of the commissioners were City Attorney Dailey and Representative David Callahan.

The interests of the citizens' committee were taken care of by ex-Judge Stoddard and Attorney H. C. White, while State's Attorney Doclittle looked after the interests of the accused. The result of the meeting last evening was simply to postpone action on the charges until next Tuesday evening, when the mode of procedure will have been determined upon and the board of aldermen will probably resolve itself into a court on the trial of the charges to be proceeded with.

The meeting was called to order by the mayor and immediately the question arose as to his right to preside at the meeting.

The following interesting dialogue took place in reference to the question between Judge Stoddard, Attorney Doclittle and several members of the board of aldermen: Stoddard—We are here to talk up the charges against some members of the board of public works. I understand that the board will soon resolve itself into a court. The first business is to arrange for a certain trial in whatever form they please. The interests of the citizens' commit alone will try these charges which have been presented to the court for them to letermine. Therefore I do not see how any one except a member of the court can preside over this trial. This must be tried by a court, not by a board of alder-

Stoddard—Gentlemen of the board o aldermen: I appear with Brother White to present to the board of aldermen the application for the removal of certain members of the board of public works, which has been made and is now pending before this board. Brother Doolittle has add to the board of alder said that he regarded the board of alder-men as a court. As I understand him, he intimates that the mayor is not the proper officer to preside in deciding the case. My view, as I look at it with some care, differs from Brother Doolittle. As I understand the law it is plain that the mayor is the proper presiding officer. The disposition of these charges is to be made by the board of aldermen as a board—that is the phraseology of the charter—and not by the members of the board of aldermen. Moreover, my friend also suggests that this is a court. In a certain sense it is a court Horace Johnson's "intermediate" storm, and in another sense it is not a court. history of our city that commissioners have been on trial. I have listened with much pleasure to the eloquence of the distinguished counsel on both sides. I believe it is for the board of aldermen to believe it is for the board of aldermen to settle the case whether we will hear it as a board or as a committee. It is proper for the board to decide what form the body shall take, either as a board or as a committee. The mayor is the proper one to preside at any deliberation of this nature and only aldermen have, according to our rules, the right to speak upon the floor and I do not see how we can permit these gentlemen, however learned, to have that privilege except some alderman make a motion to that effect.

THE MECHANICS' COURSE. Professor Newton Discourses on the "Capture of Comets by Jupiter"-Only Two More Lectures in the Professor Newton lectured before arge audience last evening in North Sheffield hall on the "Capture of Comets by Jupiter." It was a very interesting and instructive lecture. There are only two more lectures in the course, viz.: "University Life in Germany," Professor Stevens, and "The Natural History of the American Oyster and Its Enemies," Professor Verrill.

As introducing what I wish to say tonight, said Professor Newton, let me recall to your minds a few facts as to the structure of the solar system. To many of you these facts are familiar, but yo will surely excuse me, inasmuch as to some of you it will be a convenience to have them called to mind. Pointing to a have them called to mind. Pointing to a diagram of the solar system the professor said: The sun, as you see, is by far the largest body, being several hundred times as large as all the rest put together. Of the rest Jupiter is the largest. There are, however, four large planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. Their combined weight is about 1.700 that of the sun, and for our purpose to-night the weights are more important than the bulks.

The earth's mean distance from the sun

The earth's mean distance from the sur is the measuring-rod in the solar system Jupiter's distance in round numbers is 5 Saturn's is 10, that of Uranus is 20, Nep Saturn's is 10, that of Uranus is 20, Neptune 30. These planets all move around the sun in orbits which are nearly circles and which lie very nearly in one plane.

Now, the comets move around the sun in any direction, some coming down from the north pole, others going up from the south pole. The orbit in which any comet or planet must move about the ann is well or planet must move about the sun is well or planet must move about the sun is well known to be one of the conic sections.

The planets are said to move in circles, but really move in ellipses.

We never see a comet except when it is very near the sun. Very rarely has a comet been seen at a greater distance than that of Jupiter. Now, there is a fundamental law in nature called the law of conservation of energy. It is that law which mental law in nature called the law of con-servation of energy. It is that law which makes what is called a perpetual motion machine impossible—that is, a machine which does work without using energy from some source. According to that law the comet loses by the sun's attraction, while receding from the sun, exactly as much velocity as it gained thereby in ap-proaching the sun. I have said that the comets in general move in any direction about the sun. There is, however, a pebout the sun. There is, however, a p culiar group of small comets that must be regarded as an exception to this rule. These comets have short periods and at the same time they move about the sun in the same direction as the planets. Besides these comets there are several hundred others moving in longer orbits than these and constitute the greater bulk of this class of bodies in the solar system. An im-

Sale of Whalley Avenue Property.

The house on 129 Whalley avenue, owned and occupied by Dr. C. H. Howland, was sold yesterday to Dr. Charles A. Tuttle, an estimable and promising young physician, study of the action of Jupiter upon bodies coming nearer him leads to an affirma-tive answer to this question and we are tive answer to this question and we are able to say with great positiveness that if Jupiter should change a large number of comets from long orbits inclined at all angles to the plans of Jupiter's orbit would become comets of short period. So as to be a permanent member of the solar system we ought to expect that these comets should in general move with direct motion and small inclination; in other words, that precisely that condition of things which we find to be existing in the solar system would naturally be produced if the short period comets had originally been moving like a great mass of comets in all directions about the sun. A COMING EVENT.

for the Benefit of Grace Hospita Already Creating Much Interest in the City. "The Frogs of Windham," a comic opera in three acts, composed by Mr. Burton A. Leavitt of Yale university, class of '98, is to be given at the Hyperion on the ever ings of Thursday and Friday, April 21 and 22, with a matinee Saturday, the 23d, for the benefit of Grace hospital, under the management of Mrs. E. S. Gaylord. Members of the Glee club, as well as some of the members of the class of '93 and others, are to assist in its production. The music is bright and sparkling, full of catchy airs, and those who are participating in it seem to enjoy it immensely. The principal soloists are Mrs. Warren Hadden and Miss Hettie Bradley. The opera is founded on facts. Few incidents occurring in America have been so widely circulated. Without the sid of newspapers or pictorial illustrations it was borne to every part of the land. It was sung in song and ballad; it was related in histories; it served as a standing joke in all cities and seasons. Let a son of Windham penetrate to the uttermost parts of the earth he would find that the story of the frog fight had preceded him. The Windham bull frogs have achieved a world wide reputation, and with Rome's goose, Putnam's wolf and a few other favored animals, will ever hold a place in popular memory and favor. are to assist in its production. Nott Street Assessments.

To the Honorable Court of Common Council of the City of New Haven:
The Board of Compensation, to whom was referred the order of said court bearing date the 24th day September, 1891, directing the assessment and determination by this board of all damages or benefits to accrue to all parties interested by the widening of Nott street from Chapel street to Derby avenue, and the extension of Nott street from Derby avenue to Oak street, as the same was adopted by said court, hereby respectfully report:
That we have attended to the duty assigned us. That we caused reasonable notice to be given to all persons interested in the said public improvement; in all respects pursuant to the provision of the charter of said city, to appear across us and be heard in reference thereto; and we fully heard at the time and place specified in said notice, all persons who appeared before the charter of the Nott Street Assessments.

The following is a description of the above layout:

The westerly line of the widening extends in a straight line from a point in the southerly line of Chapel street to a point in the northerly line of Derby avenue, and is parallel with and twenty feet (20 feet) perpendicularly distant from the westerly line of Nott street as already laid out; making Nott street, from Chapel street to Derby avenue, eighty feet (80 feet) wide.

The extension of Nott street is from the southerly line of Derby avenue to the northerly line of Oak street. The center line of said extension commences at a point which is the intersection of the center line of Nott street, as widened, with the southerly line of Derby avenue and extends in a straight line to a point which is the intersection of the southerly line of Oak street with the center line of the Boulevard southerly of Oak street. The easterly and westerly lines of said extension of Nott street are parallel with and each forty feet (40 feet) porpendicularly distant from the above described center line. The amount of land taken for the said widening and extension of Nott street is fully shown upon a map on file in the office of the City Engineer, dated January 2, 1884, and numbered No. 536.

The following resolu-tions were unanimously adopted:
Resolved, That the New England Tariff Re-form league protests in the name of tariff reform against the passage of the Bland bill for the free o inage of silver; that in the opinion of this league such a measure would bring disaster to the business interests of the country; that its passage would obscure the issue of tariff reform, which should be the most prominent question before the people in the election this year, and that we feel it a duty to express to our friends in congress our convections that neither tariff re-form nor any other issue can save the party that pronounces for free silver from disastrous de-feat.

Mr.Scott of Illinois attacked the McKinley law.
He held up its injustice and inequalities as bearing on the consumer and insisted that the sugar bounty provision was unconstitutional and void.
He insisted that the reduction of tariff on sugar, though leaving the grades consumed by the people still heavily protected, was a benefit to the people and that the remaining duties should be stricken off. He condemned the useless burden laid on the people by raising the tax on tin over 100 per cent., and insisted that the as a necessary of every day life should be made cheap.

Mr. Chipman of Michigan said he had not been surprised to hear the gentleman from Maine (Ree1) culogias Cromwell. He had no admiration for men of blood and iron. The good they did was made evil by the manner of their doing it. It was not well that the clitizess of a free republic should admire such men. Mr. Chipman was still of opinion that the counting of a quorum under the rules of the Fifty-first congress was an unconstitutional act. Turning his attention to the tariff Mr. Chipman denounced the protection as being a paternal system.

Mr. Dockery said there was an inequality in the distribution of wealth, resulting from the existing system of federal taxal in. The total assessed valuation of the property of the United States for 1850 was $21,219,550,604, of which $10,614,601,607 belonged to the people of the nine industrial states. Although hess states had only one-fourth the population they cowned nearly one-half of its entire wealth. The McKinley bill, Mr. Dockery asserted, only increased the burden of the farmers. The Blaine reciprocity scheme would also prove fallacious. Mr. Blain-proposed that the natural laws of trade should be disregarded and that commerce should see resulated by correspondence between state departments. Reciprocity to be of genuius avail to the agriculturist most not be restricted to the meagre and insufficient markets of South America, but must be enlarged in its scopes of that the farmer may have o

Mr. Peffer introduced a bid, which was referred to the finance committee, to regulate the value of certain coins and pieces of money and to give to all sorts of current money the legal tender quality, and to prohibit and prevent discrimination in favor of gold coin or buillon as money.

$48,250 for enlarging and increasing the gas plant.

When the bill was being drawn up by the clerk, Mr. Frye interrupted the reading and remarked that Mr. Morrill, who was quite sick, was exceedingly desirous to be present when the West Virginia direct tax bill (next in order) was under censideration. He (Mr. Frye) therefore desired to sak the senators from West Virginia to allow a postponement of that special order.

Mr. Kenna said that the senators from Virginia and his colleague and himself had, as soon as they learned that Mr. Morrill's illness was likely to keep him away from the secate chamber, conferred an' were entirely in accord not to press the oill in his absence.

"That is entirely satisfactory," said Mr. Frye, and he added in answer to a question of "what is the news" the one disheartening word, "sick" The consideration of the military academy bill-was resumed. The consideration of the mintary academy bill-was resumed.

In summing up the bill Mr. Cullom said that the estimate of the war department for the acad emy had been $506.320, the appropriation by the house $388.655 and the increase by the senate $38,162, making the whole amount $435.827.

$38,103, making the whole amount $435,837.

Mr. Call opposed the ame-dment for the gas plant, thinking that that expenditure would be a waste of money.

The amendments were all agreed to and the Isaac Wolf and Henry Herz, was appointed to attend to the work of fitting up the new gymnasium which is to be in the basement of the new hall building. The club pro-poses to fit it up in the latest and most ap-proved manner, and will expend about $1,000 thereon. The room is about ninety feet long and fifty feet wide. This would afford ample space for all the apparatus necessary for a well equipped gymnasium, including a running track. There will be also bowling alleys and baths. Hiram Camp division, Sons of Temperance, have had a little misunderstanding in regard to the plano which they have had in their rooms for several months. The members had supposed by the representations of the agent that Hon. Hiram Camp, for whom the division was named, would pay for the instrument, and they were surprised when the bill was sent to the division. It seems, however, that Mr. Camp had offered to pay something towards another make of plano. The plano has been returned, but the division does not intend to be without an instrument very long. The committee having the matter in charge consists of John H. Perry, M. J. Barn s and Miss Larkin.
