Of course "the Hayden case" is still technically alive but we think the general mpression is that there is no need of peridically stirring it up without apparent sight, and living, as far as anybody knows, an honest, industrious and well ordered life. He has conducted himself sensibly and well under very trying circumstance His noble wife is severely feeling the effects of the terrible strain upon her. Her lot and that of her children should not be made any harder than is necessary. The occasional reiteration of gossip about the case can serve no useful purpose and cause additional suffering where there has already been suffering enough.

I. IF A "PICNICP It is a curious claim which is made chalf of the Big Four that because the love officers at their pleasure they ar not smenable to the requirements of pubwishes of the people whose interests they are expected to guard. It is not only curious claim. It is also an insolent one It is not supposable that the charter con emplated any such misuse of power as the Big Four has exhibited. It was not nade to encourage or excuse any such work. And it was not cited in defense of what has been done until it was seen that some defense, however lame, must be made. Then an indignant public fras Let the children have new Hats for warranted discharge of the faithekillful where do the people come in at this "pic JERSEY CITY'S PROUBLES. The setback which ring rule has r ceived in Jersey City is a very hopeful sign of the times. Probably in no city in the country has political corruption reached such a height or depth as there. The city has had a government of black legs who have robbed it and protected themselves by the most dastardly criminal devices. Ballot box stuffing has been the musement of the politicians and the city government has used the forms of justic o shield the criminal and persecute th honest. As a result of the misgovernment which has prevailed there the city in a bad way financially. It has a population of 164,000; a valuation fixed by the assessors of $31,-388,000; a debt of $18,173,000, and an annual tax rate of about three per cent. The assessment was raised recently in order to keep the tax rate below that figure, as it would have risen to more than three per cent. had the assessment remained where it previously had been. What all this means can better be realized by considering that Jersey City's bonded debt amounts to a mortgage of $860 on each and every dwelling-house in the corhave not effectively rebelled sooner. The new Mayor, Colonel Peter F. takes office on May 1, for a term of five Bazar. years. He has the appointing of tax, police, fire, water, street and school comnissioners, as fast as vacancies occur by out the sinecures and steals, enforce the laws against the gamblers, etc., and take the public schools out of politics. He is spoken of as a clear-headed, high-minded, urageous gentleman. Success to him and better times to his fellow citizens.

It is asserted that a New Hampshir graveyard has a marble shaft in it which pears the following touching inscription "Sacred to the memory of three twins."

The annual report of the Massachusetts State board of education, just presented to the legislature, takes up the much dis cussed subject of the alleged encroschmen of private upon public schools, and preents the results of investigations that go to show that such an encroachment, in the case of strictly private schools, has not taken place, in this State at least. It is held that private schools have not greatly increased in numbers, certainly not out of proportion to the increase of schools of public instruction. But the board doe admit that the number of parochial school has greatly increased, and that they have drawn for their pupils on the schools supported by the State 46,159 scholars, being the number attending the church schoolof the State during the past year, while good reason. Mr. Hayden is here in plain only 16,410 were enrolled in the strictly Fish stories are in season, but chicken stories will pass. For instance, a few days ago J. A. McConville, who lives in Montana street, Butte, Montana, killed one of his chickens for dinner, and was surprised to find a quantity of gold nuggets in its crop and gizzard. Having thirty-one chickens that had scratched in the same patch, he began post-morten prospecting on them. In each chicken he found nuggets, and the total quantity gathered had a cash value of $387. The gold was sold to the State national bank and pronounced 18 carat fine. Mr. Mc-Conville bought fifty chickens and turned them out to do scratch mining on the gold fields surrounding his hencoop. After lic policy and good government and to the four days he killed one chicken and mined $3 worth of gold from its crop.

GREATEST OF CONFIDENCE MEN. Recollections of the Very Remarks

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

"When I arrived in Detroit last Saturday evening," said S. V. Vail, of Elmira, Wayne, Ind., in the depot, and the sight interesting recollections to my mind. Long has been for a number of years one eyes of the Chinese government, just as was a time when he was as hard a citizen as you could meet in a month's journey. He was a gambler and three-card monte man, and traveled for quite a time with Hale the other day the secret of keeping the notorious 'Canada Bill,' who was unyoung at the age of seventy he said: "First, doubtedly the cleverest monte man that The state of the control of the state of the control of the contro

Ward McAllister is one of the few men who know how to make money by farmple of his audsoity I may cite the instance of his offering the Union Pacific railroad company ten thousand dollars a year for the exclusive right of operating his game on their road, and furthermore, he said he

on their road, and furthermore, he said he would agree not to fieece any one but ministers of the gospel. Needless to say, his generous offer was not accepted by the railroad company.

"In the spring of 1874 I was on a Lake Shore train, between Toledo and Chicago, bound west, when 'Canada Bill' suddenly appeared in the smoking-car where I was sitting, and after a few desultory remarks produced his three cards and becan careproduced his three cards and began care-lessly throwing them around on the seat facing him. In a few minutes he had a facing him. In a few minutes he had a crowd around him, and after two of his cappers' had won fifteen or twenty dollars apiece picking the right cards, a rustic-looking fellow with a pipe in his mouth, who had been intently watching the game, produced a fat pocketbook, from which he took ten dollars and bet that amount he could pick the right card. He doubled his money in less time than it takes to count five and ventured again. He kept on winning and evidently thought takes to count five and ventured again. He kept on winning and evidently thought luck was with him, whereas 'Bill' was merely stringing him, and in a few minutes he had won six bets. Flushed with success he became reckless, increased the size of his bets, and in less than a quarter of an hour 'Canada Bill' had drained him of every cent he had, something over six hundred dollars. The greenhorar reeled out of the car completely dazed, went for out of the car completely dazed, went for-ward to where his wife was and told her that he had lost all the money they pos-sessed. The woman hastened back to the smoking-car, and with tears streaming down her cheeks told 'Canada Bill' that her husband, herself and their two small children had sold out everything they had down in Mercer county, Pa, and were on their way to Kansas to start anew in life heir way to Kansas to start anew in life. band had just lost at three-card monte, and concluding, the heart-broken creature exclaimed as she sank on her kness in the disle beside 'Bill's' seat, 'the children and man was a fool.' 'Canada Bill's' stolcal expression never changed a partical, but he put his hand in his pocket, drew forth a big wad of money, counted out just the amount the man had lost and handed it to the forlorn woman by his side, saying: 'Here's your money, madam. I never rob women and children, but I want you to keep it to yourself in the future, as that husband of yours doesn't know enough to you st without a gnardian.' Then giving the same opinion, and Dr. Walter Cook of Texas was rash enough to recommend, in 1889, the use of tobacco as a preservative against phthisia. An American dentist—Dr. Miller of New York—made experiments in 1884 with the smole of tobacco on the micro-germs of dental caries, and declared that the results were satisfactory and conclusive. and conclusive.

Descending a step in the social scale we tobacco on various known microbes, accome to the tramps. Vagrancy is illegal cording to the nature of the tobacco and keep it down. In 1890 13,164 persons were arrested for this offence in Paris alone. M. Mace, a former chief of criminal police, has taken the arrests for one month during his term of office and analyzed them thus: (1) necessiteux, 225; (2) paresseux, recidivistes, mendiants, 900; (3) voleurs, repris de justice, 426. Of the whole 1,581, only 141 were women. Class I are those who have lost employment are those who have lost employment through infirmity or misfortune. "Timid and ashamed, they suffer in silence, and rarely take to theft or begging; when bereft of every resource, they give them-selves up to the police." Class 2 are the regular tramps who won't work. In summer they sleep out in the open, in winter in unfinished buildings, vehicles and the free doss-houses. They are beggars and thieves, who pretend that they want work, but will not do it when it is given them. Class 3 are har ened malefactors. They are better dressed than the previous class, from which they are recruited, and prefer cheap lodgings to the free houses; but they never stay two nights in the same place. This classification, from the hand of a most competent index. throws an inof a most competent judge, throws an in-structive light upon the question of the "submerged" and their reclamation. Out of a given number of these people, only 16.1 per cent. are found to have sunk through misfortune, and to be presumably proper and hopeful subjects for assistance; 57 per cent. are incorrigible rogues and thieves; and 26 9 per cent. habitual crimi-nals. The results, discouraging as they are, and calculated to give pause to the most cuthusiastic humanitarism, corresmost euthusiastic humanitari-n, corres poud with similar experience here, with this diff-rence, that no account is taken of drink, the most important factor in the history of degradation in our own cities, and one which ind-finitely increases the

and one which indefinitely increases the difficulty of reclamation.

And here we may take the opportunity of saying a word about the drink question in Paris. Drunkenness there is—we tion in Paris. Drunkenness there is—we shall see something of it presently—and when it exists it produces the same effects as elsewhere; namely, personal violence and social degradation, especially the former. But the total amount is so small as to be disregarded in estimating the causes of poverty and crime; it is hardly mentioned in any books dealing with those subjects. The poorer streets of Paris are crammed with low drinking dens, but you may walk the town for hours at night may walk the town for hours at night without seeing a single drunken man. Now and then you will see one or two; in the daytime never. In the daytime never to the control of the control o in the daytime never. In truth, they hardly know what drunkenness is, according to our notions. The reason is that the common people down to the rag pickers and thieves nearly all drink clar-et by preference, and their plentifully watered vin ordinaire is not nearly so strong as the washiest of public-house beer. Much has been made of the ab-sinthe-drinking. It certainly is a most potent spirit, of which twopenny worth will go further towards intoxication than win go further towards intoxication than sixpenny worth of common gin; the man who takes seriously to it is lost. But comparatively few do. You may go into the Aux Vrais Buveurs d' Absinthe, or any of the thousand and one little cabaany of the thousand and one little casa-rets scattered everywhere, and you will see nineteen out of twenty of the cus-tomers taking syrups or claret. In 1890 the total number of persons arrested for drunkenness was thirty-eight; it is unne-

The Congress of Criminal Anthrope will hold its meeting at Brussels in August and September of the present year The careful and dispassionate study o criminals from a purely scientific standpoint is one of those distinguishing cienmetances which mark off modern from mediaval and ancient times. A rough and-ready promptitude was the chief char acteristic of the behavior of all classes of selves off from all chance of representing of the best-known evangelists in the counthis country in China. Every one of them try, is a thorough Christian and active most all centuries and countries before the has become a persona non grata in the leader in all good movements, but there dawn of modern science. But it is now recognized that the state and the publi owe at least one duty, even to criminals namely, that of taking the trouble to un derstand them.
It is not too much to say that every hu-

They are facts which science has not only recognized, but verified again and again. But if they be facts, they should be taken into account by all sorts of persons who have anything to do with criminals; by the parents of children who commit crime; by friends whose trusted companions disappoint and deceive them; by judges and juries who have control of the liberty and life of criminals.

It must be admitted that justice is to be done even on behalf of those who commit crimes. Nay, the very act of crime so places a man in antagonism sgainst all the rest of the world that the criminal berest of the world that the criminal becomes at once entitled to a certain amount of help and defence against odds that would otherwise be altogether too overwhelming. The laws of most civilized countries recognize this already, and in a mere spirit of fairness as-ign to every unaided criminal an advocate who can presumably put his case in the best possible light. What the law already does in an light. What the law already does in an elementary kind of way, science, out of her mere love of truth and justice, strives to get done as completely as possible. And in order to bring about this advance And in order to bring about this advance in civilization she gathers facts from every quarter of the globe; she collates them; she considers and weighs them with careful accuracy, and when she has done all these things she presents the facts to judges, clergymen, fathers of families, friends, employers of labor, and indeed to all sorts and conditions of men, in order that the contract of the con that they may become wiser, fairer and more helpful persons to criminals as well as to the rest of the world.

The Prophylactic Influence of To-(From the London Lancet )

Dr. V. Tassinari, of the Institute of Experimental Hygiene attached to the University of Rome, has been attempting to demonstrate the prophylactic advantages of tobacco-smoking. He recalls the fact that in the eighteenth century, and even in the seventeenth, a certain number of medical men-Willis, Dimerbrock and others-advised their friends to smoke in times of epidemic. At Strassburg, in 1842, Ruef called attention to the fact that the workers at the tobacco manufactory were exempt from almost all the prevailing epidemics. Dr. Palmer, accompanied by Dr. Porter, arrived. An examination was at once made and from the appearance of the remains Dr. Porter stated that he believed death was due to heart failure.

The body was at once placed in the carriage and accompanied by Rev. Dr. Palmer brought to the family residence.

Mr. Palmer was about twenty-one years of age, and while not in robust health had been in other than his usual spirits of late. He was a very close and hard-working student.

He was a very close and hard-working student.

No young man in this city was more favorably known than Alfred B. Palmer. After passing with credit through the public schools, he entered the Bridgeport high school. During the four years of his course there he was looked upon as the best scholar in his class, and upon graduating in 1877 delivered the valedictory address. He also won the Barnum prize ating in 1877 delivered the valedictory address. He also won the Barnum prize during his junior year.

Soon after, in company with his father and sister, he made an extended tour of Europe, remaining there nearly a year.

Upon his return in 1888 he entered Yale college where the same qualities that While an unusually good scholar in every department of study, he excelled in composition and declamation, and last year won the Ten Eyck prize. His course was nearly completed and in June he would have graduated. As usual, in the term just preceding graduation, there has been more or less speculation as to who would be the prize men at Yale, and Mr. Palmer, it is said, would undoubtedly have been the salutatorian.

At the prayer meeting at the North church last night Mr. Alfred Palmer made some very appropriate remarks from the text, Matt. 24, 42-51: "Watch, therefore, for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come"—"Therefore, be ye also ready"—wonderfully suggestive in connection with the sudden call which came to him to-day. It is impossible to express the profound sympathy which is felt throughout the community for the sorrowing family in this terrible bereavement.

Yale News.
The athletic alumni have been well represented during the last week, Bob Cook making his long expected visit to the crew, coaching the candidates out at the field for the Mott Haven team; and last of all Goldie, the well known trainer of the N. Y. A. C., coming to criticise and advise the Yale vaulters, shot putters and jumpers. The principal result of Bob Cook's visit visible just now is the retention of Sanford on the crew. His magnificent physique has attracted Cook just as it did Corbin last fall, and in spite of his awkwardness and the air of rawness which is plainly visible in his stroke Sanford will probably make the crew. If not the Mott Haven team is waiting to receive him with ope team is waiting to receive him with open arms as their main hope in the quarter mile. That brings up the weakest point in the Mott Haven team this year, the 440 yard run. There is not a man in training now who can do a quarter in 56 and 51 is hardly low enough to win a place nowadays There are now between thirty and forty men at the training table, and though many of these will be weeded out in the final selection of the team, yet there will be a far larger

Fast Day Proclamation. STATE OF CONNECTICUT. BY HIS EXCELLENCY, MORGAN G. BULKELEY,

A PROCLAMATION In accordance with custom, I hereby appo Friday, the fifteenth day of April next, as a day of fasting and prayer, and I recommend that this day be observed with suitable religious exercises, seeking thereby the favor of Almighty God that peace and prosperity may be continued unto Given under my hand and the seal of the state, at the capitol, in Hartford, this twenty-fourth day of March, in the year of our Lt.s.l. Special services will be held in the Episcopal churches.

Personal Notes.

Mr. Alfred Walker, one of Fair Haven's oldest citizens, died yesterday at his home on Wolcott treet, aged eighty seven. street, aged eighty-seven.

Mr. Matthew G. Eiliott, ex-president of the National Tradesmen's bank, is in very feeble health at his home on Hillhouse avenue.

Dwight P. Wilcox of the Meriden Brittania company, who recently wedded a New Haven young lady, purchased yesterday the E. B. Cowles residence in that city. Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox take possession of their new home after elegantly fitting it up.

Ex-Chief Hendrick was in town yesterday and called on his "old detail," Messrs. F. A. Bowman and T. A. Potter, reviving old memories of camp and parade in the Grays. It was a very pleasant meeting for the colonel and his detail. The ex-chief also went the grand rounds about town, riding with Fire Marshal Hubbard. He leaves shortly of another extended tour.

UNDER ORANGE BLOSSOMS. Very Pretty Private Wedding on Dwight Street Last Evening.
One of the prettiest private weddings which have recently taken place in this city was sol;

emnized at 152 Dwight street last evening, the contracting parties being Miss Marguerite H. Maxwell and William P. Ditte. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Brinley Morgan, rector of Christ church. The bridesmaid was Miss Anna Bell of this city and Mr. John L. Dwyer of Brooklyn acted as best man.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants and the happy couple were made one under a beautiful arch of cut flowers and orange blossoms. The bride and bridesmaid both wore orange blossoms and Cherokee roses, which were brought from Florida by the groom's cousin, Mr. Ira Singleton. The bride was arrayed in a beautiful travelling dress of light material, trimmed with heliotrope silk and diamond ornaments. She carrie a large bouquet of bride reses

The ceremony was followed by a reception at which a number of the friends of the happy pair were present. After the reception the happy couple left on a short wedding tour. They will be at home at 163 Dwight street on and after April 25. was performed by Rev. G. Brinley Morgan, rec

They will be at home at 163 Dwight street on and after April 28.

Many beautiful and valuable presents were received, among which were numerous articles of silverware, a cut glass tea set and other articles. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Young, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Whittemore, John L. Dwyer of Brooklyn, Captain Chris Helland, Captain Stevens and wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Upson, Miss Lillian Judd, Captain Charles L. Clarke, Miss Annie Stanford, Harry M. Wood, Mrs. M. Peck of Bridgeport, A. P. Balger of Grand Rapids, Mich., Miss Marguerits O'Connell, Ira Singleton and Miss Annie Singleton, cousins of the groom from Longwood, Fis.

HYPERION THEATER. The popular farce comedy, "Eight Bells," was repeated tast evening before a well

"The Lost Paradise," which will be presented this evening, is a strong play. It is in many respects novel, and it is in all respects interesting. Mr. DeMille has handled the question of capital and labor with rare skill and truthfulness. He teaches his lesson in an interesting and entertain ing manner, without preaching and with out resorting to buncombe. This magni ficent piece has been running for over 100 nights in Boston, and will be seen here ex nights in Boston, and will be seen here exactly as it was presented there, with the same Charles Frohman Stock company, same scenery and same effects.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal will appear at this theater to-morrow night. They are the social cards of all the stage folks in England and America. Columns have been written about them and their fashionable clientele. They play here "A Scrap of Paper." No doubt there will be a good house.

PROCTOR'S OPERA HOUSE. The rollicking English comedy success "Husband and Wife, or the Tiger Liller Club" and charming Cora Tannez, who has secured the play to star in in this country, will attract a large audience undoubtedly at this house to-night. The play is ridic-ulously funny and very enjoyable. Her support will also be of a superior order. Charles T. Ellis in his new play "Count Casper" will appear here Saturday even-

"Held by the Enemy" played to a crowd ed house last night. It is one of the best military dramss on the road and through the several years that it has been before the public it has carned a well-merite reputation. tween Italy and the United States -The Italian Government Will Re-eive $25,000 for the Families of the Victims in the Massacre of March Between the Two countries Are Fully Re-Established-Full Text of London, April 14.-A dispatch received here to-day from Rome says that a series of notes has passed between Mr. Blaine, the American secretary of state, and Marquis Imperiali, Italian charge d'affaires at Vashington, resulting in a settlement of the differences between Italy and the United States growing out of the lynching of Italians at New Orleans.

According to this dispatch the Marqui imperiali has advised the Italian govern nent that he has received from the states government the sum of $25,000 fo he families of the victims. This mo the marquis adds, was accompanied by one from Secretary Blaine in which he de-clared that although the wrong was not committed directly by the UnitedStates, the latter nevertheless feels its solemn duty in the premises. The note adds that Mr. Blaine declares that he feels great pleasure that the national government should pay to Italy a satisfactory indemnity. In consequence of these instructions given to Mr. sequenc of these instructions given to Mr. Blaine by President Harrison, the latte hopes that the arrangement will end the unfortunate incidents and the former good relations between the two countries will be re-established and that nothing in the fut are will occur to disturb such r In his note replying to Mr. Blaine communication the Marquis Imperia says that Italy had already with pleasur noted the terms in which President Harri on referred to the matter in his at the opening of congress. The marqui further says that Italy considers the in demnity sufficient without prejudice t any actions at law that may be brough by the aggrieved parties. He also ex-presses the hope that the payment of the indemnity will result in the happy re-

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, April 12, 1892. Sir: I congratulate you that the diff and Italy growing out of the lamentable massacre at New Orleans in March of las year is about to be terminated. The pres ident, feeling that for such an injury there should be ample indemnity, instructs me to tender you 125,000 francs. The Italian government will distribute the sum among the families of the victims. While the injury was not inflicted directly by the United States, the president nevertheless feels that it is the solemn duty s well as the great pleasure of the natio as well as the great pleasure of the national government to pay a satisfactory indemnity. Moreover, the president's instructions carry with them the hope that the transaction of to-day may efface all memory of the unhappy tragedy; that the old and friendly relations of the United States and Italy may be restored, and that nothing untoward may ever again occur to disturb their harmonious friendship.

I avail myself of this occasion to assure you that your prolonged service at this you that your prolonged service at this capitol as charge d'affaires has been marked by every quality that renders you grateful and acceptable to the government of the United States, and to renew to you the asurance of my high conside JAMES G. BLAINE.

To Marquis Imperiali, Charge d'Affaires.

MARQUIS IMPERIALI'S REPLY. lis Excellency James G. Blaine, Secretar etc., etc.
Mr. Secretary: You were pleased to in Mr. Secretary: You were pleased to inform me, by your note of to-day, that the federal government had decided to pay to Italy by way of idemnity the sum of 125,-000 france, to be distributed by the Italian government among the families of the royal subjects who were victims of the massacre which took place March 14, 1891, in the city of New Orleans. Your excellency also ex-pressed the hope that the decision reached by the president would put an end to the unfortunate incident to which that deplorunfortunate incident to which that deplorable occurrence gave rise, and that the friendly relations between the two countries would be firmly re-established.

After having taken note, with much pleasure, of the language used by the president in his message of December last, and after having fully appreciated the words of regret and censure uttered with so much authority by the chief magistrate of the republic, and likewise the recommendations to congress that were suggested to the republic, and likewise the recommendations to congress that were suggested to his lofty wisdom by the unhappy incident, the government of his majesty is now glad to learn that the United States acknowledge that it is their solemn duty, and at the same time a great pleasure, to pay an idemnity to Italy.

The king's government does not hesitate to accept this indemnity without prejudice to the judicial steps which it may be proper for the parties to take and, considering the redress obtained sufficient, it sees no reasons why the relations between sidering the redress obtained sumcient, it sees no reasons why the relations between the governments, which relations should faithfully reflect the sentiment of reciprocal esteem and sympathy that animate the two nations, should not again become intimate, cordial and friendly, as they have traditionally been in the past and as it is hoped they will ever be in the fature.

THE BELL TELEPHONE. Resolution to Protect the Public

Regulate the Monthly Charges by Telephone Companies. WASHINGTON, April 14 .- Mr. Stout of Michigan to-day introduced in the house a resolution on the subject of the Bell telephone patents. A preamble recites that the original patents of the American Bell Telephone company will soon expire United States and Italy Come | that the company is owner of certain devices claimed to be in interference, upon one of which, the Berliner transmitter, a cavea was filed in 1877 and the patent not issue until November 17, 1891, and that it is alleged that the final adjudication of these pretended rivals has been delayed for the purpose of giving another term to an enormously lucrative patent. The resolution, therefore, requests the committee on patents to ascertain "whether any modification of the natent law is necessary to pro-tion of the patent law is necessary to pro-tect the public against undue monopoly and report by bill or otherwise."

Mr. Stout also introduced a resolutio requesting the patent committee to report to the house what monthly charges are made to the government for the use of telephones, and whether the rates to the gov-ernment and to the public at large should not be regulated by general laws. Providence Defeated.

Mr. Bryan advocated his resolution, de-claring it to be good democratic doctrine. He was supported by the delegates from the western part of the state, where the independents are strong-est, but the other prominent leaders were against him. After a hot debate lasting three hours the resolution was defeated by a vote of 229 to 247. The silver men made a rush for the stage and shrieked that they were beaten by fraud. Fifty men were struggling on the platform at one time, but finally quiet was restored and the re-sult as announced was verified. After the selection of alternates the convention ad-journed.

The Thirteen club held their monthly meeting and banquet last evening at Bullen's cafe, and while they feasted indulged in sparkling conversation and remin-iscences, which bore adversely to the idea that there was anything unlucky about the number thirteen. They have been doing this number thirteen. They have been doing this for six years and come up smilingly each month for another whack at the aged superstition. In all the appointments the fateful number was made conspicuous. There were thirteen courses, the company sat down at precisely thirteen minutes past 7 o'clook, the number of speeches and songs were fixed at thirteen, and the national flag representing the thirteen original states occupied a position of honor among the numerous decorations. The club do not go so far as to assert that membership in their organization is conducive to longevity, but they mention as an interesting and agreeable fact that not one of the members has died since the organization was founded.

Ex-Governor Waller, in his address t the New London board of trade the other night, told among other reminiscences the following: "Only a few years ago a bucket shop was opened in the Crocker house block. It was patronized by our best citizens, lawyers included. The brokers behind it nobody knew. It re-mained with us 700 days, and as the books of the defunct experts about it took out of the defunct concern show it took out of the town in dead losses $700,000. If that immense sum for a small community like ours had been put into ten or twenty factories it would probably have doubled itself before now. At any rate nothing FORS OF SUPERSTITION-BRIDGEPORT'S 13 but an earthquake cold have wiped us out as clean as the bucket shop did."

> The Foreign Element in New Eng-(Springfield Republican The last decade was marked by an extraordinary inflow of immigrants to the United States, and how liberal a share of the increase New England received is shown in the last census bulletin relative to the nativity of the population of this section. The six states received from natural increase and immigration from other states of the Union in the ten year 341,489 persons; while from foreign countries in the same time they received the greater number of 348,727 persons. There were 793,612 foreign-born persons in New England in 1880, and in 1890 there were 1,142,339—an increase of nearly one-half or 43.9 per cent.; while the native-born in or 43.9 per cent.; while the hawve-born in-creased only 10.6 per cent., or from 3,216,-917 to 3,558,406. For the thirty years from 1850 to 1880 we added to the popula-tion of these states only 487,363 foreign-born, against 348,727 in the last ten years. Naturally the three southernmost of Naturally the three southernmost of manufacturing states have received the bulk of the foreign immigrants. About 300,000 of the 348.727 poured into these states, swelling the foreign born population of Massachusetts by 113,646, or 48 1 per cent., Connecticut's by 183,508, or 41.1 per cent., and Rhode Island's by 106,305, or 32 3 per cent. But the changes effected or 32.3 per cent. But the changes effected in the character of the population of the three northernmost states during the ten years are yet more striking. In Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, chusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, although much of the larger part of the immigration went there, and although the native born element increased relatively hardly 18 per cent. in the ten years, yet the numerical increase of the native born in each of those states was a trifle larger than of the foreign born.

But in the three northern states the increase in the number of foreign-born increase in the number of foreign-born in-habitants was numerically as well as relatively much greater than that of the native-born. In Maine the number of native born actually declined by over 7,900, while the foreign-born population increased over 20,000. The same general result is reported from Vermont, where the nativeborn were cut down to the number of 2,993, while, the foreign-born added 3,129 to their numbers. New Hampshire's case s quite as extraordinary. Here there was small increase of the native-born element born in the same time increased from 46, The Granite state has much more than doubled its foreign-born population in 20 years, while its native population has hardly increased 6 per cent.

If now should be added to the number of foreign-born in New England the numof foreign-born in New England the num-ber of native-born whose parents were of foreign birth, it would appear that the element of immediate foreign extraction in New England just about equalled that of purely native stock—the native-born whites of native parents constituting 51.8 per cent. of the population of New En-gland, and the whites, either foreign-born or having foreign-born parants constigland, and the whites, either foreign-born or having foreign-born parents, constituting 47.1 per cent. The purely native element makes up 74 per cent. of Maine's population, 67 per cent. of Vermont's, 67.3 per cent. of New Hampshire, and only 47.8, 42.6 and 39.8 per cent. of the population respectfully of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. And that this great element of immediate forthat this great element of immediate for-eign extraction, making up now almost one-half of the total population of New England, is being in the main rapidly, successfully and triumphantly assimilated, there can be no doubt. PAIR HAVEN NEWS.

Prior to State Attorney Doolittle's argument, the arguments of the defense where made by Attorneys Hall and Newton. Then followed the charge by the judge, and shortly before 2 o'clock the case was given to the jury. The jury remained out over three hours, returning at 5 o'clock with a verdict of guilty of manslaughter.

Before the jury came in the widow of Lombra, who had been attending the trial throughout dressed in deep mourning, left the court room. Battis and his wife sat despondently silent. Mrs. Battis held a child two years old, and a little fellow about five years old, and a little fellow about five years old, and a little fellow about five years old and he proscribed decorum of the court room. When the jury came in he pointed to some vacant chairs and said. "See, papa," Everyone in the court room leaned forward to catch the words of the foreman of the jury: "Guilty of manslaughter." Lawyer Newton was at once on his feet and argued the previous good character of the defendant and asked that the sentence be made as light as possible.

Judge Fenn said: "It seemed to me that the jury should have brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree, as found by the grand jury. Court Notes. The trial of James P. Kelly, accused of violat ing the liquor law at 67 Oak street, resulted in a verdict of not guilty in the common pleas court criminal side, yesterday.

Judge Robertson has appointed Carlton E. Hoadley and Harry Asher commissioners of the insolvent estate of the Union Waterproof Shoo The superior court jury in the Heller, Hirsh & Co. case against the Miles Fertilizer and Oil com pany of Milford, a suit to recover $19,000 for fe tillzing material, disagreed after five hours deliberation yesterday. They stood 6 to 6.

Attorney Hamilton was in Bridgeport yesterday arguing the plea of abatement in the suit brought by M. A. Foote of Bridgeport against Maria Card of this city to recover on a note of $900. Attorney Hamilton based his plea on the ground that at the time the suit was instituted the defendant was a resident of Maine and never received the proper summone. Attorney Comley, counsel for the plaintiff, filed an answer to the plea, claiming that it should not be considered, as the legal limit of time had expired before the plea weas entered. On these questions the arguments were made.

Judge F-nn yesterday decided to divide equally the state reward of $100 offered for the capture of the horse thief Charles Porter of Woodbridge between Officer K-senan of Westville, Officer Fi n of Bridgeport and Charles Crittenden of A. T. Hall's livery stable, this city. THE QUO WARRANTO CASES.

In the superior court yesterday Judge Stod-dard stated that a conference had been held in the case of Marvin H. Sanger vs. Treasurer the case of Marvin H. Sanger vs. Treasurer Henry with the counsel for the defense, Hyde, Gross & Hyde, and both sides were willing to have the demurrer, which is practically the same as the demurrer in the Phelan case, come up either next Thursday or Friday Judge John M. Hall said it was a proper matter for the short calendar. Jurge Stridard said he would claim it for next week Friday.

Later Judge Harrison attempted to get a special assignment of the Fhelan case after next Tursday, who is the republican answer would be filed. But the court refused to assign it, because the pleadings are not yet closed. He said he would treat it the same as any other case before him. But Judge Harrison agreed with Attorney W. L. Bennett to have the Guilford drawbridge case come up for trial two weeks from Tuesday by special assignment.

For a Charitable Object. The Oppora Benevolent society have arranged to give a minstrel performance at Proctor's opera house on April 27. This society is a charitable one and give this performance to raise funds to help the poor Hebrews in this city. The society earnestly asks the kind co-operation in their charitable undertaking of all its friends and others who are interested in work of this kind.

The Market Opens Lower-Ontario and Western Prominent Among the Specialties—The Close Quiet—Railroad Bonds Unusually Active. New York, April 14. The opening prices were in almost cases 34 to

% per cent. lower. Early dealings saw slight improvement along the line, but only in coalers and the industrials was there anything like confined to a few of them. Among the speci ties Ontario and Western became promine stimulated by rumors of Vanderbilt investme in the road and its connection with the proposed confederation of New York railroads, but this nacity with which advances were held and the list. The only stock ou tside of the coals and industrials which scored any material advance was Lake Shore, which rose steadily The close was quiet, but firm, at gains over la light's figures. Railroad bonds were firm and unusually active. The Reading issues and Richmond and West Point fives were strong and furnished over s-half of the business done. The total sal rere $2,868,000. Following are the closing prices, reported by Paince & Whitrkly, bankers and brokers, 64 Broadway, N. Y., and 15 Center street, New Haven, Conn.:
