FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, WHITELAW REID, of New York. THE WAY THE MONEY GOES. It is not surprising to read that there i extravagance in the management of the reparations for the great show at Chicago. There is a heap of money to spend, and is is almost inevitable that some of it should be loosely spent. The Chicago Tritune, which is, of course, friendly to the fair points out some of the ways in which the oney goes. During the month of June there were 1,518 employes in the executive, director-general's, and construction departments, involving an expenditure of $124,601 a month for their salaries. There are, for instance, twenty-five men helping the treasurer at a cost of $2,188, and fifteen helping the auditor at cost of $1,239. The lawyer of the fair has five other lawyers to help him. There are seven men sitting around to help on the "ceremonies." Seven doctors are practicing or waiting chance to practice. The janitor of the World's fair rooms has eleven assistants. Ten men are wondering what they shall do for ethnology, and ten more are eating up over $2,000 a month in running foreign affairs. No less than fourteen men are looking after Latin-America, when a third of them would be plenty; and "publicity twenty don't earn their salt. There is a loud and general demand for an electric railroad which shall be better than the troublesome and dangerous trol-ley system. Those who have been hoping that a practical and not too expensive storage battery system would be discovered have become somewhat discouraged. But it is now asserted, with great confidence, that in the town of Milford, Massachusetts, a storage battery system is at work, and has been successfully at work since April 19, a space of sixteen months The cars are a little larger than the West End cars in Boston, but so constructed that the weight, with the batteries all in is a little less. The road has a grade a one point of five feet to the hundred, complicated at the top by a curve which makes the grade equivalent to eight and one-half feet to the hundred. No trouble has been encountered in climbing the hill and making the curve. Not a single day have the cars failed run since the line was opened, even in the hardest winter weather, and hardly a trip ally for sanitary purposes I take a short has been missed. This system is not in use any where else. It has not been brought to the attention of the public at all. Not share of stock in the capital of the company has been offered for public sale. The owners, inventors and managers preferred to work out their problems in Milford, cure their defects, and not go to the public until they were sure that they had solved the problems of using storage batteries for street railroad service, and had overcome the difficulties which had wrecked all former anticipations. But success, they will soon come before the public with a presentation of their case.

If they can do what they say they can they will be welcome and they will get rich. The reports from Milford are certainly such as to warrant people in again indulging in the pleasures of hope regarding the storage battery system.

the new constitution of Mississippi is pracscally accomplished. Out of a colored population of 742,000 only 8,615 voters have registered, which is a very small percentage of the colored male citizens of voting age. The white registration is below the average, amounting to about 68,000, but this is sufficient for all practical purposes, as it gives a white majority of about 60,000 in the State. Before this constitution was adopted the majority was in favor of the blacks. As it is now, the negroes cannot elect a single county officer without the cousent and co-operation of

If I were training country to their native lands carrying $200 each, or $40,000,000. Many of these are Chinese, who are estimated to have carried out of America $700,000,000 in the last forty-two years. The annual drain of $40,000,000 by all the returning allens, and of $100,000,000 by European travel of the well to do, helps Mr. Allen to understand why it is that, "notwithstanding several years of unexampled prosperity and an unusual growth of export trade, we are rapidly drifting toward a suspension of specie payments. COMMUNICATIONS. The Old Sanitarian Talks About the Advantages of Using Whisky. Good morning. I have not addresse you in some time, because I have been so doctor gits mad an' won't order mamma very, very busy. All my waking hours out of the city.—Good News. have been occupied with the study of the interesting microbe, the wily bacteria and the fascinating micro-organism. Occasionthe time I have to learn what is going on in the world outside my study. In some of these ontings I hear things which gratify me. I have rejoiced to find that the public are growing more and more enlightened on sanitary matters and that more power and more money are voted to the benevolent scientists who compose the numerous boards of health which now adorn and guard our beloved country. But I am sometimes grieved to see and hear things which denote that the kingdom of sanitary science has not yet fully possessed the earth. The other day, while riding in the horse cars, I overheard a couple of elderly physicians talking about they discussed the circular issued by the New York city board of health relative to the treatment of young children during hot weather. It appeared that these doc tors had both read that circular, and, instead of cordially indorsing its wise advice to give infants a little whisky in the hottest days, they criticised it very severely. One of them said that "the prescription of whisky, either for the purpose of maintaining or restoring health, is a relic of marked: "Those who live in the year 2500 rived from the discovery of America by will read in histories that there was a time Christopher Columbus. This is quite when mankind was so devoid of scientific knowledge that they actually gave alcoholic poisons to sick persons in the superstitions belief that such a foolish course would give them strength to get well. Of course they will read these statements with the same horror and amazement with for a moment. Then in a voice as musical for a moment the below the power and about the terrible as the murmur of the bereaved dove she atrocities which ignorant doctors perpetrated on the sick in the year 1500."

are not as progressive and up-to-the-times as they might be."

A chimney piece carved from wood over six thousand years old has recently been erected in a house in Edinburgh. The wood, an oak tree, was found in a sand pit at Musselburgh, thirteen feet below the surface. Professor Gelkie of the geology chair of the University of Edinburgh, after personally examining the strata in which the oak was found, said the tree, which was 5 feet 9 inches in diameter. must be at least six thousand years old, and described it as a relic of neolithic man. It was in a fine state of preservation, due to the sand, and was easily work— Makes an every-day convenience of ar old-time tuxury. Pure and wholesome Prepared with scrupulous care. her marriage at any time between twenty and forty years of age, or a sum of money for her in case she is unmarried when she completes her fortieth year. The premium is reckoned from the year of birth, and the whole plan is somewhat on the lines of life insurance.

The disfranchisement of the negroes by the new constitution of Missianing is presented.

With the revelations of sanitary science. And it makes me sad to think how many little mounds would not be raised if whisky were more generally fed to childer all over the land, especially during sultry weather. Sixty years ago I knew a man who had the sagacity to buy a barrel of good whisky and put it in his cellar every time just before another addition to the family was expected. He was then duly prepared to wage war upon the venomduly prepared to wage war upon the venom-ous bacteria.

If the child be so restless and nervon hat it seems to dislike the life-giving fluid its nurse should sooth it by humming the spiring refrain:

"Here is to good whisky, pure and strong; Drink it down, drink it down, drink it down. Here is to good whisky, pure and strong; Drink it down, drink it down, drink it down."

My profourd studies have convinced me that the benefits of using whisky should not be confined to children. All ages should use it for the purpose of keeping the micro-organisms in subjection and maintaining an anti-germicidal condition. It is a very unsanitary thing to deprive laborers of plenty of whisky, especially if the weather is very hot. Whisky is also a fine thing to keep out the cold. Our board of health should have money enough to enable it to send a keg of good whisky to every laboring man, especially if he has a large family of children to bring through My profourd studies have convinced me every laboring man, especially if he has a large family of children to bring through the bot weather.

There is another sanitary aspect of the whisky topic to which I tearfully beseech attention. The death roll steadily attention. The death roll steadily lengthens. Mankind are constantly dying. And what do they die of? Why they die from exhaustion—from want of energy from lack of strength.

Under these sad circumstar to me a very unsanitary thing not to util-ize the vast amount of power and energy which is stored up in barrels of whisky. Machines have been constructed which will measure the velocity and power of a cannon ball when it leaves the muzzle of the gun—so many thousands of pounds. But no one has made a machine to measure benefit of mankind. If I were training John L. Sullivan I should give him a quart of whisky every day. But I find his trainer so ignorant of sanitary science that he does not give the poor fellow a single drop. And I also learn that some doctors are so ignorant that they object to their patients taking a fluid so full of energy as whisky. But, as a partial offset to this unsanitary conduct, it is pleasant to observe that many doctors are wise enough observe that many doctors are wise enough to invariably speak of whisky as "nour-ishment." This is a correct use of language, for what is there so "nourishing s whisky? What giants we all might b

The government might have undertaken the necessary work themselves. To condemn the remains of a noble historic monument, inseparably connected with some of the most illustrious personages in the annals of France, to be carted away as rubbish by the highest bidder, is an outrage sgainst collightened patriotism, under whatever pretexts it may be perpetrated. Although the fame of St. Cloud as a royal residence dates from the ministry of Mazarin, the place was celebrated for its military importance from very early days. Fortunately the plucky farmer lying in the street stopped his horse by holding stoutly on to the reins. The other horse was stopped before it reached the Grand avenue railroad bridge. The young lady and the farmer emerged from under the wagon and the latter mounted into the seat of the vehicle, after it had been righted, and sat calmly waiting to resume her journey back to North Haven, looking cheerful and blithe, fortunately not having been injured in the least. A crowd of spectators hastened to congratulate her and injured in the least. A growd of spectators hastened to congratulate her and proffer aid. Mr. Tooker busied himself despite his twinges in his shoulder caused by his fall, in examining his vehicle, the tail board of which was badly wrecked. The meats and vegetables spilled from the other wagon were gathered together. The runaway teams, it was stated, belonged to the New Haven Provision company on Grand avenue and James street, and the horse was making for the home base when the accident occurred, having started on his journey from near Westville.

The exercises of the last day of the silver jubilee in honor of Rev. Patrick Mulholland opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock with a grand solemn high mass said by Rev. P. Cleaveland, James Buchanan, J. N. Chapin, James P. Pigott and A. N. Wheeler. Mr. Harrison in his tribute to the deeased said: "I think if there was any one trait of character which was noticeable in Mr. Dailey it was his determined feeling that whatever was his present duty he would discharge it to the best of his ability and with fearlessness as to the result. He filled the office of prosecuting attorney with untiring zeal and a consciousness of the task intrusted to him. I know of nothing more wearing than the unceasing cound of work that the office of prosecuting attorney entails. He was never daunted by criticisms, and though he was attacked, he had no harsh feelings against those who attacked him."

Judge Pickett in the course of an extend-Judge Plokett in the course of an extended eulogy of much eloquence said: "It seems strange that a man who last week presented 159 cases to the city court and was present at four seasions which lasted over four hours continuously and prosecuted his cases apparently in full vigor of health, though perhaps somewhat nervous, should now be still in death. It is a new illustration of the fact that this land is a land of the dying as well as of the liv-

In closing, Judge Pickett said: "He all people and any statement that he was negligent or careless of duty are absolute-ly false. His memory will be a pleasant one and there is sincere mourning, because we have all met with a loss of an honored and trusted friend, who has gone to join the long procession that will never come Mr. Driscoll said: "In his profession he was an able and industrious lawyer and in was an able and industrious lawyer and in every walk of life a genial gentleman and companion. It seemed to be his mission to make every one about him happy. He was a man that every one will miss." Said Senator Fox in his remarks: "He was no respecter of persons, but tried to treat every one fairly and alike. A faithful

BY MIDDLETOWN REPUBLICANS. MIDDLETOWN, Aug. 17.—At a meeting of the republicans at the headquarters last evening the Hon. J. M. Douglass addressed the meeting and spoke in the most glowing terms of the late Hugh Dailey of New Haven. He expressed his sincere regret and that of the republicans of the city and state over his untimely death. Mr. Douglass and Henry P. Bliss, secretary of the club, were appointed a committee to draft appropriate resolutions and forward a copy to the family of the deceased.

THE NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT. ively Times in Grand Army Circles-

and councils are seldom overcrowded, and it often occurs that the officers must go outside and do some lively skirmishing about the neighborhood in order to raise a quorum. Just at present, however, in Grand Army circles there is the greatest activity. At every meeting of Admiral Foote post Warner hall is filled to its utmost capacity. The coming national enampment at Washington will see the argest gathering of veteran soldiers since he grand march of our victorious armles down Pennsylvania avenue at the close of the war in 1865. It is estimated that fully Men's, Boys' and Chilfifty thousand will be in line, representing every Grand Army post in the United States. The officers of Admiral Foote post States. The officers of Admiral Foote post and the special committee having the matter in charge are determined that Connecticut shall be no insignificant feature in this grand pageant. The post scored a great victory in Boston two years ago. This history they say must repeat itself in Washington. The post is organized as a regiment of twelve companies in regular military form. Most of these companies are aiready filled to the maximum number of thirty-two men, including officers. In of thirty-two men, including officers. In the local savings bank established by the to the comrade.

Before the start Monday afternoon, September 19, the regiment will make a short street parade and will be reviewed by the mayor and city officials. They will leave the Union depot at 3:15 p. m. by a special train, aggiving at Jersey City without change of cars at 6:10. From that city they go as the second section of the regular 6:15 limited express, the fastest train between Jersey City and Washington. As everything makes way for this train there is no doubt that the post will be in Washington before midnight. From the Baltimore and Ohio depot near the capital the post will march to the mam-moth new armory on Pennsylvania ave-nue, between Sixth and Seventh streets, which is to be the headquarters during the stay in Washington. In the morning each captain will form his company and march to breakfast at such location in the immediate neighborhood as the committee may have previous-ly arranged. This program has been adopted after due examination and careful consideration, the committee believing they can secure better results than to breakfast the entire command at one point Commander Sanborn has issued instruc-tions that every member of Admiral Foote post who goes to Washington must be in full regulation uniform, including hat, gloves and cane. It is believed that every member will cheerfully comply with this order, as each has an individual pride in our city and state. of the company. STRIKERS WILL BE DISCHARGED. The following was given out for publiation this afternoon: PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.

Mr. I. A. Sweigard, General Manager: Dear Sir: The operations of the yards at Buffalo, Waverly and Sayre will be resumed Thursday, the 18th inst. You are hereby instructed to pay off and discharge at once all employes who have gone out on strike, except such hitherto efficient and faithful men as you are convinced ware. and faithful men as you are convinced were coerced into the abandonment of their duties and who, if left to their own free will, would not have left the service of the company and may have families or others de-pendent upon them. But the ringleaders pendent upon them. But the ringicacers and strikers, who are in any way responsible for or participated in the destruction of the company's property, or who have been guilty of interference with the movement of trains or the performance of duty by other employes, must not now or ever be restored to the service of the company. In exercising the discretion with which you are charged you should bear in mind that while it is to be regretted that there are men weak enough to yield to the dictation of others in abandoning their places with good pay and steady work, in forever disqualifying them for the service of the company great hardship may be imposed upon their families, who should not be made to suffer if it can be avoided. A RAILROAD MAN Who Has Been in the Business are given by counties: 17 Years Tells of the Great Result of Dr. Roth's Treatment for Restless Sleep, Catarrh and Rheumatism.

"It is quite a number of years since I have been able to obtain a good night's sleep," said $\frac{1}{2}$ Geliespie, a well known railroad man, and who has lived in Woodmont, Conn., the past ten years. When I did sleep it was always by breath-ing through my mouth, and when I would get up mornings I was more than tired.

"My throat was so filled up at all times that would have to strain and gag trying to hawk ut the stuff that would gather there constantly."

Of phlegm, and my nose was stopped up contin-ually, and I would blow large pieces from it, the odor of which was very bad. There was a con-stant ringing and buzzing in the cars and a head-ache over the eyes most of the time. I suffered with pain in the back and under the shoulder blades. I would take cold easily and always seemed to have one.

"I improved at once under Dr. Roth's treat-ment. All my bad feelings left me. My nose is clear and I sleep all night, and feel generally good, and as the charges are reasonable I advise others to try the treatment."

Mr. PETER BORNHOLD of 397 Chapel street, New Haven, suffered from asthma since 1803; had grip two years ago, and since then has been very miserable; attacks came on oftener and much short breath; a rattling and whizzing in the chest; a very bad cough; sleep very restless; very tired mornings; would take cold easily; buzzing and ringing in the ears and deafness for two years. Under Dr. Roth's treatment his bad feeling left him and he feels well.

Advances in Sugar and Lead Stock -The Close Quiet. NEW YORK AUG 17 NEW YORK AUG. 17.

Prices in the market to-day showed a declining tendency from the very opening. Among the grangers Rock Island showed most weakness is the forenoon, but Atchison led the downward ovement later. St. Paul was offered down, be recovered. The Wheeling and Lake Erie re-tired about 1 per cent. All other losses were fractional. The Sugar and Lead stocks were advanced sharply in the early dealings, and Sugar preferred was lifted 234. The Leads rose 1/4 and 154 respectively. The engagement of nearly a million gold for shipment checked the animation and advance. Prices dragged along during mos of the day, but toward the close there was an crease in the pressure of short stocks, and ecial animation was developed in Reading Rock Island, Burlington, New England, Erie and St. Paul, while all retired to still lower figures than had been reached during the forenoon. The narket closed quiet and weak at the lower prices of the day.
