Ha! Ha! and also Ho! Ho! The Demo crats now call a National Election law a Force bill, and they have forgotten that several of the features of the National Election law against which howls of Democratic objections are now everywhere going up, were invoked and actively used to secure Cleveland's election.

Very serious and saddening accusation have within the last few days been made against the "society women" of, England and this country. At the English Church congress at Folkstone Lady Frederick Cavendish said that although heavy drinking had been abandoned by the men, the women were becoming inveterate tipplers; that many ladies have recourse to "pickmeups" at 11 a. m., brandy and sods during the day, wine at dinner and something hot at bedtime. She said she knew a young lady that could not get through the certain morning concert a lady beside her had called for a "white cup," a deceptive name for "champagne cup." Lady Caven-dish protested especially sgainst the new fashion of young ladies, and old ones, too, accompanying gentlemen to the smoking room after dinner and sharing, not only the cigars, but also the spirits. She said that a distinguished physician had assured her that many ladies who were living idle lives had consulted him for nervous symptoms which revealed, in perfect uncor sciousness on their part, a condition of alcoholism bordering on delirium tremens; but that alcohol was not the only fashionable failing, as chloral, chlorodyne and morphia were taken in secrecy in bondoirs and were adding to the maladies of modern life. The duchess of Bedford, the wife of Archbishop Benson, and other ladies spoke in a similar strain.

day that these things were being said the Woman's Christian Temperance Union listened to somewhat similar accusations against American women. Mrs. Homer A Nelson declared that the use of opiates was more widespread than was generally imagined, and that in the better class of society it was rapidly gaining ground. She told about it being a common practice for wellto-do ladies to drive to the drug store, send in for a four-ounce vial of laudanum, get it, and drive away, and she added that women use opiates as men use liquor, and it is a growing evil.

A NOTABLE DAY. The shade of Columbus must have bee well pleased if it took notice of what went there a better day for a parade; and there has never been a more successful parade in this city. It was a fine sight to see the long columns of good looking, well dressed men, and the banners waving o'er them natured, and all went well. It is a deserved compliment to the people of New Haven and to the thousands of visitors to say that on no such occasion has there been better order in the city. The scene on the Green both in the forenoon and afternoon was impressive. Rev. Dr. Maher's oration was eloquent and fitting, the consolidated band music and the aggregated singing were well done, and the whole performance was a shining success. We hope our visitors enjoyed themselves and carried away a pleasant impression of

The maturity of the grapes this year has been perfect, and the harvest, which began September 19, has proceeded smoothly, favored by the finest weather imaginable But while nothing will be lacking in the quality of Medoc of this year's vintage, the quantity will be somewhat limited. Of Chateau Margaux and Chateau Lafitte there will be but half a harvest, and the same is true of Pontet Canet and Giscours. An Australian pearl diver says that one of the strange effects of diving is the invariable bad temper felt while working at the bottom of the sea. As this usually passes away as soon as the surface is reached, it is probably due to the pressure of the air affecting the lungs and through them the brain. The exhibaration and bonhomie of the mountain climber are a contrary feeling from an opposite cause. A diver becomes so angry at some imaginary wrongdoing on the part of those in the boat above that he gives the signal to be pulled up, "with the intention of knocking the heads off the entire crew," only to forget what he came up for when the surface is reached.

The spirit of gambling is very prevalent Recently (says a Helena paper) the finely bred Gordon setter Faro, owned by John Kepple, of Helens, Montana, entered the Capital gambling-house with a $10 bill in his mouth. Going to one of the faro tables the dog dropped it on the queen. To say that the snave dealer was surprised would be putting it mildly. But recover ing himself after a few moments, he asked the dog if he wanted a copper on the $10. The dog barked as if in the affirmative, so, placing a copper on the money, the dealer made the turn. The queen came up smiling loser, and the dog won. Taking the two $10 bills in his mouth, Faro gave walls of the Casa. The smell of sulphus hereabouts rekindles expectation. Anto nio and I, in the course of our final climb had to face the prospect of elemental strife. Heaven's artillery was already in the field, and the gunners were trying their guns. Though clearly a lad of pluck, Antonio did not like the look-out. He wanted to be up and down as quickly as possible, ere the series of noon-day storms, which had become a routine experience for strife. the last, moments of our climb, in spite of the toil of it, we soon got up the cone. At 11:20 we came suddenly upon a level, and saw the amoke boiling up from below. This was the summit.

Antonio and I had no opportunity for franquil realization of the glories of our situation. In the first place we could see nothing but the dark impending edge of the crater at our feet. A pace farther, and we should have gone the way of Epimenides. Moreover, we had not well taken our bearings. The wind was against us, so that the sulphur on the summit blew in our teeth as if to stifie us. Spallanzani, in the like predicament, for a while lost his senses, and this on a day the most propitious. Had we tarried our fate might have been more tragic. For though the sulphur was bad, the bombardment from the depths was worse. At any instant a missile might have taken us. To put the climax of discomfort upon us, there came an admonitory thunder-clap fit to wake the dead, and at the same moment a storm of snow and hail buffeted us hard. We bent our heads before this variety of ill treatment, and struggled towards a more sheltered quarter with all speed.

I am much grieved that it was quite impossible to measure the crater, even by perambulating its boundaries. he proposed new highway back of the Morris Cove road, last evening, developed everal incidents of interest. At the last meeting of the board of selectmen the etitioners for the new highway were given an opportunity to state their side of the case and last evening the other side had their inning. Among those who appeared and opposed the new road were Enos Dick erman, J. T. Lyman, Theron Thompson, George L. Chapin, L. C. Thompson and others, the main point of whose objections were that the road was not a public necessity. Attorney John C. Gallagher appeared in the interests of his father and a Mr. Bradley. He claimed that it was the intention to use the establishment of this back road merely to benefit the Beecher side of the Beecher vs. Morris Cove Elec-tric road injunction suit, soon to be tried n the superior court, when it would be claimed that the new road had been built ecause of the danger to travel on the road where the electric cars now run. Mr. Gallagher also intimated that should the new road be established it would be but a short time before an effort would be made to compel the electric road to run on that Valley council, Knights of Columbus, aided by the council from Seymour, turned out about 100 men. The councils wore soft hats, white gloves and carried canes, and all wore handsome badges, a red silk ribbon and a metal souvenir badge. They had with them the Ansonia brass band.

There were about 450 Knights from Hartford in the parade. The Hartforders had Pope's band. On the special train which carried the Hartford delegation were 100 Knights from Springfield and about twenty-five from Thompsonville and Windsor Locks. The special train left New Haven to return at about 6:15.

Hotchkiss appeared for the petitioners, and claimed that the back road was a necessity, on account of the danger from the electric cars, and that it could be built for $1,500. He also stated that if the selectmen did not build the road it would cost them more than several times that amount in lawver's fee. He also stated that the widening of the causeway of Temliuson bridge was done principally for the benefit of the electric road. This latter statement aroused Selectmen Pohlman and Forbes, and for a few minutes the three had everything to themselves.

COLUMBUS DAY.

Why it is October 21. changed the national public school cel-bration of Columbian day from October 12 to October 21, in the interest of scholarly accuracy. The New York Ledger speaking of this change says: It is little to the credit of those who have planned for the exposition that this was not thought of earlier. There is quite a little excitement at the change in certain quarters, not a few teachers rebelling at the change, saying that they have always taught that Columbus discovered America October 12, and that duce the "time change" into the matter. These teachers seem to forget that Washington was born February highest honors. At the junior exhibition he was one of the speakers, winning the prize; was one of the DeForest speakers at graduation and took the Townsend prize at that time, and again the Townsend prize of the law school, during his graduate that there were exactly of the law school, during his graduate that there were exactly of the law school are the second to the second that there were exactly of the second that the se 3651 days in a year, which was 11 minutes and 14 seconds too much. esterday, with about seventy-five delegates in attendance. The convention was held in Steuben lodge room over Turn hall. The morning was devoted to receiving credentials, reading of the reports and discussion. There was nothing of special importance to come before the lodge, but the recent legislation of the supreme lodge in adopting the graded system of assessment was discussed at length. The grand dictator, John A. Stannies of Danbury, in his report stated that the order was in excellent condition, financially and otherwise. He stated that during the last year three new lodges had been instituted, one at Danbury, another at Newtown, and the third at Georgetown. Grand Reporter C. W. Skiff of Danbury reported that the death rate had increase during the past year, as twenty-seven deaths had occurred in the state out of 2,500 members. Last year only nine deaths occurred. Fifty-four thousand dollars has been paid out in death benefits in conse-quence of the twenty-seven deaths. In closing he said that the prospect for in-creased membership and number of lodges was excellent. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

German Resident. Charles Pfuderer, one of the oldest and est-known German residents of this city, died yesterday morning, at 7:30 o'clock, at his residence, 54 Chapel street, Fair Haven. He had been ill about two months with a shock of paralysis, complicated with other diseases, which made his case a serious one from the outset. At times a slight improvement came, giving hope to his many friends that he might recover only to be followed by symptoms which cast down hopes again. The deceased was fifty-eight years and eleven months old, and for a number of years has been engaged in the grocery business. Years ago he was proprietor of a flourishing store on State street, about where Councilman Rabanus' store is now. Later he carried purchases. on the business on Union street, below Fair street. Several years ago he was quite prominent in politics, his opinions being respected by a large majority of the Germans in this city. After filling several positions of prominence he served in the court of common council and then retired from active work in politics.

At one time the deceased was interested financially in the publication of one of the derman newspapers of this city. He was also a prominent member of several organizations, among them being Connecticut Rock lodge, F. and A. M., Germania lodge, I. O. O. F., Concordia Aid society, and Court Herman A. O. F. Her many successful treatments of catarrh in all its phases have gained for her great distinction, and grateful patients who have suffered for years from that loathsome disease, and have been rescued by her, are spreading the glad tidings and inducing others similarly sillicted to visit inducing others similarly sifficted to visit her. Mrs. Dr. Dewey has sovereign rem-edies compounded by herself for the radi-cal and permanent cure of scrofula and all blood diseases. Read the following:

To the Editor of the Journal and Courier: Deeply sympathising with those afflicted o seek the treatment of Mrs. Dr. to seek the treatment of Mrs. Dr. Louise Dewey, of 114 Olive atreet, which I most heartily endorse. My case was mild at first, but stealing upon me as prey and increasing its hold daily, it was, I feared, prematurely guiding me to the grave, until I responded to the echoes of science in an article in the Union. I found Mrs. Dewey to be the friend of the victim of this dreaded monster, and pronounce her a public benefactor who miraculously removes this horrible society-debarring, dismoves this horrible society-debarring, disgusting companion. IRVING N. TAYLOB, 918 Chapel street.

Another Victory. I have had catarrh for a number of years, and have been under the treatment of a number of doctors, and have only received a little relief from them. HAIL COLUMBUS. The Celebration in New York-Parade of the United Catholic Societies Success of the Singing Festival-The Fireworks on Brooklyn Bridge della's Exercises-Bridgeport to Par ticipate To-day. New York, Oct. 11 .- It would be im ossible to imagine a more beautiful morn ng than the one New York and her visors have engaged for the great naval parade held in honor of Columbus. The sun beamed with dazzling brightness upon everybody and everything, a sharp out pleasant breeze made overcoats just desirable enough and not a cloud was to be seen in the blue canopy over busy

When the hour for mustering the fleets arrived, the Narrows, above and below, resented a spectacle not often seen ever presented a spectacle not often seen even in these busy waters. The bay seemed to be covered from shore to shore with sailing and steaming craft of all sizes and descriptions. An hour before the time for the start one would have deemed it utterly impossible to create anything like order out of the constantly moving masses of ships. But order was brought about and the parade was started at 12:30.

The vessels in the parade moved at uni-The vessels in the parade moved at uni-form rate of six miles an hour, and there was ample opportunity for every one to view the spectacle.

The trim looking French man-of-way Arathuse, the Spanish warship Infants Yesbel, and the Italian cruiser Bausar vere all cheered as they proudly steamed up the Hudson.

The fleet of the naval reserve consisted of sixteen tugs divided into four squadrons.

A rough estimate would number the multitude on the bluff at the northern extremity of Riverside park, where Grant's tomb is and where the naval parade was disbanded, at 200,000 people. Even this number may be too small. It was so hard to estimate it because the people were everywhere and the lay of the land prehibits a view in which everything may be seen. The steep bank of the Hudson about here formed a natural reviewing place, which the committee of one hunplace, which the committee of one hun-dred had left free to the public, and so by place, which the committee of one hundred had left free to the public, and so by 2 o'clock the long bank was one mass of human faces. The grand stand, an immense structure, accommodating 7,000 people, only marred the scene by its hiden eousness. Governor D. Russell Brown and staff of Rhode Island were prominent as on-lookers, by their uniforms. Along where the New York Central road has its tracks throngs lined the bank, and many were accommodated on the tops of the freight cars. The head of the parade reached the disbanding point soon after 3 o'clock, and was received with cheers by the crowds which then filled every nook commanding the scene.

Washington, Oct. 11 .- Mrs. Harriso is gradually growing weaker. The nour ishment of raw eggs and beef tea which has been so important an element in keeping up her strength is now taken in smaller quantities. She rests quietly as a rule and sleeps much of the time, but awakens exhausted instead of refreshed. The cough which has distressed her at intervals has ceased, but this is regarded as an unfavor able symptom. The disease is progressing more rapidly, and the left lung is now involved. To-night Mrs. Harrison is fairly omfortable. An informal understanding was reached to-day, by which the Chicago lake front cases, before the United States supreme court will go over until to-morrow to make way for argument of the suit, to test the constitutionality of the minor law in Michigan, providing for the election of presidential electors by congressional districts. The object of the change was to permit Chief Justice Fuller, who cannot sit in the lake front cases, to take part in the Michigan case, and then leave here for New York to extend the Colombia cale. It is reported that many houses were demolished, many plantations devastated, hundreds of cattle killed and several vessels foundered. Two large digesters in the Bangor Pulp and Paper company's mill at Orono, Me., exploded esterday morning, causing the loss of two live and the injury more or less sectous of six per-sons. The explosion was without apparent cause, as the digesters were inspected two weeks ago and reported to be in perfect condition. There can now be no question as to the fate of the crew of the missing steamer Nashus, as yes-terday morning there was picked up three miles below Port Huron. Mich., the body of Captain Shepard's wife, who accompanied her husband on the fatal trip. It was the first tidings received as to the fate of the crew and two women. Owing to unavoidable delay in getting the Bos ing regarding the Buyen's statue of Columbu Archistop Williams at the request of the Co-lumbus committee has granted a site on the Cathedral grounds, corner Washington and Mai-den streets, for the statue. The unveiling will take place October 21.

The general feeling in Fall River has changed in regard to the Borden case and the defendant's counsel is receiving encouraging telegrams from all sections condemping the alleged disclosures in the case and encouraging him to con't ue his work for Lizzie Borden. The three local papers express editorial opinions of a similar character and call upon the state to get rid of its hired detective. Directions to bring libel suits have been given to Mr. Jennings of the counsel for the defense. Chicago is to have the largest and most power ful telescope in the world. It is the gift of Charles T. -Lieutenant Colonel Burpee in Command Owing to Colonel De herty's Accident.

The members of the Second regiment left last evening on the steamer Continental for New York, where they will take part to-day in the monster parade in that city. The line was formed at the armory promptly at 9:30 o'clock in accordance with general orders issued to that ef fect, but in consequence of the non-appear ance of the band, which failed to show up until about 11 o'clock the parade did no start until that hour. The line of march was up Meadow, to Church, to Chapel, to East, to the boat. All along the line of march the regiment made a most creditable appearance and was greeted with loud applause and showers of red fire.

In consequence of the accident to Colonel plause and showers of red fire.

In consequence of the accident to Colonel Doherty yesterday, when his horse tripped and threw the gallant colonel from his seat spratning his ankle, the command of the regiment to-day will devolve upon Lieutenant Colonel Burpee. Colonel Doherty, it is expected, will be all right again in the course of a few days.

GROCERS' PARADED and All the Stores Were Closed-The ood and Health Exposition's Suc-

The food and health exhibit closes tonight aving been a great success, and so much o that it is the fererunner of other similar exhibits to be held here. Yesterday after noon the New Haven Retail Grocers' assodiation assembled at the armory, received its guests from other parts of the state and then formed in line and had a street parade, President Chidsey at their head. In the procession were carried banners, one bearing the name of the association another welcoming all to come and see the food and health show, and so on. After parading through some of the principal streets headed by a lively drum corps, the rocession returned to the armory. Mr. Seyms and Mr. Fowler, of the Lincoln, Seyms & Co.'s exhibit, were very busy at their booth, which seemed to be the headquarters for the Hartford visitors, among whom were the following gentlemen, representatives of the trade in Hartford: Messrs. French, Flynn, Frost, McNamara, Sloan, Barrows, Marcus, Blumenthal, Bates, Brady, Feely, McKehoe, Loomis, Bennett, Allyn, formerly of Allyn &

To-night the guesses on the welcome soap sign and others will be on the quivive to know who are the lucky ones who are to carry off the prizes.

Mrs. Borer's last lecture occurs to-day. The lectures have been very interesting and instructive.

Mr. E. M. Manning, manager for Baker's cocoa exhibit at the armory in closing there to-night goes to Boston to open an exhibit there for his company at the Mechanics' fair now in progress in Boston. The same company also has an exhibit in progress at the food and health exposition in New York. Mr. Manning is a Boston man. He speaks very highly of the thorough and business-like management of the food and health exhibit here.

BRANFORD JOTTINGS. To Build a New Freight Depot-To

BRANFORD, Oct. 11.-The railroad com nissioners will soon be here to condemn a piece of land just east of the river and north of the railroad track. The railroad company propose to build a freight depot here and lay tracks for a freight yard. The passenger depot will remain as at present. The owner of the property re-fused to sell at any price, and so the com-pany requested the commissioners to pass judgment on it.

The Swedish church, which was burned last fall, is being repaired and will soon be finished. A new steeple, not quite as high as the old one, is being erected. Henry Clark, proprietor of Double Beach otel, went to the city Monday to make some purchases and transactother business.

About noon he went into William Neely's and left his horse standing on Temple street. When he returned he discovered that his team was gone, and reported his loss to the police.

At the East Haven town meeting the proposition to reassess the property was indefinitely postponed, although many of the citizens believe the time has come for such action.

He is the right reverend bishop of this diocese, who comes with great inconvenience from the channels of urgent duties elsewhere, to accompany and encourage you in the proud celebration of to-day.

zen of our commonwealth. We cannot forget that the immortal mariner was a Catholic; that he began his famous voyage of discovery under the Catholic auspices at the Spanish queen and the Roman church; that his pious patron, in prayerful suppliance at court and convent, was a faithful friar, Juan Perez; that his flagship was named after the virgin mother of the savior of mankind, Santa Maria, and that the first land that he espied on that eventful day. San Salvador: and finally, that the first act of the glorious Christian admiral of the western seas, on landing amid the Bahamas, October 12, 1892, was to plant the standard of the cross of Christ upon the shore, a symbol of his sacred commission to take possession of Columbia, not so much as an admiral of Spanish fleets as the viceroy of a Christian kingdom and representative of the faith of the Catholic church. It is interesting to know that Columbus bore a doubly Christian name, urged by sacred impulse, under divine provilence, to spread the light of Christianity amid races that peopled a territory he had scientific reason to believe lay by youd the great west ern ocean; he became the "Christopher," or Christ bearer, to their benighted minds and hearts. Columbus, the gentle synonym of "Dove," was a common family name at Bablio, where the Genose wool comber's boy was born in 1443, in fon'in memory of the great Irish abbot St. Columban.

"Dove," was a common family name at Bablio, where the Gencese wool comber's boy was born in 1443, in fond memory of the great Irish abbot, St. Columban.

Let us follow the great navigator as he quits the port of Palos on that memorable 3d of August, 1492. The three pretty caravals, of only a few hundred tons' burden, glide out from the haven of the Spanish coast, point their prows straightway across the broad bosom of the Atlantic, that hitherto trackless waste—three "doves," as they are poetically called—winging their way westward to the virgin forests of America. Do they not remind us, with force of fancy, of that other "dove," the bearer of the olive branch to the ancient ark, harbinger of a land to which God's tenants could set a solid footing. To our dear America the Columbia "dove" bore the glad tidings of great Christian joy. We have just reason to feel confident that Columbia is a providential land, which God desires to bless with his beet benesictions. We enter the wake of the modern march of American progress. As it passes from the metropolitan port of our magnificent republic, and steams away at rushing speed across the face of our federal states, bridging splendid streams over and leaping rocky ridges, onward to the Pacific and onward still through the nation's "Golden Gate," westward to ancient Asia. Travalleg through our noble nation, we see the fruit of industrial labor on every side; we count the efforts made by assiduous labor, combined with opportune outlay of accumulated capital; we estimate the immensity of our national resources, and we accept the verdict of our sister nations, and of our own hearts' promptings that there is no land, however fair or fertile, as fortunate that is like our own beloved "Columbia."

There has been another capitalm—another hero, in a later age, who stood on the deck of a modern manod-war, and viewed regerefully the receding glories of a noble nation. It had been raised to the pinnacle of power by the chieftain's mighty afforts and by the battless of blood became discoverer of America, gazes in triumphant hap-piness at dawn of day upon the first outline of new Columbia and forecasts perhaps the fame of its people four centuries later. With the set-ting sun goes out the light of the great com-mander of armies looking upon a fallen empire. With the dawn of day begins the glory of the famous captain of the western ocean looking for-ward with prophetic vision upon a rising realm. At the Turn hall democratic meeting Monday night, the first mass meeting of the German-American Cleveland club, Philip Hugo presided. The speaker of the evening was Ernest C. Stahl of Trenton, N. J.

Daniel O'Reilly, Luke Martin, George H. Reilly, James Patterson and Michael Bridget. The committee was continued to arrange plans as to compensation, etc., and will meet again Saturday evening. Voted to pay the bill of M. J. Redmond & Co. of $378.75 for work on the Fair street sewer, and $50 to T. S. Greenslit for damages caused by blasting at the stonecrusher. A request for a street lamp was received from several residents on River street. No action was taken on the matter, which it was thought should come before the board by the usual way in the form of petition. The board adjourned at 8:20. George Broadwell, sr., who numbers his years away up in the eightys, has recently shown that, although he has passed the usual age allotted to man, he has not as yet lost any of his youthful vigor while hunting on the mountain near Paugh pond he started a woodchuck, and not being provided with a hunting dog, he started on a chase after the game and overtook it, and succeeded in killing the same with a stone. With invited friends he enjoyed a fine support from the came. fine supper from the game.

Mrs. Sydney James has gone to Green-"I have seen a great many men killed." said Burke McMahon to the writer. "I was with Thomas at Chickamauga when his corps stood like a rock the brunt of the Confederate attack, and with Grant when he hurled his columns at the heights of Vicksburg. I have seen commanding officers torn to pieces with a shell and beardless boys dead on the battlefield with their mother's picture pressed to their cold lips, but I never had anything affect me like the death of a couple of young railroad men in Texas seven or eight years ago. I was riding on the engine of a fast passenger train, and at Waco the engineer got orders to look out for a brakeman who got orders to look out for a brakeman who was missing from the freight we were following. He was supposed to have fallen between the cars of his train. "My brother is breaking on that train; I wonder if it can be he? said the fireman. Til keep up steam while you stand on the pilot and watch out," replied the engineer. The fireman took his post in front and we pulled out. We had just got well under way when the fireman gave the signal to stop. The engineer applied the air-brakes. They failed to respond and we were on a down grade and could not stop. The missing brakeman was lying on the track. missing brakeman was lying on the track, missing brakeman was lying on the track, badly mangled, but conscious. He raised his hand and frantically signalled the train, but the great iron machine went plunging down upon him at a rate of twenty miles an hour. The fireman cast one despairing look at the engineer, then sprang in front of the pilot and hurled his wounded brother off the track. But he was not quick enough to save himself.
