It is now more than a year and a half since a considerable number of our native-born inhabitants proposed to erect a monument commemorative of the valor and patriotism of New Haven nen in resisting British invasion in 1777, as soon as the Court of Common Council would furnish a small piece of unoccupied and almost valueless land, at the junction of Davenport, Congress and Columbus avenues for the purpose. A petition to that effect has been before that body ever since but, notwithstanding repeated efforts to obtain action upon it, it till slumbers, and what has become of i is "one of the things which no fellow can find out." Is there no member of the Court of Common Council either of native or foreign birth who is sufficiently interested in this matter of local history and onor to hunt for the petition, and when found induce his fellow members to make one the old traditions die. William Tell as been blotted out by scientific investiga tion, and Barbara Freitchie has been made loubiful. And now we are called upon to believe that Medford rum has not played the part in the civilization of Africa which that particular brand of rum has done vast amount of work in Africa, and not good work either. It has been said that the workers for the good of that benighted country were met at every turn by the owerful agent of evil produced at Medford and that many of their best efforts were nullified by it. Preachers have preached about the largest stock of crushed to earth, has at last risen. It appears that no Medford rum has gone to Africa for fifty years. There has never been occasion for its exportation, as it has ses, Neckwear, etc., to be always been impossible to supply the home found in this city, all at demand. The Medford distillery is a small one, its product being only fifteen or twenty barrels a day, while the demand is said to be ten times as great as the supply. To embark in the export trade would mean competition with a cheaper grade of goods, necessarily leading to a decrease in the

But it is interesting to notice that the Africans have not been drinking Medford rum when all the civilized world thinks they have, and that the Medford folks have no special responsibility for the drunkenness that exists in Africa, though they have long been charged

THE FINANCES OF THE FAIR. appears to have been good all around, and especially so in the financial department. Comprising a line of all grades of Carpets, from the finest to More money has already been paid out than the directors thought would be necessary to complete it when congress voted to send the exposition to Chicago. Ten million dollars was thought to be the limit then, but the expenditures to December 1 have been $12,460,235,61. The receipts have been $13,229,451.98. The available balance on hand December 1 was $636,068.33, about enough to last two weeks, at the present rate of expendiures. But souvenir coins are coming soon and the directors have nearly $2,000,000 yet in exposition bonds from which no cash has been received, so the machinery will be kept well greased.

One of the most interesting features the finances of the fair is the fact that while Chicago was only required to furnish $5,000,000 in the form of a popular subscription, the sum of $5,959,560 has subscription, the sum of $5,959,560 has been pledged and from these pledges $5,433,989.40 has been already realized. Holders of $511,725 shares, or $5,117,250, have paid their stock in full, the remainder of the subscriptions being in different states the subscriptions being in different states of completion. The $5,000,000 in bonds pledged by the city of Chicago has been paid in to the last dollar, and he last of that magnificent donation was expended by the directors several months ago. Of the issue of $4,000,000 world's fair bonds, $2,125,000 has been converted into cash and most of the proceeds poured with a princely hand into Jackson park. It is worthy of remark in noting the receipts of the exposition company that $171,162 has already been eccived in gate receipts, which means that ince last May nearly 700,000 people have oald to get in the grounds and observe the narvelous growth of the white city. This is certainly a fine showing. cago is called the windy city, but blowing hasn't managed the preparations for the great show in the way they have been man-

One of the curious revelations of the Massachusetts election returns is the fact that 68,045 voters voted to retain the old provision that the governor of the State shall own £1,000 worth of land. They were in a minority, however, and hereafter there will be no property qualification at tached to the governorship.

"There is nothing like leather," used to be the saying, but it is about time to change it to "there's nothing like paper." Boats, carriage and car wheels, railroads horseshoes and household furniture of this material have ceased to excite wonder But the announcement that paper is now taking the place of glass in windows will arouse general surprise. The paper panes resemble milky glass, it is said, and possees the property of being pervious to heat, while only partially admitting the light rays. This, combined with their superiority over glass in point of strength and toughness, makes the paper windows especially serviceable in greenhouses and

The Hartford Courant is getting a good deal of merited praise for its fine special edition, printed on its new press. The most interesting part of the contents of the big paper is that devoted to an account of the past and present makers of the Conrant. We notice that, with character istic modesty, Mr. Charles Hopkins Clark, one of the owners and the managing editor has allowed very little reference to himself or to his work. As everybody who knows about Connecticut newspapers knows what an important and useful part of the Courant he is, this omission is perhaps not s serious matter, but it would not have been improper for him to have taken his fair share in the celebration and the rec ord. He should have remembered that material for his "obituary" will be wanted

Though through its front doors perfumed gal Are blown from glens of gladness, And through its back doors music strains Roll in in waves of madness. And though be hear and beed each tone, The prisoner still must dwell alone.

Though past the windows of the jail Sweep scenes of solemn splendor, And through the doors float hymns of joy Or dirges deep and tender, The prisoner hears the mirth and moan, But in his jail he dwells alone. On the shoulders were draperies of stuff like the dress, scalloped and buttonhole stitched on the edges. The plain skirt was finished by a double row of scallops made in buttonhole stitch. The girl's hair was a sort of red gold, and her dress was just the shade of orange yellow you would have thought she could not wear, but which made her quite lovely. All the stitching was in black, and the transparent yoke and sleeves were dazzling white, so her cream skin showed through like peaches in snow, as the novelist would put it. "Roland Graeme, Knight: A Novel Our Time," by Agnes Maule Machar. A story which shows a practical familiarity with the "seamy side" of life, and un dinchingly portrays many of the miseries of the poor. The much discussed question of labor and capital comes in—the needs and demands of labor, and attempts to enforce them by strikes and the methods of its manifastation, both for a vil and definition and the methods of its manifastation, both for a vil and ods of its manifestation, both for evil and good. But the story is not over-serious, for it has its romance also, and it is both wholesome sud stimulating. Perhaps the best index of the purpose of the book might be found in its note of dedication to Lyman Abbott, D. "Zigzag Journeys on the Mississippi." 'From the site of the World's Fair to the Tomb of Columbus," by Hezekish Butterworth, editor of the Youths' Companion. This is the fourteenth annual volume of the famous Zigzag series, whose sales have exceeded three hundred and fifty thousand volumes. The author very appropriately in this Columbian year sends his young voyagers through the country connected with our early history, and the volume is full of Columbus stories and the historic places visited. The trip is made down the famous Mississippi river across the Gulf of Mexico to Havana. Like the other volumes of the series it is fully il-lustrated. Estes & Laurist, Boston. For sale by E. P. Judd.

"Through the Wilde," by Captain Charles A. J. Farrer. This well known writer has already established his reputation for accurate and graphic descriptions of the woods, lakes and mountains of New England. Probably no one man is so familiar with the hunting grounds and the trout streams of Maine and New Hampthire as Captain Farrer, himself an ar-dent sportsman. The present volume is the result of over two years careful preparation, and briefly stated it is a fascinaing narrative of the adventures of a parting narrative of the adventures of a party of young men traveling through the woods af Maine and New Hampshire, with stories of their camp life, fishing, shooting, etc. It is admirably illustrated with over three hundred engravings from original drawings and photographs. It is well printed on fine paper, and makes a large octavo volume, bound in cloth, black and gold. Two dollars and a half. Estes & Lauriat, Boston. For sale by E. P. Judd.

"The Boys of Mirthfield Anddemy" and

"The Boys of Mirthfield Academy," edted by Laurence H. Francis. This is one of the brightest books for boys published this year. To all who enjoy reading of English school life this book will be espec-ially welcome. It deals with the trials and tribulations of a new boy at school, his sports and pastimes, and is illustrated with numerous original drawings by well-known English illustrators. It is a book in which even boys of a larger growth will find themselves interested, as it takes them back to the days when it was hard to convince them that "youth is the time to learn." Estes & Lauriat, Boston. For sale by E. P. Judd. "School Boy Days in Russia," by Andre Laurie. Translated by Laura E. Kendall. A capital story of school boy life in a country which abounds in interest. The author relates, in a way that will at once attract the reader, the numerous adven-tures which befall the hero. The story will interest older readers, being, in fact a novel in which Russian life and manner are very vividly portrayed. The volume is well illustrated with twenty-six origi-nal designs by the well known French ar-tist, G. Roux Estes & Lauriat, Boston. For sale by E. P. Judd.

and the pavement and street also. Here it may be well to notice that there are no files in the Berlin market-halls. This fact adds not a little to the general attractiveness of the market-halls. An hour after the market has been closed no one in passing would dream that the nice, trim-looking building, with large windows and skylights, was a market, but would suppose it to be some sort of an exhibition building. Indeed, it is a sort of an exhibition o be some sort of an exhibition building Indeed, it is a sort of an exhibition building; certainly it seems so to the American, for so many things are exposed for sale—things interesting, curious and beautiful. In the central market one can buy anything for table supplies, groceries included, and I believe all kinds of kitch en furniture and cooking utensils, for hardware, wooden and tinware, chins and glass are displayed there in abundance and variety. In all the Berlin market-halls one can buy meats, fish, domestic and foreign fruits, vegetables, eggs, butter, cheese, bread, cakes, flowers and plants, baskets and wooden ware, brushes, ropes and twines, and some staple groceries; and moreover pigeons, canary birds, white moreover pigeons, canary birds, white mice and goldfish are offered among the other attractions. The stalls are usually These market people come early in the morning and remain all day, and this gives support to a restaurant connected with the market. Here are cooked all sorts of vi-ands which appeal to the German taste, and thence are served many litres of foam-ing beer daily to the thirsty market "fran-en." In winter, when the halls are cold and draughty, the waiters are kept busy running with bowls of hot soups, stews, etc., and glasses of steaming hot rum and water; but in summer "beer fresh from the eask" is in greatest demand, and near y every market-woman has her glass be ide her, and after one customer is served will take a draught to sustain her until further demand is made on her strength. Since nothing is delivered from the markets except at the expense of the pur-chasers, in the main aisle there stand in line a number of old women, with large baskets strapped on their backs, who for a few cents will carry the purchases of any lady who has not brought her maid.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN. sendation From the Board o Finance That no New Streets be Top Dressed, That the City Printing 1 Restricted Acted Upon-The Esti mates Tabled for Printing.

A ten-minute session of the board of alermen was held last evening, thirteen embers of the board being present. The eport of the board of finance on the estinates of the various departments for 1893 was tabled for printing, after which the collowing reports from the board of finance reference to the city advertising, and the top dressing of the streets of the city, vere read and tabled for printing. The report of Aldermen Doody an Slakeslee, the committee of the board of finance appointed to examine into the matter of city advertising, is as follows: ter of city advertising, is as follows:

Ordered, That hereafter city advertisements shall be inserted in one evening and one morning paper printed in English and published in the city of New Haven, and it be ordered that all the city advertisements for any single month shall be inserted in the same morning paper and in the same evening paper, and that no one newspaper shall receive city advertisements for more than one meath out of three and that the three morning newspapers printed in English and published in the city of New Haven shall take and receive compensation for the city advertising, a month each in rotation and so on, and the three evening papers likewise.

Be it further ordered, That after January 1, 1853, the city advertisements shall be inserted in the Connecticut Republicaner during the months of January, April, July and October of each year only.

In reference to the matter of street pavement the board of finance recommend-ed that "top dressing" or "hardening with stone" be discontinued as a street pave-ment in the city of New Haven on the ground that the great expense of keeping "hardened" or "top dressed" streets in good repair had forced the board of finance o its conclusion in the matter.

The board further recommendates of the following order: Ordered—That all unexecuted orders for hardening with stone" or "top dressing" treets be and the same are hereby rescinded.

BOARD OF COUNCILMEN The board of councilmen held a very short meeting last evening immediately after the adjournment of the board of aldermen. The session was called princi pally for the purpose of giving the coun-

COST OF RUNNING THE CITY. The Report of the Board of Finance as to the Expenses and Income for Next Year-The Police and Fire Departments Receive Increased Ap-

The report of the board of finance in eference to the estimated expenses of the city for 1893, which is printed in full in nother column, shows that some interesting trimming and pruning has been done by the city financiers with the appropria-tions asked for by the various departments of the city.

In the board of public works this year the amount appropriated was $131,180, while during the coming year the board will have to content itself with an appro-priation of $131,401.46, a decided reduction. In the police department a slight norease is noted. Last year the department had $151,751.39. This year it will have $155,102.38. The fire department's appropriation last year was $99,194.61, out this year's appropriation is $121,595, the $25,000 appropriation asked for a new engine house on Artisan street being al-lowed.

BRIDGEPORT, Dec. 12.—To-morrow a surrey by the Consolidated road of a line around and across the northern part of the It is ha city will be begun, and is a strong indication that the company is at least thinking of carrying out the project of cutting across that part of the town. It is certain that the work is to be begun, and that fact at least proves that the officials of the road are considering such a move. They may not have decided on it, but it is not improbable that before long the main line of the road will run not across the harbon as at present, but across Berkehire pond. The report that the survey would b made has been confirmed, and to-morrow morning the work will be begun by Scofield & Starr, who two years sgo laid out a line across the same territory for the corpora tion. The layout will leave the present line at a point just a short distance east of the Fairchild chemical works. It will cross the northern end of Moody's pond, pass ing Park avenue just south of Wade street and crossing the Housatonic tracks at a point just north of the Parrott varnish featows.

From there it will curve to the north ward, crossing Lindley street just east of the old parallel road layout, and then be carried over Berkshire pond a little north by west of the present bridge. It will curve around the hill on which the home of the Rev. R. G. S. McNeille stands, and then be run in almost a bee curve in the present road which lies due north of St. Michael's cemetery. In this straight-away stretch it will have to pass the high hill on which the hospital stands, and this will be tunneled. The change, as made by this survey, would effect quite a saving in both distance and time to the company.

The Hon. Nathaniel Wheeler was seen at his residence this afternoon by a reporter of the Bridgeport Standard. He did not deny that a re-survey was to be made in the northern part of the city. "If such a survey is to be made," said Mr. Wheeler, "the result will have to be presented to the board of directors for their consideration. It will then remain with them to announce what course the company will

"How about the present tracks in case the road should decide to build around the city!" asked the reporter.
"If," and Mr. Wheeler laid particular stress on that little word, "the company should decide to build around the city the present tracks would remain undisturbed. Nearly all passenger trains and all through fast freights would run over the new tracks, while all local freights would utilize the resent tracks."

"If the present tracks should be used, as you suggest, would not the company still have to abolish the grade crossings?' continued the reporter.

"Not necessarily," said Mr. Wheeler.

"The rate of travel would be very slow.
It would be, as I have said, nearly all freight traffic and the speed would be very slow. If the road should be built sround the city the tracks will be constructed so as to avoid all grade crossings. I can eav nothing in regard to the matter at pres-ent."

Death of Rev. Mr. Corbit. Rev. William Pitman Corbit, aged seventy-four, died Sunday at 412 Adelphi street, Brooklyn, N. Y. The last parish over which he presided was that of the George street M. E. church of this city. While in New Haven he contracted a severe cold from which he never fully recovered, and was compelled to resign his pastorate. This was in 1882. He is well remembered here. He was an able and powerful respective and recovery powerful preacher, a devoted pastor and a man of note in the Methodist ministry. He served in the ministry fifty three years.

Screamed for Help. under the influence of liquor, went to his home on Columbus avenue. His wife was sick abed and delirious, and Koch thought | Basket, that she might hurt herself. In trying to that she might hurt herself. In trying to hold her he was by no means gentle. He hurt her so that she soreamed for help, and James Massey rushed into the house to her aid. Koch drew a revolver and a knife and pointed them at Massey, threatening fo kill the latter if he did not retire. Officers Klaiber and Leutenbach appeared on the scene and arrested Koch for breach of the peace.

HYPERION.

Cleveland's minstrels drew a light house at the Hyperion last evening. The program consisted of a conventional firs part, followed by some clever specialties The singing was good, and the jokes, though of the conventional sort, were fairly well told. The dancing of Barney Fagan and the performances of the Arabs, which closed the show, were features. The tumbling and balancing feats of these last exceeded anything ever seen on the stage of this theater.

J. K. Emmett will be seen in his play, "Fritz in Ireland," this evening. Of the play it is said: It was no disappointment to hear again the sweet richness of tone in the lullaby made famous by the Fritz of loved memory. Miss Emily Lytton and the company give excellent support and Fritz will always be warmly welcomed by the play-goers. The scenery was very fine.

Diplomacy will be presented on Thursday evening next by Rose Coghlan and Charles Coghlan. Miss Coghlan will play the Countess Zicka, Mr. Coghlan, Henri Beauclare; Sadle Martinot, the Dora; John T. Sullivan, Julian; Frederic Robinson, Orloff; Robert Elscher, Stein, and the other characters are equally well cast. other characters are equally well cast. Sale of seats now open.

Richard Mansfield comes on Friday evening in "Beau Brummell," and Saturday afternoon appears in "The Scarlet Letter."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The Dixon Vandeville and Specialt company proved a great attraction at th Grand Opera house last evening. The "standing room only" sign was displayed at 7:45. Unlike other vaudeville shows having prize fighters as the principal attraction, the rest of the company was composed of the best material obtainable. The company itself, even without Dixon, would be as good as any in its line on the road. Effie Huested and Mable Guyer, in their character change sketches, introduced a little poodle, who waltzed so prettily around the stage as to win long plandits from the audience. James McAvoy, a New Havan boy, who is with the company its from the audience. James McAvoy, a New Haven boy, who is with the company, captured the house with his popular songs and parodies, and was received with rounds of applause. Space does not permit us to make special mention of all the individual players, but the public can safely judge the company when it is known that such players as James Howard, "Billy" Williams, John Daly, Annie Devere, Frank Ries, Fred El. Daly, Annie Devere, Frank Rice, Fred El mer, John Binns, Jessie Burns, John Edagar and James Curren are with it. No one appeared to meet Joe Walcott, but the bout between George Dixon and Eddie Daly of Providence was a rattler and pleased the sporting people, all of whom were delighted with the form displayed by the chocolate boy.

John A. Steven's melodrams, "Wife for Wife," will be presented the last three days this week.

days this week large audience was present in the Ne Haven opera house last night when the curtain arose in the first act of "The Runaway Wife." The reputation of the play and the recommendations of the stars, Miss Aydelle and Mr mendations of the stars, Miss Aydelle and Mr. Sullivan, gave assurance that good things were in store, and so the people came and went away pleased. The play was first produced by McKee Rankin, and has been produced in all parts of the country with the greatest success. The play is not of the sensational order, but is intensely emotional, and has many passages that touch the heartstrings of human sympathy. The story is not, however, altogether emotional, for there are bright gleams of comedy that relieve the heartstrings of human sympathy. The story is not, however, altogether emotional, for there are bright gleams of comedy that relieve the heaviness of some parts and add to the strength of others. As an actress Miss Aydelle stands upon good merit. She lends to her part womanly grace and pleases the eye with a fine figure and good diressing.

Mr. Sullivan, who plays the part of the blind artist, is a talented romantic actor, and at times he rises to a high altitude of effort that loses nothing by being true to nature. The force he puts into the utterance of his lines added to their strength as words and called forth great applause. The other characters were well presented, although the most notable of the lesser lights was Bebe Hele, who introduces some of the best dancing seen in New Haven this season.

The comedy scene between Hester Eastman and Dr. Prescott is very good. The part of Hester is taken by Bessie Keslie, that of the doctor by T. C. Howard.

The company will continue the same play the entire week, with daily family matinees.

Mr. Peffer advocated the joint resolution, and declared that the Indian territory was a refuge for thieves, burglars and murderers. There was a very general demand, he said, on the part of the people in the west (and also in the east) that the government should take some action, and take it early, to throw open all the unused lands of the Indian territory, and that the people who need homes should go in and obtain them. He believed that the time had come for congress to lay bold hands on the Indian

Mr. Cummings (dem.) of New York offered for reference a resolution reciting an editorial in the New York Sun of the 30th

This editorial charges that clerks in the department at Washington are in the habit of excluding newspapers from the privilege of being carried in the mails as secondclass matter without previous notice to the fixed term of enlistment and recruited from to be under the jurisdiction of the class matter without previous notice to the publisher, and that such action is intend-ed, and further that "it has been dis-covered that there are persons residing at the national capital who will attempt the adjustment of difficulties of this sort for a money consideration and seek employment on the score of influence possessed with persons occupying responsible positions." "And whereas," continues the recitation, "it is further stated in said editorial artieles that the oateneible reason for inter-ference with the distribution of trade journals is a desire to keep the mails from be-ing loaded down with advertising matter for which the people have not subscribed, yet during the months that preceded the election many million campaign documents were carried in the mails at rates not allowed to publications issued for business urposes or in the interest of such causes purposes or in the interest of such causes as temperance or religion."

It is again recited that "men holding important offices under the administration have received the same privileges permitted to campaign committees, but pronounced illegal when ordinary citizens would seek for them. The postmaster general and the superintendent of the census have each taken personal advantage of the op-

ANOTHER NEW BANKING BILL. WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 .- A comprehensive bill to enable national banks to inrease their circulation and to suspend urther purchases of silver was introduced n the house to-day by Representative Anlrew of Massachusetts.

The bill contains 32 sections relating to the national banks and one relating to the silver law. The banking sections are intended to carry out the recommendations made by the comptroller of the currency hat the banks be allowed to increase their volume of circulating notes to the par value of the bonds, deposited as security, that the minimum bond deposit be reduced to $5,000 in case of banks whose capital exceeds $50,000 and to $1,000 where the ceeds $50,000 and to $1,000 where the capital is smaller, and that the duty of one-half of 1 per cent each half year levied upon national bank circulation be repealed. The section relating to the silver law simply provides "that so much of chapter 708 of the acts of the first session of the Fifty-first congress, approved July 14, 1890, as authorizes the purchase of silver bullion by the secretary of the treasury and the issue of additional treasury notes therefor, is hereby repealed." changing the banking laws. SPEAKER CRISP'S SETBACK. The turning down of Speaker Crisp at the Reform club dinner Saturday night is still the theme of much comment here in both houses to-day. It would seem that the majority of the straight-out leaders had been studiously ignored by the mug-wump managers. The speech of Carl Schurz was calculated to send a cold chill lown the back of a democrat who believes down the back or a democrat who believes in rewarding partisan service. Representative Tom Johnson, who made the attack on Orisp, was the man who was instrumental in getting Henry George's book on "Progress and Poverty" printed in the onal record and circulated at the congressional record and circulated at the public expense as a democratic campaign document. The democrats in the house sustained Johnson in that course by yea and nay vote. Johnson was also the real leader in the movement at the Chicago contender in the inversent at the Chicago con-vention which resulted in the rejection of the compromise tariff plank reported by the committee on platform and the adop-tion of an out and out free trade plank, denouncing protection as "unconstitutional" and "a fraud." It is significant that he and "a fraud." It is significant that he should be invited to speak at such a dinner in preference to Speaker Crisp, and that Henry George should preside at one of the tables at that dinner. But the most significant in the state of the sta ificant action was the snub administered

HARTFORD, Dec. 12 .- Florence Smith, a estitute woman, aged twenty-eight, was found dead in East Hartford meadows at 3:30 this afternoon. The body was frozen stiff and from the first examination i seems that death must have resulted from exposure. The clothing was removed from portions of the body, but there was no sign of violence. The woman was las seen going across the East Hartford bridge from Hartford about 9 o'clock. With her was a man with whom she was laughing and carrying on. It was thought that she was under the influence of liquor at the time. The two evidently went together into the open fields back of the meadow schoolhouse. The man's dethe meadow schoolhouse. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—President amuel Gompers opened the twelfth annual session of the American federation of labor in Independence hall this morning. An address of welcome in behalf of the United Labor league of this city, was selivered by George Chance of Typographical union No. 2, in which he said that, 'measured by the wealth that has been gathered, Pennsylvania is great, prosper ous and powerful. Measured by the condition of the producers of that wealth, the state is poor indeed." He held the laws of the nation and the state partly responsible for this condition of affairs. President Gompers replied briefly for the federation, thanking the laboring men of Philadelphia for their welcome and for the admonitions that had been given. He ascribed the wrongs of workingmen in Pennsylvania to two causes—the comparative lack of organization among the labor-ing men of the state, and the devotion of vage-workers to partisans first and to

As it was the understanding of the burgess in question that the first vote was to be a complimentary one, and and would not decide the question of appointment. The opponents of Officer Rellly are also determined in their efforts that he stall not be reinstated, and claim they have sufficient proof of neglect of duty and other well sustained charges to convince any unbiased committee or the board of surgesses that the dropping of O'Reilly and substituting Heineman was right and was for the best interests of the taxpayers. There promises to be an interesting meeting of the board of burgesses this evening, when the matter will be the principal business to be acted upon.

land and Italy. GENOA, Italy, Sept. 15, 1892.—Left New York August 27 on the steamer Werra, Captain C. Pohle, commander, of the Nordther Lloyd line, for Genoa via Gibraltar, a magnificent steamer of 5,000 tons burden, which made the passage in eleven days. The officers of the ship, from captain down to steward, were indefatigable in their attention to the wants of the passengers, among whom were Baron Fava, Italian minister at Washington, a very polite and affable gentleman; and H. Albert

Johnson, United States consul at Venice, who well merits his position by his courtesy to all who were on board. The first land we saw after leaving New York was the rocky and precipitous shores of Africa, and then a short time afterwards the rocky, frowning fortress of Gibraltar, all honeycombed inside with port holes from top to bottom for cannon—England's famous stronghold, the key to the Medit-erranean. There were also plenty of iron-

They brought on their return a generous supply of the fruits of the island, such as figs, pomegranates, peaches, etc., picked fresh from the trees, which was very refreshing after eight days on the ocean. The sail from Gibraltar to Genoa, up the Mediterranean, occupied the best part of three days. The shimmering of the full moon, as it srose over the placid waters of the Mediterranean at night, was simply grand, and as the passengers one and all said, was worth the voyage to see. It has to be seen to be appreciated. When we were about 100 miles of Geneva we came to the Riviera of the Mediterranean, extending from Cannes in France to Vernazza in Italy, studded with health and pleasure resorts, among which were Cannes, Nice, Mentone and Monaco, the white marble walls of Monte Carlo, its famous gambling resort glistening in the famous gambling resort glistening in the moonlight. We arrived in the harbor of Genoa early in the evening of September 7, but were not allowed to land till next morning. The city was all ablaze with electric lights, the city was all ablaze with electric lights, the globes arranged so as to represent the national colors of Italy, green and red. The situation of Genoa, rising above the sea in a wide semi-circle and its numerous palaces, justly entities it to its name "Genova la Superba." With regard to the proposed school meeting, the acting school visitor is anxious that it should be held, in order that the blame for the existing state of affairs may be placed where it belongs, wherever that may be. No doubt school matters past and present will be no worse and may be better if given a little publicity.

At the annual meeting of the First Ecclesias-tical society Charles T. Walker, Elmer E. Thomas and William H. Warner were elected society's committee, E. W. Beecher clerk and A. L. Sperry treasurer. Dec. 12.—It is said that a school meeting will be called in the near future in this district to take some action with regard to a teacher's salary, which the authorities refuse to endorse on account of some illegality. Evidently some of us have forgotten, or never knew, that there was passed over; no doubt but shoth occasions, as well as other sundry matters, will be well ventiated. Your correspondent hopes to be able to report proceedings fully.

The ladies of St. John's church, North Haven, in which are included all the societies, will give an entertainment in Memorial hall Wednesday evening. It promises to be a fine affair.

Tuesday evening at the grange will be children's meeting and the little ones are anticipating much enjoyment.

Various ladies have been busy making and getting together useful articles for Miss Dowd to distribute at Christmas in her missionary work in North Carolina. One barrel has been sent, other goods will be forwarded later.

His father held a clerkship in the postoffice. When fourteen years of age young Packard went to sea. He was a sailor for nine years, and one year later, in 1854, on April 20, he was elected a member of Hartford's old night watch. With the organization of the Hartford police department Packard became a patrolman, to which position he was appointed July 14, 1860. He was elected lieutenant of police January 2, 1882, and chief November 10, 1871, when the late Walter P. Chamberlin was suspended. He resigned the position April 24, 1875, when the police board voted to restore Chamberlin. He was born in Hartford July 18, 1832,

Unprecedented Offer!

Consultation, Examination and Treatment Free for One Month.

For the purpose of extending the popularity of the Vitapathic Medical Institute and Dr. Damon's system practice we have decided to give every person who desires such consultation, advice, examination and treatment as may be indicated in each individual case for a period of ONE MONTH FREE OF CHARGE. Although the time and expense to us in doing this will cost us many dolars, yet we feel that the number treated will be so large the cures made so varied and the good we shall do will cover so large a field that the advertisement will be double what could be obtained by the expenditure of $3,000 in any other way, who hope by making this very liberal offer to bring to the notice of all invalids our special system of practice that has already worked so many marvelous cures. And all we ask in return is that every pat'ent treated will state to their friends the rear obtained in their cases.

We re wen to positive of the grand schievements to be has through this popular system we noticile would reconstitute out the contraction of the grand schievements to be has through this popular system we ments to be had through this popular system we certainly would not make the offer which appears United States Rubber Co.
