Dr. Roth's Treatment.

Mr. Frederick W. Prout is a well known resident of East Haven, having lived there all his life, and what he says can be relied upon. In speaking of bis condition, he gaid: "I suffered with catarrh and dyspepsia for a long time. Having read in the papers of the past year of the many cases cured by Dr. Roth's treatment I decided to try it, and to say I am gla! I did is expressing myself mildly. My Stomach Was Very Weak.

My Stomach Was Very Weak.

I wou'd gag mornings trying to raise the phlegm which was constantly dropping in my throat. I was more tired when I got up in the morning than when I went to bed. I had dull heavy pains, or headaches, over my eyes, and was run down generally, and felt weak all over. I had lost all ambition or desire to work. Under treatment I commenced to improve at once, and in a month I felt like a new man. No gagging in the morning, no dropping in the threat, no trouble with my stomach; in fact, all my bas feelings are gone, and I should be glad to tell all afficted, as my advice is to try FRED'R W. PROUT, Mr. Prout lives in East Ha-East Haven, ven, and will verify this Conn. statement to anyone calling upon him. Since making this statement, Oct. 29, 1892, 1 can say the cure has remained permanent. Jan 4, 1803. FREDERICK W. PROUT. A DANGER SIGNAL.

Consumption the Result.

The natural tendency of anyone who has catarrh is to consumption, and especially is it so when the patient is of delicate constitution or has any hereditary tendency. Such cases should at once have their condition attended to no matter how slight the attack, for every new cold will lessen their chances for a cure. Cases of this kind are cured if taken in hand by one who makes a specialty of these troubles.

Dr.Roth's Treatment for chronic diseases is the result of years of experience in thousands of cases. All neclicines are prepared at the office, permanently located at No. 87 Church street, and the charges in each case are reasonable. Catarrh he charges in each case are reasonable. Catarrh ured, as well as all diseases of the nose, throat, unga, stomach, heart, liver, kidneys, skin and tervous diseases, rheumatism, asthma, bronchi-is, consumption, dyspepsia and deafness, diseases of females, piles, fistula and all rectils diseases.

The Oldest Daily Paper Pub-lished in Connecticut. The Baldwin episode came to a satis

It is, of ourse, impossible to tell just what happened, but it is evident that there were changes on both sides of the house. That there were enough to do the business is a good thing, and if there had been longer to make the people of the State believe that Professor Baldwin is not a good lawyer, and a man of strict integrity. They were not prejudiced by the fact that he had been successful as attorney for a railroad company. They know that railroad companies get the best law yers they can find, and they also know that many good railroad lawyers have made good judges. They didn't care anything about his alleged coldness. Indeed, they considered that a rather useful quality for a man who is set to do justice to have. They didn't consider it strictly necessary that he should be a moss backed Democrat. They didn't care much about the political games involved. And they thought that both Professor Baldwin and

What can he be thinking of? Who! Post master General John Wanamaker. What on TEA GOWNS and has he done? Why, if you will believe it, he has gone and issued invitations to all the employes of his department to come to his reception this evening. Of course these people call on him are human beings, and they must live in the same world with Society, if they live at all. But many of them are very common persons, don't you know! They work for a living and they work hard. They are not desirable persons to know. They can't trace their ancestry any farther back than Adam. They haven't money or credit enough to make a show, and they wouldn't know how to if they had. They are simple, plain people, who don't have to say that they are not at nome when they are at home; who don't have to keep the idea constantly in mind | Education were competent to decide as to that they are superior to other people, for fear that they and other people might forget or not notice the enperiorit;; who lon't have to act as if their branch of the iuman family was the whole family; who lon't have to gauge their relations with their fellow beings by slips of pasteboard ssed around at the right time and in the ight way; who don't have to spend their me in doing just as the others in their set" do; who don't have to be polite while engaged in stabblez their dearest friends

He owes it to himself and to what Onida would call his "order" to keep them in their places. They are uppish nough as it is. They are getting strange ideas enough without any assistance from him. We shouldn't be at all surprised if ome of them were unable to se the real difference between themselves and Washington Society. It may be that some of them think they are quite as good, quite as worthy and quite as respectable as any nember of that Society. And they may even have dreams of a society where they will not be looked down upon because they do useful work for small pay, and where their character will count for more than their money or their style. If Brother Wanamaker hasn't made a nistake, as Society certainly thinks he has, then he may be a wise man. A Hindoo sage was besought by a number of dindcos who had been drawn to him by his great reputation for wisdom to teach hem. He was unwilling to undertake the work, but after being long and eagerly importuned he arose and led the way to the village and the parishs. He of those who had been so eager to become

When the tools are finished they are brought here and stored with furniture, in order to divert suspicion, in some place where an apartment can be rented by the year. The most expensive tools in the burglars' kit are the drag, jackscrew, diamond drill and sectional jimmy. The best jimmies now in the market are made in Pitteburg, and one of the finest sets ever seen in this city was captured last week in a vacant lot in West 10th street, where they had beer left by Mark Hanley, a tool-maker from the west. Hanley got away. All the tools that are need in safe breaking are not stored in one place, as they cost from $256 to $500 for a full set, and it is cheaper to pay rent to store them than to get new ones made. The sectional jimmies are oft-en carried in gun cases when the gang is on the road, and the other tools are hidden in trunks and hand bags.

The improvements in safety devices to protect safes, such as time looks and other electrical appliances, have rendered the burglars' kit useless on vaults, but there is plenty of room to use them all over the country in small banks and other places where the latest improvements have not been adopted. Time locks are now at-tacked with dynamite and nitro-glycerine, Architect,

That was a good answer that one of drookline's best known divines made the other night after prayer-meeting. Coming out of church, one of his parishioners said to him: "Doctor, don't you know that it would be impossible for anyone to live up to your preaching in this world" "Ab," said the genial reverend, "don't you know I have to blow at the rate of ten knots an hour to keep you fellows going at the rate of five?"

It was Thanksgiving night, and after attending the theater, he took the girl whom he was later going to ask to be his wife to a little supper. Arrived at the home of his step in a few moments. That was the time he had been long looking forward to, and he had not the least idea but that her reply to the most momentons question of his life would be in the affirmative. He was somewhat dazed when the young lady, for whom he had spent a greate portion of his salary for several months past, told him that while she did not love him enough to become his wife, still she did think considerable of him, and would

Just as the aplause died away Representative Saxe, who has a seat just in the rear of Mr. Gunn eached over and stuck a big white feather n the latter's hair, which performance fairly brought down the house, and th onflict was ended in the best apparen eeling on all sides. At a cancus of the republicans held during a recess of the house, between 11 and 12 o'clock, it was decided to stick to the former action and vote against Professor Baldwin, and until the deciding vote was announced the republican leaders were confident that the annotationary would be rejected. Many of appointment would be rejected. Many of the republicans at the last moment, how-ever, decided to break away from cancus rule and vote to confirm, and this, with the change of vote among some of the dem-ocrats, caused the result. Seventeen rep-resentatives had changed their votes, and six who voted at that time were absent to-

The Baldwin resolution was the firs matter taken up, with the New Haven pe tition signed by the members of the bar when the house again met. Mr. Hamersley moved that the matter be made the special order for next Wednesday, and that they vote to recede and concur with enate.

Mr. Wood of Manchester objected t this, and thought that two motions should not be included in one. Mr. Gunn of Milford moved that the

The next move was a motion to immedi tely consider the matter of appointment. Mr. Lees, dem., of Westport, made the first speech in favor of Professor Baldwin. Mr. Lees est forth in an earnest way the eminent qualifications of Professor Baldwin for the position, and ending by finding considerable fault with Mr. Gunn and saying he thought he needed absolution.

Mr. Gunn said:

"I never asked the gentleman from Westport for absolution for my conduct or my vote the other day, nor have I asked anybody else for absolution for what I have done. I am not here in the position of a penitent. I believe the laws of the state of Connecticut have placed on me a duty and I have endeavored to perform that duty. The press of the state have been telling us what to do in this matter, but I don't believe it is always advisable to accept the judgment of the gentlemen of the press. I desire at this time as a democrat, which you are not, to protest against your action as voting against Mr. Baldwin, a man your auper? I nevery respect. I never valsed any question as to the temperature of Mr. Baldwin. His friends did that for him. He may be as sunny as the sunny south. These questions do not enter into this thing. I didn't say anything about him socially as a senator (Fox) did yesterday in the senate. That senator said he never met him socially, only professionally. I didn't make a personal attack on Mr. Baldwin and if I said anything personally of a derogatory character about him I desire most certainly to retriet it. He is honorable, well read in the law beyond a doubt, but I don't think he is the Almighty. I receast here what I said the other day on this issue."

COMMITTEE HEARINGS. At the hearing before the committee o cities and boroughs of the petition of the Morris Cove Electric Road company for an amendment to its charter authorizing it to build an extension of its present line and to build a power house to cost from $50,000 to $60,000, Corporation Counsel Driscoll, n behalf of New Haven, asked for a poston behalf of New Haven, asked for a postponement of the hearing on this petition so that the New Haven court of common council and the citizens of New Haven could take action on whether to favor the smendment or oppose it.

Mayor Sargent vigorously urged a thorough consideration of all those petitions of electric roads, and the granting of an opcontradity to the people to be heard in such portunity to the people to be heard in such cases. Valuable franchises were asked for and the matter should have an ample hearing. A sharp tilt between Attorney Wag-ner and Mayor Sargent occurred. Mr. Gunn of the committee jokingly said

The petition of James M. Every resident and property owner, something like 150 in all, along the proposed line favors the read and have signed a pelition to that effect. George H. Townsend and others spoke in favor of the read, developing the idea that it would not only be a great accommo-dation for many people, but would also very materially aid in booming the property skirting the line. There wasn i any ody to oppose the petition. Mayor Sargent, however, interposed the objection that this petition should be in-quired into like all the rest, and binted that the route of the proposed road was over a fine driveway of New Haven. Mr. George H. Townsend replied that the road would be a vast benefit to the property of the town. Mr. Wagner said the Morris Cove from those men under whose guidance Yale's athletics have been so successfully carried on in the past. An action such as this means a break in the spirit which has constituted our unity, that mutual feeling of confidence which has bound together the athletic managements, the university and the graduate coaches, strikes a blow at Yale's credit in her dealings with outside colleges, for last night, the first time in her history, she has repudiated the action of her representatives. It now remains for those who have brought about this unfortunate condition to point out that remedy which the men who have studied the athletic problem for years have apparently failed to discover.

Counsel Driscoll, "you want charters to

The people living in the western part of the city are very indignant over what they claim was a lack of proper precaution on the part of the board of health. They seem to think that the source of the present scarlet fever scourge has just been dis-sovered. In the dwelling house at 157 Winchester avenue there were six cases of scarlet fever. The building is owned by the Oliver Winchester estate and was torn down early this winter. It was a frame dwelling and the wood was sold for kindlings, and the idea has got abroad that people in various parts of the city who bought the firewood have run a great risk. They claim that shortly after the wood was sold the disease George Ringler of the Ringler Brewing broke out simultaneously in the several sections where the wood had been pur-chased. In addition to doing this the board also approved the bill of Expert Accountant Morse, amounting to $445, for services rendered in examining the books of the late clerk of the board of public works, Frederick H. Waldron. The bill was signed by the members of the board without comment, al though it had been reported that there would be considerable opposition to it.

Tax Collector Tuttle and Major Strong appeared before the board in reference to the collector's bill of $585 87 for improvements made in the hall, one-half of which was for improvements to the tax collector's office. A Charming Little Book. Mrs. Delia Lyman Porter of this city, laughter of the late lamented Professor C. S. Lyman of Yale, has written and published a charming little book entitled "The Blues' Cure" and other stories. It can be read by young and old with profit, and while interesting and instructive this unpretentions little work bespeaks higher re salts from the author's pen should she de-cide to enter further the literary field. The stories all have a moral, are all bright and original and bear the stamp of individual ity in thought and expression, and are withal devoid of a preaching tone, yet inculcate the moral and spiritual lessons tended with force and power and a pleas-ing sunny serenity of style. The little volume is in handsome cloth covers and published by Anson D. F. Randolph & Co., 182 Fifth avenue, New York.

A meeting of the Young Men's Jefferson club of the Seventh ward, held last evening at Allen's hall on Grand avenue, to nominate a successor for ex-Alderman Kelly, resigned Alderman Moore pre sided, and when nominations were called for George M. Grant was the only one named. He was unanimously nominated.
Mr. Grant is president of the club and is very popular in the ward. He is one of the most notable building contractors in the city. It is thought that his extreme popularity makes him doubly sure of elecoppularity makes him doubly sure of elec-ion as the other faction will probably not nominate in opposition to him.

John F. Shanley acted as secretary the meeting, which after the business of nominating had been transacted became a social gathering. Singing and instrumenta music was furnished by McCarten & Mc

The production of "The County Fair" last evening was greeted by a large sized audience. Neil Burgess as "Abigail Prue" played the part as only he can. Burgess is a comedian whose movements are always attended with smiles, even in the momen of pathos in which his play abounds, while his genial and infectious humor in the ridiculous complications and scenes by which the play is diversified rendered his undience almost over-ready in approving his geniality. The play was well staged, and as usual the concluding incident of the race brought down the house. There was good singing, good company and a thoroughly satisfied audience. The play will e repeated this evening and to fternoon.

Mr. Boutelle said it-was perfectly well understood by everybody who read the newspapers that the democratic party had announced its purpose of accomplishing the repeal of all the federal statutes which had any bearing on the election of mem-bers of congress. No prominent member of that party would deny the fact. When the question as to their repeal came up in regular and proper form he would be ready to meet it. But this attempt was a little premature. It was unwarrantable and improper to attempt to break down the system of federal supervision of elec-tions in this insidious and piecemeal way. The gentleman from New York knew and the country would know that he was attempting by putting a rider upon an appropriation bill to insert the entering wedge to accomplish the repeal of the statutes which asserted the prerogative and power of the United States to throw safeguards around the honest election of mem-pers of congress.

Mr. Boutelle said it was the nullification with the declaration that the old downs of states rights had been exhumed and re-galvanized to such an extent that a government should have no power to enact the slightest law to throw any safeguards around the purity of election of members of congress he wanted them to do it in an open field, so that people might look at them and see what kind of men they were.

one of the most important laws in the framework of our government. It was a law which touched the membership of this body. It was not right; it was not broad-minded; it was not patriotic for men to come here and seek to utilize a prejudice against a single individual in order to do a thing of such deep importance. (Republican applause.)

Mr. Rockwell of New York thought there was no necessity for the gentleman from Maine getting so excited. He quoted from testimony taken by the Davenport commit-tes to show that while money had been ex-pended to prosecute alleged illegal voters pose of this amendment was intended to deprive Mr. Davenport of funds which had never produced a conviction, but which had created hardships to hundreds of per-sons. He did not wish the men who did this sort of dirty work (viz: annoying vot-ers) paid out of the national treasury at the hands of a democratic house. (Demo-

After many remarks Mr. Ray withdrew his appeal and a vote was taken. At first the republicans showed a disposition to filibuster, but as the democrats mustered a quorum a few of them voted, and the mendment was agreed to—172 to 47.

The committee then rose and reported the bill to the house. The amendments, except those to which opposition was made, were agreed to in bulk. The Fitch amendment was agreed to, yeas 181, nays 80. The next vote was on the Enloe amendment giving preference to domestic marble over foreign marble in the material for the construction of the new congres-sional library. The amendment was lost, yeas 11, nays 130.

Mr. Coggawell moved to recommit the bill with instructions to the committee on appropriations to report it back with an item appropriating $650,000 for supplying artificial limbs to disabled veterans. Lost.

The bill was then passed, and the house adjourned.

He says the statutes relating to the transportation of merchandise between the United States and British possessions should be the subject of revision. The nomination of Judge Jackson as I Q. C. Lamar's successor came as a great surprise and was received while the senate was in executive session. There was no om nent made on the floor, but the re publicans gathered about in little groups and discussed it. With the exception of a few who think the president should have appointed a republican the nomination was well received. There will, it is said, be little, if any, opposition to confirma-Mr. Boutelle said it was the nullineation of existing law by an insiduous method. It was doing by indirection what ought to be done, if done at all, directly and manfully in the open light of day. When the gentlemen whished to go before the people appointment is considered from a judicial and not a political view as a splendid one. About the supreme court it is said that President Harrison has shown once more a great deal of judgment in his selection of a man for a place on the bench of the highest tribunal in the land. It is stated that Mr. Jackson has made a fine circuit

Senate. The vice president laid before the senat communication received by him from Senator Carlisle notifying him that he (Mr. Carlisle) had sent to the governor of Kentucky his resignation as senator, to take effect on February 4. Placed on file. Mr. Sherman reported from the committee on foreign relations a resolution (offered originally by Mr. Higgins) requesting the president to furnish copies of correspondence and other documents in connection with the bridging of the Ozama peinted by the vice president as tellers to assist in counting the electoral vote on the 8th of February. A concurrent resolution from the legis-lature of Oregon requesting the senators from that state to use all honorable means to secure the annexation of the Hawaiia by Mr. Dolph, and was referred to the committee on foreign relations. The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Chandler requesting the president to enter into negotiations with the commissioners of the provisional government of Hawai for the annexation of the Hawaiian island was (on Mr. Chandler's motion) referred to the committee on foreign relations. The District of Columbia appropriation yas considered and passed. The senate then adjourned. Mr. McMillan of Tennessee, from th committee on rules, reported a resolution providing for the daily meeting of the house at 11 o'clock. Adopted.

Mr. Catchings of Mississippi, from the same committee, reported a resolution providing that immediately after the adoption of this resolution the house shall proceed to consider the bill to increase the circulation of national banks and for other purposes, and if the bill is not disposed of on that day then the consideration thereof

Mr. Hatch denied that there was a single nendment sent to the house by th amendment, nor was there a suggestion in a single amendment that would bring the bill within the house rule that it must first considered in committee of the whol tricken out every section of the original entirely new measure; unless that measur parried an appropriation or made a charg considered in committee of the whole. This had been held time and time again by Mr. Beatner inquired whether if the original bill had merely put a tax on the article of flour, it would not have to be onsidered in committee of the whole.

Mr. Hatch replied that the gentlemen were drifting away from the issue. They showed that they did not remember that on the 5th and 6th of last June the first on the 5th and 6th of last June the first motion made in regard to this bill was to go into committee of the whole for its consideration. The original bill was a bill raising revenue. But the gentlemen opposed to the measure should not recognize that fact. For two days they held the house in obeyance by brute force.

Mr. Kilgore of Texas suggested that if the bill was one which must go to the committee of the whole it must first be remittee of the whole it must first be referred to the committee on agriculture or some other committee for examination. If it was that it did not have to go to the committee of the whole it could be at once be considered by the house.

The speaker then said that the chair had no notice that this motion would be made this morning. He had read the senate amendments. He had only heard them read by the clerk. The question involved was largely a matter of fact and the chair would like to read the amendments and examine them before he gave his decision.

Mr. Boutelle of Maine wanted to reach the real object of the amendment. There were some gentlemen who believed its object was to prevent the employment by

He added that the government, as at present advised, did not intend to send warships to Honolulu. The government considered that the lives and property of British subjects in Hawaii were cafe under American protection. (Cries of "Hear! Hear!")

Edward Grey said it was impossible that a British warship on structed and owned in this country and betion was to protect the United States treas-ury sgainst frauds as flagrant as had ever to Honolulu. A question put by Sir Francis Powell nservative, to the secretary of admira ty, elicited a similar response.

Apropos of the Russian seizures of British sealing vessels and the treatment accorded the crews of the seized vessels, Siz Edward Grey stated that the British am bassador at St. Petersburg had been in structed to ask that an inquiry be made in to the matter and redrees furnished. The Russian government had promised both. Another "fishing" question came from the Irish bench. Mr. Arthur O'Connor,

Night. SPRINGFIELD, Mass, Feb. 2 -Wallso W. Holmes will be hanged to morrow morning for the murder of his wife, Nellie Holmes, the execution being the first in the York street jail. Sheriff Clark, who officiates, has been in office just a month and never witnessed an execution, but he is an excellent military officer and no bungling is looked for. The significance of the stipulations contained the fairness of the stipulations contained to the execution will take place in the guard room from which the corridors of the iall run the scaffold being erected in front of the door, so that the condemned man must be led to it from the fron stairs to the balcony. The gallows was built for the execution of Loomis in 1883, which was the third held in the county. Loomis was hanged in the old jail on State street, now a military armory, and there have been no executions in the county since. Among the witnesses to the hanging will be the prison committee of the legislature who are soothing their nerves in the op-era to night in preparation for the event. About fifty invitations have been issued for the hanging and to avoid the awful stillness usual at such occasion they will be kept standing. Deputy Sher iffs Lombard, S. T. Miller, W. S. Mille and Henry McDonald, all of whom particl pated in the previous execution, will assist on the gallows, but Sheriff Clark will touch the spring himself, Rev. J. F. Fagan of the cathedral will offer spiritual consolation to Holmes, accompanying his to the gallows: The crime for which Holmes pays th penalty has been regarded as peculiarl atroclous. On election day in November 1891, the body of his wife, who had been missing two months, was found in the cellar of his house on a lonely road near the outskirts of Chicothe ground under a trap door. Holmes them, but has not accepted any of there was brought in, and when the police unwas brought in, and when the police uncovered the remains he said: "That's her." When asked: "How do you know!" He was confused and tried to explain a certain peculiarity. He had maintained all along that she had eloped. He denied all knowledge of the crime, but was tried in June and found guilty. Sentence of death was pronounced October 28, after the supreme court had reviewed the case supreme court had reviewed the case. Holmes was defended by Lawyers Green and Druce of Holyoke, and lately H. C. Bliss has become interested, asking for another trial of the case on new evidence. This was the testimony of Holmes' nine-year-old boy, Harry, who broke down after his father's arrest. He said his September 1, 1891, and ordered his wife to get up and prepare breakfast. He at-tempted to pull her out of bed and when she resisted he kicked her in the side. He ran away and when he came back saw his ran away and when he came back saw his father standing over the trap-door. This evidence was not introduced by the attor-ney general, as it tended to show murder in the second degree, and he was afraid the sight of the lad testifying against his father would awaken sympathy with the jury. Lawyer Green claims he did not know just what the boy was prepared to say, and as his client insisted on his inno-cence he did not put the lad on the stand. Holmes has since said the boy's story was true. Had he done so at the trial and put the lad on the stand many believe he would have escaped with a verdict of mur der in the second degree. The presence of sand in the victim's lnngs, however, in dicate that she had been buried alive, and as Holmes had oftened threatened to kill her he had little sympathy. Holmes was born at St. Albans, Vt., in 1843, and served in the Flifth Vermont Infautry. In late years he had been a hostler.

Holmes is passing a restless night, pacing the corridor. He bade farewell to his lawyers about 11 o'clock. The priest had told him of the failure to secure a re-prieve. He went over and watched the workmen making the noose, and asked to Murdered Her Husband.

New York, Feb. 2 .- At 148 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn, the police this afternoon found the dead body of Mrs. Jacob Plimmer in a bedroom on the second floor with a bullet wound in her head. Her husband was shot through the abdomen and, although conscious, was believed to be dying and was immediately taken to the Methodist hospital. After his arrival at the hospital Pimmer said that he had a quarrel with his wife just after he came home to dinner. The dispute became very bitter and his wife shot him with a 32-calibre revolver. The Soldiers' Home Lockup. The Stamford Advocate explains tha he legislative bill to provide a lockup at the soldiers' home in Darlen is prompted by the fact that when inmates are arrested while away from the institution on leave of absence, the expense of their commit nent to jail, if such commitment occurs comes a charge on the town where the arrest took place.

These towns are opposed to being taxed for the purpose. So far as the veterans are concerned the question is a different one. For them it is claimed that the law should be changed so as to require their confinement in the proposed "lock-up" to be maintained at the home. Judge A. B. leers of this city, chairman of the execu-ive committee which has charge of the come, has been conferred with twice in rehome, has been conferred with twice in regard to the bill, but has not yet committed himself in favor of its adoption. W. A. Booth and Henry Darrow are negotiating for the purchase of the livery business of the late Larry Hosey on Colony street, and it is probable that a bargain will be closed to day. The condition of Albert Austin is extrem-ly critical, the trouble having developed into rheumstlem of the heart. Last evening he was unconscious and the water was gathering about his heart. A letter received yesterday from Mrs. F. M. Tyler states that the weather at Fort Pierce, Fla., has been extremely warm, and parasols and sunshades are necessary while out of doors in the middle of the day to insure safety from sunstroke. The Meriden papers seem to be trying to see how many different ways and how far from the right way Dr. Delcher's name can be spelled. There was another wedding in town yes-

PLANETARY CONJUNCTIONS. What February Skies Have in Store for Amateur Astronomers. There are seven conjunctions in which the moon and planets figure in the events of February, two of which are exceedingly close, and, weather conditions proving favorable, will be attractive celestial pictures. The series opens on the 5th with a fairly close meeting between the waning crescent and Saturn, but the hour is not a favorable one for the amateur astronomer. The day following the phase of the last quarter Uranus and the moon are at their closest for the month. On the 14th Venus and Luna exchange compliments, followed by Mercury about four hours before the old moon gives way to the new on the 10th.

On the 20th we have the prize tableaux in which the father of men and gods will appear almost enclosed in the arms of our satellite, a picture well worth standing out in the evening to watch. The following evening Mars is occulted, but as the planet is so much less brilliant than Jupiter the impression upon our senses will not equal that of the evening before. In the January meeting between the moon and these planets Mars received the first visit, whereas this time Jupiter is first, which shows us that the latter is now nearer the sun and has passed the warrior. On the 23d, the day of the quartering of the moon, Neptune is in conjunction, but is almost 5 degrees to the southward.

The City Guard Masquerade. The ninth annual masquerade ball of the New Haven City Guard will be held at the armory on Meadow street next Monday evening. Activity in Distillers and Reading-Gold Shipments Check the Rise-Richmond Terminal Advances-The Reading showed considerable strength in the early dealings, rising to 50%, but retired to 489 Good buying in the last hour brought it to 439 showing a loss of a nly one-quarter, in explanation of which it may be said the story came from Philadelphia that the Reading and Boston and Maine people had secure1 control of the Old Colony. A SPECIALTY

Simply-Soak, boil and rinse. Then it's easy enough-and safe enough too. Millions of women are washing in this way. Are you? Soak your clothes in Pearline and water (over night is best); boil them in Pearline and water twenty minutes; rinse them -and they will be clean. Yes, you can wash them without the boiling, but ask your doctor to explain the difference between clothes that are boiled, and clothes that are not boiled-he knows. When you think what you save by doing away with the rubbing, the saving of health, the saving of clothes, the saving of hard work, time and moneythen isn't it time to think about washing with Pearline? Send Peddlers and some unscripulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back.
