Epps's Cocoa. "By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourseives well fortiled with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Easily and cheaply made at home. Improves the appetite, and aids digestion. An unrivalled temperance drink. Healthful, foaming, luscious. One bottle of extract makes 5 gallons. Get it sure. This is not only "just as good" as others, but far better. One trial will support this claim.

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING One Dollar Per Year (in advance)

A WORD IN AN EAR Gentle Connecticut prohibitionist, in cline one of your lengthy and capacion ears this way, and let it take in a question What do you think of the visible result, up to date, of your political campaign against the Demon Rum! For years you have fought the Republican party, because, as you said, it was in league with the Devil, meaning, of course, the Devil of Rum. You have boasted that you would knock out the Republican party on election day, and you doubtless take pride in the thought that you did. You certainly did what you could toward the knockout difficulties at the commencement of his career. Marboeuf was the first to suspect his genius and to shove him ahead. CONFIDENCE AGAIN SHOCKED. It is not often that the publications of any of the departments at Washington contain much that is of general interest, but one recently made by the Agricultural department does. From it t sppears that butter may not be butter, even if it is not oleomargarine. There is "a giltedge butter compound" in the market, which will yield two pounds of butter against one made by the old way. The directions for its use are to take a pint of unskimmed milk and mix with it as much of the substance as you can heap on a dime, together with salt enough for a pound of butter. "Add to this one pound of soft butter, and churn until the whole mass has come to butter, when you have two pounds of butter and no milk ! This recipe was tried by the Agricultural department, and it worked beautifully. The diluted butter looked as nice as the pure. But samples of were examined by the chemist of the department and indicated that there was no solid good in the method. The component parts came out as follows: Water 49.55 per cent., butter fat 45.45,ash 1 34, card and undetermined 3 66 per cent. Against this the department tried some pure dairy butter by analysis, and found the component parts of this product as follows: Water 15 92 per cent., butter fat 80.53, ash .38, curd and undetermined 3.17 per cent. Examining the compound for its ingredients the department chemist found out that it was partly composed of with a mixture of butter and milk it was mixture under the shake of the churn. For the secret mixture the company making it charged $2.50 per two ounce package, but the government officials ascertained that it was worth but three cents a the drug store. Well, well, well! Is it possible that the honest farmers who are so down on oleomargarine are giving us "gilt-edge" butter! What a world this is, when even that old standby, bread-and-butter, is a fraud.

American prairies becoming extinct was not so much dreamed of. For ages they had wandered in countless herds on the plains on the eastern side of the Rocky meat. Thousands were killed for their tongues and the steak cut out of the hump-the most delicate part. "voyagers" and the fur traders obtained their "pemmican," did not suffer from the demands made on their numbers by the Indiane; but the white hunter, with his ever improving fire arms, did the work of destruction. Where once the heards were drive them gradually to the edge of a preci pice and there frighten them over, none can be found. At last the United States can be found. At last the United States government awake to the fact that America was upon the point of losing the bison. The sgents of the Smithsonian institute had a difficulty in procuring some specimens which were required. The result was that a small herd of about forty is mow strictly preserved in the Yellowstone park. But one or two wander away most years. But one or two wander away most years and are coon silled when once outside the protected territory; the security of the herd is consequently by no means assured. The news, therefore, that a number of Nebraska buffaloes have been imported to this country, having been obtained for the purpose of being turned down into and are soon killed when once outside purpose of being turned down into some of our parks, will be welcomed by our nat-

Indeed when we look at the bison's European relation, the surochs, we may well doubt if the genus bison will long remain an inhabitant of the earth. It may be many years before we quite lose it, for representatives will probably liager for a comparatively long period preserved in parks, just as the ancient white British cattle linger now. But, as in the case of the latter, the want of fresh blood and be subsequent close interpreeding will tell og fertility, until in the course of years the last representative of the race will die and the world know them no more. We may safely say the extinction will not hap-pen in our own time or even in that of the ext few generations; but it is to be feared

QUEEN OF THE EVENING SKY.

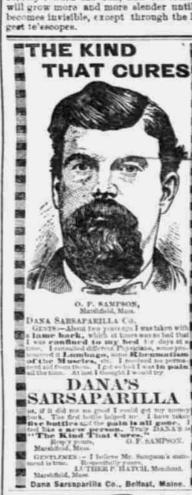

Seautiful Venus is Re-enthroned for a Long Resplendent Reign. From the Philadelphia Record. Venus, after and absence of nearly a year, has again made her appearance as an evening star, and may now be seen for a he will continue to adorn the western skies during the remainder of the year, growing brighter and brighter, and not eaching her greatest brilliancy until the 6th of January next. As Vesper, the evening star par excel-ence, this brilliant planes, which Homer ages ago apostrophized in words endorsed eautiful star that stands in the heavens, is always a welcome visitor and an object of keen interest for every one whose eyes are open to the beauties of the starry fir-mament. As a "naked eye" object it stands without a rival. Even Jupiter, the giant of the solar system, and Sirius, the giant among the fixed stars, pale before Venus when at her brightest. One would suppose that Venns would form a splendid object for a telescope. On the contrary, it is one of the most difficult ects in the heavens to see satisfactorily with this instrument. Its decaling light rings out all the defects of a tele and, being low in the heavens after dark, it is always more or less tremulous. The best telescopic views of Venus are obtained n broad daylight, when it is high above the hor zon; all astronomical studies of it are made at that time. Thus viewed, with its strong light subdued by the glare of the day and posed upon a background of bine sky, it is indeed a beautiful object, resemions, but free from the dark blotches that isfigure that luminary.

Venue has no markings distinguishable with a small telescope; it is interesting mainly for its changing phases. Being an "inferior" planet and passing at times be ame changes of aspect as are familiar in the monthly changes of the moon, with the important difference that, being when 'full" nearly seven times as far away as when in its most slender crescent phas laneous Jottings. Beautiful, historic old Litchfield! Con sectiont's pride and boast. A town whose name is tenderly cherished and loved in many hearts. The birthplace of many of Connecticut's noblest sons.

Ramble About This Historic Old Town-The Litchfield Fire Engine House-The Litchfield County Club Casino-Personal Items and Miscel

This historic old town, nestling away up n the Litchfield hills, 1,300 feet above the level of the sea, rejoicing in the purest of air and of water, is in all the glory of its summer garb of green. The grand old elms which adorn the village gracefully bend their drooping boughs over the ancient streets. The stillness and the quiet of the country prevails. Yet the old town is peopled with many visions of personages long since passed from the world's stage of action, and as you walk its quiet, peaceful streets you seem to see the little old law school, presided over by Judges Reed and Gould, and which in after years became famous for the men who went out from its walls. Washington himself twice passed through the village and the places at which he was entertained and the chairs in which he sat are now treasured by the ownspeople with the greatest care. But Litchfield is by no means a town of the past, but a thriving borough of 3,300 souls, at the terminus of the Shepaug Litchfield and Northern railway, and four and one-half miles from East Litchfield and one-half miles from East station on the Naugatuck road. The principal streets are named after the cardina points of the compass—north, south, east and west—in the center of the town. Perhaps the most remarkable thing about Litchfield is its fire engine house. There certainly is not another in the world like it, and any modern city which should per chance vie with this in elegance of detail beauty of design or completeness of execu-tion would certainly fall far shor tion would certainly rain far abort of the mark. The house is the gift of Mr. J. Deming Perkins, one of Litchfield's wealthiest men, and is estimated to have cost about $60,000. The building, a three-story and basement brick structure, is built in the old Dutch style. In the first story is the large room for the hook and ladder truck and the two hose carts. This floor is utilized for dancing when the fires of the season are not to numerous. In the rooms back are bath rooms and a kitchen with complete culi nary apparatus to serve the weary firemen with food and drink after a fire and incidentally to prepare an elaborate banquet for the dancers after the ball. On the floor above are billiard and reading rooms for the dancers after the ball. for the doughty firemen to amuse themselves withal tween fires. WOODMONT ON-THE SOUND, July 27. The summer is being pretty thoroughly enjoyed by the residents and cottagers a his attractive and charming little sumner village. There is hardly a ripple of xeltement to stir up the peaceful and restful condition of the place or to worry those who have sought enjoyment and repose. The fight over granting a license to

Mr. Sanford of the Merwin's Point House was a pretty bitter one both on the part of the opponents and of those who favored There seems to have been a somewha erroneous impression that has gone out tnat all or a great majority of the cottagers were opposed to granting Mr. Sanford the license. Such, however, is not actually the case.

But all manage to have a pretty good time here all the time in spite of everything. There are pleasant breezes blow ing nearly all the time. The boating and pathing are excellent and the view of the sound, which is obtained here, is unrivalled in beauty. There are large number presses one with Litchfield it would be hard to state. But you certainly feel as though you had visited an ideal town.

But before leaving we must yet notice one familiar figure on the street. Silas E. RAN TO HIS DEATH

A Horse Killed on Chapel Street. There was a lively runaway on Chaps street last evening, between 6 and o'clock, which caused the death of a horse belonging to J. Manwaring, a driver for Watrons, the Chapel street baker. The horse was being driven to the stable, which is on Chapel street, by a young boy named Thompson, and when in front of Wooster place he turned out for a car coming from the boat. The horse started to run, headed for one of the trees directly in front of ex-Mayor Holcomb's house, and struck the tree and turned completely around and fell over on the ground, his neck being broken. He died in a short time.

Some time since mention was made in one of our papers of a new discovery for ouring acute pains, especially rheumatic pains, by means of the heat produced by an electric light. While this may be a sate and sure cure, another discovery has recently attracted our attention which, while depending upon heat to accomplish its results, promises so much more that we would call the attention We refer to Vapopathy. It is indeed a wonderful discovery and one essentially suited to this age and to this climate. Its principle is heat—heat diffused throughout the body and penetrating to every part. It produces a heat that overcomes all scute pains as if by magic, it relieves heumatism at once; it cures all kinds of eadaches in a few minutes; it is a positive and sure cure for pneumonia and pleu-risy; in fact, it is a household panacea, southing the children, helping the father and comforting the mother. Vapopathy is something no home should be without; it is a remedy for all emergen-cles and one that can be depended upon.

TWICE IN THE CHAIR. forrible Scenes at the Electrocution of Murderer Taylor-The Footrest Gave Way and Then the Dynam Connected the Apparatus With an Electric Light Plant and He Was Finally Killed. " AUBURN, N. Y., July 27 .- William G.

Paylor, colored, was executed by electricity

this afternoon for the murder of Soloman

Johnston in Aubusn prison February 20, 1892. It was twenty minutes to one when the warden invited the witnesses to follow him to the death chamber. State Electrician Davis was at the electric cabinet and his preliminary tests with the bank of incandescents were entirely satisfactory, the dial indicating a voltage of 1,320. In the morning it had run up to 1,820 volts. Two priests, three keepers and the con demned man soon came in from the adjoining room and Taylor was placed in the chair and tightly pinioned. When all was ready the signal was given and the current turned on. Taylor's powerful frame shot back and up until the straps creaked and simultaneously there was a crash unlike anything ever heard before in the death chamber. The strain upon the foot-rest had broken it and the underpinning of the chair gave way. The body sank to a re-clining posture, with the victim's feet resting on the floor. The spectators were star tled, but did not move. Everybody sup posed the victim was dead from the firs shock, when a strange noise was heard. He had begun to gasp for breath, and sa-liva was seen to exude from his mouth. "Turn on current," was the command of the warden, and Electrician Davis tried to obey, but was dumbfounded to find no response to the turning of the lever. The lynamo had broken down. The labored preathing of the victim continued, and his chest heaved convulsively. Davis hasten ed ontside to the dynamo to ascertain the rouble and found the armsture had been ourned out. The victim who was now gasping and groaning aloud was unbound and was placed upon a cot and carried into the ad-joining room. His pulse grew stronger and he endeavored several times to rise from the cot. Physicians said he was un-conscious, precisely in the condition of a presented by the new clauser, discussion was to be cut short. CONNECTICUT OXEN. Connecticut's exhibit of work oxen at the world's fair will be made in October, and thus far there are entries from no other states. They will be in charge of Mr. Augustus Hamilton of Bristol, who has been selected by the state board of ag-ciculture.

Hon. Leverett Brainard returned fartford yesterday after a sojourn here or some time as a member of the United Governor Waller has also been here of late as member of the same commission. Both these gentlemen have unqualified commennt state building.

Connecticut people who are limited in their time at the exposition can very much expedite their sight-seeing by securing a competent guide to lead them to the most notable sights. The right kind of a guide will enable a party of half a dozen or more be likely to see without a guide in four

There is no lack of guides here, especially f the kind that wheel chairs; but I have een none I can so thoroughly recommend as Mrs. A. D. Perry, of the department of publicity and promotion. Mrs. Perry was for two years in the office of Director-General Davis, and knows the expositi from start to finish.

Letters intended for the Connecticu tate building should not be addressed to the "Connecticut House," Chicago. There is a hotel somewhere in Chicago by the latter name, and letters addressed to its care have been held there a full month. "Connecticut State Building, Jackson Park, Chicago," is about as near right as need be.

HE CAN FIND A TEXT. " If Professor Drummond can come to see he fair, he will find here a text for anothr interesting sermon—the greatest sight n the world. No visitor takes his departure without saying that no pen or tongue can do the subject justice. People who do not have pretty good prospects for the future certainly ought not to miss it, for it is easy to believe that nothing will ever beat it this side of heaven.

COURT RECORD.

Probate Court-Judge Robertson. In this court yesterday the hearing or the application for the appointment of conservator over Mrs. Maria Bates of West ville came up, but was again continued until some future date.

The application was brought by the electmen of the town of New Haven upon the request of George N. Bates of Bates & Townsend, a brother of Mrs. Bates' husband, and Mr. Oatman, a cousin, the alle gations upon which the application was drawn by the selectmen being the treatment Mrs. Bates had subjected her huswas eighteen. During the succeeding three years, and until he was about twenty-one years old, he was employed in the Medican Comb company's factory in Merican. From there, about the time of his home unpleasant and had finally driven him out of it. It was further alleged that he was an old man and having fractured his leg he was now almost helpiess, and what was wanted was a portion of the money his wife had secured from him to help support him. From what was said in the probate court yesterday there appears to be another side to the question.

COTTAGERS AGAIN PROTEST. James O'Connor Wants a License to Strongly-The Hearing Before the

Before the county commissioners yesterlay was partially heard the application of lames O'Connor of Branford for a license to sell liquor at Pawson Park. Mr. O'Connor applied for a license at Pawson Park several weeks ago, but his application was ejected on account of irregularities in not complying with the law by designating just where his proposed saloon was to be

Now, after the fifteen-day limit for bringing a new application has passed, Mr. O'Connor comes before the board, this time informing them that he proposes to locate a saloon at the entrance of Pawson Park, be-tween that place and Indian Neck.

All the commissioners were present at 10:30 o'clock, when the hearing opened. Attorney W. L. Bennett appeared for the remonstrants and Attorney W. A. Wright or the applicant.
About twesty remonstrants were present o oppose the granting of the license. Paul D. Beach, son of the late Samuel Beach, was the first to take the stand. He told he commissioners about the land on which Pawson Park, Indian Neck and Sunset

Beach are situated and how it is beld un-a ninety-nine year lease from the Congre-gational church of Branford. All the land is held under deeds prohibiting the sale of liquor on the premises. Attorney Wright objected to this testimony coming in on the ground that the land on which Mr. O'Connor proposed to locate a saloon was not held under any such restriction and therefore such testimony was irrele vant. But Attorney Bennett claimed that it went to show that the place was unsuitable, and the commissioners ruled it in. But when Attorney Bennett attempted to show that some one had tried to secure a use there four years ago and had been refused the commissioners ruled it out. Mr. Beach further testified about the unsuitability of the place on account of the family residences and the presence of large numbers of Sunday school picnic very week at the park.

On cross-examination of the witness Attorney Wright asked him if beer wasn't sold openly in the park. He said there had not been with his knowledge or conent. Mr. Wright asked him if the Sons of St. George didn't hold a picuic and sell beer on the island. Witness said he eer on the islan lidn't know of it. didn't know of it.

Edgar H. Martin, lessee of the park, and manager of the Margaret, was the next witness who protested against the granting of the license. A license would injure the property and also the plenic business, as church parties wouldn't go down there so often if there was a saloon near the place. often if there was a saloon near the place.
On cross examination, Mr. Martin said that liquor had been sold on the Margaret "on occasions in a nice way." This admission gave Attorney Wright an opportunity to put several sarcastic questions to Mr. Mar-tin. The attorney also dwelt upon the fact that the bar-room already located at Bran-ford Point was not much further off than Mr. O'Connor's proposed saloon.

Judge Hobart L. Hotchkiss, who has Junge Hobert L. Hotchkiss, who has a summer cottage next to the Montowese house, testified that he thought a saloon would be a detriment to the pionic parties and also to the cottagers. He thought that inamuch as there were plenty of places where some classes of people could go to have what they termed a good time, as for instance Savin Pook. astance Savin Rock, there ought to be least one place where another class of people could go to have their own kind of a good time. Pawson park was peculiarl adapted for a Sunday school and churc plonic and ought to be allowed to remain

Judge York, another cottager at Indian Neck, testified that he was influenced in buying property there because of the liquor restrictive clause. He thought liquor should be kept away from Pawson dark in the interests of those who enjoy viciniza there.

DEATH OF MAJOR H. H. STRONG. Life of Hemarkable Activity and Usefulness Ended-A Sketch of His Career-His Death Deeply Regretted

The death of Major H. H. Strong, which occurred yesterday morning, will be deeply felt and mourned in this community, in which he has so long been an active figure in public enterprises, in military circles,in the board of education, and as a prominent business man. Genial, companions ble, alert, ready-witted, full of activity and enterprise, public spirited and generous his death is sincerely mourned and regret-George W. Bennett, for the last four ted. A year ago he apppeared the picture of health and prospective long life, but an insidious disease attacked him and slowly, but surely, Bright's disease undermined

From the first his case had been regarded as one of a very serious nature by his medical advisers, but his true condition was not known to him until a few weeks ago. With his naturally lively and hopeful temperament he could not realize that his case was alarming, and until a comparatively recent date he was disposed to hope for recovery. Until a few days ago he rode out a little nearly every pleasant day. Among his intimate friends and neighbors his death is felt as a deep per-sonal loss and bereavement. Major Strong gave up all business after his return from North Carolina, where he went a number of months ago to try the virtues of medicinal mineral springs, but from which he returned sensible of no improvement. In addition to Bright's disease there was a heart difficulty which complicated his condition. On his return from the south he placed himself under the care of Dr. F. H placed himself under the care of Dr. P. D. Whittemore. Later he consulted Dr. Delaneld, a New York specialist, who, after diagnosing his case, advised him to continue under the care of Dr. Whittemore, who would do everything possible for him. He returned and has since been treated by Dr. Whittemore, who has done everything possible for him in prolonging his life and alleviating in a measure his sufferings.

Hon. H. H. Strong was born in Durham, Conn., May 24, 1832. Reared in a farming community his education was limited, and he began early in life to do his part in the labor which went on about him. He was a farmer's boy of all work between the age of seven and sixteen years. After that he was a farm hand, working for the small

Richard F. Phalen has brought suit through his attorney, C. S. Hamilton, against the city to recover damages to the amount of $2,000. The papers were served on the street of the street to its present location on Long Wharf. Mr. Strong took an active interest in public affairs and was known as a reputable and upright business man. Politically he was a republican At different times he has been associated with various enterprises besides that of his present firm. He was president of the Strong Fire Arms company. He had been from time to time called to various positions in the municipal government. positions in the municipal government. He had been a member of the board of education for the past eleven years, and as chairman of the committee on buildings rendered valuable service. He buildings rendered valuable service. He was an ex-selectman, serving on the board for several years very efficiently. In 1877 he represented the town of East Haven in the state legislature. In politics he was always a staunch republican. He rose from a rivate in the Governor's Horse Guards to private in the Governor's Horse Guards to the rank of captain and then of major. His loss is very deeply felt by this organi-zation. He had long been identified with the Second Congregational church, Fair Haven. Mr. Strong was married October 0, 1855, to Sarah R. Johnson of this city He leaves two daughters, Mrs. George M. Baldwin of Fair Haven and Miss Addie Strong.

Besides his wife and daughters, the leceased leaves two brothers and a sister.

The funeral will take place Sunday from his late home, 242 Quinniplac street. Mr Strong was a member of the Second Con gregational church, and the Rev. Mr. James of that church, who is on his vacaion, will return to conduct the services Major Strong succeeded the late Hugh

Dailey as the member of the republica tate central committee from the Eighth listrict and worked energetically for the paign.

Major Strong will also be deeply missed at the Second church. He was for a num-ber of years chairman of the society's committee of the church and was a taunch and indefatigable worker and lil eral giver in any movement to benefit the church's finances or general prosperity. He was also a member of Adelphi lodge, F. and A. M., of Fair Haven, of New Ha ven commandery, K. T., and of Pyramid Temple of the Mystic Shrine. The Quarrymen's Strike. STONY CREEK, July 27 .- It is under tood here that the striking quarrymen who stopped work here about a year ago are to make another effort to bring about a settlement of the questions at issue. Many of the men have been idle about Many of the men have been idle about town ever since the strike was inaugurated and this had a very bad effect on the business of the town. Officers of the union have been in consultation with the strikers during the past few days and it is understood that they advise a settlement on most any basis. The quarry owners have savaral times averaged a willinguages to several times expressed a willingness to ettle the trouble, but their advances met with no encouragement and the owners are disgusted. It is believed here that the owners do not care whether or not the men return now and that they will offer no enouragement to them.

owing regarding a former well-known New an office in Chicago two years ago for the prosecution of magazine advertising in the west, it was thought by many to be a very a speedy withdrawal were freely made. A visit at the present time to the pleasant and commodious offices of the Chicago branch in the Rookery building will serve to show how good was Mr. Thompson's judgment in the outset. Western adveritisers, who are never slow to grasp the situation, take kindly to magazine and high-class advertising, and Mr. C. E. Raymond, who is Mr. Thompson's Chicago manager, is kept very busily engaged directing the movements of his solicitors and articles in the wants of his solicitors and inticipating the wants of his own special instomers. It is safe to say that a very large majority of the magazine business of this section is being handled by Mr. Ray-mond, and it is intimated that there are mond, and it is intimated that there are some new matters in preparation at this time that will surprise the advertising fraternity when made fully known.

Mr. Raymond is a New Yorker by birth, about thirty year old, and his entire business life has been spent in advertising circles. He was eight years with H. P. Hubbard at New Haven, Conn., coenpying at first the position of confidential clerk, and latterly of business partner. In 1889 he latterly of business partner. In 1889 he became connected with Mr. Thompson at his home office in New York, and two years ago he cast his lot in Chicago. IN A TEXAN HOSPITAL Well-Known Torrington Man's Torrington, July 27.-The wife and relatives of Mr. J. L Carson, one of Torrington's well known citizens and for many years treasurer of the Turner & Seymour Manufacturing company of this place, who disappeared mysteriously on October 28 last, were much surprised to hear to-day that he was alive in a Texas hospital and fast regaining health. It is learned from the hospital authorities that he has been there most of the time since last October and has been semi-unconscious and men-tally deranged most of the time. He tally deranged most of the time. It became sane and conscious only a few days ago and to day notified his wife of his whereabouts. He has no recollec-tion whatever of what has passed during tion whatever of what has passed during the past eleven months. He left here on October 28 to visit a physician in New York, whom he frequently consulted, and was not heard of after his arrival in New York. It was supposed that he was dead and his relatives had almost given up all hope of learning anything of him. He has been an invalid for some years and re-signed the treasurership of the Turner & Seymour company a short time before his ilsappearance. He will be brought home as soon as his condition will admit of his Catboats' Bace Postponed. New London, July 27.—A race between the fast catboats owned by the residents of the Pequot colony, among them being many of the fastest on the sound, was to come off to-day, but owing to the fact that some of the boats were not in readiness for the contest, had to be postponed. The race will take place soon and will attract great attention hereabouts.

From "Black Water and Shallows" by Frederic mington in Harper's Magazine for August. The long still water is the mental side of anceing, as the rapid is the life and movement. The dark woods tower on either side, and the clear banks, full to their fat sides, fringed with trailing vines and drooping ferns, have not the impoverished look of civilized rivers. The dark water wells along and the branches droop to kiss it. In front the gray sky is answered back by the water reflection, and the back by the water reflection, and the trees lie out as though hung in the air, forming a gateway, always receding. Here and there an old monarch of the forest has succumbed to the last blow and fallen scross the stream. It reaches out ever so far with its giant stems, and the first branch had started sixty feet from the ground. You may have to chop a way through on you may force your capons. through, or you may force your cance through the limbs and gather a crowd of little broken branches to escort you along the stream. The original forcet tree has a character all its own, and I never see ne but I think of the artist who drew one but I think of the artist who drew second-growth timber and called it "the forest primeval." The quietness of the woods, with all their solemnity, permitting no bright or over-dressed plant to obtrude itself, is rudely shocked by the garish painted thing as the yellow pollished Necoochee glides among them. The water-rat dives with a tremendous splash as hesees the big monster glide by his sades home. The kingfaher surfugs away will be held to-day at Sheriff Swift's, Branford Point. A steamer will leave here at 10 a. m. to take the party there. It is expected that about three hundred will be present.

which arise in his wake; and the "skaters," as I call the little insects which go skipping about like a lawyer's point in an argument, part as we go by. The mosquitoes, those desperate little villains who dispute your happiness in the woods, are there, but they smell the tar and oil of our war-paint, and can only hum in their anger. A stick cracks in the brush, and with all the dash and confidence of a city girl as she steps from her front a city girl as she steps from her front door, a little spotted fawn walks out on a sedge bank from among the alders. He does not notice us, but in his stupid He does not notice us, but in his stupid little way looks out the freshest water-grass, and the hunter in the stern of the boat cuts his paddle through the water, and the cance glides silently up until right under his nose. We are still and silent. The little thing raises its head and looks us full in the eye, and then continues to feed as before. I talk to him quietly and are "Little man, do not come near." ly and say, "Little man, do not come near the ponds or the rivers, for you will not live to have five prongs on your antiers it any one but such good people as we see you." He looks up and seems to say, "You are noisy, but I do not care." "Now run; and if you ever see anything in the forest which resembles us, run for your life;" and with a bound the little innocent
