There are signs that the situation which as been created by the silver business, the ree trade menace, loss of confidence and money hoarding is soon to ease up. The money is in existence and it will come out again soon. Indeed, a good deal of it has already come out to buy stocks and to get the big interest offered. The present condition of things cannot last long. It will work its own cure and in a little while noney will be so plenty that it cannot be profitably need. We have got through the first stage of the crash. We are in the second, and we shall soon be in the third-

a stage of duliness and preparation for another period of activity and profit. It won't pay to hoard money much longer. n the silver question by congress are already disappointed and a little discouraged. But congress is a slow-moving body. There have been eleven extra sessions before now since the adoption of the federal constitution, and only two of them were short, and they were not very short. The session called by President Pierce in 1856 lasted ten days, and the session ordered by President Lincoln in 1861 was ended in thirty-four days. It is interesting to note that all the extra sessions except the two mentioned above President Van Buren was the one most similar to this one. There was a financial crisis then which made trouble enough.

Congress remained in session but fortyfour days, passed a single act to relieve the strained situation and deferred broader discussion of the nation's finances till the regular session. Many have hoped and some have believed that the present congress would do som-thing like that, but people are very tired of it. If the members of congress talk too much they will be apt to hear from the country towns.

The explanation given of the above seeming incongruity is that the ever so feeble salty bitterness imparts an increased sensibility to the sensaparts an increased sensibility to the sensation of taste by the simultaneous stimuli, and hence an appreciation of additional sweetness.

The alarming prevalence of miners' conumption has directed attention to the neessity for a scientific and thorough inspec tion of mining methods, so far as ventilation is concerned, the disease, which is of modern origin, being declared to be due to inhaling poisonous gases, arising from the use and combustion of high explosives, in which nitro-glycerine is the powerful con stituent; this substance, discovered in 1846. has come into mining use only within the last twenty-five years, previous to which black powder was employed. So far as can be learned from a study of mining and medical records, it is stated, such a disease as miners' consumption was unknown until very lately, and it is for this reason that i is supposed to be due to the gases arising rom the use of nitro-glycerine. The subject is one calling for the most widely ex tended and well directed investigation by physicians whose practice is in mining re gions, and, if definitely determined to be due to the cause named, the simple but urgent desideratum will be that of better mine ventilation and how to secure it The disease is said to be one that is closely allied to consumption, sppears to be impossible of cure, and, so far as is known attacks none but veteran miners, who are naturally those who have been most and longest exposed to the influences presumed

POTS AND KETTLES. Aluminum, which is proving to be one the most valuable metals for practical uses is destined perhaps to bring about a desirable improvement in the matter of cooking

As every honsekeeper knows, one thing that would make kitchen work easier and more agreeable, more attractive to the beginner and less wearlsome to the exerienced, would be the use of lighter. orighter cooking utensils, easily cleaned and, when they are cleaned, advertising that fact to all beholders.

Vessels of iron are heavy and black, usually ungraceful in shape, and doubtful as to their entire cleanness by reason of their contents to "burn on," and thereafter everything one puts into them sticks and burns; they grow rusty, and treacherous with minute perforations. These the tinker solders and exhibits the patched utensil, apparently without a leak. When he has departed, and the vessel is put into use, it is found to require the services of yet another soldering fron to repair the rents made by the first man, who had an eye more to demand than to supply. Then it goes into the ash barrel unregretted.

Tin ware is too cheap to be good for anything, but it is light to handle and that is ts greatest virtue. Enameled ware has been the housekee er's ideal up to this time, being light and easily cleaned, and pleasing in color. But day we are going to have the pots and the kettles, the saucepans and skillets, the boilers and broilers, made of beautiful and boilers and broilers, made of beautiful and shining aluminum, and they will leave nothing to be desired in the way of lightness, cleanliness, durability, and all-round adaptableness. Those that have been made and tried have proved themselves to be the perfection of cooking utensils. LONDON, July 29. othe Editor of the Journal and Couries: The vastness of London's population is ees felt in its impressiveness from meet ing it face to face in London thoroughfares than from even the still inadequate comprehension securable through seeing some of its component parts in its various holiday resorts for summer outings. In streets, the monotony of the experience would detract from just perception of its remendous import. But when you might pass an entire month, indeed perhaps an entire summer, without being able to visit, with the most careful disposition of time As the writer of this bit of sarcasm was any large proportion of its immediate rebering from hundreds to almost hundreds to Londoners must be considered in three distinct and delicious aspects—its advan-tages for free and untrammeled recreation; from those blendings and environment of mellow age, tenderest aspect of all, which furnish the idler and dreamer a host of and there are as many dogs as folks at furnish the idler and dreamer a host of winsome memorles. First of all it is a wild and rugged heath and not a park. Dark, wind-bound fir trees hang against sandy ridges where they have for centuries clutched the virgin soil. There are high banks of red sand pleroed by rabbit burrows. Ancient ditches and hedges out each other at sharp angles. Narrow bournes or ravines, their hollowed floors of clear and shining sand, plough the hills in fanciful forrows, providing tiny orags of furss, mounds of verdure and pleasant ways and shade, as if one walked in wellways and shade, as if one walked in well-ways and shade, as if one waited in well-worn ancient water-courses.

Altogether it is a mass of hills scooped into innumerable pits and cavities, thread-ed with tiny ponds, banked everywhere with hardy gores and mass of heather, wild flowers and grass, splatched with knots of noble trees, intersected by count-less foot-ways, wild and ragged as when the Romans were here, and all seemingly held together by interlacing roadways with rugged sides of rock and sand and pines rugged sides of rock and sand and pines and furse. Around it is a shining thread of lovely hamlets, stately halls and win-some cottages, all gabled, ivied, old. Within it on gardened hills and blossom-ing hollows, or at its slumberous edges, where old structures like old folk seem to

Is it any wonder that the hundreds of thousands of London folk who come here give them selves to unrestrained enjoyment, or that this transition from city woes and walls produces such a joyous delirium to young and old that you will hear on Hampstead Heath more ringing, almost ecstatic laugh-ter than in any other place in all the world! Seated beneath the flagstaff which marks the highest elevation of the Heath one can readily understand how the region round-about has been the best beloved of all the near haunts of London naturalists, and why, from the days of Gainesborough and Constable it has furnished the landscape artist's canvas with many of its noblest themes and scenes. It is the one place in England where its greatest city and a vast expanse of typical English landscape can be contemplated almost at the same glance. Wide open to the wind and sun stretches vale after vale to the southeast, the north and the west. Your circling view extends turrets of royal Windsor in Berks, and a church on the far borders of Oxfordshire,

Down below old Hampstead, enfogged by the exhalations of hundreds of thousands of chimneys, in the distance its myr-iad roofs like a plain of broken and seethlad roofs like a plain of broken and seething lava, lies the metropolis of the world, the dome of gray old St. Paul's like a peak of fuseless steel in a measureless, incinerating mass. What mind can grasp the magnitude of human history, of human accomplishments and of human despair within this single circle of vision! One is said to always find good company at Hampstead Heath. Yes, even if alone. You can still sit here by the flagstaff with no one to converse with and conjure up a grewsome or goodly company. It was at Hampetesd Heath as at Hounslow Heath that the Jacksone, the Duvalls and the Turpins of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries cut purses, and throats if need be to get them, and made merry as lords at its inne, some of which are here to minister alike to saint and sinner now. Over against the gardens of Wildwood, at the side of Heath Hill road, still stands the ancient Gibbet elm. Upon its huge old arms, many centuries old, were hung in chains, when caught, these merry knights of the road. The same locality, as you stroll towards

Indeed a goodly volume could be written upon these worthies whose love of breezy Hampstead Heath has left upon it one of its rarest and sweetest charms. Shelley, Hazlitt and Haydon often methere in the cottage of Leigh Hunt in the Vale of Health. Pope and Murray were often seen upon the high road from old Hampstead to Highgate, Hornsey and Barnet. Goldsmith found the Heath favorable to his muse and sauntered much in its thickets, hollows and rustic lanes. Here and picturesque surroundings, or fitly tell its weird and pleasant memories! That was his idea of its exceeding utility. "Td rayther ha' a mouthfu' o' th' 'Eath air than the best wittles my missus do mess together!" observed a tram-car driver on the Kentish Town road; and that was his glowing tribute to its fine salubrity. "We'n yer goes in for a reg'lar lark, a reg'lar lark, mind, wat's easy to git, an' sweet as a Essex milkmaid to remember, 'Ampstead 'Eath's th' parydise yer wants ter keep yer heye on!" was the brisk and authoritative remark of a green grooer's man upon its ethical and diverting advantages, se I ruminatively trudged into old Hampstead town. All these fine encomiums brought me with cheery enthusiasm to the verge of the enchanted holiday region.

It would be a difficult thing to say just when Hampstead Heath is in its most alluring mood to the visitor. For myself, I most love to sit here and see close upon one hundred thousand folk disporting almost exstatically within its runs and hollows, with an abandon and hillarity which for the day seem to utterly dispel the sombre abadows of their near work-a-day world. They are so never have your picture in a streets and lanes suggestive of splen-possesses all.

Great rough fellows from the water-side, from the market booths and from the factories lesp and shout and roll in the gorse and sand like uncaged animals. There is a smile on every woman's face, The children seem to take from the vitalizing influences something of the nature of ble and pirouette and bark with a shrill panting shrick of boundless joy, as though the entire enlivening scene was being en-acted for their own holiday beaven. And I truly believe if man has ever seen an English holiday resort donkey—that nearits ample ears and give forth a downright roar of laughter, it has been through the irresistable spell of delight which touches all who tarry here.

of the Marct Bequest in Behalf of the Free Public Library. It was a hot night for the special meet ng of the board of aldermen last evening, but the matters to be discussed were mportant and called for action. The neeting was specially called to consider the majority and minority reports of the committee on railroads and bridges in eference to the petitions of the various street railways of the city for permission to extend their various lines.

The first gun was fired when Clerk Martin read the majority and minority reports of the committee on railroads and bridges in reference to the West Haven road. The majority reports were signed by Councilmen Hoadley, Reif and Belden, while the minority report bore the signatures of Alderman Newton and Doughan. Both reports were printed in substance in the JOURNAL AND COURIER last Tuesday

The first material difference between the minority and majority reports was the double-tracking favored by the majority the board of public works in ordering track pavements by that of the mayor and court of common council. The minority report favors vesting this power in the hands of the mayor and court of common council, while the majority report favors leaving the power in the hands of the board of powers of the board of public works and court of common council. An aye and nay vote was then taken on a motion made by Alderman Newton to the effect that section of the minority report, which is briefly explained above, be substituted for section of the majority report, and resulted in he defeat of the motion by a vote of 15 to 5. The six aldermen voting in favor of the minority report were Newton, Flynn, Kaehrle, Doughan, Shannahan and Chat-

the Subject. MERIDEN, Aug. 11.—Senator Platt a ved at his home here from Washingto o-day. He will return Monday. Regardng the situation in congress he said to Journal reporter that it is impossible t hazard a reasonable guess when the final vote on the silver repeal bill will be reached in the house. In the senate he said t looked as if the democrats would keep or adjourning until some agreement is reached by them as to their final action.

Mr. Platt says that he will vote for r peal even if he knew no other legislation would be enacted this session, although h thinks there is urgent need of immediate legislation after repeal.

With reference to the 24 to 1 coins proposition, Mr. Platt said that even if silver dollar were made equal to a gold dollar he did not think that would be a per manent solution of the silver question. AN INQUIRY.

Like a cork bursting forth from a bottle o did the proposed ordinance regulating the licenses of itinerant junk dealers burst upon the members of the board of aldermen last evening. It burst forth with re-newed life shortly after 8:30 o'clock, and a consequence of the numerous motions made in reference to it, it was not dispose

DEATH OF GEORGE ROOT. The Oldest German Resident in Nev many-A Prominent Man in the Banking Business in This City.

George Root of 857 Grand avenue, th rell-known baker, died at his late resilence yesterday afternoon at 10:20 o'clock aged seventy-nine years. Last Wednesday evening he suffered from a paralytic shock which rendered him unconscious. He did not regain his consciousness. He had at times before had dizzy spells, which were thought to be slight, but he did not at any time lose his consciousness. He has been troubled with heart disease for many years, and this, it is thought, may have been the immediate cause of the shock which caused his death. He was attended by Dr. Charles Fleischner. George Root (or Rott, as the name is spelled in German,) was born in Hofer, near Strassburg, in the province of Alsace. Germany, on the 29th of Seprember, 1813 At that time Alsace was under the rule of the French government, and so Mr. Root, while he was born of Ger-man parents was a native of French soil.

His parents were the owners of large flour mills at Hofer, and here he spent the early years of his life until he was about sevenyears of his life until he was about seventeen years old, working with his father in the mills. When he had arrived at this age the desire for a change seized him, and in the year 1830 he emigrated to America and settled in New York city, where he spent about three years learning the baker's trade. He then came to this city, being the first German to take up horesidence here. He was employed by James LaForge, who kept a bakery on Broadway, but soon after he opened a shop for himdemonetizing silver Mr. Sland said that the battle was one as to whether the world was to be put upon the gold standard or upon the double standard. The people had, he said, expected the Chicago plat-form of the democratic party to be carried out, and that they were to have tariff re-vision, but, lo and behold! they found they were tricked; deceived. tariff reform. "And here," said he, "we are. Now, we know where we are at. [Laughter] I tall you we are not going to submit to it; and now you may go ahead." Coming back to the question of ratio between gold and silver, Mr. Bland asserted that there was no reason why the American ratio of 16 to 1 should be changed.

The average production of the two metals for twenty years (up to some four years ago) was 15½ or 16 to 1, and that was therefore, the natural coinage ratio. But if that ratio could not be fixed the friends of silver had another proposition. The ratio was a fair subject of discussion. He asserted, however, that free coinage was enjoyed by the constitution. If congress refused to exercise its power to coin money and regulate its value it should rel-

money and regulate its value it should re egate it to the states. Mr. Bland declared that the time had come to decide whether the country was to go to bi-metallism. There was time enough now to arrange it according to the principles of bi-metallism

[Applause.] During the Cleveland administration there had not been, so far as the administration was concerned, one sincer effort to demonetize silver. The republi can administration which followed was n better in that respect. The industries of the people he represented had been pros-trated by the course of the past two ad-

BLAND UP IN ARMS. The Leader of the Silverites Threat Friends of Tariff Reform Did Not Intend That the Subject Should be Considered First-They Wanted to Lay Their Hands on Silver and

Washington, Aug. 11.-Immediately after the reading of the journal in the house to-day, Mr. Wilson of West Virginia offered for present consideration a bill to repeal a part of the act spproved July 14, 1890, the Sherman act. It provides that so much of the act approved July 14, 1890, as directs the secretary of the treasury to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 4,500,000 ounces, or so much hereof as may be offered in each month at the market price thereof, not exceeding $1 for 3711 grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment for such purchase treasury notes of the United States, and the same is hereby repealed. But this repeal shall not impair nor in any manner effect the legal tender quality of the standard silver dol-lars heretofore coined; and the faith and credit of the United States are hereby pledged to maintain the parity of the gold and silver coin of the United States at the

and silver coin of the United States at the present legal ratio of such other ratio as may be established by law.

Mr. Bland presented the following order: "It is ordered by the house that house bill No. 1 shall be taken up for immediate consideration and consideration fourteen days. During such consideration night sessions may be held for debate only at the request of either side. The daily session to commence at 11 a. m. and conat the request of either side. The dally session to commence at 11 a. m. and continue until 5 p. m. Eleven days of the debate on the bill to be given to general debate under the rules of the last house regulating general debate, the time to be equally divided between the two sides as the speaker may direct. The last three days of debate may be devoted to the consideration of the bill and the amendments as herein provided under the usual five minute rule of the house as in committee of the whole house. and in a manner conformably to the promises of the democratic party. "If," said he, "you do not do it yours is the responsibility, not ours." [Applause.]

If that fails, than a separate vote is to be had on a simdment preposing a ratio of 17 to if that fails, on one proposing a ratio of 18 to 1; if that fails, on one proposing a ratio of 19 to 1; if that fails, one proposing a ratio of 20 to 1. If the above amendts fall, it shall be in order to offer an amendment reviving the act of February 28, 1878, restoring the silver dollar, com-monly known as the Bland-Allison act. The vote then to be taken on the engross-ment and third reading of the bill, as amended or on the bill itself, if all amend-ments shall have been voted down, and on the final passage of the bill, without other intervening motion.

If every country on earth, he said, except the United States found it policy to demonstize eliver, it nevertheless would be inoperative here to be regulated by the market price. As long as the Sherman silver act remains on the statute books, so long will it be impossible to effect an international arrangement. So long will monetary conferences result in failure. He said that what kept silver and gold at a parity was a misplaced confidence of the people; and in his opinion if the real conpeople; and in his opinion if the real condition of the treasury were known there would be no necessity of the Sherman law; it would repeal itself. Mr. Reed, of Maine, inquired whether, if the previous question were ordered, there would be any time allowed for debate. The speaker replied that in the absence of rules there would not be. Mr. Reed said that a proposition had been presented, which had been agreed upon by a committee of some sort or other, of the constitution of which this house knew nothing officially; and it was now proposed to adopt that proposition without the slightest debate. He recognized the importance of the situation, and had the roposition been simply to repeal the pur-hasing clause of the Sherman act he could

"My absence from the capital at this time may excite some surprise in view of my intense interest in the subject now awaiting the determination of congress. Though my views and recommendations have already been of ficially submitted to that body, and though I am by no means certain I could further aid in bringing about the result which seems so necessary, it would be a great satisfaction to me if I could remain at the scene of action. But whether I am here or elsewhere I shall look with hope and confidence to the action of those upon whom the responsibility now rests of re-Sherman law.

Mr. Bland reviewed recent silver and financial legislation and contended that it was an apprehension that the United States would repeal the Sherman law that induced the British government to recommend to the government of India the suspension of silver coinage. Gold, Mr. Bland said, was coming to the country to-day. It was coming all the time, and it was the people across the water who were sustaining the panic. Gold could not be obtained from the Bank of England or the Bank of France without a premium being paid for it; but the American treasury paid out gold to every speculator, because the administration was hostile to silver. It was ministration was hostile to silver. It was the fight on silver which had precipitated the panic. The panic which had begun had been brought about designedly and for a purpose. GALA DAY AT SHORT BEACH. The Annual Jubilee of the Cottagera

Yesterday-Crowds of Visitors-The Winners in the Yachting, Boating and Other Contests-Grand Illumi The third annual celebration and gran llumination of the cottagers at Short Beach was held yesterday, and a most de lightful day was passed by all. As early as 7 o'clock the various committees appointed to make necessary arrangements for the fete were around attending to the nundred and one different details of the elebration. The day was set saids as eneral holiday by all the cottagers and veryone summering at this popular sumner resort. The first event of the day was a race between the yachts owned by the cottagers. The entries for the race was as follows dyl May, owned by Jesse D. Welch: Maide, owned by Burr Johnson; Siren wned by Robert A. Brown of the New Haven Savings bank; Poem, owned by Walter Stanley of New Britain: Cassle owned by A. W. C. Williams of New York; Star, owned by Ransom Baldwin; Vidette, owned by H. G. Shepard, and the Retriever, owned by W. G. Shepard.

The start was made from Long Pler at 10 o'clock, the course being from her dock around the new reef, around Branford Point beacon and return to the dock—a distance of about fifteen miles. The yachts cot away in good form and the yachts got away in good form and the brushes between them at times were quite exciting. They finished in the fol-owing order: Class No. 1—ldyl May first, time 2:58:30 :04; Maide fourth, 3:11:55; Cassie fifth, Class No. 2-Siren 3:18:25, Star 3:19:30 Retriever 3:24:45. Among the prizes for this race were a number of valuable silve ups, cracker dish and silver spoons. The race for naptha launches came next Among the entries were the Robells, owned by Robert and Ella Wheeler Wilcox of New York: the Juanita, owned by W. H. Lock wood of Hartford, and the Madeline, owned by Edward Oakley of this city. The course was from the deck around the Cow and Calf, around Brown's reef and back, a dis-tance of five miles. The launches came in in the following order: Juanita, time 29:50; Robella, 30:38; Madeline, 3:32:20.

The flat bottom rowboat races were by Miss Flora Baldwin and Miss Nach. Harwood. There were seven potato races, and the vinners were as follows: Gilbert Stevens, Howard Hall, Albert Strong, Russell Bun-nell, Miss Louise Prudden, Ella Beach, Jessie Beach.

The swimming races were divided into three classes—men's ladies' and girls'. In the girls' race Miss E. Harwood was the winner; ladies' race, Miss Bertha Lockwood; and in the men's race William Ba This closed the festivities of the da time. At sundown the evening's feativi-ties were begun. The Chinese lanterns were brought out and each cottage was have from the roof to the ground with these lights and the fronts were similarly

The long pier was hung with hundred of Chinese lanterns, the whole pretty scene being one long to be remembered. It was early this morning when the celebration was ended and all voted it the most suc cessful one that has ever been held at the Beach. The committees who had charge of the day's celebration are deserving of great credit for the success in which the day passed off. The committees were as follows:

Finance—Mrs. Elia Wheeler Wilcox, Mrs. Wil-liam H. Lockwood, Mrs. Albert Stanley. Yachting—Mr David Corey, Mr. Reuben Kel-rey is Mr. A. H. Andrews.

Mr. George A. Maycons entertained a party of twenty five friends from this city at his cottage at Short Beach last evening. Harrison Millard of New York and his beautiful daughter, Miss Marie Millard, were guests recently at the Bungalow. Mr. Millard is the well known composer and wrote the music for these popular songs "Waiting," "When the Title Comes in," and has recently composed a charming air for the poem written by Mrs. Wilcox, "Laugh, and the world laughs with you weep and you weep alone."

Miss Mac Anson, a Dakota girl, has been quite recently a visitor at Short Beach, the guest of Mrs. G. A. Reckard.

Mothers Have Cause to Fear This Weather.

Interviews with Local Physicians of All Schools.

Infant Mortality Credited to Improper Food.

Lactated Food the Purest and Best Diet.

Happy New Haven Mothers Whose Children Live on It. The extraordinary mortality from various forms of infantile indigestion this summer has led to careful inquiry, and the best authorities on the subject in this city have freely expressed their opinions.

Several of the best known physicians in New Haven were interviewed yesterday, and the following question asked:

"In view of the large death rate this summer of infants in New Haven, what do you recommend ?"

The general sentiment of the profession was voiced in the following statement from one of the most successful practitioners among children. He said:

"There is nothing equal to lactated food and its use is fast becoming general among the profession. We find that it is retained on the stomach where other things are not retained.

things are not retained.
"For cholers infantum I find it most "For cholers infantum I find it most valuable, and I generally give small portions often repeated when called to attend such cases. In almost every case where mothers are unable to nurse their infants, I find that lactated food answers well."

Many happy mothers in New Haven have used lactated food successfully where everything else failed. They say that this food has kept their children strong and well during the dangerous summer season well during the dangerous summer season and many of them have recommended it to friends, who have had the same happy exriends, who have had the same happy experience.

The principal element of mother's milk is sugar of milk. This is the basis of lactated food. With it is combined the nutritious elements of the great cereals, wheat and barley, and the necessary bone-forming salts. This makes lactated food exercite and natural entherities for moa perfect and natural substitute for mo-It must be borne in mind that lactated food is so inexpensive that it is within the reach of every family. 150 meals can be made from a dollar package of the food, and when prepared for the use of infants it costs less than five cents a quart.

Mothers should remember that cholera infantum can be more seally prevented. infantum can be more easily prevented than cured. Simply feed the baby with pure lactated food, and the child will keep well and strong.

Everybody likes HIRES' Rootbeer because it gives everybody health as well as pleasure. It's the purest beverage that human skill can compound from the purest ingredients of nature. There is not one drop of anything in this delicious temperance drink but what promotes good health and happiness. It's delicious flavor is acquired by the skillful blending of the most wholesome herbs, roots; barks, and berries, and not by essential oils and flavoring extracts, of which the many counterfeit "Rootbeers" are composed. A twenty-five cent package of the genuine Hires' Rootbeer makes only five gallons, but five gallons of good, pure, health-giving Rootbeer is a hundred times better than ten gallons of wishy washy stuff made of health-destroying chemicals. Be sure and get HIRES'.

After several weeks spent in studying the curious customs of this remarkable people, and enjoying the fine natural scenery with which their country is favored, the party pushed on and were soon among a people quite as remarkable if not as hospitable as the Japanese, and observed with astonishment the oldest people on earth in their native China. Pursuing the journey an enjoyable sojourn was made on the luxuriant island of Ceylon. Sailing thence to the splendid capital of India, days and nights were crowded with novel scenes and interesting incidents, in the course of which Mr. Stoddard gazed with awe upon nature's grandest mountains, the Himalays. The eastern journey was finished with the departure from Bombay. West of that from Egypt to England Mr. Stoddard has made all localities familiar ground by his lectures of previous seasons. The
