NOT A MODERN IMPROVEMENT Dwellers in cities who have lived in the ountry and had the pleasure of going for the mail once or twice a day will be inter ested in the outcome of the experiment made by the Postoffice department in furnishing free mail delivery service in about fifty villages and towns. It was though that the experiment would be an immediate and shining success and that all the villages and towns would soon be clamoring for free delivery. But the Postoffic lepartment has discovered that its promising scheme didn't take human nature into account. At first a general satisfaction was nanifested, and the receipts of many of the offices for a while showed an increase, indicating that the convenience stimulated correspondence; but as the novelty wore off, the residents very generally tired of the change, and returned to the old practice of going to the office themselves for their mail. A majority of the cople would apparently rather have their

them, and thus have an excuse for frement visits to the center of local activity han have their mail delivered every day a their houses. Going to the postoffice is not a very in ense stimulant, but where it is the only one there is it is prized. It is therefor not wonderful that the Postoffice department has struck a snag in trying to give letters lie in the office until they call for prive them of a pleasant inconvenience. It is reported that a gang of sports has by the aid of a sharp lawyer, discovered a way to evade the very comprehensive and stringent law sgainst pool-rooms, etc., nas made arrangements to do business in oes, sorrow and crime from "playing the races," and it will protest very heartily against a renewal of the game. And it will be slow to believe that the law which was so carefully made is defective enough o allow such a renewal. We have no doubt that the prosecuting fficers of the city will see to it that these bold pirates are not allowed to plunder the t least do business here while the new law s being tested with as much delay as they can make. But they should not be per mitted to have things their own way Good lawyers think the law is all right, and that view of it should be taken by those interested in fighting the evil until the Supreme court says it isn't. Of course the pirates can afford to pay the expenses

The reasons for this general and sweep-TEAMFITTERS AND PLUMBERS, Telephone call 404-3 ing condemnation are obvious; ad valorem rates are equally unsatisfactory and uncerain, whether levied for revenue or for promarket value are, even under the most favorable circumstances, with honesty of purpose on the part of the importer and the highest degree of knowledge and unquestioned in tegrity on the part of the appraising officers, necessarily uncertain and unequal But when many foreign importers deem the successful evasion of our revenue laws by unccrupulous methods the highest evidence of business capacity, ad valorem rates fail lamentably of their purpose. They greatly exaggerate variations in forwhen foreign competition is most to be most needed by domestic producers, then ad valorem rates are lowest, protection is reduced, and depression is intensified. On the other hand, when foreign values are highest rates are highest, and restriction enlarges into prohibition. If it is de sirable that a cliding scale of duties should be adopted, rates should increase as foreign prices diminish. Ad valorem rates afford facilities for the grossest frauds upon the revenue; through undervaluations they in vite evasions of the law and reward dishonest importers, while they destroy the business alike of honest importers and domestic manufacturers. Why are Women Afraid of Mice. As a woman, and, I trust, a brave one, a lover of animals and a sindent of natural history, I ask the vexed question in all seriousness. Why are women afraid of mice? Why should the sight (I had almost written the name) of a tiny, harmless, graceful little creature strike terror into the stoutest hearts that best in feminine never assumed. It may be exaggerated by a fit of hysteries or a succession of plercing screams, but the genuine peure a fair fre mir is there all the same and why! I remember once reading a story about a an old country town assembly room. One of their number was chosen to deliver the lecture upon valor and selected for her subject the history of Joan of Arc But when the evening arrived and she was discours-ing upon the valor of her sex in general, a mouse ran across the platform and the lec-turer and her strong minded elsters jumped on their chairs clutching their petticoats in a mauner not altogether picturesque. But I maintain that the fear of mice has noth-

A mouse in the chamber of Marat would, I believe, have deterred Charlotte Corday from her dread purpose; and the tail of one popping opportunely from the carving of Tuillia's chariot would have prevented her from driving over her father's corpse; and from driving over her father's corpes; and I could cite many instances in which mice might have changed the history of the world. Who can doubt that Cleopatra and the other swarthy Egyptian beauties held the cat sacred in special everestion on account of the part he played in ridding them of their pet aversion? Every one knows that if a cat has a meakers. that if a cat has a weakness, it is for a plump, well matured mouse, and puss has, perhaps, for this reason carned the on, because the gratitude, of our sex. The story of a prisoner who was cheered in captivity by a mouse is familiar to us all—but the prisoner was a man. Equally familiar is the fable of the grateful mouse which gnawed the net but again the prisoner is said to be a lion, not a lioness. I believe there is a mutual antipathy between

BELIEF FOR THE POOR.

Fraternal Society Relief Committe Meeting at the Mayor's Office. A largely attended meeting of the New Haven Fraternal Society Relief committee was held in the aldermanic chamber in the city hall last evening and was presided over by P. N. Blogg. Mayor Joseph I Sargent, the treasurer of the society, Rev Dr. Harwood, Dr. McLane and Rev. E. S. Lines were present, and took active part in the discussion. Mayor Sargent said that there would undoubtedly have to be a great deal of pinching and economizing with a great many people to get through the winter, but he thought that there would be no great amount of actual want and suffering, as most of the shops were running two, three, four or five days pe running two, three, four or five days per week, and the city through the selectmen and park commissioners were doing much to give work to as many men as possible.

The general sentiment of the meeting was, however, that there was a crying need in the city for the kind of work which the fraternal society intends to do, and the co-operation of the press and the clergy was earnestly solicited. P. N. Blogg, W. H. Blogg, G. S. Coleman, W. L. Green, J. Malacrida, J. S. Mustarde, William A. Crout, H. Lew Dockstader and his famous organ zation of burnt cork fun-makers will be the attraction this evening. Mr. Dockstaand pleasing program. The ever alert and enterprising Lew has gathered together this season a small army of minstrel celebrities, which he declares stronger, larger and better than any company he has ever been connected with. One very important engagement is that of Frank Dumont, who is referred to as the "minstrel Shakespears." In the program which the com-pany are doing is an original sketch by Dumont, entitled "Chicago World's Fair Comforts." It is said to be brimful of fun and embellished with lively, tuneful music. and embellished with lively, tuneful music. Sale of seats now open at the box office.

"Charley's Aunt," the reigning comedy success of New York, London and Boston, and which begins a three nights' engagement, with Thanksgiving matinee, will be presented here with a specially selected company from the front ranks of Manager Frohman's numerous forces. The story is a jolly one, full of humorous situations and sparkling fun. Sale of seats now

Among the many French plays that have been turned into English none has seen more successful than "The Other Man," which Frederick Horner adapted from "Champignol Malgre Lui," a threeact military comedy. It is a burlesque on the French conscript system, and at the same time involve the troubles and trials of a society man and woman. It is laughter-provoking from beginning to end, and its every phase receives the richest treatment from Gharles Frohman's comedians, who will interpret it at the Grand Opera house this afternoon and evening. It had a run of one hundred nights at the Garden theater, New York. The company is twenty two strong and is headed by Joseph Holiand and Henrietta Orossman. The seats will be reserved at the matines to day.

he matinee to day.

The Thanksgiving attraction will be Ulli Akerstrom, presenting "The Sultan's Fa-vorite," both afternoon and evening. Between the second and third sets, Ullie Aker-strom will introduce her idea of the ser-pentine dance. She calls it the dance la pentine dance. She calls it the dance in chromotope, on account of her own peculiar style, and the beautiful effects produced by the many colored semi-lights. It is a spectacle when once seen will live long in your memory. "The Sultan's Favorite" and the dance will be presented at both performances on Thankegiving day. Sale

POLI'S WONDERLAND. The combination that Manager Poll pre printed in the Sunday Union caused quite a little excitement in the democratic ranks and was the subject of much criticism. H. F. We will now turn to the word of God for such instruction and consolation as may be appro-priate for the hour."

Dr. Twitchell then read selections from

Dr. Twitchell then read selections from various parts of the scriptures bearing upon death, recurrection and immortality, after which he offered a prayer of thanks giving for what the departed had accomplished and petitioned that the comforts and consolations of the gospel might be showered upon the family and surviving friends.

At the close of the prayer Dr. Twitchell

At the close of the prayer Dr. Twitchel made a few additional remarks referring to the assurances of the scriptures which had been read in reference to a conscious immortality saying that it is evident from the word of God, death does not end all that the years spent on the earth are but the beginning of our life. The veil has not been rent, which hangs between us and the other world. Our eyes are holden that we cannot see Our ears are deaf that we cannot hear. We don't, however, question the conscious existence of sonis beyond the grave. Our friend whose de parture has convened us here had an en quiring mind which could not easily b satisfied without an actual demonstratio estished without an actual demonstration of things, which he was called upon to believe. Faith in the future and in divine provision for its blessedness was not altogether easy for him. "Apart from the financial effects of the proposed measure which will be important, not only to Canada but to the commercial world at large, the fiscal revolution is interesting in itself as a more important event than any change in forms and systems. The protective features have not been entirely removed from the tariff, and there is some protection philosophy in Chairman Wilson's report. The free list, however, is most comprehensive and so advantageous to Canadians that they can readily excuse the occasional cropping up of the old falacies."

THE LOWELL MEMORIAL

Cordial Interchange of Speeches the Unveiling in Westminster Ab LONDON, Eng., Nov. 28.—The unveiling of the memorial to James Russell Lowell in the Chapter House of Westminter Abbey began at noon. It consists of two tained glass windows, one divided by two mullions into three parts, while at the bottom of the other is a medalion portrait, On the three sections of the mullioned window are representations of an angel bearing a shield below the arms of the United States, the landing of the Pilgrim fathers from the Mayflower and the figure St. Botolph. On the other window are the figures of Sir Launfal, an angel bearing a shield below the arms of the United Kingdom and a figure of St. Ambrose, as well as a symbolic representation of the emancipation of the elaves.

TOPICS IN WASHINGTON. Hawalian Puzzle-The New Tariff-Jack the Slasher-How Washington Was Kept Excited-How It Calmed Down—Washington Society Quiet— Temporary Duliness of Life Among the Upper Ten—Pension Fraud Enquiry - Interference With Postof-fices.

(From Our Washington Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The main topics here during the past week have been the Hawalian puzzle, the situation at Rio, talk on the new tariff bill and Jack the Slasher. Of the three former troubles you have been fully informed, but as to the doings of Jack the Slasher, who has so thoroughly terrorized the residents of Washington for the last few weeks, I will say a few words. The vandals who were happily caught turned out to be William Goodwin and one Mann, both discharged soldiers of the egular army, commenced their slashing nania something over a month ago. From that time until the arrests residents of the ntire city had been staying home even- tural story from which a close application ings and sitting up nights. None were has been drawn to the svil he is combat ine discount on prices that spared, from the lowly residence ting. His addresses have been illustrated to from the lowly residence of the city policemen to the lord-ly mansion of the diplomat. The slasher, or slashers, would enter the house by forcing a window, and proceed to cut up the carpets, pictures, clothes and other articles, and the damage caused by them amounted to thousands of dollars. They never stole anything, but seemed only to have a manla for destroying things. Both Goodwin and Mann were discharged from the army some fourteen months ago for slashing several sets of harness, and since that time have lived in this city, and never the days of the "ghost robber," who for months carried on robberies in the heart of the city, and who, when finally canght, turned out to be a half witted colored boy.

IN PENSION CIECLES.

The pension department, it is said, it making a rigid investigation into the doings of certain attorneys in various sections of the country, with a view of ferreting out the many frauds perpetrated upon the country and may result in a number of OF SOCIETY.

Scelety is again at a standstill here, as othing seems to move, with the members of congress away, and until next month social events will be few and far between. A few social calls followed by an impromptu dance, a concert or theater party now and then, and that is all. While speaking of society the new Chinese min-ister and Mrs. Yang Yu, with their little five-year-old son, are making quite a stir in social circles here. While Mrs. Yang m social circles here. While are, tang will not call generally even among the families of the diplomatic corps, the ex-ceptions that have been made show that Chinese ladies of her exalted rank have privileges that were not possessed by other ladies that have been here in the families of the legation. It has happened very seldom that any Chinese minister has made in such a short time such a generally favorable impression as Mr. Yang. Everywhere he is regarded as an enlight-ened and broad-minded official. Mrs. Yang Yu, like her husband, has commenced to acquire a few English words, and both of them are much pleased with the more rapid progress that their little son is making in expressing himself in English. For these ceremonions visits the minis-ter and his wife dress more elegantly than perhaps any of their countrymen or wo-men have ever before in America. The scarlet button or ornament at the top of the minister's cap signifies his degree, the very highest in the service of his govern-ment. His favorite costumes when visiting are of light yellow brocade. Madame Yang Yu wore the same color Saturday afternoon in the most elegant brocade silk and the softest, prettlest shade of yellow. On her pretty little hands a ruby and dia-

and the other jewels she wore were in her bracelet and in the numerous ornaments that decked her shining black hair. On her head she wore a small black cap. She s quite able to walk and entirely without nelp, although it would not seem possible she could be supported on such little feet encased in stiff white kid shoes, richly em-broidered. The carriage wraps worn by the minister and his wife are of very light colored stirs lined with far reschized ed silks lined with fur reaching down early to the ground. OUR POSTOFFICES. Temperance Toiler W. H. Spear closed his three nights' temperance labors at Grace Methodist church, Howard avenue. last night with another rousing meeting Every one of these meetings have been well attended and have been of marked interest. Thus far 350 have signed the pledge in Mr. Spear's three nights' work, and among them are some who stand in ter. He leaves a widow, a brother, Charles need of restraining influences. Mr. Spear's Ryan, and a sister, Mrs. Treat. He had labors have been strictly on the line of 'Malice toward none and charity for all." He has had nothing harsh to say of any one, but has battled intemperance as a dominant evil that needs the united efforts of all reform workers to successfully battle. Each night his talks have opened with a graphic delineation of some scripcommittee, under whose direction Mr Spear is working, hope to make that ar rangement, but the place of meeting fo to-night cannot be announced definitely before this afternoon. Friday night Mr Spear will speak at Dwight Place Congregational church, Rev. Dr. Twitchell pre siding. Extensive preparations are being made by the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of West Haver for Mr. Spear's coming there Sunday even-ing, December 3. The services will be made a grand union gathering and will be held in the Congregational church. Mr. Bissell, the well known solo singer of this city, has been engaged by the society and will sing several appropriate songs. Ad-ditional to this there will be a large chorus choir to sing the spirited gospel hymns, formed by the members of the Young People's society, assisted by the church choirs.

Mr. Spear's work is largely on evangelistic lines and appeals to the thoughtful common sense of his auditors. THE STREETS WILL BE CLEANED

The Road Commissioners Accept the Offer of the Town Authorities. A special meeting of the board of public works was held yesterday afternoon at which the offer of the town authorities to furnish men to clean the streets of the city and pay them for doing so was accepted, and about 100 men will at once be put to work cleaning the streets. This work, which will be done at the town's expense, is very much of a necessity as the streets are in a filthy condition.
