Epps's Cocoa BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and matrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle mailadies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well for tilled with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

HANDKERCHIEFS.

Did you ever think how many Handker hiefs are sold Christmas times and where they go to? It is simply marvelous-the quantity sold every season. We purchased for our Christmas trade 75,000 Handker chiefs, that sold from 5c to $2 50 each. We have now in stock about 8,000; deducting that from 75,000 and you see we sold 67,000, which is the largest number of handkerchiefs ever sold by us. The 8,000 now on hand are somewhat mussed up. This week we will mark them half price, except the 5c quality, which has already been marked down from 10c.

country struck an important snag soon after their arrival. The religion they are seeking to spread here has not been supposed to be much of a religion for women. It has been said that according to Mohammedan ideas a majority of the inhabitants of hell are women, and the black-eyed the faithful are not thoroughly respectable, according to the ideas which prevail in this country. Then, too, the position of explain, realizing that they can do nothing without the help of the women. They assert that the general idea has been all wrong; and they declare that the followers of Islam believe that women will equally share salvation with men. Nabakoff the muezzin said the other day that the Koran holds Woman in the highest esteem. And he added, "If it were said on every page of this book that woman has no soul, it would not make her soulless; it would only make the book worthless," Mr. Nabakoff further spoke of polygamy as one of many customs of the East which are vanishing under the light of western civilization. But he asserted, one wife or four, each holds an honorable position, and "we have no such spectacle as the man with a wife at home maintaining another clandestine household." The Mohammedan missionaries are show ing some wisdom. No religion that doesn't fully include Woman stands any show in this land. The Islam pushers will do well to be as pelite and tactful to women as their great prophet was when the old woman begged him to intercede with God

He told her that old women were not allowed in Paradise, which dictum causing her to weep, he backed pleasantly and gracefully out by saying that they would first be made young again. PROGRESS OF A GREAT REFORM. Civil Service Reform doesn't make the progress that its ardent supporters would like to see, but it gains. It has got along so far that the two great parties pay it the same kind of homage that vice pays to vir-tue, and its real friends feel that by and by what is now hypocritically said about it in party platforms will be said in all sincerity. In order to hasten the coming of that time they have decided to make a move that can't fail to have a good deal of influ ence. The plan is to make an enrolment of voters who favor the reform, and to form a single popular organization, work ing in every State, and to have for its ganization will then be used as effective ly as possible for the abolition of the spoils system, under the national,

State and local governments. It will be known as the Anti-Spoils league, with Carl Schurz as president, Wil-liam Potts secretary, and Colonel Silas W. Burt treasurer. The Civil Service Reform League, which proposes to inaugurate this movement, has an active membership at resent of about 5,000, divided among twenty-three associations and smaller leagues. Its principal centers are at New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Indianapolis, Chicago and St. Louis. Each of these 5,000 mem bers will be enlisted in the mission ary work of the movement at once.

It will be carried on through a number

A TRAITOR'S MISTAKE. If Captain Benedict Arnold, formerly of the Governor's Guard, is where he could look down or up on the brave and brilliant show in the armory last evening he must have regretted that he was a traitor to his country, and that the Guard, which has for one hundred and eighteen years maintained continuous and honorable existence, cannot now be as proud of him as it would like to be, although it does point with pride to him when, as a true patriot, he impetuously led the old Guard through o-day. Nor at any time in that existence has it ever been more fitly and fully commanded than by its present Major, Captains and Captain General. It is a great pity that Captain Benedict Arnold didn't act so that he could be sentioned at the pageant last evening without shame. But he was short-sighted and couldn't see a hundred and eighteen years ahead.

The Mohammedan propaganda in this arrests during the year. country seems to be making some progress. The Moslem World is as well printed, as nteresting and as aggressive as ever. Mohammed Alexander Webb continues to deal more or less powerful blows for his adopted religion. Emin L. Nabakoff, a Russian Mohammedan, sticks his pious head every Sunday out of a window in Union equare, New York city, and intones the call for prayer. He is said to be good muezzin and all he lacks to make his call very impressive is a minaret, which he will perhaps get later. He draws a crowd when he gives the call, and many of those who are attracted by the pleasing sound go into the hall where Islam is praised and

The proposal to make a ship canal between Bordeaux and Narbonne-that is to say, from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean-has been frequently discussed of late years, and a defiestimated cost has been published by M. Rene Kerviller, an eminent French engineer, who says that the canal would be 320 miles in length from sea to ses, and from 144 feet to 215 feet broad, with a depth of from 28 feet to 33 feet, so as to admit the passage of the largest ironolads. There are to be sidings of three-quarters of a mile long at intervals of every eight miles, so as to facilitate navigation and avoid delays of traffic, while there are to be twenty-two locks, each of which is to be about 650 feet long by 80 feet broad, with a fall of from 20 feet to 60 feet. The ships using the canal are to be towed or drawn along by fixed engines, and M. Rene Kerviller estimater that a canal of this kind would cost £27,400,000 and that the interest on the capital lying dormant while the canal was being made would amount to £3,000,000 more, or £30,400,000 in all, while the receipts, at the rate of 3s. a ton, would be, less the cost of working and repairs, £2,-400,000, representing an interest of 5 per

One bright Sunday morning in the spring f 1861 I went down to the Virginia Miliary institute at Lexington to see the cadet corps off for Richmond. As they took their battery of four guns, Jackson was in ommand. He seemed a new man while attending to the details of the march; his tone of voice being louder and his dark eye fashing with an unwonted light. One of my classmates remarked: "The major eems to enjoy this thing." The dormant martial spirit in his nature was then awakening, and he seemed to "snuff the battle from afar." When all things were ready for the departure he requested one of the lergymen of the town to sak God's protec ion and blessing ere the march began. Our company of students from Washington college was assigned to Jackson's brigade and we saw much of him as our general. On the field of Manassas when our regiment, the Fourth Virginia infantry, under a fearful fire was supporting a line of artillery, Jackson rode calmly up and down our front watching the progress of the battle. Now and then he would cry out "All's well!" I also beard him say, "Tonight we will drive them across the Potymes". A bullet cave him a feet wound.

The tide of battle surged to and fro Our line on the left was being pressed back and then I heard Jackson's voice ring out above the rattle of musketry and the roar of cannon, "Prepare to use bayonet." Next came the orders, "Forward!" "Charge!" The line of steel swept forward; soon the field was won and the name of Jackson was Northern Virginia, he showed the in-vincible will of the great Napoleon. Bad roads, snow and ice checked not his march, but pressing on with a speed unequalled in the war, he surprised and drove the enemy across the Potomac. Coming up to a cale son whose horses were unable to move it scross a stretch of broken, icy road, he dis-mounted and, putting his shoulder to a wheel, some of his staff doing likewise, the wheel, some of his staff doing likewise, the piece of artillery soon moved on.

On another occasion, hearing a dandy-looking lieutenant in charge of a detachment sent to tear up some rallroad, speaking very roughly to the men engaged in the work, the general took a crowbar and prized away for a few minutes. Then, handing the tool to the military dude, said: "That is the way to do it, sir. Suppose you try it." try it."

No. 5, on the Chesapeake and Ohio canal in the fall of 1861. With his own brigade, a battery of four guns, a equadron of cavalry and two pontoon boats, he was threatening the canal at this point on the upper Potomac. The enemy with a much larger force were watching his movements from the Maryland side. One day he marched his combined forces in a circle for about eight hours, the only part of this curved line visible to the enemy being a distance of a quarter of a mile between two bodies of woodland. In this copen space there could be seen, from the opposite hills, infantry, cavalry and artillery in an endless line passing all day. In the evening the soans over the river was lively. Couriers dashed hither and thither, tents were struck, trains were moving and troops were massing. The despatch to Washington was that Jackson was about to cross the river with 50,000 men and march on the capital.

The city hall last evening was the scene of three republican caucuses, and in con-sequence, besides the aspirants for office vere present a number of prominent and tial leaders of the republican party a great deal of interest was manifested the results of the caucuses and in conse quence the unusually large number wer lermen and councilmen, a joint caucus, and was called to order promptly at 7:45 o'clock by Alderman Lows. Alderman Hiller was unanimously chosen chairms and Alerman-elect Skiff secretary and Alappointed tellers to clear the ante-room. After this interesting event had been accomplished the joint caucus voted to take a ten minute recess, and this interim was spent in telling stories and electioneering in favor of their respective candidates for the several offices.

After the ten minutes had elapsed the After the ten minutes had elapsed the caucus was sgain called to order, and the roll call showed that all the republican bity fathers were present. Alderman Biakeslee and Councilman Punderson were appointed tellers, and the business of maknd measures commenced.

The first business in order was the seletion of a candidate for assistant city clerk. For this office Edward A. Street, the well known newspaper reporter, Captain C. C. Ford, J. Birney Tuttle and J. R. Delbert were placed in nomination and an informal ballot taken, resulting in Street receiving 16 votes, Ford 12, Tuttle 2 and Deibert 1. On motion this ballot was made formal and the nomination of Mr. Street unanimous. Mr. Street is one of the best known and ar assistant city clerks the city has eve weights and measures. But two candi-lates were placed in nomination, Luther E. Jerome and L. T. Davis. An informal allot was taken Jerome receiving 18 votes and Davis 11 out of a total of 29 votes cast. This ballot was made formal and the which the joint caucus adjourned.

THE ALDERMANIC CAUCUS. Immediately after the adjournment the joint caucus the aldermanic caucu was convened in the aldermanic chamb and the councilmanic caucus in the coun cilmanic chamber. It was at the former of these cancuses that the real spirited on these cancases that the real spirited contest of the evening—the fight for commissionerships—occurred, and James S. Bishop was nominated for commissioner of the board of public works, Caleb S. Poronto for police commissioner and Edward Wines for fire commissioner.

The engagement has been announced of two hours. The caucus was the most prolonged of two hours. The caucus was called to order at 8 o'clock and Alderman Hiller

The selection of a police commissi was next taken up and Mr. Poronto bobbed up serenely as an aspirant for this honor against Hart D. Munson. Here again several ballots were taken, each aspirant receiving six votes, until finally one of the aldermen changed his vote and Poronto won by a yote of 7 to 5. by a vote of 7 to 5.

The same sort of maneuvers were gone through with in the contest for fire com-missioner. The nominees were Edward Wines, ex-fire commissioner, and David H. Clark, the present member of the board For some time a deadlock ensued, each For some time a deadlock ensued, each candidate receiving six votes and Hart D. Munson also receiving several compliment ary votes. Finally, after a long fight, Wines secured 7 votes to 5 for Clark and became the nominee of the caucus.

After the fight for the commissionerships had been brought to a successful termination, Alderman Hiller was chosen the nominee for versident of the heard of termination, Alderman Hiller was chosen the nominee for president of the board of aldermen, Hawley Wardwell Lincoln for page and Aldermen Keyes and Blakeslee for members of the board of finance. It was also voted to keep the proceedings of the caucus secret and all the minutes were destroyed by the secretary. THE COUNCILMANIC CAUCUS.

This caucus was of but brief duration and the work was done in short meter Councilman R. A. Belden was chosen chairprincipal and to some extent unexpected business of the caucus was the selection of islands he said:

BRIDGEPORT, Dec. 28 .- The wedding Miss Cornelia Elizabeth Hubbard, daughter of Dr. Robert Hubbard of this city. and Courtlant Henry Trowbridge, son of Mrs. Henry Trowbridge of New Haven, took place at 6:30 this evening at St. John's Episcopal church in this city. The church was filled with invited guests and entrance to the church was by invitation only. The church was magnificently decorated with palms and flowers and presented the appearance of a veritable garden. Long before the arrival of the wedding party at the church the ushers, Thomas Denny, jr., Charles H. Jewett, jr., H. W. Reinhart and Daniel Loring of New York, had assigned the guest to their places in the church. The arrival of the bridal party was heralded by the sweet notes of Mendelsohn's Wedding March, by Professor Weidenhammer, on the organ. The bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the church and proceeded up the center sisle. Following her were her bridesmaids, Miss Edith Palper, Miss Florence Jones, Miss Minnie Leudling and Miss Louise Lumbley. The bride wore a gown of white satin, cut high at the neck with Queen Elizabeth puff and long sieeves. The skirt was entrain, and the whole trimmed with old point lace. The bridesmaids wore pink satin and chiffon gowns, and carried choice pink roses. The bride and her father were met at the chancel rall by the groom and his best man, Wadsworth Hotchkiss of New Haven. The ceremony, which was of the Episcopal form, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Lewis, pastor of the church, and the bride was given away by her father. After the exremony the bridal party returned to the residence of Mrs. Sherman H. Hubbard, Park place, where the reception to the guests was held. Sherry of New York catered and music was supplied by Wheeler & Wilson's orchestra.

hristmas Dinner at City Mission The members of Miss Yawger's Sunday chool class at the Calvary Baptist church gave a very nice Christmas dinner yesterday afternoon at the City Mission hall to and the new scale of prices was submitted between thirty and forty of the children to them. They represent an average reconnected with the city mission work. duction of 10 per cent. The finishers and Before the dinner the members of the class were seated upon the platform and presented the following PROGRAM

CHRISTMAS JUBILEE.

.. By the Class

Af'er the closing song the children were invited to the tables, which were spread in the large hall with an abundance of good things, including boned turkey with dressing, celery, biscuit and butter, jellies, cake, candy, pop-corn, bananas, oranges and ice gream and ice cream.

Miss Yawger was assisted in arrangements for the dinner by Miss Brown, the Misses Atwater and Mr. Yawger, all of the Calvary Baptist church, and Miss Hume of the City Missions. The younggirls of the Sunday school class, twelve in number, served at the tables and evidently enjoyed their opportunities for making others happy. Before leaving the tables the children all joined in saying, "We thank you for giving us such a merry the children all joined in saying, "We thank you for giving us such a merry Christmas and we wish you all a very happy New Year." The names of the members of the Sunday school class are as follows: Alice Moulthrop, Viola Jones, Maud Arnoid, Flora Wilson, Lota Hodges, Amanda Alling, Lottie Alling, Letila Parkhurst, Julia Petrie, Lizzie Mo-Farland, Jennie Thompson and Jennie Atwater.

Shocking Accident-The Death Mrs. Spinks. One of the most horrible accidents that have happened in Branford for many years resulted in the death of Mrs. George Spinks on Wednesday night. Mrs. Spinks was ousekeeper for William Rogers, whose home is on Main street near the corner of the road leading to Cherry Hill. She took a lighted lamp to go into the cellar for Some little time after she had left the sitting room Mr. Rogers, who is very desf, detected the odor of something burning, which grew stronger and stronger. He investigated, and at the bottom of the cellar stairs found the body of Mrs. Spinks burned to a crisp and the smouldering bits of clothing still smoking. It is supposed she stumbled and fell down stairs, the lamp breaking and the burning oil setting fire to the poor woman's clothing. Mrs. Spinks sometime ago suffered a paralytic shock, and it is thought possible that she was similarly attacked while going down stairs, which caused her to fall.

Mrs. Spinks was fifty-three years of age and a member of the Congregations church. Her little grandchild, the son o

Mrs. Maloney, was taking part in the exer-cises at the Congregational church when his mother was notified of the accident and hastily left for her home The funeral of Mrs. Spinks was held at ended by many friends. The Jall Overcrowded

The jall is at present very much over crowded, and it is necessary in some in stances to put three prisoners in a cell. At the present time there are 332 inmates at this hostelry. Oldest Living Officers. living major of the Governor's Foot Guards and J. M. D. Hendrick has the distinction of being the oldest living captain of the same organization. Colonel Morse obtained his title as colonel from having tained his title as colonel from having commanded the old Second regiment. This was way back in the days when the late Major Minott A. Osborn, editor of the Register for so many years, was major and when the late Colonel Samuel Tolle was captain of the New Haven Grays. Colonel Morse is yet an active man, his years considered, and so also is Major Hendrick, whose health which has been impaired, is now nearly fully restored. now nearly fully restored.

Passed Away. Mary Jane Nichols, au sged colored woman, who has been employed in the family of the late Deacon Lewis Fitch on Orange street for many years, died there yesterday after a short illness. She came to New Haven many years ago from Newtown, Conn., where she was born. She had lived with many prominent families in this city, twenty-five years with the late Russell lotchkiss, who was for many years a pron inent ehipping merchant, residing on Meadow street; also with the late S. I. Baldwin, who resided on Crown street, and with the late Professor Thatcher of Yale. with the late Professor Thatcher of Yale. In later years she was with the family of Andrew W. Forest, and for the past twelve years in the family of the late Lewis Fitch. She became a member of the College street church under the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Strong, and had been devoted to her church. She had been a faithful servant and a conscientious Christian.

HIS SUDDEN DEATH Branford's Medical Examiner Make Coroner Mix yesterday received a report from Medical Examiner C. W. Gay- Turkeys, ord of Branford giving the details of the sudden death of Henry T. Hart, who died December 26. The report says that the deceased, borer, entered the saloon of Victor Bohn nd remained there for several hours | Roasting Pigs, drinking cider. About 10 o'clock he sud-denly complained of having severe pains in the region of his heart and called for some whisky. He drank several drinks and said he felt better. He remained in the and said he felt better. He remained in the saloon until after all the others had gone. The bar keeper went to rouse him and thought him sleeping. Hart did not re-spond and the bar keeper at once carried him to a back room and sent for a doctor, who discovered that the man was dead. The medical examiner states that in his pinion Hart died of neuralgia of the

DEFEAT FOR INSURGENTS.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec 28 .- The foreign inister authorizes the following: The insurgent cruiser Almirante Tams dare was worsted to-day in an engagemen with the government forts at Nictherov. A heavy fire was maintained by the com patants which finally resulted in the eating off of the warship, which was eriously damaged. The marksmanship of e government gunners showed consider able improvement and comparatively few of their shots went wild. The govern-ment has received advices confirming the loss at Itajaly of the insurgent steamer Meteoro, in a recent fight with the govern-

Meteoro, in a recent fight with the government forces.

The insurgents oesieging Bage, in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, reumed active operations against that place and suffered a severe repulse. Their loss in killed, wounded and prisoners was 809. The insurgents there are under the command of General Tavares. This is the second time this month that the loyal troops at Bage have defeated the insurgents. The previous engagement took place at the beginning of December when the insurgents were defeated with heavy loss.

Atchison railway system: Although we fully recognize that Mr. Rheinhart, as president of a railway com pany, standing in a precarious position may find it necessary to be very reticen may find it necessary to be very reticent in dealing with an interviewer on the position of that company, yet we feel that a man making such misstatements as appear in the official report of the position of the company is not entitled to the confidence of the shareholders. We have welcome information that steps are to be taken to force a committee here to protect the bondholders. The names of those undertaking the task will represent the largest English interests in Atchison."

WILL TEST THE LAW.

Been Arrested and Placed Under Bonds-Another Procedure Will Also be Taken Within a Week-The Arrests Taken by the Friends of the Principals as a Huge Joke. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28 .- Char Mitchell and James J. Corbett were arrested to day, according to a pre-arrange program of the Duval Athletic club to tes he law in this state in reference to glov contests. Mitchell was arrested at the Everett hotel this morning, but Corbett did not appear in court until this after-

Judge Baker. It says that Mitchell and Corbett did on the 27th instant agree to commit an offence prohibited by law, t wit: Did attempt unlawfully by a previous appointment to meet each other with the intention of engaging in a fight The warrant alleges that Corbett and Mitchell are now trying to get together and carry out their intention to fight un-der the agreement. The judge did not issue the warrants or affidavits until County Solicitor Christie had passed upon them and advised the sheriff to have the warrants served.

the same as Mitchell's.

During the Corbett hearing Solicitor Christie expressed doubt whether the articles of agreement incorporated in the warrant were identical with the original articles. The solicitor seemed to think the clause giving the referee power to stop the contest when it endangers life or limb an afterthought. Corbett explained that even if this clause had been added to the original articles it out no figure as it was in-huge joke.

Before January 2, when the principals are named to appear before the criminal court of record, another procedure is to be taken which will in a measure test the law. This is an application for a writ of habeas corpus, which will be made before Judge Call next Monday. Corbett and Mitchell are now practically in custody. The argument will be that they are unlawfully detained and that their arrest was illegal because that he was a law argument with the corpus of the corpus o sause there is no law against glove con-

If Judge Call holds that the arrest was illegal Mitchell and Corbett will be released and will engage in a glove contest if they please. If Judge Call decides that the arrest was legal then the principals will be compelled to appear before the criminal court and then the case goes to a company in that there is no oriminal court and then the case goes to a jury. The opinion is that there is no jury in Duval who would find them guilty. There is another contingency which may put a new phase on the affair and that is the possibility of the governor instructing the county solicitor to quash these proceedings and institute proceedings as the attorney general may agree upon. Solic-itor Christie has informed Governor the action taken and has asked the latter to attend the habeas corpus proceedings

Monday.

The arrests were made under two sections of the Florida statutes. One section provides that whoever by previous arrangement engages in a fight shall be imprisoned not exceeding six months or pay a fine not exceeding $500. The other section fixes the penalty for an attempt to violate the laws at one-half of the greatest provishment which might have been infeel confident that the court will decide that glove contests are not illegal. PROVIDENCE, Dec. 28.—At 4 o'clock Mr. A. A. Strout, on behalf of the T. C. Plattfaction, accompanied by George H. Norman, it., of the firm of F. H. Prince & Co., bankers of Boston, arrived. Mr. W. C. Loring of Boston made a motion that W. T. Hart be sppointed receiver and stated as his reasons that Mr. Hart was a recognized railroad man, whereas Mr. Platt was not, that the former had been trustee of the Bunnell mortgage and had been was not, that the former had been trustee of the Bunnell mortgage and had been director and president of the property. Mr. Strout considered Mr. Hart not the proper person to be appointed, as he represented the second mortgage bonds, which were practically owned by an enemy to and rival of the road. He thought that immediate action was not necessary. Judge Colt thought more time should be given for the presentation of reasons by both sides, and adjourned the court to Boston to morrow at 10 o'clock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Papers for a re ceiver for the New England Terminal com pany were filed this afternoon. Affixed to the bill of complaint were affidavits from a number of stockholders in the company all of whom declare that the company is insolvent. Thomas F. Wood, the complain-ant, holds in his bill of complaint that he owns six first mortgage bonds and 100 shares of common stock: He charges that for three years the defendant has operated the railroad at a loss and that the carnings show a large deficit over operating expenses. He says that the defendant com pany claimed that in 1892 it had earned for twelve months $8,182,134 applicable to the payment of dividends upon its pre-ferred stock, but that the statement was false, the accounts having been deliber ately falsified by fraudulently reducing the amount due connecting railroads. At tached to the bill is an affidavit from Cram B. Schley of the firm of Moore & Schley, which advocates the immediate appointment of pointment of a receiver "to prevent the disintegration and destruction of the property." F. H. Prince of F. H. Piatt of the United States Express company, who owned 8,000 shares of the stock, swears that the company is hopelessly insolvent and must default in the payment of its January interest. Theodore F. Wood, the complainant, also affixed an affidavit setting forth in brief what is contained in the bill of complaint. All of the affidavits were dated December 26.

Just ten years ago this month the road had its initial experience with a receivership, but unlike receiverships generally, it worked to the advantage of everybody who had a dollar at stake in the road. In the had a dollar at stake in the road. In the latter part of 1883 the financial condition of the road was going from bad to worse. The extension to the Hudson, completed two years previous at http://docs.ty.com/pensive to maintain. Through business was taken in great quantities at unprofitable rates. The floating debt was increasing and creditors were pressing on every side for their money. On Monday night, the 31st of December, the directors met here in Hartferd to consider the situation and a session lasting nearly until midnight ended in the conclusion that a receiverahip was inevitable to avert attachments and the tying up of citation that a receivership was inevitable to avert attachments and the tying up of the road. The Hon. Simeon E Baldwin of New Haven, now on the supreme court bench, drafted the papers, the application being made in the name of Henry Brassey of London, a member of parliament, and holder of a number of the second mortgage bonds. Mr. Baldwin and others went to Judge Shipman's residence on Charter rage bonds. Mr. Baldwin and others went to Judge Shipman's residence on Charter Oak place, aroused him from a sound sleep, and got him down stairs to his library for a conference. The papers were signed and President Charles P. Clark was appointed receiver. The appointment was concurred in by the courts elsewhere, and he continued in control of the road for exne continued in control of the road for ex-actly two years. Unremunerative through business was abandoned, local trade was developed, and in December, 1885, the con-cern was in such a good financial condi-tion that the courts readily granted the application for its restoration to company

Since then the New England has had a beckered career. It is a better road than it was ten years ago, but it seems to have been burdened with a good deal of busi-ness of the uprofitable kind and has been hard pressed for money of late, owing to the general business duliness. It is a ouone fact that its common stock is a point lower to day than at the time of the re-ceivership of December, 1883. At the end of that receivership it was quoted at 381. hold. Judge Townsend's order appointing W. T. Hart of Boston receiver of the New England road for Connecticut, was issued in New Haven at 8:30 p. m., and after that hour attachments could not be legally made on the property of the road. It was 7:30 or after before the papers in the suit were delivered to Sheriff Preston to execute and over an hour elapsed before he could gather his deputies and reach East Hartford.

It was nearly 9 o'clock before the sheriff presented the writ to Division Superintendent Quigg and began to tie up the rolling stock. The attorneys who prepared the writ knew that up to 5 o'clock Judge Townsend had not appointed a receiver, but it was 10 o'clock before the news of Receiver Hart's appointment reached them. The official notice of the appointment was not received by any railroad official or the sheriff until this morning. HYPERION. The attraction to-night will be the apcearance of James T. Powers in a new medy by a famous and charming writer. Mr. Powers is a young comedian who made friends here years ago in rattling farce comedy. He comes back new in the new school of quiet and intelligent acting and he is still funny. His play is called, 'Walker London," a comedy that has enjoyed a couple of years' run at Toole's theater in London-with the London fav orite, John L. Toole in the leading partand it was written by J. Barrie.

The cast is:

Sale of seats now open.

This is the season for merriment and it would be difficult to find a production more suited to the times than "The Private Secretary," to be presented New Year's day at the special holiday matines and in the evening by Mr. William Gillette himself. The piece is ever popular and de-lightfully amusing. The company sup-porting Mr. Gillette is quite equal to the ds of the piece.

Walter Sanford's strong and realistic

selodrams, "The Struggle of Life," was resented to a large and appreciative audince last night. The story, as is well mown, is very attractive and the scenery gives true pictures of the places represented. Among the more familiar places ed. Among the more familiar places shown were Battery park in winter, with the Statue of Liberty in the distance; St. Patrick's cathedral and a view of the upper part of Fifth avenue, showing some of the mansions of wealthy New Yorkers; the Retreat, one of the dives so abundant in a certain part of the city, and Rutger's slip, East river, during a snow storm. All of these were splendidly shown. The comedy vein is good and pervades the whole piece. The cast as a whole was very good, and each character received careful and acourate attention. As Edward Brockton Mr. William Stafford did splendidly and easily rate attention. As Edward Brockton Mr. William Stafford did splendidly and easily carried off the honors of the evening. He was well received and heartily applauded. In the role of Madge Wilton, an outcast, Miss Rose Stahl had a very difficult and exceedingly hard character to present, but there was not a moment when she was not equal to the occasion. She shared in the audience's appreciation with Mr. Stafford. Mr. Lincoln A. Wagenhols as John Lorley made a very good villain and was ably assisted by Mr. W. H. Sadler, as Dykes, and Mr. Donald Harold, as Skinks, as accomplices. The comedy was well looked after by Mr. Frederick Saville as Tommy Cast 7. plices. The comedy was well looked after by Mr. Frederick Saville as Tommy Case 7, "head masher" on the Battery, and Lies May Thompson as Molle McCue, Tommy's aunt. The rest of the cast was entirely satisfactory. The play will be repeated this and to-morrow evenings and to-mor-

Year's attraction Ella Ewing, who is said to be the tallest woman on earth. She is eighteen years old and stands about nine feet high. It is needless to state that these attractions receive large sums of money for their engagement here. The enter-tainment given at the Wonderland last week was considered by all who witnessed it to be the best seen here since the open-ing, but the one prepared by Mr. Poli for the coming week is promised to be much stronger and better. STODDARD LECTURES.

The sale of Stoddard lecture course tick ets, interrupted by Christmas excitement is now resumed. For a few days buyer will find opportunities to secure first-rate seats. The unequalled attractions of this series, which is to reveal the life and countries of our antipodes, the Chinese, and their not less interesting neighbors, the Japanese, and the peoples of Iudia, should crowd the Hyperion as never before. The tradefiticable acceptance of Mr. North and Mrs. Siegwart Spier and Master Regionald Zunder returned last evening from a visit to her sister, Mrs. I. Chase of Water-bury.

evening-a lecture indeed worthy of the magnificent art which was described. The lecture was by Professor John F. Weir of the Yale art school and was the result of only three days of sight-seeing at the great Columbian exposition. How the learned professor could have obtained such an aggregation of facts in so limited a time is a marvel. He went to behold the art and architecture of the White City, and his cultivated mind was impressionable to the beautiful art to which he has devoted his life, and he beheld the classical and beautiful forms as but few visitors were enabled to. were enabled to.

Prefacing his story with some interesting facts about the organization of the forces which led to the creation of the buildings, he then went on to describe these buildings at length, giving his attention particularly to the exteriors, indeed showing the interior of only one building. His lecture was illustrated by a series of
